REPORT OF THE NEW YORK STATE ASSOCIATION OF SURROGATES

COLD SPRING, N. Y., February 15, 1913.

Hon. Alfred E. Smith, Speaker of the Assembly, Albany, N. Y.:

DEAR SIR:—Herewith is transmitted report of the Revision Committee of the New York State Association of Surrogates.

Very truly yours,

J. BENNETT SOUTHARD,

Secretary

321978

REPORT

To the Legislature of the State of New York:

The Commission appointed by your honorable body, consisting of the members of the Revision Committee of the Association of Surrogates of the State of New York, created by Chapter 547 of the Laws of 1912, beg leave to report:

First: Such Commission was constituted and organized as follows:

Willis E. Heaton, Surrogate of Rensselaer County, Troy, Chairman.

J. Bennett Southard, Surrogate of Putnam County, Cold Spring, Secretary.

Frank V. Millard, Surrogate of Westchester County, Tarrytown.

George F. Andrews, Surrogate of Tioga County, Owego.

Newton B. Vanderzee, Surrogate of Albany County, Albany.

George McCann, Surrogate of Chemung County, Elmira.

Louis B. Hart, Surrogate of Erie County, Buffalo.

William S. Ostrander, Surrogate of Saratoga County, Saratoga Springs.

Michael H. Kiley, Surrogate of Madison County, Cazenovia.

Second: Thereafter Michael H. Kiley having resigned, Herbert T. Ketcham, Surrogate of Kings County, Brooklyn, was appointed as a member of the Revision Committee, and thereafter Willis E. Heaton having resigned, Walter E. Woodin, Surrogate of Cayuga County, Auburn, was appointed as a member of the Revision Committee, and Newton B. Vanderzee was selected as Chairman of this Commission.

Third: This Commission has held meetings from time to time and all of the members have taken an active part in the work before the Commission.

Fourth: The plan adopted by the Commission for its preliminary work was to divide the subject of Surrogates' Practice, as contained in about four hundred sections of the Code, into parts corresponding to the subjects and to make a thorough and exhaustive study of those subjects. In accordance with such plan each member of the Committee was assigned a subject for his special study, and the result of his work was submitted to the full committee for criticism, suggestion and revision.

It was apparent at the first few meetings that this procedure was a wise one, for it became clearly evident that no thorough and careful study of the sections of the Code relating to surrogates' practice had ever been made; that in many instances sections which had been repealed were still referred to in other sections; that parts of sections which had been consolidated with other sections were still referred to by the old numbers; that some sections retained provisions regarding proceedings where the proceedings themselves had been abrogated; that many sections have had grafted upon them amendments wholly foreign to the sections themselves; that amendments which should have been made to a certain section were made to another section to which the amendment did not properly belong, and that many provisions were duplicated in several sections.

If this Commission shall do no more than to suggest corrections of these errors and mistakes, resulting from the amendments of the preceding years, some very valuable work will have been done toward perfecting the Code.

Fifth: After having studied the sections with reference to perfecting them in form, as outlined above, the Commission examined the sections for the purpose of ascertaining in what cases certain general provisions applicable to all or a large number of the various proceedings in Surrogates' Court were repeated in different sections, and found that there were a large number of such repetitions. Thereupon a number of new sections of a general nature have been drafted which would eliminate from very many sections provisions common to nearly every proceeding which are many times repeated in the Code. In that manner one short section will be made to take the place of perhaps a dozen repetitions in different sections of the Code.

Sixth: Having still further perfected the form of the sections in the manner mentioned in paragraph fifth, the Commission began to study the sections with reference to their simplification by appropriately grouping and numbering various specifications in the sections which heretofore had been run together without separation and numbering. This method brings out clearly and distinctly the contents of the sections and allows the reader to see at a glance of what the section consists.

Seventh: The next step in the work of the Commission was to attack the practice itself and ascertain if there were any instances where such practice could be made more simple, and in many cases we believe we have found the need of clarifying and simplifying the practice.

While we fully realize that at this time perhaps it may not be advisable to make many radical changes, yet we believe that in some cases changes should be made which are required by the new conditions which have grown up since many of the proceedings in Surrogates' Court were first formulated.

The Commission has also been studying the necessity for an addition of certain provisions which seem, from the experience of the surrogates who are doing this work, to be necessary to enable the Surrogates' Court to properly deal with the many and varied questions which continually come before it.

Eighth: In approaching the question of the revision of the practice in Surrogates' Court the Commission has continually had in mind that such Court is preeminently the Court of the common people, and that many of its forms and proceedings have been in use in this State for nearly one hundred years; that during that time the Surrogates' Court has undergone a great change not only in its character, being now a Court of Record, but also in the importance, the volume and the extent of the business brought before it. It is estimated that nearly all property in each county passes through the Surrogates' Court once in every twenty-five years.

The great growth in the business which the Surrogates' Court has therefore been required to handle has demonstrated that the jurisdiction of the Court is altogether too much limited to properly protect and maintain the rights of all of the people who are interested in this great volume of property. Some way ought to be found in accord with the great advance in legal science to make the Surrogates' Court an adequate instrument for the full and complete settlement of estates of deceased persons, and this Commission firmly believes that it can suggest to the Legislature some changes in the practice not too radical, but of such a general nature, that the general form and substance of the proceedings will not be greatly changed, but that will give to the Surrogates' Court the proper power and jurisdiction to do complete and final justice between all of the parties interested in any way in all of the questions which arise concerning estates of deceased persons.

Ninth: The study which this Commission has given to the subject entrusted to it by the Legislature has been made in such a manner that it will be useful in carrying out any new plan or system which the Legislature may see fit to adopt in regard to the practice of the Courts generally.

Whether the Code shall be abolished or whether it shall be retained, the work which this Commission is doing can be incorporated into any system for which the Legislature may hereafter provide.

This Commission, therefore, begs leave to report progress in the work assigned to it and respectfully requests that its existence may be continued for another year, at the end of which time it confidently expects to be able to justify its existence by submitting to the Legislature the material from which can be created an Act for the great improvement in the practice in the Surrogates' Courts of this State.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

REPORT OF THE STATE AGRICULTURAL ADVISORY BOARD.

ALBANY, N. Y., January 31, 1913.

Honorable William Sulzer, Governor of New York, Executive Chamber, Albany, N. Y.:

DEAR SIR,—Pursuant to requirements of chapter 785 of the Laws of 1911, the State Advisory Board in relation to agricultural education and country life advancement, has the honor to report as follows:

At a meeting held in the office of Honorable Andrew S. Draper, Commissioner of Education, Albany, N. Y., on January 14, 1913, on motion of Dr. Boothe C. Davis, seconded by Dr. V. A. Moore, it was voted that the chairman and secretary transmit to Governor Sulzer, on or before February 1, a copy of the resolutions adopted at a meeting of this Board held December 27, 1912; and also a copy of the resolutions on the sale and shipment of immature calves, and regarding agricultural publications, adopted at this meeting, as follows:

At a meeting held December 27, 1912, the following members being present:

Dean L. H. Bailey,
Dr. W. H. Jordan,
Dean H. E. Cook,
Dr. Thos. E. Finegan, representing Commissioner
A. S. Draper,
Dr. Boothe C. Davis,
Mr. Jas. A. D. S. Findlay,
Director Frank G. Helyar,
Dr. V. A. Moore,
Mr. H. B. Winters, representing Commissioner
Calvin J. Huson.
(Absent: Hon. Chas. A. Wieting, Hon. Ralph W. Thomas.)

it was voted,

That this Board reaffirm its position on the following resolutions:

1. That the main effort toward the introduction of agricultural education, whether through State or local aid, be directed toward the study of agricultural and rural subjects in the public high schools.

2. That in addition to those institutions already authorized to train teachers of agriculture, special and adequate provisions be made for training such teachers at the State Normal College and in one or more normal schools.

3. That the State Department of Education give direction, at a few points distributed with reference to the leading agricultural industries, to the development of adequate teaching equipments in high schools which may serve as examples and illustrations for the further extension of such equipment.

4. That the special State schools already established be developed toward teaching home economics and agricultural technology, the latter somewhat specialized for each school.

5. That the further development of the special State schools, when this may safely and wisely be accomplished, shall be made with reference chiefly to the fruit and vegetable growing interests, under which policy the south-eastern and western parts of the State would be considered by the establishment of one school in each of those sections; and thereafter special schools of agriculture shall be established only if the people of a locality determine whether they desire a school and will take a substantial part in its financial support.

6. That this Board favors legislation enabling cities of the first and second class to establish public schools of agriculture either within or without the limits of said cities.

7. That in schools of agriculture hereafter established, the Commissioner of Education, the Commissioner of Agriculture, and the Director of the State College of Agriculture at Cornell University, shall be ex-officio members of the board of trustees.

Voted,

That this Board reaffirm the following resolutions:

Such national legislation as is contemplated by the so-called Page bill and those similar to it, is inadvisable on the following grounds:

1. It is coercive as to policy and method and is unduly stimulating as to rate of growth of vocational education. It violates the biological law governing the sound and efficient development of educational and social agencies.

2. It proposes an educational scheme on an immense scale for which there is little experimental support.

3. It is not adjustable to the educational policy and administrative machinery already established in many states, including New York.

4. It opens the way for bureaucratic regulations on the part of the federal government that might limit the autonomy of the states in the administration of their educational affairs.

5. This bill is in opposition to the sound policy of fostering the agriculture and country life of a state, through the activity of state agencies which shall have their source in local initiative support.

6. The agricultural extension bill, providing for extension work in agriculture by the colleges of agriculture, is practically free from the objections that hold against the other measures herein mentioned that are now before Congress, in that it is in harmony with the acts of 1862 and supplementary acts granting federal aid to state agencies.

Therefore be it

RESOLVED, That if the policy is adopted of returning to a state for specific purposes a portion of the income that the federal government derives from the indirect taxation of the citizens of that state, the state should have the same liberty in the application of these funds to the purposes named that it has in the use of any other portion of its income.

Voted,

That the following resolution be reaffirmed:

That this Board recommends to the State: The policy of the further introduction of instruction in agriculture into the public schools; and that to better accomplish this result, plans should be perfected as rapidly as possible for maintaining agricultural instruction with large allotments; and that an allotment be provided each school, union or high school, teaching a class of not less than 15 in agriculture, and for the common district school giving an approved course in nature study.

At a meeting held January 14, 1913, the following members being present:

Dean L. H. Bailey,
Dr. W. A. Jordan,
Dean H. E. Cook,
Dr. Thomas E. Finegan, representing Commissioner A. S. Draper,
Dr. Boothe C. Davis,
Mr. Jas. A. D. S. Findlay,
Director Frank G. Helyar,
Dr. V. A. Moore
Hon. Ralph W. Thomas,
Mr. H. B. Winters, representing Commissioner Calvin J. Huson.

(Absent: Hon. Chas. A. Wieting.)

it was voted,

That this Board adopt the following resolution:

RESOLVED, That the law relating to the sale and shipment of immature calves and carcasses be modified so that the age limit will be three weeks instead of four weeks and thus conform with the federal law.

Voted,

That this Board adopt the following resolution:

RESOLVED, That it be recommended in the report of this Board to the Governor that all agricultural books be hereafter distributed by the institution or State department by which such publications are prepared.

Respectfully submitted,

L. H. BAILEY,

Chairman.

TWENTY-EIGHTH ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

NORTHERN NEW YORK INSTITUTION FOR DEAF-MUTES.

REPORT OF TRUSTEES.

To the Legislature of the State of New York:

The trustees of the Northern New York Institution for Deaf-Mutes beg to submit the following report as to the affairs of the institution for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1912.

Notwithstanding the serious calamity which befell the Northern New York Institution for Deaf-Mutes on the 2d day of April of last year (1911), the school has prospered beyond any degree of expectation, having within its influence and under particular training and discipline a larger number of pupils than was ever before taught therein.

The conflagration which destroyed the main building of the institution has caused great inconvenience to the managers during the past twelve months, but by adapting the kindergarten and industrial buildings to the general needs of the occasion and making these structures serve the uses of the former main building, the management has been able to the present time to conduct the affairs of the institution with only those difficulties and perplexities to overcome which would naturally arise from the deprivation of the use of the principal building in which the pupils received instruction, and wherein were located the dormitories of the school.

In the present emergency the industrial building has furnished class-rooms for the grades, and sleeping apartments for the boys. A temporary dining-room was erected and supplied with improvised furnishings and such other measures were adopted as expediency and necessity seemed to suggest. Under these emergency conditions, the superintendent, assisted by a loyal force of workers, has been able to continue the work of the school, thus saving to the institution under such circumstances the unavoidable and large expense incident to the removal of the pupils to their homes, and the great difficulty and needless additional expenses in securing their return, when the buildings in course of construction are so far completed as to be in a proper and suitable condition to receive them.

The near approach of the winter season will find the group of buildings, three in number, now in course of construction, rapidly advancing toward completion. One of the buildings, to be the domicile of the boy pupils, is so nearly finished that it can probably be ready for occupancy as early as the beginning of the new year, and when all are fully completed and furnished, the boys with teachers and supervisors will occupy one, and the girls with other teachers and supervisors another, while the central structure will furnish a home for the superintendent's family, and also provide dining-rooms, culinary department and suitable offices and conveniences for administration purposes.

It is believed that the separation in different buildings and apartments of boy from girl pupils outside of their class instruction, will render the enforcement of discipline less troublesome, and will inure largely to the ease and comfort of the supervisors in the control of the children under their personal charge, and result in great advantage to the pupils in the prosecution of their studies.

It was with feelings of great satisfaction and thankfulness that the managers were assured of the protection of the State by a willing disposition to aid the institution in its hour of great need, as evidenced by the prompt passage by the Legislature of chapter 331, Laws of 1911, approved by his excellency, the Governor, appropriating the sum of $85,000 for the purpose of reconstructing the destroyed main building, or in replacing the same by other and more modern and suitable edifices. This generous appropriation together with the money received from insurance companies, amounting to $30,000 to compensate for the loss which was sustained by the fire, will assure the erection of buildings according to plans and designs prepared in the office of the State Architect. In this connection we are pleased to acknowledge the beneficial aid of the State Architect, Mr. F. B. Ware, and his several able assistants for their care and painstaking interest in perfecting the plans for the new buildings of the institution.

These buildings are of tapestry brick with terra cotta ornamentations, with roofs covered with red tile, thus making the external appearance very striking and attractive, and producing a pleasing effect, while the internal divisions and arrangements of these new buildings are as near perfection for economy and general convenience as human genius could well produce.

The location of this institution in the region of the Adirondacks is most fortunate. The salubrity of the climate of this northern section of the State is conducive to good health, and such conditions have prevailed among the attendants that not a single death has occurred, and no serious illness has attacked any of the children during the past year. The physical condition of all persons connected with the school was faithfully observed and the strictest system for the preservation of a healthful condition of the children was prescribed and adopted, and at all times enforced by the physician in charge, Dexter R. Belding, who for the past ten years had been its medical adviser. It is with great sorrow, that we are compelled to report his decease on the 18th day of May of the present year. In his untimely departure the institution met with a sad and deplorable loss. The decease also of the Honorable John P. Badger has brought grief and sorrow to all who have been associated with him during the years of his presidency, in the close relationship, which a common interest in the welfare of the institution has created. Mr. Badger, ever prompt to act when action meant the public welfare, and never failing to cheerfully respond to every solicitation for assistance in offering such counsel as has been recognized as a strong factor in the creation of the high standard which the school has attained, always encouraged, stimulated and urged those concerned in the prosperity of the school to continued and vigorous activity in its behalf. Mr. Badger never faltered or failed in his devotion to duty, and by his manly and virtuous qualities and gifts added much to its character and usefulness; and he drew public attention to the unmistakable benefits and advantages derived by a class of persons under its influence and teachings, who otherwise must arrive at manhood and womanhood without sufficient intellectual acquirements as would enable them independently to maintain themselves as useful workers in any of the active industries of life. It is with profound sorrow and mournful regret that we make this report of such an irreparable loss.

The report of Mr. E. C. Rider, the careful and efficient superintendent, informs us that there have been taught and otherwise provided for in the school during the present year, 102 pupils, 53 boys and 49 girls, a number quite sufficient to occupy all the space to be furnished by the present and prospective buildings; and the probable increase of the number in attendance in the near future will soon demand an enlargement of the kindergarten building.

At the present time there are many repairs which are needful to be made to existing buildings. These buildings require painting wherever wood is used in their construction. The barns demand reshingling, the kindergarten porches must be rebuilt and a coal shed erected. All fuel now used in the buildings is piled in the yard outside without protection from the weather and unsheltered from storm, in consequence of which quite a percentage of value of such fuel is lost. With the completion of new buildings and the making of the needful repairs the institution will however be without walks, or drives between buildings, or leading to and from the grounds. These needs are absolutely essential and must be supplied.

Two or three years ago a bolt of lightning struck the chimney of the laundry building at its top, splitting it to the foundation, leaving a wide gap affecting its appearance and endangering its safety. This structure should be speedily repaired to save it from further injury by additional enlargement of the visible rent to the column. It will be absolutely necessary that the managers be provided with funds additional to those on hand and exclusive of the legislative appropriation of last year to be enabled to make needed improvements and without which the surroundings of our commanding group of buildings would be unfinished and very inconvenient.

We estimate the amount of money necessary to meet and satisfy all of its present needs and requirements as approximately $10,000, and therefore urgently and hopefully request that an appropriation be made to cover such wants.

In the coming of the new year, this institution will enter upon the 29th anniversary of its birth, with a just pride in the accomplishment of much good to the unfortunate people who have during those years received its instruction and training; and with enlarged and improved facilities at its command for carrying on successfully the work now being performed under discomfoting conditions, the management confidently hope to receive ample appreciation and consideration, and promise to preserve the high standing and reputation which the school has attained among the many honored and beneficent institutions of the State.

Respectfully submitted,

SAMUEL A. BEMAN,

President.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT.

To the Board of Trustees of the Northern New York Institution for Deaf-Mutes:

GENTLEMEN.—In presenting my report for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1912, it affords me great pleasure first to direct your attention to the splendid health conditions which have prevailed throughout the year. The children were not entirely free from colds and slight digestive disturbances, but there was only one single illness from September to June which was thought to be serious enough to send to the hospital. This was a case of pleurisy, and the patient was a young man twenty years of age. It was a typical case, rather protracted, and not altogether free from serious features. However, a good recovery was made, unattended by any unpleasant sequelae. This absence of sickness among the pupils, not at all uncommon, seemed to be a more richly endowed blessing, under all the circumstances, than those which Providence has vouchsafed to us in years past. During an existence of twenty-eight years, but four pupils have died while in actual attendance. This means that as an average there has been only one death among about eighty children, once in seven years. The care which is bestowed upon the pupils, the sanitary surroundings, and the salubrity of the climate, contribute to make the health record of the school unsurpassed by any similar institution in the State.

The attendance during the year was the greatest that the institution has ever had. Altogether 102 pupils were connected with the school, of whom 53 were males and 49 were females. There were sixteen new admissions, equally divided as to sex, and thirteen pupils were returned to parents.

New teachers engaged for this year are Mrs. Elizabeth Botsford, a teacher of experience and a graduate of the Potsdam State Normal School; Miss Belle Beeman, who besides having taught in the public schools, is also a graduate of the Potsdam State Normal School; Miss M. Leone Archibald who was trained at the Clarke

School, Northampton, Mass.; and Miss Edna Park who was prepared for the work at the Scranton, Pa., Oral School. The teaching force is both strong and congenial. Each teacher seems devoted to her work, and we have reason to look forward to very satisfactory results.

The school work has been conducted along progressive lines. Conditions have been trying, and good results have been accomplished only at the cost of extra effort. Four pupils were graduated last June: Henry J. Pulver of Saratoga Springs; Dorothy Servey of Watertown; Lottie M. Hutchins of Stark; and Nellie I. Grant of Ogdensburg. The members of this class give promise of future usefulness as men and women, and it is hoped that their loyalty and high sense of honor will stimulate them to maintain a respectable social position, and to prove their industrial worth by faithful and efficient service. We take pride in the thought that our boys and girls are taught to be workers, and one of the most encouraging results of last year's work comes to us in the splendid reports from parents, that our older boys and girls applied themselves industriously, and that they were profitably employed during the summer vacation. Two of the boys worked on the new buildings of the institution, one of whom is saving his earnings so that next year he may have funds with which to go to college.

You may remember that last year your attention was directed to a class of boys and girls who, because of defective speech, cannot be educated successfully in the public schools. From time to time several such children have been admitted into the institution, yet undoubtedly there are many who have not been reached. These are already out of touch with school, and they are developing an inferiority which, if permitted to continue, will embarrass them in whatever they undertake. These children are usually bright mentally, deserving of educational advantages, and should be placed in school. There is a responsibility somewhere for this neglect, and it is hoped, as the character of our work and the purpose of our school become better known by the people at large, that there will be fewer boys and girls of defective speech permitted to lose their chances in life, simply because the public schools fail to provide for their education and training. During the year, we returned one boy to his parents because it was thought that he was ready to take his place among hearing and speaking children. He is now attending the public schools. I am of the opinion that another boy who is now one of our pupils will be ready for the public schools next year. When he came to us four years ago, he spoke in disconnected words, many of which were scarcely intelligible. To-day his articulation is fairly good, and besides being able to express himself in sentences such as any boy or girl might use, he has advanced in school work so that he is little, if any, behind children of his own age. Another boy of this same class came to us from Watertown. He has good hearing, but his speech was so defective that he had been dropped from the public schools on a physician's certificate. After wandering about for nearly two years, with no definite object in view, he was sent to our school. He entered with a spirit of indifference, but soon became interested. He found that our teachers had time to give him courteous attention, that assistance was ready to make his recitations easy and his speech more fluent and correct. It is not hard to conjecture what the result might have been had this boy continued to depend upon the city streets for education. As it is, he has developed in manhood, he has established confidence in himself, and he knows now that he can learn as well as the ordinary boy. During the summer vacation, he worked in a sawmill, giving part of his earnings to his parents, and using most of what he had left for clothing. Wherever such boys and girls may be, it is the duty of their friends to turn them from idleness and ultimate regret to a life inspired with ambition for usefulness and reasonable hope for social happiness.

Usually the combination of normal hearing with practically entire absence of speech, indicates an undesirable mental condition. As an exception to what is usually expected in such cases, from Essex county there was received in September, 1911, a girl who was twelve years old. Her hearing was good, yet she could not speak a single word intelligently. In fact, she made little effort to speak at all, preferring, or perhaps being forced, to make her wants known by means of signs. Her physical development was good as to form, carriage, and general appearance. There was, however, a lack of co-ordination, for she could not do with her hands that which might be expected of a child even younger in years. We were loath to believe that she was feeble-minded, and decided to give her a fair trial. Several months of faithful work on the part of teachers failed to persuade her to speak, read, or write. It began to seem as though she must be sent home, when suddenly she commenced to use speech. Only a few words at first, but with proper encouragement and much individual attention she developed quite rapidly, until at the end of the year she began to use spoken sentences. She became very happy and enthusiastic in her acquirement of speech, and with it came a desire for other knowledge. For this girl there is much yet to be accomplished, but an encouraging start has been made in what seemed to be an almost hopeless case.

In spite of wooden benches, homemade tables for desks, and rather trying conditions in all departments, our school work has been carried on both vigorously and successfully. Miss Huggard reports that in the grades, class work was maintained quite up to the usual high standard. In the kindergarten, where conditions have not been disturbed, the little ones worked enthusiastically and with good results. In this department there are thirty-four children eighteen boys and sixteen girls. Fourteen of them are under eight years of age, and two are not quite five. It is an intensely interesting group of human potentialities placed here for development. The possibilities of one very naturally differ from those of another, but each possesses individualistic tendencies which attract the attention of teachers, and help them to understand how to encourage properly and at the same time to meet the demands of moral, mental and physical growth. As a whole, we have a splendid class of children, bright, happy and winsome. A very few may not learn to speak and to read the lips readily, but as they lack in peculiar fitness for this acquirement, they make up along other lines. It is our steadfast purpose, however, and we shall continue persistently to hope, that all our pupils may become proficient in speech and speech reading. In the kindergarten, oral methods are used exclusively, and in the grades even the manual alphabet is no longer employed as a means of communication. In the advanced classes, we have several pupils who are exceptionally good lip readers, and others of the same grades and of equally as good standing in school work, who try hard, but do not succeed well in either speech or speech reading. All have had the same opportunities in school, the same careful training, but with different results. It is but a common revelation of a feature of the law of individual potentiality.

We aim to hold our pupils up to the educational standards which obtain among the hearing. Our course of study is that which is outlined for the public schools by the State Education Department. One of our boys obtained a regents academic certificate, he having seventy-two and one-half counts to his credit. Another has passed regents in arithmetic, elementary English, elementary and advanced United States history, English history, and geography. Others will present themselves for examination during the year.

I am sure that you will be interested in an experience of one of our girls from the seventh grade. Recently she attended a social gathering of ten or twelve hearing young ladies, nearly all of whom were graduates of our village high school, and a few years older than the deaf girl. During the evening the old game of anagrams was played. The game took the form of an imaginary trip through cities and across rivers in distant parts of the world, and visits were made to drug, dry goods and hardware stores. Each letter turned over, was secured by the first player to announce an article purchased in the store called, or to mention a city or river visited. At the close of the game, the deaf girl had more letters than half of those present, although she was placed at the disadvantage of not hearing what other players had called, and no one was allowed to repeat the same name twice. I speak of this to give you an idea of the social footing upon which we would like to see our advanced pupils placed, and to help you to understand the general character of attainment which we strive to have them possess.

Our reading course has done much to familiarize our boys and girls with good literature, interesting places and noted people. The daily discussion of current events keeps them in touch with what is taking place in the world at large, and the regular Friday evening entertainments help to broaden their mental horizon and to quicken their appreciation of the problems which will be left to their home life for solution.

The finishing of the new buildings progresses slowly. The contractor has already exceeded his time limit by fifty-three days, and he should be urged to make more strenuous efforts to get at least two of the buildings ready for early occupancy. The buildings are handsome beyond our expectations, and their setting accomplishes an architectural effect that is most pleasing and satisfactory. Our grounds are well adapted for the presentation of this new construction to the best advantage, and fortunately the location of other buildings belonging to the institution, is convenient and well established to complete the harmony of the surroundings. But more essential to the success of the school, are the completeness of detail in the arrangement of floor space, and the furnishings and equipment which are to be installed throughout. Everything will be done to make the school as homelike as possible, and no expense will be spared in providing proper equipment for classroom work. The Legislature by chapter 547, Laws of 1912, made an appropriation of $8,173 for these purposes. Some of this money has been used already, but it is thought that the unexpended balance will be adequate to meet our immediate needs.

The institution now has a dairy of its own, and during the summer there was erected in close proximity to the cow barn, a silo 10 ft. by 24 ft. It is of great convenience and of considerable pecuniary advantage to be supplied generously with milk from our own cows. During the year ending September 30, 1911, we paid out for milk and cream $958.41. For the establishment and upkeep of the dairy from November 1st to June 22d, when school closed for the summer vacation, it cost the institution $362.03 in addition to fodder, nearly all of which was grown on the farm. This represents an attractive saving in this item of annual expenditure. It created an asset of value equal to the worth of the five cows, and furnished more fertilizer for the farm than it had received in many years. In this connection it might be well to report, that besides raising more than enough corn to fill the silo, the farm has produced 1,380 bushels of potatoes and a good supply of cabbages, beets, onions, carrots, and squash.

It is desirable that appropriations be asked of the Legislature for the following purposes:

For repairing roof and stack on boiler-house.

For painting buildings.

For repairing kindergarten porches.

For walks and drives.

For coal shed.

For shingling industrial building and barns.

By the death of Mr. Badger we have lost a faithful friend and counsellor. He was closely associated with the development of the institution, and gave much of his time to the promotion of its interests. In time of adversity as well as through periods of prosperity, he was always ready to help, and by his noble qualities of manhood and by his unselfish devotion to duty, he endeared himself to all connected with the school.

Dr. D. R. Belding, our attending physician, died May 18, 1912. He had given the institution long and efficient service. Always ready, always courteous, he discharged his duties pleasantly, carefully and successfully. The patience and kindness which he exercised in the treatment of the sick, was rewarded by deep affection and he will be missed greatly.

During the summer the institution was honored at different times by visits from Governor Dix and Lieut.-Governor Thomas F. Conway. Both the executive and Mr. Conway expressed themselves as being well pleased with what they saw, and they left assurances of friendly and continued interest in the school.

Respectfully submitted,

EDWARD C. RIDER,

Superintendent.

MY DEAR SIR:

I hand you the report of the Surgeon-in-Chief of the New York State Hospital for the Care of Crippled and Deformed Children for the year ending September 30, 1912.

This report, I would add, has been submitted to the Board of Managers, and adopted and approved by them.

I am,

Very respectfully yours,

GEORGE BLAGDEN,

President.

To Hon. SAMUEL J. TILDEN,

Fiscal Supervisor,

Albany, N. Y.

TO THE BOARD OF MANAGERS OF THE NEW YORK STATE HOSPITAL FOR THE CARE OF CRIPPLED AND DEFORMED CHILDREN*

I have the honor to submit for your consideration the following report and statistics of the work performed by the medical staff of your institution for the year ending September 30, 1912.

On October 1, 1911, there were 59 patients in the wards of the hospital. During the year 44 new patients were received. This makes a total of 103 patients treated for the year, 21 more than the preceding year.

Twenty-eight patients were discharged during the above named period, leaving 75 under treatment on September 30, 1912. There was no death during the year.

Of the 103 treated, 52 or 50.48 per cent., were afflicted with tuberculous disease of the joints or spine.

The discharged patients are thus classified: Cured 9, improved 17, unimproved or ineligible 2. Many of those discharged as "Improved" were cured of the deformities for which they had been admitted, but were not cured of the original disease or its lesions, which were incurable.

The 103 patients treated were subdivided as follows, as to the disease for which they sought admission.

Hip-joint disease.....	24
Pott's disease.....	15
White swelling of the knee.....	9
Tubercular wrists and glands.....	1
Ankle-joint disease	2
Tubercular osteomyelitis	1
Rheumatic joints	1
Congenital dislocation of hip.....	1
Congenital club-feet.....	3
Bow legs	2
Lateral curvature of spine.....	5
Wry neck	1
Syphilitic osteitis tarsal bones.....	1

The average daily number of patients in the hospital wards for the year is 60.54, and the total number of days of hospital care is 22,706.

As to sex, the patients were divided as follows: Boys 56, girls 47. The average residence in the hospital for patients who have been discharged is 1 year, 5 months, and 12 days, slightly over that reported last year. The average residence of continued patients is 1 year, 8 months, and 23 days, slightly decreased from last year, and the average residence of both the discharged and continued patients is 1 year, 6 months, and 23 days.

At our out-door clinic, 122 visits were made, a decrease of 20 from Dispensary those made last year. This was due to the clinic being closed during several periods when we had contagious cases in our isolation pavilion.

The conditions for which these patients sought consultation, were :

Hip-joint diseases.

Pott's disease.

White swelling of the knee.

Ankle-joint disease.
 Osteo-Arthritis.
 Congenital club-feet.
 Lateral curvature of the spine.
 Infantile paralysis.
 Spastic paralysis.
 Simple synovitis.
 Simple bursitis.
 Sciatica.
 Contused wounds.
 Colles fracture.
 Lead palsy.
 Pseudo-hypertrophic muscular paralysis.

The necessity of prolonged treatment in tuberculous disease of joints is comparable to the same necessity in treating pulmonary tuberculosis (consumption). In the latter condition, however, we are limited to medical and hygienic treatment, owing to the location of the infected area, while with the most pronounced infection located in a joint, surgery can do much to hasten a cure.

The laity has been more or less enlightened by the propaganda in the hygienic treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis, which has been assiduously carried on for the past fifteen years, regarding the necessity of good air and food, with properly regulated exercise and rest. The advantages extra-urban hospitals offer to consumptives are recognized the world over. The patient suffering with bone tuberculosis, however, has usually been permitted to remain in unsuitable surroundings. We may attribute this largely to two causes; the necessity of expert surgical treatment such as is more easily obtained in large cities, and the impression that the constitutional condition was entirely secondary to the joint-disease. With the knowledge that hygienic treatment is as essential in treating bone tuberculosis as in the treatment of tuberculosis elsewhere, there are being established throughout the civilized world hospitals where both the proper medical and the proper surgical treatment are provided for these cases.

Whereas, when the period of acute suffering had passed, and the convalescent period entered upon, a hospital-patient with joint-disease was formerly discharged from the hospital and sent home, with the joint protected by some apparatus and with instructions to return at intervals for observation, and was thus exposed to indiffer-ent, or worse, hygienic surroundings and uncertain surgical care, he now receives continuous hospital treatment directed toward both the local and general conditions, not only through the acute stage but until the convalescent period is ended and he is cured.

For a patient to remain in a hospital for several years may seem to those unfamiliar with this disease, an unnecessarily prolonged time, but when it is understood that a cure is seldom obtained, even in the mildest cases, under eighteen months, the longer period of treatment essential for a cure in a case which has been neglected and is in a desperate condition, can be comprehended.

Of the 52 patients having joint-tuberculosis and under treatment Abscesses September 30, 1912, 20 had had abscesses, all of which existed at the time of their admission. Of these, two were in connection with disease of the spine and were very large; one filling fully a quarter of the abdomen and extending into the thigh. All these abscesses have disappeared except two. Only four sinuses occurred after admission.

A sinus (an opening through the skin, leading to the diseased Sinuses. area) in these cases is a regrettable occurrence because they heal very slowly and during their entire existence are a potential source of infection by the bacteria which infect wounds and cause acute abscesses. The "cold abscess" of a tuberculous nature is only exceptionally, of itself, a source of danger, though it is evidence of the activity of the disease, but when infected by other bacteria through the opening of a sinus, irreparable damage, especially to the kidneys and other organs, is the consequence. Therefore, these sinuses must receive scrupulous care. Surgical cleanliness is absolutely necessary. And it reflects much credit on the hospital-staff that only one patient with a sinus shows any indication of organic changes, and that one showed as much degeneration on admission as he does to-day.

The necessity of prolonged hospital treatment in cases of in- Prolonged Treatment of Infantile Paralysis. fantile paralysis is not so urgent as in tuberculous disease, many cases needing but a few weeks or months treatment. Following an attack of this disease, a number of muscles are left useless: paralyzed. Some of these muscles will recover their power if properly cared for, but recovery of all the muscles seldom or never occurs. If neglected, the paralyzed limbs become deformed, crooked, and the child may not be able to walk without crutches, or may not be able to walk at all or even to stand, but must crawl about on all fours. In such cases, surgery first corrects all deformities and then applies an apparatus with the two-fold object of preventing recurrence of deformities and of permitting use of the paralyzed parts.

The entire limb, which has become small and weak through not being used, develops with the walking and standing permitted by the apparatus. Frequently it is found that some muscles, apparently permanently paralyzed, were not so, but could not functionate owing to the deformities, and with these corrected, the muscles may reassert their power. Mechano-therapy is also used during this period of development.

When all that is possible has been attained by such methods, further operations may make it possible to do away with part or all of the apparatus. These operations are: the making of a joint stiff, by having the bones grow together; the transplantation of muscles, changing the position of one end of a strong muscle so that it will do the work of a paralyzed muscle; and the insertion of silk ligaments, which limit the movements in weak joints.

The surgical work of the hospital can best be comprehended by a study of the appended tables. Specific terms and technicalities are omitted as much as possible so that they may be the more readily understood.

New patients are isolated upon admission and we have had no epidemic of a contagious disease from that source, but, probably through visitors, we have had measles, whooping cough, chicken-pox, and scarlet fever. By the early diagnosis and the rigid quarantine of these cases, we have prevented their spreading throughout the hospital and in each outbreak only a few cases developed.

Both the scholastic and the industrial schools are now on a firm foundation. With pupils of such various ages, and usually of little previous schooling, it was a most difficult proposition for a scholastic teacher alone to accomplish much with so many children. The creation of the industrial school has helped greatly to systematize the work. Neither department has the accommodations and facilities which it deserves, but we are fortunate in having skillful teachers who realize that they have almost unsurpassed opportunities for the training and directing of these young minds; inasmuch as they can guide their mental activities during their entire time of wakefulness, and not be compelled to have their charges come under other influences as soon as the school session is finished for the day.

In April the furnishings of the scholastic school were removed from the room in the administration building to the pavilion in the carriage house. This suited admirably as an outdoor school. It will be necessary to move back to the old quarters when winter weather arrives, as we are not provided with the necessary equipment, such as blanket clothing, for carrying on an outdoor school in freezing temperature, but hope to be able to do so next year.

The happiness the children derive from their schools is of a not insignificant value to their physical condition, and I am inclined to believe that brain activity has some general physiological value besides an improved appetite and sleep.

We now have a library of 347 volumes, which has been indexed Library and catalogued by some of the patients. The books are in constant demand adding much to the enjoyment of the children, and are of absolute value in creating and directing a taste for good literature.

This year we increased our acreage under cultivation from three Farm. to ten acres. Of the ten acres under cultivation, the crops are as follows:

Oats	5	acres
Potatoes	1 $\frac{1}{4}$	"
Cabbage	$\frac{1}{6}$	"
Corn, sweet	$\frac{1}{4}$	"
Tomatoes	$\frac{1}{6}$	"
Berries	$\frac{1}{2}$	"
Garden vegetables	2 $\frac{2}{3}$	"

The five acres which was planted with oats, was a total loss through the severe wind storm of August 18th.

By rotating the crops, and the appliance of fertilizer, the following crops showed an increase over last year:

Potatoes, white	97 bu.	173 $\frac{1}{2}$ bu.
Cabbage	780 lbs.	1,814 lbs.
Corn, sweet	4,145 "	4,711 "
Tomatoes	1,680 "	3,832 "

The above crops were raised on the same amount of land both years. The total amount expended for labor, seeds, manure and implements was $485.90. The value of the produce amounted to $876.70, making a net profit of $409.20. The report in detail of our crops is shown in the report on another page.

With the completion of the new building in July, the capacity of the hospital has been increased. The number of applicants has also increased (62 per cent. over that of the previous year), the greater number of which we have been unable to accommodate, but we are Increase Number of Applicants hopeful that, since the lines of growth have been definitely planned for the hospital, the legislature will provide as rapidly as possible for all those eligible to admission.

Visitors invariably express surprise at our cramped quarters. Such work, as they see we are doing, they think deserves better facilities. While this is true, nevertheless we are able to provide unremittent professional care, skillful nursing, excellent food, an abundance of pure air, good schooling and a wholesome environment, and these are more essential than impressive buildings, elaborate decorations and expensive equipment. Our greatest need is for room to care for the many to whom we must refuse treatment and who can not obtain similar treatment elsewhere. Most of those whom we are unable to receive will remain more or less helpless for life, while, on the other hand, few who have been under our care will be unable to assume positions of usefulness in society. The latter fact the writer wishes to emphasize. Economically speaking, this hospital is actively, not passively, of value to the State and all monies spent on it are wise investments.

For the benefit of other states which have already undertaken this work, or contemplate so doing, we furnish with this report a résumé of our expenses.

The Misses Cook, of Hartford, kindly invited our patients to join with others in the United States, and send a Christmas box to a similar hospital in England. It pleased our children very much to receive the following letter:

"No. 722 Asylum Ave., Hartford, Jan. 7, 1912.

DEAR FRIENDS.—With the nice toys, games and costumes, and the pretty and useful things made by the little patients of the Nebraska Orthopedic Hospital, the beautiful great doll and bed from the New York State Hospital for Crippled Children, and a part of the money you sent, we filled a large Christmas box for Miss Hunt's Home, and also sent her fifty dollars in money.

A copy of the letter in reply to us all, which came a few days ago, follows.

Baschurch, Shrewsbury, Dec. 24, 1911.

DEAR CHILDREN.—I don't quite know how to begin this letter but please forgive me if you are grown up. You cannot imagine how pleased we were with your great gift. The children cheered you and America till the welkin rang. We are sending you photos of the place, but we want to wait for a good clear day with if possible a little snow or hoar frost, to make our exceedingly ugly sheds a little better looking.

Will you tell all the subscribers, of our great gratitude and thank them on behalf of myself and my eighty patients. Our Christmas tree will be on January 6th, 1912, and thanks to your generosity, it will be a magnificent one, and we shall all think of you, and cheer you heartily.

For myself and my committee I can only say that you have made us mighty proud. When we began, twelve years ago, we never thought that great America would ever hear of little Baschurch, let alone give us such a substantial gift.

I enclose our last report and wishing you all as Merry a Christmas as you have given us,

Yours sincerely,

A. G. HUNT.' "

Since the foundation of the hospital by Dr. Newton M. Shaffer, there has been fostered the spirit of individual interest in the work on the part of every one connected with it, irrespective of their particular duties. To this we attribute such commendations as we have received regarding the general management. Any criticism of anything within our power to alter has not come to our knowledge. And we can say this with all modesty because the credit belongs to the entire corps and to no one individual.

In reply to a letter to Dr. Hastings H. Hart, director of the department of Child-Helping of the Russell Sage Foundation, in which we requested that he write a few lines of criticism, "that we may be practically benefited by your personal visit and by what you have learnt through your inspectors," he wrote: "I was charmed with your glorious location. I was delighted in the way in which you have adopted an old building to your service and I approve heartily of the efficient use you are making of your stable and your temporary shacks.

"I was pleased with the spirit and general atmosphere of the hospital. The people in your service seem to be loyally and unselfishly devoted to the work and I imagine that you are doing very efficient work."

Dr. Hart then gave some kindly criticisms which will be of value to us though they were, for the most part, regarding matters beyond our present ability to remedy, chiefly the result of our limited accommodations.

The following letters are rather expressive of the satisfaction your management engenders:

Letters f
Parents.

"DEAR DOCTOR:

My wife and I feel that we must acknowledge to you our appreciation of the progress our little girl has made at the West Haverstraw hospital.

We can hardly convince our friends that our child can actually stand with the aid of braces, and is making some real progress toward walking. Those who knew of her naturally helpless condition in this respect can scarcely believe such a thing possible.

I would take this occasion to mention what has impressed us as a remarkable fact about the management of the hospital, and that is the maintenance of the family spirit. In this respect it seems the West Haverstraw hospital has a distinction of its own. We had not thought it possible to find that an institution of the kind was carried on with such a really loving sense of kindness for those entrusted to its care. There can be no doubt that the home atmosphere is admirably preserved. The customary signs of institutional, rigid discipline and cold formality are not there. No child is unpleasantly impressed by its position as a dependent charge. The work of the hospital is carried on in a big hearted family spirit that must have its influence for good upon the children.

These things we have noticed during our visits and we believe you may be interested in having this frank statement of the impression made upon us by the nobly humanitarian work you are carrying on. Possibly you will be interested in a letter recently sent by our little daughter at the hospital to her mother. This letter is as follows:

‘Dear Mother:

We have fine times here. Everybody is very nice to us. We go to an outdoor school in the afternoon. In the morning we go to an industrial school where we learn to stencil and hemstitch.

Last week we went to the moving pictures and saw “Alice in Wonderland.” It was very funny.

We went to Haverstraw for a ride and went all through the town. We saw a barge getting clay out of the river with which they make bricks.

We had a concert here last Sunday. Some men came and sang very nicely.

I have my back brace now. I am very comfortable in it. I am learning to walk with crutches. I think I will be contented to stay here as something can be done for me.

Lovingly your daughter.’

With best wishes for the extension and continued success of your good work.

Yours very truly,

From the father of a patient cured of hip-joint disease:

"DEAR DOCTOR:

William arrived home all O. K. last Saturday. We certainly feel very grateful for all that has been done for our son at the hospital, not only in regards to his health which we certainly appreciate, but also for the kind treatment he received from every one. In fact, William has only the highest praise for every one and I can assure you that the hospital and every one connected with it will always have a warm spot both in the mother and my own heart.

Trusting that you may all live to continue the good work which you are engaged in, I am,

Yours respectfully.

In reply to a request for permission to operate.

"DEAR DOCTOR:

Of course you have our consent to do for our boy what you think best. He surely has improved since he is down at the hospital. He is happy and contented and we know he has a good home there. This makes it much easier to bear the separation.

We wish to thank you and all the hospital people for their kindness.

Yours respectfully.

One little boy has from time to time written the writer letters which he has handed to him on his rounds. He has been encouraged to do this that he might develop his powers of observation and of composition. When admitted he was unable to get about except on his hands and knees, and had had but little schooling. The following three letters are selected from his correspondence: Fred's Letters.

"Dear Doctor the other day I went to get some nuts I saw three squirrels. They had some nuts in thir moth it was cold yesday, today I read bout clumbus in school. We sit on the stoon wall and woch the trains go by and woch the boat on the husin river this is all I can think of."

Appended hereto is a list of the donations received during the year. While the state provides the maintenance, we are dependent upon our friends for sources of amusement, and for many things which add to the happiness of the children and the success of our work, but which can not be considered imperative to the hospital's existence.

These articles were all most welcome, and the writer, in behalf of your Board, extends to these kind donors the thanks of both the Board and the Medical Staff.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN JOSEPH NUTT, M. D.,
Surgeon-in-Chief and Superintendent.

WHO MAY RECEIVE TREATMENT. No patient shall be received except upon application of a county superintendent of the poor or commissioner of charities in any county or city within the State, under rules to be established by the board of managers, showing that the patient is unable to pay for private treatment. If there was an attending physician before the patient entered the hospital, it shall be accompanied by the certificate of such physician giving previous history and condition of the patient.

No patient shall be admitted without the approval of the Surgeon-in-Chief, or in his absence, of the First Assistant Surgeon.

Patients over sixteen years of age will not be admitted.

No patient whose condition precludes a reasonable amount of relief as the result of treatment will be admitted.

This institution is a Hospital and not an Asylum or Home, and it should be clearly understood that the patient, if received, may be returned to the committing officer at the discretion of the Surgeon-in-Chief.

The hospital was established "for the care and treatment of any indigent children who are crippled or deformed, or are suffering from a disease from which they are likely to become crippled or deformed."

SIXTY-SECOND ANNUAL REPORT OF THE SYRACUSE STATE INSTITUTION FOR FEEBLE-MINDED CHILDREN

To the Honorable THOMAS F. CONWAY, Lieutenant-Governor:

DEAR SIR.—I beg to transmit herewith the sixty-second annual report of the Managers of the Syracuse State Institution for Feeble-Minded Children, including the reports of the Treasurer and Superintendent which have been submitted to the Board of Managers and adopted by them.

Very respectfully yours,

W. W. CHENEY,

President.

SIXTY-SECOND ANNUAL REPORT OF THE MANAGERS OF THE SYRACUSE STATE INSTITUTION FOR FEEBLE-MINDED CHILDREN.

To the Honorable, the Legislature of the State of New York:

As required by the law establishing this institution, the undersigned managers submit herewith their sixty-second annual report:

During the year two changes have occurred in our board. The prolonged illness of our venerable and distinguished colleague, Bishop Ludden, resulted in his resignation. His subsequent death brought a great loss to each of us and to our institution whose interests he had served so long and faithfully. In his place the Governor appointed the Rt. Rev. John Grimes, Bishop of the Diocese of Syracuse. Mr. Mead Van Zile Belden, a regular and valued attendant at our meetings, whose term had expired, was succeeded by Dr. William A. Kelly of Lowville, N. Y.

Another change of vital importance to the institution was the resignation of Dr. James C. Carson, the Superintendent, after twenty-seven and one-half years of diligent and efficient service; and the appointment of his successor, Dr. O. H. Cobb, Assistant Superintendent of the New York State Hospital for the Care of Crippled and Deformed Children. Dr. Cobb assumed his duties April 18, 1912.

As the institution was built about sixty years ago, the time is approaching when additions should be made to our present plant or the school provided with new buildings on a more suitable site.

The present quarters are inadequate and poorly suited to our needs; the school rooms and dormitories have insufficient light and ventilation and the whole institution requires constant repairs to keep it in a habitable condition. Also, our facilities offer small opportunity for the development and expansion of the industrial department, a most important branch of the school.

Moreover, the growth of the city up to and surrounding the institution makes it difficult to control our older children without recourse to reformatory methods, and the sale of this valuable property would in part meet the cost of a new plant. As the advantages of locating all institutions, and especially those for the feeble-minded, in the open country are unquestioned, we look forward to the time when the State can provide us with a new and larger institution built on the cottage plan and located upon a generous tract of land in the vicinity of Syracuse.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT.

To the Board of Managers:

I submit herewith my report of the condition of your institution for the year ending September 30, 1912:

ADMISSIONS AND DISCHARGES.

During the year there were 183 applications for admission, 25 more than last year. Seventy-three children were admitted and two readmitted; 108 children were rejected; 51 were considered too low grade, 14 were over age, 12 under age, 9 paralyzed, 13 epileptic, 6 insane, 2 blind, and one was certified to be not feeble-minded.

There were 52 discharges: 23 were taken home by parents and not returned; 21 were sent to the Rome Custodial Asylum; 3 epileptic children were transferred to Craig Colony; one went to the State School for the Blind at Batavia; two eloped and did not return, and one died. One of the best of our older girls who did not return from vacation is supporting herself at general house-work.

At the close of the year your institution is filled to its capacity and we are turning away many lower grade children whom our training would prepare for self help and useful work. With an enlarged institution we might well train feeble-minded children of whatever grade of mentality.

REPAIRS AND BETTERMENTS.

The rewiring of the institution, which had dragged along for nearly two years, made necessary the renovation of our buildings. Extensive painting, carpentry and plastering repairs throughout the institution proceeded actively during the latter part of the year. Steel ceilings were erected, new floors laid, and tile floors renovated.

The Music Hall has been fitted for a gymnasium by screening the lights and windows, the removal of a low stage, and the purchase of apparatus. Two basement rooms in the north wing have been renovated for the use of the industrial school.

Exterior improvements included pointing up and resetting caps on all the chimneys, and placing a concrete cap on the boiler house stack, pointing up the outside brick walls throughout, gutter and roof repairs on all the buildings, repairs to exterior woodwork on several buildings, and painting of roofs, gutters, and fire escapes.

Earlier in the year a steel fire escape from the south wing was erected and two new boilers replaced old ones, resulting in a marked cut in our fuel bills in spite of the hard winter.

The roadways at the institution have been rebuilt and a concrete reservoir at Fairmount constructed

The report of the Treasurer shows unexpended special appropriations available October 1, 1912, amounting to $20,018.54. Some of the work thus provided for is completed, awaiting acceptance; and the rest is being actively prosecuted.

Of the $4,462.90 appropriated under chapter 822, Laws of 1911. $1,997.04 is mortgaged by a contract let for an iron fence on the northern boundary of the institution grounds, and the balance is reserved for a water section and sewage disposal plant at Fairmount, plans for which have been requested from the State Architect.

The status of the work provided for by chapter 530, Laws of 1912, $15,550.23, is this:

1. Electric wiring, $2,620.29. The work has been completed.

2. Extraordinary repairs and equipment, $4,929.94. Estimates have been prepared for furnishing the Superintendent's house, and for alterations and equipment for operating room, morgue, and dispensary. A contract has been let for the iron fence. This fund shows an unmortgaged balance of $887.55.

3. Electric Light Plant, $8,000. A contract has been let which, with consequent alterations to engine room, will exhaust the fund.

APPROPRIATIONS NEEDED.

Maintainance for the year 1913-14.....	$120,000 00

During the current year our running expenses were $113,134.23. Increases in wages will amount to $5,000, and it is estimated that about $2,000 will be needed to meet increased cost of supplies.

Since much still remains to be done to complete the renovation of our buildings, we are asking for special appropriations sufficient to cover this work.

EXTRAORDINARY REPAIRS AND NEW EQUIPMENT.

1. Completing the wiring of the Superintendent's residence.	$550 00
---	----------

This is the last item of the contract for re-wiring the institution. The old wiring system has been condemned, owing to numerous short circuits and sparking boxes.

2. Exterior painting of the institution..... $3,000 00

The amount covers material and labor for those parts of the buildings which cannot be done by inmate labor.

3. Steam piping and covering..... 6,000 00

In the boys' building the piping was installed many years ago, and is in urgent need of replacement. In the girls' building the piping is old and of too small a size properly to heat the building. Throughout the institution the piping system needs new insulation to prevent great loss of heat. The garden cottage and carpentry shop are at present heated by two separate units. It is proposed to extend the pipe lines from the boiler house to these buildings, which will result in economy and lessened fire risk.

4. Refrigerating plant 15,000 00

5. Kitchen equipment 1,000 00

This item includes steam kettles, and urns for coffee and hot water, to supplement our present equipment which is old and defective.

6. Concrete floors, walks, and gutters, and tile floors. 1,800 00

7. Fire equipment 33,000 00

Includes fire escapes, extinguishers, hose, etc. A large part of our present equipment is old, unsafe, and was emphatically condemned by the fire marshal's office.

8. Renovation of buildings..... 6,000 00

Includes hardwood floors, steel ceilings, iron beds, and two new bath rooms, main building.

9. System of doorlocks for the institution..... 1,000 00

A complete new system of door locks is needed. The present master-key system is defective and unreliable in cases of emergency.

10. Water-proofing basements	$2,000 00
11. Repairs and equipment, Superintendent's residence.....	1,000 00
This amount is needed to complete the furnishing of the residence, to install hardwood floors in three rooms, for repainting and extensive repairs to woodwork.
12. Miscellaneous equipment and repairs.....	2,200 00
Includes a small coal scale for the boiler house; to check up the work of each fireman; self-closing bibbs to prevent waste water; electric irons and rewiring laundry for same. Also two new pianos and much needed furnishings.
13. Improvements at Fairmount.....	1,000 00
To provide a new silo and alterations to quarters for young stock.
14. Wire insect screens throughout the institution.	3,000 00
15. Alterations and additions to boiler house equipment, including one 250 H. P. boiler, water heater, and coal pit.....	14,000 00

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL EQUIPMENT.

1. Equipment for establishing ten industries.....	$2,500 00
2. Equipment for laundry.....	1,000 00
3. Power equipment for sewing rooms.....	1,000 00

The industrial school will be the most important element in the education of our children. The younger ones will begin with hand training in the manual arts and industries, supplemented by school classes, and later will be taught substantial and useful work. The boys will be trained in farming, carpentry, painting, brush and broom making, etc.; the girls will be prepared to do first class housework, serving, laundry work, etc. The appropriation requested is to provide a sewing room equipped like a modern clothing factory, and a laundry with the common labor saving devices found in first class steam laundries. There is an immense amount of sewing, darning and laundry work to be done in an institution of this kind, so that if the old methods are to be continued it will require the services of many older girls who are at present taking the places of children who should be accommodated in this school.

NEW BUILDINGS.

|------------------------------|------------|
| 1. Bakery and equipment..... | $9,500 00 |
|------------------------------|------------|

In the present bakery there is no proper place for the storage of flour. Large fissures in the oven let the heat escape so that the flour is damaged before baking. The present bread racks and fittings are unsanitary and encourage vermin. If a new bakery is built, the old one will be used as a storeroom in place of the present unsuitable basement rooms.

- | | |
| 2. Machine, plumbing and tin shops..... | 4,500 00 |
|---|----------|

Upon the installation of our new generating plant, one or two assistant engineers will be employed so that, with proper equipment, it should be possible to do much of our repair work now done by outside workmen.

RECAPITULATION.

HEALTH.

The health of the institution has been remarkable. For the second time since 1872, forty years, there has been only one death during the year. With the exception of ten mild cases of diphtheria there has been no contagious disease.

For the first time in several years there was no typhoid among the children. This is attributed to the fact that early in the summer all the children who had not had the disease were inoculated with typhoid vaccine. No bad effects of the injection were noted in any instance.

During the summer we were fortunate in obtaining the services of Mr. Rasi, a dental student at the University of Pennsylvania, to act as assistant to our dentist. So marked was the improvement of our children under his care, in general health and appearance, that it was decided to employ a resident dentist and install a complete dental equipment.

Many of our children have defective sight and pathological throat conditions that need skilled attention. Two of the foremost specialists in the city have volunteered to attend to this work.

HOUSEKEEPER AND DIETITIAN.

It is planned to coordinate the work of the housekeeping department by appointing a housekeeper who shall have charge of the distribution of provisions and household supplies, and shall supervise the work of the several kitchens. Miss Magdalen Reinehr, a graduate of Pratt Institute and an experienced dietitian, has accepted the position and will begin her work in October.

WAGES.

At a recent meeting the Salary Classification Commission allowed a substantial increase in the wages of our lower employees. Although this change adds about $5,000 to our yearly pay roll, we believe it is wise to provide wages sufficient to attract high grade people. In an institution of this kind every employee is a teacher, and those who are in closest contact with the children exert the greatest influence upon their characters.

THE SCHOOL.

The aim of the school is to develop each child to the limit of his capacity by constant occupation from morning until night in school classes, industrial and manual tasks, physical exercise, and play, changing often to stimulate an unflagging interest and pleasure in each. Emphasis is laid upon training in useful occupations so that, when the child grows older, he may contribute to his support.

With the beginning of the school year several changes were inaugurated. This year we have 380 children under instruction, as compared with 288 last year. To provide for this increased number it was found necessary to add two teachers, making a total of eighteen school and industrial teachers, with classes averaging twenty children.

The music hall has been converted into a gymnasium where all indoor games may be utilized in developing strong, healthy bodies in our children.

A band has been organized under an experienced band master who devotes his whole time to the work. The band gets a hold on our older, more troublesome boys that no other kind of work can. In addition, a few of our brightest girls are receiving instruction on the piano and may in time be of use to us in the kindergarten and exercise classes.

Regular kindergarten, physical, and manual work has been introduced in the south wing and girls' building, among the duller children. These children are also being trained in the housework of their own departments, making beds, polishing floors, and washing dishes. Some of them in the girls' building have made remarkable progress in the sewing room.

Two rooms in the basement of the north wing have been pressed into service for our industrial department. Here is done basketry, netting, chair-caning, and weaving of rag carpets and toweling.

The Sloyd class is now working five days a week instead of two half days. Forty boys are engaged in making articles for the school, saving expense and adding zest to the work, as the boys like to make useful things.

An increased number of children are working in the tailor shop and in the sewing and dressmaking classes. Some of the girls are being taught to cut and fit dresses, as well as to do the mechanical work. Machines for knitting mittens and caps have been ordered.

The regular holidays are duly celebrated and the various build-ings are encouraged to get up occasional parties. In addition, one evening a week the teachers entertain the children by games, music, etc. A piano placed in the boys' building has proved a great success.

Every Sunday the children have an opportunity to hear one of the leading clergymen of the city. The Catholic children attend a morning service in a nearby church, and the Jewish children are instructed by the Rabbi who conducts a service once a month.

Steps are being taken to improve our records. A systematic testing of our children by the Binet system has been begun, and Dr. Richmond is engaged in a physical examination of all the children. A photograph, examples of progress in school, and all available data concerning the family history will be filed for each child.

Among the records of the institution is a wealth of material which we shall some day utilize by the employment of a field worker. It is hoped that as time goes on the institution may be of increasing service to the physician, the social worker, the teacher of ungraded classes in the public schools, and others interested in the great problem of the mentally defective.

In closing I wish to express my appreciation of the cordial cooperation received from my fellow workers in the institution, during the trying period that always follows a change in administration.

To you, the Board of Managers, I desire to acknowledge my gratitude for your constant and unanimous support.

BY-LAWS OF THE SYRACUSE STATE INSTITUTION FOR FEEBLE-MINDED CHILDREN.

(Revised November 13, 1912.)

ARTICLE I.

THE MANAGERS.

The managers shall have the general direction and control of all the property and concerns of the institution, not otherwise provided for by law, and shall take charge of its general interests, maintain an effective inspection of the affairs and management of the institution. They shall receive no compensation for their effect, and everything done faithfully according to the requirements of the Legislature, and the by-laws, rules and regulations of the institution, and see that its general designs be carried into services, but shall be allowed their actual and reasonable traveling and other expenses, to be paid by the treasurer on the rendering of their accounts.

ARTICLE II.

MEETINGS OF THE BOARD.

The regular meetings of the board shall be held monthly at the institution, on the second Wednesday of each month, at 2 o'clock P. M.

ARTICLE III.

ELECTIONS.

At the meeting in October every year, the officers of the board, who shall be a president, a secretary, a treasurer, and an executive committee consisting of three of the managers, shall be chosen by ballot.

ARTICLE IV.

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

At the regular meetings of the board, the order of business shall be as follows:

1. Reading of the minutes of the last meeting.
2. Report of the executive committee.
3. Reports of the general committees.
4. Report of the treasurer.
5. Reports of the superintendent and heads of departments.
6. Reports of the special committees.
7. Resolutions.
8. Miscellaneous business.

ARTICLE V.

THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

The members of the executive committee shall meet at the institution on the second Wednesday of every month, at such hour as they may from time to time appoint. They shall have the general charge of the interests of the institution in all matters which may arise between the meetings of the board; shall see that all resolutions of the managers are promptly carried into effect; they shall keep regular minutes of their proceedings in a book prepared for that purpose and kept in the institution, and present the same at the meeting of the board, and they shall perform such other duties as may be delegated to them by the board. They shall have the power of calling extra meetings of the board. They shall prepare the annual report and submit the same for the approbation of the board at its meeting in October.

ARTICLE VI.

THE GENERAL COMMITTEES.

The general committees shall be as follows:

Auditing and treasurer's accounts, three members.

Buildings and grounds, two members.

Farm, two members.

Education, two members.

Inmates, two members.

Personal property, visitation and inspection, two members.

Employees, two members.

The general committees shall be appointed by the president annually in October, unless otherwise specified. Each shall have direct supervision over its particular subject and in case of disputed jurisdiction, the president shall decide as to which general committee a subject shall be referred. Each general committee shall report upon its work, or upon any special matter referred to it, to the board of managers, and shall make an annual report to the board of managers at its meeting in October.

ARTICLE VII

THE SECRETARY.

The secretary shall keep minutes of the proceedings of the board, and record them in a book kept for that purpose, and shall perform such other duties as the board shall assign him. He shall also notify the managers of all meetings of the board.

ARTICLE VIII.

THE TREASURER.

The treasurer shall have the custody of all moneys, bonds, notes, mortgages, and other securities and obligations belonging to the institution; collect all moneys due, and receive all appropriations, gifts and legacies made or bequeathed to the institution, and deposit the same in some safe bank; he shall pay all debts and bills according to the estimates approved by the fiscal supervisor and as audited by the auditing and treasurer's accounts committee, and keep full and accurate accounts of all his collections, receipts and payments. He shall render to the executive committee semi-annual statements of his receipts and payments; balance his books of account annually on the first day of October, and upon the day of the annual meeting make and deliver to said committee a statement of such balance, showing the receipts and payments of the past year.

ARTICLE IX.

THE SUPERINTENDENT.

The superintendent shall be the chief executive officer of the institution. He shall have the general superintendence of the buildings, grounds and farm, together with their furniture, fixtures and stock, and the direction and control of all persons employed in and about the same, subject to the laws and regulations established by the managers. He shall have the appointment of his coresident officers, with power to assign them their respective duties, subject to the by-laws. He shall employ, subject to the supervision of the board of managers, such teachers, attendants, and assistants as he may think proper and necessary for the economical and efficient carrying into effect of the design of the institution, prescribe their several duties and places, and may discharge any of them. He shall also from time to time give such orders and instructions as he may judge best calculated to induce good conduct, fidelity and economy in any department of labor and expense, and he is authorized and enjoined to maintain salutary discipline among all who are employed by the institution, and to enforce strict compliance with such instructions and uniform obedience to all the rules and regulations of the institution. He shall further cause full records of the entire business and operations of the institution, together with the condition and prospects of the pupils, to be kept regularly in books provided for the purpose; and he shall see that all such accounts and records shall be fully made up the first days of April and October in each year, and that the principal facts and results, with his report thereon, be presented to the board at its semi-annual meetings. The exercise of the foregoing powers shall be subject to the approval of the managers, except as herein otherwise provided.

He shall conduct the official correspondence of the institution; shall, at the time of the admission of any pupil into the institution, enter in a book, to be provided and kept for that purpose, a minute with date of the name and residence of the pupil, and of the person or persons upon whose application he is received. He shall file and carefully preserve the application, commitment, and all other papers accompanying such pupil. He may make arrangements, subject to the approval of the managers, for the support, maintenance and clothing of pupils admitted to the institution and should, immediately on the reception of any State pupil, give notice thereof to the clerk of the board of supervisors of the county from which the pupil was sent. He shall also give notice of the discharge of a pupil by the managers, to the person and in the mode prescribed by law; and shall see to the removal and delivery of such discharged pupil to the proper county and officer.

He shall be accountable for the careful keeping and economical use of all furniture, stores and other articles provided for the institution, and prepare and present to the board at its annual meeting a true and perfect inventory of all the personal property and effects belonging to the institution.

ARTICLE X.

RECEPTION OF PUPILS.

The design and objects of the institution, as established by the action of the Legislature, are not of a custodial character, but to furnish the means of education to that portion of the youth of the State not provided for in any of its other educational institutions. Those only, therefore, will be received into the institution who are of a proper school-attending age, and for such periods of time as shall, in the estimation of the board of managers, suffice to impart all the education practicable in each particular case, and in conformity with the regulations hereinafter specified.

Children between the ages of seven and fourteen, who are feeble-minded, or so deficient in intelligence as to be incapable of being educated at any ordinary school, and who are not epileptic, paralyzed, helpless, insane, or greatly deformed, may be admitted by the superintendent, with the advice and consent of the executive committee. Applications in behalf of others shall be referred to the action of the board of managers.

The parents or next friends of those in whose behalf applications are made for admission as pupils shall make answers in writing to such questions as the superintendent and committee shall prescribe. They shall, moreover, if of sufficient ability, engage to pay such reasonable sum for the education and support of the pupils, and to furnish them with such proper clothing while in the institution, as shall be stipulated by the superintendent, and they shall in all cases be bound to receive them back, when required, free of expense to the institution.

The State pupils will be expected to come to the institution provided with a supply of neat and substantial clothing for the first six months, after which period the clothing will be furnished by the institution, at the expense of the respective counties of which they are residents.

All pupils will be received upon trial for one month, at the end of which time a report upon the case will be made to the parents or parties sending them, if requested.

All admissions to this institution shall be through commitment from the several counties of the State by the county superintendents of the poor of such counties, or other officer acting in that capacity, and from the city of New York by the commissioner of public charities of such city, or his deputy designated for that purpose. In the admission of such pupils the several counties and the city of New York shall, so far as practicable, be entitled annually to the admission of pupils to this institution in the ratio which the population of such counties and the city of New York, respectively, bears to the population of the State, as ascertained by the last official census. (Chapter 843, section 52, Laws of 1911.)

ARTICLE XI.

PLAN OF INSTRUCTION.

The education furnished by the institution will include not only the simpler elements of instruction usually taught in common schools, where that is practicable, but will embrace a course of training in the more practical matters of every day life, the cultivation of habits of decency, propriety, self-control, and the development of a capacity for useful occupation.

There shall be a vacation during the months of July and August, unless otherwise directed by the board, at which period all pupils must be removed from the institution by the parents or guardians, if required by the superintendent.

ARTICLE XII.

DISCHARGE OF PUPILS.

When the managers shall direct a State pupil to be discharged from the institution, the superintendent thereof may return him to the county from which he was sent, and the superintendent of the poor of the county shall audit and pay the actual and reasonable expenses of such return. If any town, county or person is legally liable for the support of such pupil, such expenses may be recovered by action in the name of the county by such superintendent of the poor. If the superintendent of the poor neglect or refuse to pay such expenses on demand, the treasurer of the institution may pay the same and charge the amount to the county and the treasurer of the county shall pay the same with interest after thirty days, out of any funds in his hands not otherwise appropriated; and the supervisors shall raise the amount so paid as other county charges. (Chapter 449, section 69, Laws of 1910.)

By-laws can only be altered at a regular meeting of the board by a majority of the whole board.

STATE OF NEW YORK

No. 41.

IN ASSEMBLY

MARCH 28, 1913

TO THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK

The Governors of the Society of the New York Hospital respectfully present their Annual Report of the state of the Institutions under their charge for the year 1912, as required by law.

NEW YORK HOSPITAL AS IT APPEARED IN 1869

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE GOVERNORS OF THE SOCIETY OF THE NEW YORK HOSPITAL FOR THE YEAR 1912.

To the Legislataure of the State of New York:

In conformity with the provisions of its charter, granted by Royal authority June 13, 1771, in the reign of King George III, the Governors of the Society of the New York Hospital present their Annual Report, consisting of the report of the Treasurer and of the several institutions under their control and management, as follows:

The Hospital at Fifteenth street, the Private Hospital at Sixteenth street, the House of Relief at Hudson street, the department for the treatment of mental diseases, known as Bloomingdale Hospital, and the Convalescent Cottages at White Plains, Westchester county.

The number of individuals who received care and treatment in all departments during the past year was 67,037 as compared with 64,677 for the year 1911, as appears in the statistical reports hereto annexed. These numbers may be classified as follows:

TREATED IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK:
In wards and private rooms.....	17,790	15,591
In out-patient departments	39,929	40,814
Treated by ambulance surgeons and not brought to the hospitals	7,798	6,982
TREATED IN WESTCHESTER COUNTY:
In the psychopathic department.....	535	498
In the convalescent homes	985	792
	67,037	64,677

In consequence of the increased amount of work performed, and the increased cost of supplies of all sorts, the expenses were largely increased in all departments of the institution. It has also been necessary during the past year to make some extensive renewals, notably at Bloomingdale, where the electric wiring system has been overhauled and other important additions and improvements are in progress.

On the other hand, the payments for patients' board, and the receipts from the out-patient departments and sundries, have likewise increased; and we have also (for the first time) received payments from the city of New York for our local ambulance service.

ANNUAL REPORT OF GOVERNORS.

The following comparative table shows the totals of current expenditures and receipts from income:

	1912	1911	Increase
Expenditures	$705,924 96	$654,644 97	$51,279 99
Receipts from patients, etc.	418,475 14	379,007 88	39,467 26
Operating cost	$287,449 82	$275,637 09	$11,812 73
Rents, interest and sundry receipts	246,897 41	264,600 19	17,702 78*
Deficit	$40,552 41	$11,036 90	$29,515 51

The Society during the past year has received the following gifts and legacies:

From Mrs. George G. DeWitt, for endowing a bed in memory of her late husband	$5,000 00
From the Estate of Catherine E. Daly, for endowing a bed.	5,000 00
From Estate of Charles Bathgate Beck, final distribution of the residuary estate of the testator.	20,282 08
From Mrs. Charles E. Sherman and others to constitute the Thomas Newbold Lawrence Fund, given by his nieces and nephews, the annual income therefrom to be used in the work of the social service of the New York Hospital, in memory of Thomas Newbold Lawrence of New York, son of John Burling Lawrence, who, from 1808 to 1845, was a governor of this Hospital	10,000 00
From Mr. J. Woodward Haven (one of the governors), to establish a dental clinic in connection with the out-patient department	2,000 00

In addition, the Society received on the last day of the year the sum of $250,000 from Mr. George F. Baker, one of the Governors. This generous gift is intended to effect an affiliation between the

NEW YORK HOSPITAL — WEST FIFTEENTH STREET
Completed 1877

New York Hospital and Cornell University Medical College, with the object of promoting medical research, aiding the care of patients in the Hospital and furthering the education of students in the college.

It is believed that by bringing to the study of the cases in the Hospital the aid of the facilities provided by the fully organized and equipped college laboratories, more accurate knowledge of the diseases can be gained and better treatment can be given to the individual patients; and the opportunities for the study of disease can be utilized by bringing to the aid of the attending staff the equipment and specialized training of the college staff in the departments of physiology, pathology and chemistry. At the same time the training of the students can be aided by their admission to the wards for observation of patients, under the direction of the Hospital staff.

Arrangements to carry into effect Mr. Baker's intentions have been made with the authorities of Cornell University, and it is expected that the plan will shortly be in full operation.

In the last annual report it was stated that the Society had acquired practically all the block between Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth streets and Eleventh and Twelfth avenues for a new site for the main hospital. The property, however, was not fully paid for until the early part of the year 1912, and these payments have necessitated the sale of income-producing property, which has caused a falling off in receipts of rents, interest, etc., as noted above.

The preliminary studies for the buildings intended to be erected on this property have been completed and tentative plans have been prepared. These plans exhibit a hospital of about four hundred beds with all the useful adjuncts of out-patient department, laboratories, etc., which (by relatively small additions and alterations) can be easily expanded into a six hundred bed hospital. The final development of the plans has been delayed, partly because of the uncertainty as to the action of the city authorities in regard to proposed changes along the water front in that neighborhood.

Early in the year Mr. Elbridge T. Gerry, one of the governors of the Hospital, resigned after a service of over thirty-four years; and Dr. Frank Hartley, one of the attending staff, resigned on the 1st of December, after a service of over twenty years.

The Society has also lost by death Mr. George G. DeWitt, who had been a governor since 1892; and Mr. William W. Hoppin, a governor since 1878, who died on January 3, 1913 — just after the close of the year. Resolutions adopted by the board in relation to the deaths of these gentlemen are appended hereto.

Attention is called to the fact that the statistical reports annexed cover all the institutions under the management of the Society.

HENRY W. CRANE,

Secretary.

G. L. RIVES,

President.

NEW YORK, February 4, 1913.

IN MEMORIAM.

GEORGE GOSMAN DEWITT.

DIED JANUARY 12, 1912.

George Gosman DeWitt, a governor of the New York Hospital for the past twenty years, died on January 12, 1912, at his home in this city, in the sixty-seventh year of his age.

After graduating from Columbia College and the Columbia Law School, Mr. DeWitt entered the law office of his uncles, and with them, and subsequently as the senior member of the firm which succeeded them, he continued successfully the oldest established law practice in the city of New York. His clients were numerous, and he represented with fidelity and skill for over forty years many large and complicated interests. He was a director of several of the most important banking institutions in this city, and also a trustee of Roosevelt Hospital and of Columbia College.

Elected a member of the Board of Governors of this Society in 1892, he served with diligence and fidelity upon the various committees of the board and took an active interest, up to the time of his death, in the welfare of the institution.

No memorial of Mr. DeWitt would be complete without a reference to the kindly and genial disposition which has made his death felt as a personal loss in many and varied circles in this city.

On motion, it was

Resolved, That the foregoing memorial be entered upon the minutes of the governors of the Society and that a copy be sent to the widow of Mr. DeWitt.

[Extract from the minutes of the board of governors, February 6, 1912.]

WILLIAM WARNER HOPPIN.

DIED JANUARY 3, 1913.

William Warner Hoppin, who died at his home in this city on Friday, January 3, 1913, was born in Providence on December 15, 1839. He graduated from Brown University in 1861 and soon afterwards entered the College of Physicians and Surgeons in this city, and obtained the degree of M. D. in the spring of 1864. He served as assistant surgeon in the United States Army during the last months of the Civil War and was also for a time an interne of this Hospital. He felt, however, attracted toward the legal profession and entered the Columbia Law School, from which he graduated in 1869; and thus his education peculiarly fitted him to be of service in dealing with the problems which must always confront those charged with the responsibilities of a large metropolitan hospital.

Mr. Hoppin was elected a governor in the year 1877 to take the place of his father-in-law, Mr. James W. Beekman. During the period of more than thirty-five years, in which Mr. Hoppin served the Hospital as governor, he was always keenly interested in its welfare, and his warm and sympathetic nature led him to look constantly upon the humanitarian aspects of its work. He naturally also took a profound interest in its educational work, and particularly in the training of nurses, in which this Hospital has been so pre-eminently successful.

The members of the board of governors will greatly miss his valuable and enlightening comments on the subjects under their consideration, and will always retain the recollection of his most sympathetic and kindly nature.

Resolved, That the foregoing be entered upon the minutes of the board and that a copy be sent to the widow of our late associate.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF THE NEW YORK HOSPITAL AND HOUSE OF RELIEF.

To the Board of Governors:

GENTLEMEN.—I beg to submit the following report for the year 1912.

The cost of maintaining the New York Hospital was $11,825.14 greater than in 1911.

The pay-roll was increased $5,940 by the creation during the year of a number of additional salaried positions, including the following: assistant in clinical pathology, housekeeper in Nurses' Home, X-ray technician, general mechanic, night operating-room nurse and anæsthetist. But owing to several reductions and changes the net increase in salaries and wages was only $4,850.38.

The amount expended for nurses and attendants increased $1,859.04.

The greatest increase was in the steward's department for provisions. The quantities purchased were not much greater than in 1911, but owing to increase in prices the total cost was $5,790 greater.

The prices paid for meat, poultry, butter and eggs were much larger than in 1911. The average price paid for meat was 21 per cent. greater, for poultry 7 per cent., for butter 14 per cent., and for eggs 17 per cent.

Owing to the more general use of the X-ray in making diagnoses the expense of this department is increasing rapidly. In 1912 the increase was $1,422.

HOUSE OF RELIEF.

The expenses of the House of Relief were $1,739 greater than in 1911. This increase was due partly to the increased prices paid for provisions and partly to larger expenditures for maintenance of real estate and buildings.

The receipts from patients and ambulance service were $3,592.12 greater than in 1911.

HOUSE OF RELIEF — 67 AND 69 HUDSON STREET
Completed 1894

The roof ward has been occupied for over a year and has amply demonstrated its usefulness. Ten patients are accommodated in this ward.

AMBULANCE SERVICE.

The work in this department is increasing from year to year. In 1909 the total number of calls responded to was 4,286, as compared with 6,971 in 1912. As our ambulance district has not been increased since March, 1909, this is a remarkable increase.

A fourth electric ambulance was added to the equipment of the 15th-16th Street Hospital late in the year. At the House of Relief one electric and two horse ambulances are maintained.

The city of New York began during the year to pay the Hospital for its ambulance service. Up to this time the Hospital had received no assistance from the city in maintaining this service, which is entirely free. Practically all of our calls come through police headquarters.

The average daily number of calls at the Hospital was 19, as compared with 18 in 1911, 14 in 1910, 11 in 1909, and 8 in 1908.

ADDITIONS AND BETTERMENTS.

In order to lessen fire risk the shafts of the passenger elevator in the Private Patient Building, and the elevator in the House of Relief were enclosed with wire glass, and the outside fire escape at the House of Relief was extended to the roof.

Stand pipes were installed in the Nurses' Home, and in the buildings at Nos. 14 and 16 West 16th street.

The quarters assigned the X-ray department becoming cramped another room was placed at the disposal of the department. It is equipped for storing plates and demonstrating radiographs. The work in this department is increasing from year to year and the space allotted to it is insufficient.

By heating the water used in the Hospital with exhaust steam instead of live steam, and by making other minor changes, a considerable saving in coal has been effected. It is estimated that the annual saving will be about 1,200 tons.

In order to make our private service more attractive telephones were installed in all the private rooms. As this department had ten more rooms at its disposal than it had last year the work in it showed a considerable increase.

A system for signaling officers and internes was installed during the year and has proved very satisfactory. It consists of fourteen annunciator boards located in the wards, laboratories, lounging room, etc. Each board has thirty numbered drops. Each official position is represented by a number. The drops are operated by a board located in the Hospital office. As a drop falls a slight clicking sound is produced, thus directing attention to the board. The numbers are large enough to be read at a distance of from 80 to 100 feet.

PATIENTS TREATED.

The number of admissions to the Hospital was 5,619, an increase of 11 over the admissions of 1911. The number of patients treated in the emergency room was 9,022, an increase of 26 per cent. over 1911.

There was an increase of over 2 per cent. in hospital days. The number of days' care furnished in the private rooms was 9,407, an increase of 17 per cent. over 1911.

There was a decrease of 124 in new patients treated in the out-patient department, but the total visits in this department was 2,609 greater than in the preceding year.

The total number of patients treated in all departments of the Hospital, not including those treated by the ambulance surgeons, was 31,882, an increase of nearly 6 per cent.

DENTAL CLINIC.

Through the generosity of one of the governors a dental clinic was established in connection with the out-patient department. A dentist is on duty three mornings of each week from 9:30 to 12 o'clock. Adults as well as children are treated in this clinic.

The clinic was started March 28th. The number of patients applying for treatment was 244. There were 26 oral surgery operations, 24 of which consisted of opening abscesses and removing necrosed bone, and two were on fractured jaws. There were 391 treatments, 324 fillings, and 411 extractions.

HYDRIATIC DEPARTMENT.

In this department treatment is furnished to ward, private room and out patients.

Men and women are treated on alternate afternoons. Expert operators are in constant attendance.

The average daily number of treatments in 1912 was 8 + against 7 + in 1911.

The number treated during the year is as follows:

HOSPITAL BUREAU OF STANDARDS AND SUPPLIES.

This Hospital retains its membership in the Hospital Bureau of Standards and Supplies. We feel that much has been gained through the standardization of the various commodities. Considering qualities, the prices obtained through the Bureau have been very satisfactory.

GIFTS.

This Hospital has been the recipient during the year of a large number of donations, such as books, toys, flowers, fruit, etc. These gifts, while ordinarily inexpensive, have as a whole assisted much in rendering hospital life more attractive, especially for the children. We desire to encourage these donations.

We are under obligations to the Employment Society of St. Thomas' Church and the Friends' Employment Society for a large amount of sewing done without expense to the Hospital. For statistics, see Statistical Report.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS HOWELL,

REPORT OF THE MEDICAL BOARD OF THE NEW YORK HOSPITAL FOR THE YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31, 1912.

To the Board of Governors of the New York Hospital:

GENTLEMEN.—The number of individuals who received care and treatment during the past year was 36,700, as compared with 34,368 for the year 1911.

Of the cases treated in the medical wards, some of the more important diseases are here recorded together with their numbers:

Arteriosclerosis	21
Bronchitis	69
Cirrhosis liver	14
Fever, rheumatic	94
Fever, typhoid	58
Fever, malaria	34
Myocarditis	30
Nephritis	110
Pleurisy	64
Pneumonia, lobar	160
Poisoning, illuminating gas	17
Stomach, ulcer of	26
Syphilis	32
Valvular diseases, chronic cardiac	83

Of the patients treated in the surgical wards, some of the more important injuries and diseases are here recorded together with their numbers:

Appendicitis	400
Cholelithiasis	31
Endometritis	71
Exophthalmic goitre	38
Extrauterine gestation	13
Fractures	115

Gunshot wounds	13
Hernia	136
Pleurisy, suppurative	25
Rectum	115
Salpingitis	132
Tumors, benign	108
Tumors, malignant	99
Ulcers of stomach	26
Uterus, displacement of	54
Varicocele	30

The operative work in the main hospital has increased during the past year. In 1911, 1,894 operations were performed. In 1912, something over 2,000.

The work in the several divisions of the out-patient department has been performed in a satisfactory manner. The departments of hydro- and thermo-therapy continue to be most useful not only to out-door patients, but also to many ward cases.

The efficiency of the X-ray department has been greatly increased. More and better work has been done, especially in the diagnosis of diseases of the stomach and intestines. The results of past work are now easily accessible for reference and study. The establishment of a room where X-ray plates can be examined and compared, with proper illumination, has been convenient and valuable. Dr. A. H. Busby is to be congratulated upon the results of his efforts in this department.

A chronic and well founded complaint on the part of the entire medical profession is that so few autopsies are permitted. The pathological changes found in the bodies of the dead have been expressed during life by groups of signs and symptoms constituting the phenomena of disease. Correctly to transpose these signs and symptoms into terms of pathological changes in the tissues, is the whole art of diagnosis. If young men are to become good diagnosticians, they must learn to know not merely the presence of certain signs and symptoms, but also what such signs and symptoms mean. Such knowledge can only be fully acquired by the study of gross pathology. An interne on a hospital staff learns more by the careful study of one obscure case followed by autopsy, than by the study of twenty such cases where he must accept merely a clinical diagnosis, often made incorrectly by someone else.

During the past year general anæsthetics have been given (on the public side of the Hospital) by two women physicians, Doctor Alma Vedin and her assistant; in some cases also by members of the house staff. More than 2,000 patients received a general anæsthetic. Nitrous oxide followed by ether has been the routine method.

The open drop method of giving ether has been used during the later part of the operation. Chloroform has been used a few times. Nitrous oxide alone and nitrous oxide with oxygen have also been given in a small number of minor cases. Novacain alone, or with adrenalin has been used as a local anæsthetic in a moderate number of cases, chiefly herniae. During the year the Janeway intratracheal-insufflation apparatus has been used in forty-two cases with gratifying results. The anæsthesia has been quiet and easy, the patients regained consciousness very quickly, and the after sickness has been slight. In twenty-five cases naso-pharyngeal insufflation has been used.

Upon the whole the employment of women doctors as anæsthetists has been an improvement upon former methods.

The continued employment of graduate nurses in charge of the wards has been and must always be of great advantage to the service. The service in the operating room has been good; this is due in large measure to the employment of three graduate nurses in charge of the work, a plan which has abundantly demonstrated its great value.

The clinical instruction of students in the wards and in the operating room has been continued during the past year. Students from Cornell and Columbia Universities have been taught, the former by Doctors Conner, Downes and Hitzrot, the latter by Doctors Pool and Turnure. During the coming year it is expected that such clinical teaching will be carried on still more actively.

Of the cases treated in the medical wards at the House of Relief, some of the more important diseases are here recorded, together with their numbers:

Arteriosclerosis	53
Bronchitis	37
Cirrhosis liver	19
Fever, rheumatic	57
Fever, typhoid	21
Fever, malaria	55
Myocarditis	32
Nephritis	38
Pleurisy	33
Pneumonia, lobar	81
Poisoning, illuminating gas	26
Stomach, ulcer of	3
Syphilis	25
Valvular diseases, chronic cardiac	43

Of the patients treated in the surgical wards at the House of Relief, some of the more important injuries and diseases are here recorded, together with their numbers:

Appendicitis	35
Cholelithiasis	15
Endometritis	4
Fractures	414
Gunshot wounds	39
Hernia	92
Pleurisy, suppurative	5
Rectum	27
Salpingitis	21
Tumors, benign	16
Tumors, malignant	22
Ulcer of stomach	10
Uterus, displacement of	4
Varicocele	6

Roof Ward, House of Relief.—This ward has proven to be of great therapeutic value to the surgical as well as to the medical division. Although closed from May 27th to October 24th, 109 medical patients and 52 surgical patients were treated there during the balance of the year. Research work upon the effect of cold air upon the circulation and the composition of the blood was also carried out. The value of this roof ward is to be measured by the results obtained from open air treatment and these must be seen and watched to be appreciated. Suffice it to say that the improvement shown in many cases has been little short of marvellous. In the opinion of the medical board, everything should be done to maintain this ward in the highest state of efficiency.

Autopsies.—There were 184 deaths at the House of Relief during 1912, and 76 autopsies, a percentage of 40 +. This compares very favorably with the autopsy record of 1911, which was 30 per cent. of the deaths.

It is with profound regret that we are obliged to record the resignation of Dr. Frank Hartley from the attending staff of the Hospital. Dr. Hartley has served as attending surgeon since 1892 with untiring industry and great distinction. During this period he has performed, we believe, a larger number of difficult and dangerous operations than any other member of the attending staff and with results unsurpassed in any hospital. We feel that this tribute may be paid to his ability without fear of contradiction. His retirement from active duty is therefore a very serious loss to the institution.

ALEXANDER B. JOHNSON,
President.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF THE TRAINING SCHOOL.

To the Board of Governors of the New York Hospital:

GENTLEMEN.—I herewith submit the report of the thirty-sixth year of the Training School for Nurses.

The staff of the Training School on duty at the close of the year is as follows:

The total days of illness was 672. The room in the Private Patients' Building assigned to the use of the nurses during illness was occupied 587 days, of which 317 were by graduate nurses and 270 by pupils. And I take this opportunity, in behalf of the nurses who have enjoyed the privileges of this room, to thank the governors of the Hospital for their generosity in donating it to their use.

Thirteen years have passed since death has occurred to a pupil of the Training School, and it is with heartfelt sorrow that I have to record the death of Jane L. Osborne, a member of the Intermediate Class, who died suddenly on February 23rd, at her home in Schenectady, N. Y., where she had gone for a vacation. Miss Osborne had endeared herself to all by her personal charm and earnest devotion to her work, and the sadness caused by her loss was deeply felt. A deputation from the school attended the funeral to pay a last mark of respect to her memory.

The graduation exercises were held on Wednesday, March 4th, in the governors' room in the Administration Building, at which thirty-two pupils were awarded diplomas. Mr. George L. Rives, president of the Hospital, presided. Reverend Charles L. Slatery, D.D., rector of Grace Church, addressed the pupils, many of whom were known to him personally as regular attendants of Grace Church. The address was most interesting, and the high ideals depicted were an inspiration for the best endeavor. The exercises were followed by a reception in the Nurses' Home which was largely attended by the graduates and their friends.

On May 13th, a demonstration of practical work was held by the pupils of the graduating class in the amphitheatre, and the large audience who witnessed it showed much enthusiasm while the different methods used in the Hospital were demonstrated.

A series of monthly lectures has been established for the benefit of the graduate nurses engaged in the hospital work. These are given by representative specialists and have proved a most successful undertaking.

We extend our hearty thanks to all those who have advanced the development and helped to maintain the efficiency of the Training School.

Respectfully submitted,

ADELINE HENDERSON,
Superintendent Training School.

REPORT OF THE SOCIAL SERVICE DEPARTMENT.

The social service work of the nurses connected with the tuberculosis and children's clinics, out-patient department, was combined in August with the work done under the name of "Convalescent Relief," making one department, with a nurse in charge.

Miss Irene Sutcliffe still continues her work and interest. The Association of Tuberculosis Clinics offered in October a nurse, temporarily, to reorganize the work for children of tuberculous parents. This offer was accepted and good work in that direction is being done.

An auxiliary, with Mrs. Arthur Iselin, president, and Mrs. Cornelius N. Bliss, Jr., secretary and treasurer, has been formed to aid the work of this department. Its assistance has been most valuable. Funds for this work have in part been provided for this year by the governors, and the rest raised through the auxiliary by annual dues and donations.

Thanksgiving dinners were given to forty-five families, and Christmas dinners to forty families. Christmas Day a tree and entertainment were provided for the children connected with the department. Candies and gifts were distributed to about three hundred children. Clothing was also given to seventy-five needy persons.

The following is a statement of the work during the year, including all divisions:

Visits made to patients, institutions, etc.	3,467
Referred to co-operative agencies	180
Sent to convalescent and fresh air homes.....	918
Sent to tuberculosis hospitals and sanatoria.....	61
Clothing given to	189
Eggs dispensed	dozen 2,051
Milk dispensed	quarts 8,688

Respectfully submitted,

HANNAH LOUISE JOSEPHI,

(In Charge.)

ADMISSIONS.

The number of cases admitted during the year was 156, of which 80 were men and 76 were women. Twenty-five of the men and thirty of the women were received as voluntary patients. The number of persons admitted was 5 less than the number of cases, 2 men and 3 women having been discharged and admitted for a second time before the end of the year.

One hundred and twenty of the cases admitted, of whom 65 were men and 55 women, were suffering from a first attack. Fifty-nine cases were admitted 3 months or less after the beginning of the disorder, 17 between 3 and 6 months, 12 between 6 and 12 months, and 68 more than a year.

DISCHARGES.

The number of patients discharged was 175, of which 80 were men and 95 women. Forty-five of the cases discharged had recovered, 16 were much improved, 29 were improved, 27 were unimproved, and 22 died. Thirty-six were transferred to other institutions for the insane.

Of those who were recovered, 22, of whom 8 were men and 14 were women, had suffered from a first attack; 6, of whom 1 was a man and 5 were women, from a second attack; 9, of whom 4 were men and 5 were women, from a third attack; 4, of whom 3 were men and 1 was a woman, from a fourth attack; 3, of whom 2 were men and 1 was a woman, from a fifth attack; and 1, a woman, recovered from a ninth attack.

The average duration of the disorder from its onset to discharge of the patient from the hospital recovered was 15 months and 23 days; the average duration of hospital treatment was 9 months and 19 days; and the average duration before admission was 6 months and 4 days.

Of the 45 cases who were discharged much improved and improved, eventual recovery seemed probable at the time of discharge in 6 cases, and 2 of these are known to have since recovered.

The percentage of recoveries based on the admissions was 29 per cent. — for the men 22 per cent., and for the women 35 per cent. Twelve of the men and 13 of the women who recovered had been admitted as voluntary patients.

The number of deaths was 22, 16 men and 6 women. This was 4.11 per cent. of the total number under treatment during the year, and 12.57 per cent. of the total number discharged. Autopsies were held on 13 of the patients who died, this being 59 per cent. of the deaths. The causes of death were as follows:

Men:

of general paralysis	6
of cerebral hemorrhage	3
of lobular pneumonia	1
of lobar pneumonia	1
of broncho-pneumonia	1
of infarction of lung	1
of pericarditis and cardiac dilatation	1
of appendicitis with abscess after operation.....	1
of intestinal obstruction and cerebral arteriosclerosis..	1

Women:

of lobar pneumonia	1
of cerebral softening	1
of hyperthyroidism and cardiac asthenia.....	1
of diabetes and cardiac asthenia	1
of spinal sclerosis and colitis	1
of exhaustion psychosis	1

MEDICAL ACTIVITIES.

The medical staff was increased by two additional members during the year, and the facilities for treatment were improved. In consequence there was some increase in efficiency in the methods of study and treatment of the patients. In addition to the regular semi-weekly staff conferences, which are given up to the presentation and consideration of individual cases, a number of special conferences have also been held for the consideration of administrative questions, or for the discussion of set topics with frequently the reading of papers. To some of these conferences the physicians living in the vicinity of the hospital were invited, and a number attended. In May, one of the regular meetings of the Medical Society of the County of Westchester was held at the hospital, which was well attended. We are indebted to Professor Hoch, Dr. Dunlap, and Dr. Lambert of the New York State Psychiatric Institute, and to Dr. Kennedy of the New York Neurological Hospital for their aid in making these meetings successful and useful.

The laboratory work has been continued as heretofore under the direction of Dr. Amsden. In addition to working up the autopsy material and attending to the usual clinical work, systematic analysis of the drinking water has been made, and repeated examinations of the milk from the hospital dairy. Bacteriological examinations of the water and of the milk have been made at the laboratory of the New York Hospital. For these and for much helpful advice in regard to safeguarding the water and the milk supply, we are indebted to Dr. Elser.

The sanitary condition of the hospital has been quite satisfactory during the year. There has been no case of epidemic disease. Two cases of tuberculosis were transferred to other institutions where special provision for the separate care of such cases was available, and, at the close of the year there is no known case of this disease among the patients. As an additional precaution against any possible danger from water-borne disease, arrangements have been made for distributing separately to all the dining-rooms, the kitchen, and to the ice-making plant the water from the deep-driven well, which is practically entirely free from bacteria of any kind. For furnishing sanitary milk, a small well-equipped milk house has been erected in connection with the hospital dairy.

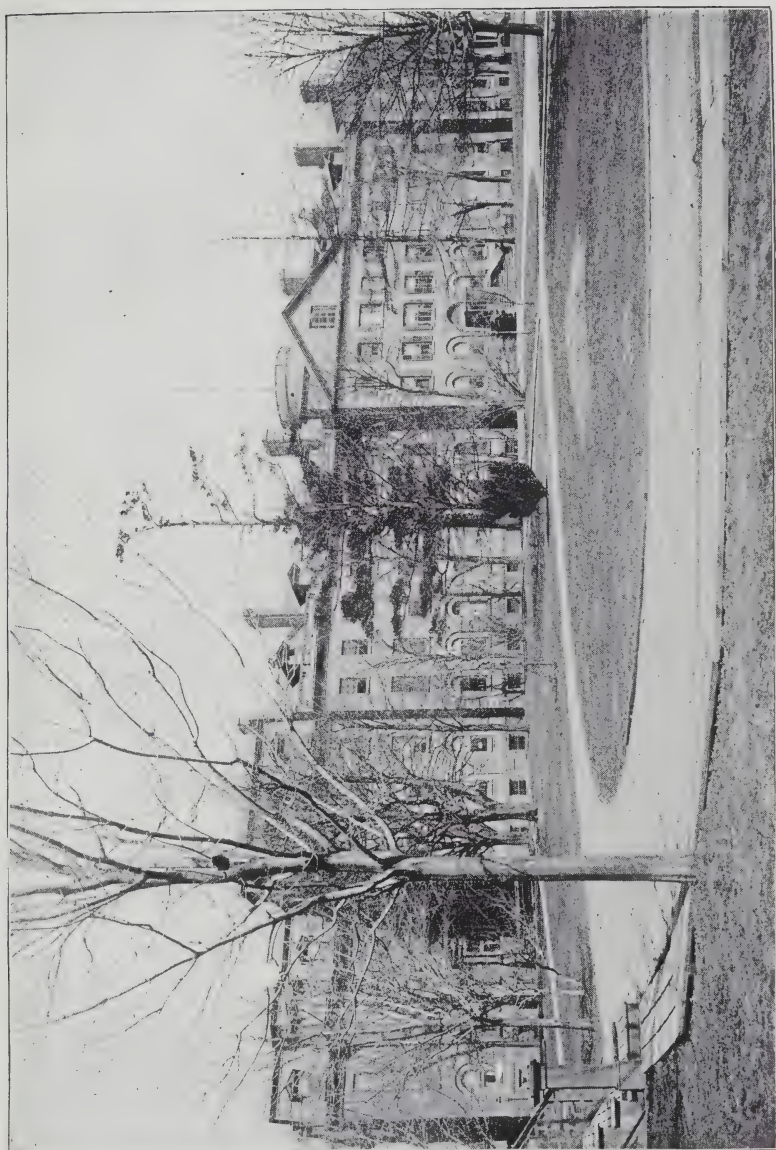

Ten serious surgical operations were performed on patients during the year. For the operations six of the patients were transferred to the New York Hospital or to the White Plains Hospital. Six patients suffered from accidents which resulted in fractures. Considerable minor operative surgery has also been attended to. The need of better facilities for surgical work at the hospital is clearly apparent, as it is not always advisable or even safe to transfer patients suffering from surgical conditions to other hospitals.

The tubs for prolonged baths which were installed during the year have furnished a useful addition to the therapeutic resources. The connection which was made with the White Plains water supply system rendered it possible to continue the use of the prolonged baths and other hydrotherapeutic measures during the summer drought.

The use of handicrafts and other occupations in treatment has been somewhat extended during the year. An assistant to Mrs. Amsden was employed, and her services have been devoted principally to instructing patients who are not well enough to go to the workrooms. The average number of women employed or under training in some handicraft daily was 125, being 77 per cent. of the average daily number of women patients in the hospital. Workrooms for the men were also opened. An instructor was secured early in the year but after a few weeks he resigned to accept a position in the University of Porto Rico. He was succeeded by a Mr. R. Ellinger Blithe, who had previously been superintendent of the Preparatory Trade School in New York city. The rooms for the men are equipped for joinery, basketry, rug making, brass hammering and piercing, leather work, jig-sawing, broom making, and chair caning. Although they have been in operation since September 1st only, the average number of patients employed daily has steadily increased so that, at the end of the year, it is 25. The growth of the work in applying in the treatment of the patients, the wholesome effect of employment at simple and interesting manual work has gone beyond the space available for workrooms for either the men or the women. During the fine weather a party of men, sometimes as many as twenty, has found pleasant and healthful occupation on the lawns and in the shrubbery.

The use of physical training as a treatment measure has been placed on a more efficient footing during the year. Instructors who devote their whole time to the work have been employed. For the women, Miss Gratia Eldridge, a graduate of the Teacher's College of Columbia University, was employed, and for the men, Mr. Peter Petterson, who had previously been an army officer.

The work in the women's service has been carried on for a longer time and has been more fully developed than the work among the men. Measurements are made and records kept of the progress of the physical condition of the patients. The gymnasiums are used during the winter months and for the rest of the year the grounds furnish ample opportunities for outdoor games as well as for more formal exercises.

Disorders of the mouth and teeth have as heretofore been attended to by Dr. D. Austin Sniffen. The work has been more extensive than during the year preceding, as systematic examinations were made of all the patients and their mouths kept in sanitary condition. One hundred and sixty different patients were examined and 672 treatments were given.

THE NURSING SERVICE.

The average number of persons employed daily in the nursing service for the men and women patients was 136, half of the number being men and half were women. One hundred and twenty-three men and 60 women entered the service during the year and 121 men and 65 women left. Included in the nursing service were a number of persons who were employed only in domestic work connected with the care of the patients. Hereafter these will be placed in a separate group, as they can scarcely be properly regarded as engaged in the actual care of the patients. In September, the position of superintendent of nursing, for which provision had been made in the budget pay-roll adopted by your board, was filled by the appointment of Miss Adele S. Poston. Miss Poston is a graduate of the Training School for Nurses of the Passavant Memorial Hospital of Jacksonville, Illinois, and for five years previous to her appointment at Bloomingdale Hospital had been superintendent of the training schools connected with the State hospitals of Illinois. Since her appointment, courses of instruction for all who enter the nursing service have been organized. The two years' course has also been continued, and plans have been made for a three years' course, part of which will be spent in general nurse training and experience, and those who complete it will be given a diploma.

On May 20th a number of the governors and some of the medical staff of the New York Hospital visited the hospital and joined with the members of the Bloomingdale committee in the closing exercises of the training school. Certificates were given to one man and four women who had completed the course and passed the examinations required. An interesting and helpful address was made by Dr. Stewart Paton of Princeton.

IMPROVEMENTS IN EQUIPMENT AND PLANT.

A special appropriation of $100,000 for extraordinary improvements and renewals, which was made by the board of governors, was apportioned by the Bloomingdale committee as follows:

Two nurses' dining-rooms	$20,000
Laundry equipment	12,000
Electric lighting	30,000
Garage	5,000
Milk house	3,000
Kitchen floor	2,000
Improvement of employees' quarters.....	13,000
Furniture and carpets	10,000
Extra painting	3,000
Alteration to balconies	2,000
	$100,000

Considerable progress has been made in carrying out the work specified. One of the dining-rooms for nurses will soon be completed. This will serve an extremely useful purpose by providing a place for nurses' meals apart from the other employees of the hospital. The laundry has been re-equipped and has been increased in efficiency with a reduced labor cost. The electric wiring has been overhauled and any danger from fire due to defects has been removed. A new dynamo and engine have been purchased. The milk house has been completed. A contract has been placed for replacing the kitchen floor. The employees' quarters on the fourth floor are being plastered and in other ways made more sanitary and comfortable. Much painting has been done both inside and outside, and some new carpets and furniture have been purchased with a view to increasing the comfort and suitability of the patients' halls and apartments. The balconies of Halls 7 and 8 are being overhauled for the purpose of permitting more light to enter the rooms looking out on them and of opening them more fully to the air.

In addition to the improvements made possible by the special appropriation, several less expensive improvements were made out of the current funds. The fire protection of the hospital was improved by adding to the equipment of a forty-gallon chemical extinguisher on wheels, an additional hose cart, a large number of portable extinguishers and a hose rack for the standpipes. Fire-proof doors for the elevators and in the basements between the different sections of the building have been provided for. The fire department has also been reorganized and frequently drilled in the use of the apparatus. The patients and employees are also exercised weekly in leaving the buildings in an orderly and expeditious way on signal. The front portico has been waterproofed and the terra cotta railing renewed. The laboratory has been improved structurally and some new equipment added. A small psychological laboratory has been fitted up. The medical books are being brought together in a suitable room which is being fitted up as a library for the medical staff and for physicians living in the vicinity of the hospital who may wish to use it. A pipe line was laid connecting the hospital with the White Plains water system. The hot water supply of the hospital was improved and made more economical. Five tubs suitably equipped for the administration of prolonged baths were installed. The transportation facilities were improved by increasing the efficiency of the automobile service.

FINANCIAL AND GENERAL.

The total number of patients who were under treatment during the year was 535. Forty-five of these were cared for without charge, and 182 paid the hospital less than the average weekly per capita cost of ordinary maintenance. These 182 patients constituted 43.8 per cent. of the total number treated and the cost to the hospital for their care and treatment was $63,592.76, which was equivalent to the expense of maintaining 80 free beds at an average cost of $14.91 per week, which was the average weekly expenditure required for the care of each patient under treatment during the year. This per capita expenditure includes the cost of maintenance for the properties at White Plains and Rye Beach, salaries and wages, supplies, ordinary repairs, and all other ordinary expenses. It does not include the expenditure for extraordinary renewals and improvements which were made from special appropriations, nor does it include expenditures for special or exclusive nursing which was specially paid for by individual patients. This is the method which has heretofore been employed in figuring the per capita cost. If, however, the expenditure for special nursing, which was really a charge to ordinary maintenance, be included, the average weekly per capita cost was $16.57. The number of patients who paid less than this amount was 298, or 55 + per cent. of the total number treated, and the cost to the hospital for their support in excess of what they paid was $83,917.53, which was equivalent to the support of 96 free beds instead of 80. The John C. Green Memorial Fund brought in an income of $7,697.25, which was used in accordance with the terms of the gift in the support of 46 women.

The income received from the patients who are fully paid for is of immense value in enabling the hospital to maintain a higher standard of treatment for all the patients than would otherwise be possible. In the application of its funds to the relief of those who are unable to pay the full cost or who must be cared for without charge, the highest good can be accomplished in the treatment of as large a number as possible of patients who are suffering from conditions in which cure or at least restoration to home and some measure of efficiency can be reasonably expected. This policy has been aimed at in carrying on the work of the hospital during the year. As room was required for new patients, the removal of many who were past the stage in which improvement could be expected was requested. In a number of instances the patients removed were transferred to the State hospitals. The need of applying private benevolence to providing simply humane care for insane persons is not now as great as it was when the Society first undertook the treatment of this class of sick persons. There were then and for years afterwards, no public institutions for the insane, and the only place in the State where hospital treatment for persons suffering from a mental disorder could be obtained was the New York Hospital and later Bloomingdale Asylum. Now, however, there are fourteen State hospitals where free care and treatment can be obtained by any citizen of the State who may be in need of it. What private benevolence can still do to good purpose is, however, to provide for a high grade of treatment for many cases in which the circumstances are such that private rather than public care is clearly indicative irrespective of the ability of the patient to pay for it either entirely or in part. In providing for this class of cases, the hospital is performing an important social service. There is also great need for the application of private funds to the solutions of the problems of cure and prevention of mental disorders, and private hospitals with liberal resources are needed to supplement the excellent work of the State hospitals which is likely to be limited by the necessity of providing for mere numbers and by the changes and defects of public administration.

NEEDS OF THE HOSPITAL.

The needs of the hospital which were enumerated in the report of last year were, as shown by what has been stated in this report, in many instances promptly provided for by your honorable board. Among the most important of those which remain are the detached home for the members of the nursing force, a new gymnasium and workshops for the men patients, and some new buildings for the separate treatment of voluntary and convalescent patients. Needs involving less expenditures have been from time to time brought to the attention of the Bloomingdale committee and have as far as possible been provided for from the current funds. Many renewals and much overhauling are still needed to place the buildings and equipment in condition to meet the present requirements of institutional work.

The usual weekly dances and entertainments were given during the winter months. From May until October the cottage at Oakland Beach was open and parties went over daily by automobile. Suitable patients remained at the cottage for varying periods and much benefit was derived from the seaside life. The launch was in commission most of the summer. Religious services were conducted as usual by the chaplain, Rev. Frederick B. Van Kleck, and his assistants. The death during the year of the Rev. William L. Evans, who had for ten years officiated at most of the services, occasioned much sorrow and regret.

The following changes in the medical staff have occurred during the year: Dr. Sanger Brown II was appointed assistant physician on June 12, 1912. Dr. Evelyn Dickinson was appointed medical interne on June 13, 1912, and resigned on November 7, 1912. The position was filled by the appointment of Dr. T. S. Keyser, to take effect January 1, 1913.

I am much indebted to the members of the medical staff and to the officers and employees generally for the hearty and efficient co-operation which they have given in the administration of the hospital, without which all my own efforts would have been in vain.

The sympathetic and wise supervision and direction of the Bloomingdale committee and the generous support which has been given by your honorable board has gone far to make the task of the medical superintendent comparatively easy and pleasant.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM L. RUSSELL,

Medical Superintendent.

REPORT OF THE CAMPBELL CONVALESCENT COTTAGES, WHITE PLAINS, N. Y.

To the Board of Governors:

GENTLEMEN.—The following is the report of the women and children's service for the year 1912:

The number of children during the past year shows an increase over any previous year. There were many interesting cases and happy recoveries. Almost any city child would be benefited to some extent by a stay in the country, but the children we have received in the past have not been merely poor or pitiable, but physically in need, making the medical attention given them open to good result.

Dr. L. B. Chapman (New York Hospital), now resident in White Plains, was appointed to the position of attending physician, to succeed Dr. H. E. Schmid, who had resigned. Dr. Chapman's natural understanding of our own hospital, and his co-operation with it, add to the efficiency of our service in the cottages.

Contagion occurred several times during the year. Arrangements have been made with the board of health by which we are permitted to transfer our cases of diphtheria and scarlet fever to the Willard Parker Hospital, and cases of measles to the Riverside Hospital, or to the Kingston Avenue Hospital, Brooklyn. The cases of chickenpox and of clinical diphtheria, which would not have been considered suitable cases for a contagious hospital, were cared for in our own isolation cottage.

While we have been more unfortunate in the matter of contagion than in former years, we have employed more minute precautionary methods than ever before. We are told that our system of examining and admitting children is more exacting than in other convalescent homes. Other institutions have reported more contagion than usual, and if ours appears to have had the largest share, it must be borne in mind that contagion is less active during the summer months, and ours is one of the few convalescent homes for children which are open the entire year. Also, our circulation of children is constant, many admissions being made every week.

In locating and preventing the spread of contagion, our pathological work is sometimes no small consideration. Our ordinary examinations are made by Dr. George S. Amsden, who has charge of the Bloomingdale laboratory, and who undertakes as much of our emergency work as possible, the remainder being sent to our own hospital laboratory.

The summer season was protracted into the autumn months, so that the children have had long days of outdoor life. Basketball — on a mild scale — is played on what was the nurses' tennis court, and the flower gardens of the past were used to grow the children's vegetables, which matured and were used on the patients' tables.

The summer school is of a lighter nature than in winter, and during July and August includes nature studies, hygiene and gardening. In connection with the hygiene, it seems well worthy of mention that a little girl of ten years, remembering what she had learned, was able to restore to life her young brother and sister, who were at the point of death from asphyxiation by gas.

The most important improvement added to the cottages during the year has been the installing of a fire equipment, which included fireproof doors in the cellar, hydrants in front and rear of the cottages, fire extinguishers, electric gongs, and connection with the Bloomingdale stables and the flats occupied by the farm hands.

While there have been fewer admissions among the women patients than last year, an increased number have remained longer than the specified two weeks. Many of the women require so much treatment, and spend so many days in bed, that they have barely begun to convalesce properly at the expiration of the fortnight. Others have improved very satisfactorily in the same time.

The women's convalescence presents obstacles unknown to the children. They are not so amenable to advice or instruction, and their ailments are much more difficult to treat. As for actual care and nursing, the women's department is a very busy one, many chronic cases requiring constant nursing and care.

The friends of the cottages are increasing in number, and we wish to thank all those who encourage and assist us — particularly the Bloomingdale committee, whose support and advice throughout the year, and whose kindness to our children at Christmas are greatly appreciated.

Respectfully submitted,

ALICE C. ELLISON,

Assistant Superintendent.

LEGACIES TO THE HOSPITAL.

The Hospital has been greatly aided by this form of generosity. No precise words are necessary to a valid legacy to the corporation. The following clause, however, may be suggested:

“I give to THE SOCIETY OF THE NEW YORK HOSPITAL the sum of dollars.”

If land or any specific personal property such as bonds, stocks, &c., is given, a brief description of the property should be inserted instead of the words “the sum of.....dollars.”

IN ASSEMBLY

March 10, 1913.

FOURTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE STATE ARCHITECT

To the Honorable, the Legislature of the State of New York:

I have the honor to present herewith the annual report of the State Architect for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1912.

VOLUME OF WORK.

The following comparative statement shows the amount of work carried on under the directions of the office for the year:

	1911	1912
Contracts in force	$9,346,280.23	$7,966,057.85
Contracts made	5,053,135.87	2,750,284.61
Certificates issued	3,282,305.80	4,317,089.28
Special fund estimates approved	833,756.34	1,377,129.27

This statement includes work for which plans and specifications were prepared by the State Architect and the construction supervised. It also includes State work for which plans and specifications were prepared by architects engaged in private practice but which work is supervised by this office. All architectural work in the State, paid for by State funds, is under the supervision of the State Architect.

Attention is called to the increase during the year in the volume of work actually accomplished, as shown by the increase in certificates issued and Special Fund Estimates approved.

DEPARTMENTAL BUILDINGS.

The necessity for providing additional accommodations for the various State Departments has grown to serious proportions. Because of the additional space demanded and required by many of the departments, the Capitol, after the reconstruction has been completed, will no more than afford necessary and adequate facilities for housing the elective offices of the State. With the completion of the Education Building, the entire Education Department, including the State Library, are well taken care of, but of many of the other State Departments now housed outside of the Capitol, for which the State is paying enormous rentals each year, only a few can be accommodated in the Capitol.

I am submitting herewith sketches of a new building which will accommodate all departments that cannot be given space in the Capitol and which will also allow for future expansion in these departments. The cost of this building would be approximately $2,500,000, exclusive of equipment.

This building would contain, besides ample and desirable accommodations for all departments not housed in the Capitol, an Auditorium of sufficient size, which could be used by the various commissions, etc., for hearing purposes. Under the present arrangement many of the departments have a room set aside for hearings. This room is unused a greater part of the year. It is proposed that a regular calendar be made up, assigning the proposed auditorium to each department for a certain day or days in each week or month as requirements may necessitate. In this way all hearings and openings of competitive bids by the departments could be held in the one room, which would be especially equipped and therefore most desirable for the purpose.

I therefore recommend that the Legislature authorize the Trustees of Public Buildings to acquire a site for the construction of this building, to be known as the "Departmental Building," in which departments of the State which cannot be housed in the Capitol can be located, at a cost not to exceed $2,500,000, exclusive of the cost of land, equipment, furnishings, etc., and that a sum sufficient to carry out this project be made available this year.

STATE HOUSE.

Chapter 520, Laws of 1912, provides for the alteration of the State House for the use of the Court of Appeals, appropriating $100,000 for that purpose. Before the remodeling of this building can be begun it is necessary to find quarters for the Comptroller, the State Engineer and Surveyor, and the State Banking Department, now housed in said building. It will be impracticable to put these departments, particularly the State Comptroller, into temporary quarters, even if adequate quarters could be found.

I do not consider it desirable, from any standpoint, to alter the State House for the use of the Court of Appeals. To accommodate the Court of Appeals, the State Board of Claims, the Supreme Court of this Judicial District, and such other courts for which it may be deemed advisable to make provision, I would recommend that a separate building be provided.

The State House has an historical value which should not be overlooked. A very old building, constructed under peculiar circumstances, it should be restored, as far as possible, to its original design. It could then be used as headquarters for the National Guard, Museum, or other purposes of a similar nature as is deemed most desirable.

The present surroundings of the State Capitol and the Educational Building are not desirable from an architectural standpoint and as a means of improving the same it might be well to consider the purchase of some of the surrounding property to be used for parking purposes until such time as it may be needed for new buildings, which will undoubtedly be the case in the future.

This land could be purchased for much less at this time than some years hence, and the added beauty to the Capitol surroundings and to the city in general, would, in my opinion, be well worth the expenditure. As the parking of this land would enhance the value of surrounding properties, I think it only fair that the city stand a portion of this expense, and the matter should be brought before the Chamber of Commerce for their action.

CAPITOL RECONSTRUCTION.

The work of the reconstruction of the Capitol, after the disastrous fire, has not progressed as rapidly as it should on account of the limited amount available for this purpose. The quarters of several of the State Departments, which were damaged by the fire, have been completed and are now being occupied.

The work under contract with Messrs. Callanan & Prescott on the percentage basis is well under way and should be completed in the early spring unless unforeseen conditions, such as strikes, etc., cause serious delays.

It is a question whether it is for the best interests of the State to do the remaining work under contract or on percentage basis. Under favorable conditions I believe it would be advisable to do all this work on percentage, as it is difficult to figure for a contract, and as more delays are liable to occur when different parts of the work are let under separate contracts, the individual contractor usually charging one of the other contractors for the delays that occur.

It is also to the best interests of the State to have one man responsible for the entire work. A part of the work has now been let under contract and a part under percentage, which has resulted in the disagreement of trade unions, which is always a very difficult and unsatisfactory matter to handle.

One of the difficulties encountered in this work has been the dampness in the walls. Not being thoroughly dried out, the interior decorations, which it was necessary to do to make the rooms habitable, were damaged.

A complete fire equipment with fire alarm boxes has now been installed in the Capitol. It is proposed to move the fire pump now in the basement of the Capitol to the new Capitol Power House, where it can be operated in conjunction with another fire pump which it is proposed to install. In this way, in case of accident to one pump, the other can be used and the State will be prepared at all times for emergency.

It will cost approximately $1,225,000 to complete the reconstruction of the burned portion of the Capitol. This includes the rewiring of the building, made necessary because of the antiquated design of the old wiring from which there was great danger from fire. I would, therefore, recommend that the sum of $1,225,000 be appropriated for the completion of the reconstruction of the Capitol.

SEWAGE DISPOSAL.

I have now under consideration a system of sewage disposal which I hope to be able to install where there are no existing plants, in place of the inadequate sludge bed system. I believe that this is a matter of the gravest importance.

STATE BUILDING—NEW YORK CITY.

Under the supervision of the State there are scattered over the city of New York many departments paying in the aggregate in rental approximately $89,000, not including the rental for the offices of the Public Service Commission, who are now occupying offices in the City Municipal Building.

To show how widely they are separated and to what inconvenience both the public and employees, whose duties require their association with any other than their own departments, are subjected, I have compiled a list of the addresses, which are:

Department	Location	Rent
Agricultural Department	23 Park Row, New York city	$1,180 00
Athletic Commission	41 Park Row and 147 Nassau St., New York city.	800 00
Attorney-General	299 Broadway, New York city	6,000 00
Banking Department	Knickerbocker Trust Co., New York city.....	5,000 00
Charities, State Board of.....	4th Ave. and 22d St., New York city	10,678 00
Comptroller	Broadway & Cortland St..	11,450 00
Conservation Commission	Metropolitan Life Bldg. & Broadway & Reade St., New York city.....	4,430 00
Classification, State Board of.....	98-101 Warren St., New York city	300 00
Insurance Department	165-167 Broadway, New York city	10,850 00
Labor Department	4th Ave. & 27th St., New York city	5,060 00
Hospital Commission	Metropolitan Life Bldg., New York city.....	3,945 00
National Guard	Stewart Bldg., Broadway & Chambers St., New York city	3,000 00
Public Service Commission.....	Metropolitan Bldg., New York city	1,900 00

Department	Location	Rent
Department of Prisons.....	97-101 Warren St., New York city	$1,360 00
Reception Hospital	E. 73d & 74th Sts. & Ave. "A," New York city....	1 00
Secretary of State.....	227 W. 74th St., New York city, and 2127 Broadway, New York city.....	3,920 00
Superintendent of Elections.....	Bryant Park Arcade Bldg. & Livingston St., Brooklyn	9,440 00
Excise Department	Metropolitan Life Bldg., New York city, and Eagle Bldg., Brooklyn..	5,200 00
Employers' Liability Commission...	Metropolitan Life Bldg., New York city.....	2,100 00
Board of Port Wardens.....	Washington Bldg., No. 1 Broadway	700 00
Interstate Bridge	U. S. Realty Bldg., 111 Broadway, New York city	1,020 00
New York Monuments Commission..	23 Fifth Ave., New York city	920 00
		$89,274 00

I recommend that a site be purchased and a suitable office building be erected within the city of New York, not to exceed in cost an amount, the interest on which would not exceed the rental now paid.

SPECIAL WORK.

There are from time to time conditions arising that call for special work, where the consultation of experts becomes a necessity in order to obtain the best results as in case of the installation of a new sewer system, the designing of a new monumental building, expert engineering and chemists' advice in the treatment of water supply. I respectfully recommend that the State Architect be empowered to obtain such assistance and that provision be made for the payment of fees for this purpose.

EDUCATION BUILDING.

The construction of the Education building has been entirely completed, with the exception of a few minor details that are being taken care of at this time, and the entire building is now occupied by the State. The equipment contracts are also nearing completion and all contracts, but that for mural decorations, should be finished in the early part of 1913.

An additional appropriation will be required to meet balances due on contracts as well as for additional work designed by the Commissioner of Education.

CAPITOL POWER HOUSE.

The construction of the Capitol Power House has been completed and final certificate issued. Considerable delay has been experienced in the steam equipment contract, but it should be in operation now within the next two months.

An additional appropriation is required to meet balances due on these contracts.

NEW INSTITUTIONS.

Work has been in progress at the new institutions established by the Legislature at Mohansic State Hospital and Great Meadow Prison. Nearly all of the work for which appropriations have been made is completed or under way. The work at the State Farm for Women, Valatie, is nearly completed and should be ready for occupancy during the early part of 1913.

Some difficulty has been encountered at Letchworth Village and the Training School for Boys at Yorktown Heights, both because of the desire of the Boards of Managers to have the work done by outside architects and because of their desire for more elaborate and expensive buildings than the appropriations would warrant, or, in my opinion, the State can afford. While I am very much in favor of absolutely fire proof and the most substantial construction, I do not think the State can afford to expend large sums for elaborate ornamental construction in the housing of its dependents.

As the funds which can be appropriated by the State for construction purposes must, of necessity, be limited and as a good saving in cost of construction can always be made by contracting for large parts of the work done at one time, I would suggest a bond issue as the means of obtaining funds for the development of new institutions. In this way the cost of construction would be spread over a number of years while the State would be enabled to construct the buildings and have the use of them at once. Satisfactory progress can hardly be made in the development of these institutions if sufficient funds are not available for the purpose.

SPECIAL FUND ESTIMATE WORK.

The volume of work under the Special Fund Estimate System has increased from approximately $833,000 during the year 1911 to $1,377,000 during the year 1912, an increase of more than $540,000 within the year.

With the increase in the number and size of the State institutions each year, the use of the Special Fund Estimate System keeps apace. This system includes several kinds of estimates.

First. The construction items, covering such small alterations and additions to existing buildings and plant, as may be undertaken by utilizing at odd times the regularly employed mechanics at the various institutions and such of the inmates as may properly be available to assist them. This is thought to obviate contractor's profits and secure a maximum amount of result for the money expended. This work also includes the changes and temporary arrangements to meet crowded or unusual conditions and also the renovation of such old buildings as may be acquired with new purchases of land, etc., for the accommodation of inmates and employees. Also for repairs to the engineering equipment, electric light and telephone cables, water supply, sewers, etc., and for repairs to roads and walks.

Second. Items covering such additional furniture and equipment, not included under maintenance appropriations.

Third. Items covering additional land purchased.

Fourth. Items submitted in accordance with the practice of the State Hospital Commission to resubmit as Special Fund Estimates, the amounts required for the various contracts and special orders for building work at institutions under their control.

This system therefore covers a wide scope, and, in the number of new institutions recently started and the recent increase in size and capacity of some of the older ones, will be found the explanation of the very large increase in the Special Fund Estimates submitted to this department during the current year (3,275).

Then, too, this is the first year that estimates from the State prisons have been referred to this office.

In the belief of their ability to secure increased results the tendency is becoming more and more prevalent for many of the institutions to request permission to erect by this system some of their more important minor buildings, costing from $2,000 to $10,000, hiring such additional labor as may be required.

While there are oftentimes good and sufficient reasons for granting these requests and allowing the buildings to be built in this way it does not seem wise to follow it as a general policy. The ability of the institutions to build cheaper than could be done by reputable contractors is not often demonstrated, and in one case during the past year, where a comparison was possible, the buildings were contracted for at a price much less than the institution's estimates.

There is also always a chance that the regular mechanics of the institution, laboring under the increased burden such work would involve, would perforce have to neglect their other regular duties to the detriment of the institution.

All such work must therefore be carefully considered before the estimates covering same are approved and the necessary permission given to proceed.

There are a number of institutions, such as prisons, reformatories, etc., that include a relatively intelligent population of inmates, many of whom can be of great assistance in building work, and rather more lenience can logically be accorded such institutions in this matter.

CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

Since October 1, 1911, contracts for work at the State charitable institutions have been awarded as follows:

School building at the State School for the Blind at Batavia and at Craig Colony for Epileptics at Sonyea; addition to school building at the Thomas Indian School, Iroquois; two cottages at the New York State Training School for Girls at Hudson, and for smaller work at the various other institutions.

Plans and specifications have been prepared for employees building, cold storage building and cottage for contagious diseases at the Newark State Custodial Asylum; reconstruction of Building "E" at the Rome State Custodial Asylum; addition to hospital building at the Woman's Relief Corps Home at Oxford.

NORTHERN NEW YORK INSTITUTE FOR DEAF-MUTES, MALONE.

Work has progressed rapidly on the administration building and dormitory buildings for boys and girls at this institution, and it is hoped to have the buildings ready for occupancy in the spring of 1913.

CORNELL UNIVERSITY.

At the New York State College of Agriculture contracts have been awarded for the Auditorium, Central Heating Plant, Stock Judging Pavilion, Forestry and Headquarters' buildings. The installation of sewerage and water mains for the College of Agriculture is under way.

Contracts have been awarded for the addition to the New York State Veterinary College.

Plans and specifications for all of the work at Cornell University were prepared by Messrs. Green & Wicks, architects, of Buffalo, N. Y., acting under the supervision of the State Architect who has a representative stationed permanently at the university.

ALFRED UNIVERSITY.

Contracts have been awarded for an addition to the school building of the State School of Clay Working and Ceramics.

AGRICULTURAL SCHOOLS.

Plans and specifications have been prepared for the shop buildings and greenhouse for the State School of Agriculture at St. Lawrence University.

Contracts have been made for minor work at the State School of Agriculture at Morrisville.

STATE INSTITUTE FOR THE STUDY OF MALIGNANT DISEASE AT BUFFALO.

Contracts have been awarded for the hospital and service buildings at this institution.

NORMAL SCHOOLS.

Chapter 14, Laws of 1912, appropriated $100,000 for the construction of the State Normal School at Buffalo. Contracts will be awarded for the erection of this building.

The State Normal School at Oswego should be completed by January 15, 1913.

Sketches for the new building for the State Normal School at Potsdam have been prepared and if funds are appropriated for this work the plans and specifications can be completed within a short time after the appropriation is available.

BLAUVELT RIFLE RANGE.

During the fiscal year, plans and specifications were prepared and proposals obtained for kitchen equipment for the mess hall and new roads and grading; also for various other improvements, but on account of the closing down of the range no contracts have been awarded.

NIAGARA RESERVATION.

A contract was awarded for the ventilation of shaft and tunnel. This work has been satisfactorily completed.

LETCHWORTH PARK.

A contract for the construction of a public comfort station at this park has been awarded and the work is well under way.

WATKINS GLEN.

The work of improvements to main entrances as authorized by chapter 547, Laws of 1912, is being progressed rapidly.

QUARANTINE STATION AT ROSEBANK, S. I.

Contracts have been awarded for the erection of pathological and bacteriological laboratories.

STATE FAIR, SYRACUSE.

During the fiscal year contracts were awarded for the construction of cattle building and improvements at the entrances. Plans and specifications for this work were prepared by Green & Wicks, architects, of Buffalo, N. Y. The work is done under the supervision of the State Architect, who had a representative at the grounds to supervise the work.

FIRE ISLAND STATE PARK.

Contracts have been awarded for the construction of a public comfort station and the installation of water and sewerage systems.

CROWN POINT RESERVATION.

Chapter 547, Laws of 1912, appropriated $10,000 for the preservation of the historic ruins at Crown Point. My predecessor recommended that the walls be rebuilt and a portion of the fort roofed. As I understand the desire of the New York State Historical Association to be the preservation of these ruins rather than the restoration of the forts, I have proceeded with this work with that end in view. By the use of a cement gun, I have the old lime mortar blown out and the same machine pumps cement into the crevices thus cleaned of the old, crumbled material, making a monolith of the walls. So far as I have been able to proceed on the South Barracks, this method has worked to the entire satisfaction of the Historical Association having this matter in charge. In preserving the lower part of the foundation walls, a quantity of relics have been found which have been turned over to the Association.

STATE HOSPITALS.

Since October 1, 1911, contracts for work at the State hospitals for the insane have been awarded as follows:

Three cottages and dining-room building and extension to Group "G" and bakery at the Central Islip State Hospital; three tuberculosis pavilions, three boilers and steam piping, and automatic draft system in new boiler house, two turbo alternating generator sets, switchboard, equipping buildings with vacuum systems, new wells for water supply system, etc., at the Kings Park State Hospital; alterations and addition to chronic building and power house at the Middletown State Homeopathic Hospital; ten fire-escapes, engine and generator, conduits, steam and return mains between main and east buildings at the Manhattan State Hospital; electric railroad at the Mohansic State Hospital; rewiring old buildings at the Rochester State Hospital; cold storage building and refrigerating and ice making apparatus at the Utica State Hospital; sewage disposal plant and changes in water supply system at the Willard State Hospital, and for smaller work at the various hospitals.

Plans have been prepared and specifications are about ready for the construction of electric lighting system at the Syracuse State Hospital.

Plans and specifications have been prepared for tuberculosis pavilion, refrigerating plant and addition to bakery at the Buffalo State Hospital; storehouse and cold storage plans and equipment at the Long Island State Hospital, Brooklyn; remodeling patients' cottage (formerly 7th regiment building) at the Long Island State Hospital, Creedmoor; nurses' home, mortuary, addition to Assembly hall, extension to cold storage building and east dock at the Manhattan State Hospital, Ward's Island; power house and coal pocket at the Middletown State Homeopathic Hospital, Middletown; dairy barn, horse barn and railroad spur, water filtration plant and reservoir at the Mohansic State Hospital, Yorktown; nurses' home and improvements to patients' quarters at the Rochester State Hospital, Rochester; extension to laundry and fire-escapes at the Willard State Hospital, Willard.

The most important work in this division during the fiscal year was the planning of the Mohansic State Hospital, during which time a block plan for the development of the entire institution has been approved. Sketches have been prepared and working drawings are under way for the construction of six cottages, together with dining-room and kitchen building to accommodate 600 patients. Sketches have been approved for power house, storehouse and bakery.

Chapter 530 of the Laws of 1912 provides funds for power house, laundry, storehouse, bakery, barns, water and sewage disposal, and such part of the equipment as may be necessary at this time, and also for commencement of work on the new group for 600 patients with dining-room and kitchen building. An additional appropriation of $500,000 will be required to complete the work mentioned in chapter 530, Laws of 1912.

Chapter 48 of the Laws of 1912 provides funds to purchase a new site for the Utica State Hospital, which has been secured at Marcy and a topographic survey is being prepared.

Chapter 530 of the Laws of 1912 provides funds for commencement of work on this new site, including railroad spur, power house, reservoir, water supply and remodelling buildings. Plans and specifications for the water supply have been prepared by Messrs. Ricker & Minniss of Buffalo, N. Y. Minor repairs are being made to the buildings on the site by the institution under the direction of this office.

Chapter 530 of the Laws of 1912, and chapter 547 of the Laws of 1912, provide funds for commencement of buildings on the Creedmoor site, including railroad switch, power house, farm cottages, alterations of old buildings, farm equipment and general development. A block plan for the general development of this institution has been approved.

STATE PRISONS AND HOSPITALS FOR THE CRIMINAL INSANE.

In addition to numerous small pieces of work at the several prisons, requiring drawings and specifications or the supervision of this department, plans and specifications have been prepared and work started at the several State prisons and hospitals as follows:

At Auburn Prison a new shop building has been constructed by inmate labor, and the installation of a new sewage disposal system has been completed.

A residence for the Superintendent and alterations in the cold storage building at the Hospital for Insane Criminals at Danemora are approaching completion and preliminary drawings have been prepared for a new ward building for this institution for which an appropriation has been made for the foundations.

The work put under contract at the Great Meadow Prison last year, consisting of the construction of a cage for the cell building, power house, mess hall and kitchen building, laundry and bath building and connecting corridors has progressed with moderate speed. In addition to this work the construction and finishing of the south wing of the cell building has been put under contract. This wing will increase the inmate capacity by 544 cells.

Plans and specifications have been prepared for the storehouse and cold storage building and for an infirmary building at the Matteawan State Hospital, and these buildings are being erected and finished by institution employees with the help of inmate labor.

Work has been started on the construction of a new power house and coal pockets and new steam conduits at Sing Sing Prison, and drawings and specifications for a new steam and electrical plant for this institution are completed. This work is also being done largely by inmate labor.

During the past year two cottages for the State Farm for Women at Valatie, N. Y., have been completed, together with temporary water supply and sewage system for these cottages.

ENGINEERING WORK.

The work required in connection with the heating, plumbing and lighting of buildings, installation of laundry machinery, kitchen equipment, hydrotherapeutic apparatus, refrigerating machinery, sewage disposal plants and water supply systems, miscellaneous mechanical apparatus, together with the design of central plant facilities for institutions and the consideration of all technical matters pertaining to the needs of present and proposed institutions, is taken care of by the engineering department of the office.

During the past fiscal year engineering plans and specifications have been prepared for work aggregating approximately $800,000. Among the more important of these installations are the following: The heating, plumbing, lighting and elevator apparatus in connection with the reconstruction of the Capitol; new group of buildings together with conduits and connections from the steam plant at the Central Islip State Hospital; sewage disposal plant for Willard State Hospital; an electric plant for Syracuse Institution for Feeble-Minded Children; sewage disposal plant and water filtration plant for New York State Training School for Boys, Yorktown Heights, together with the heating, plumbing and lighting for seven cottages and a storehouse and bakery at this institution; heating, plumbing and lighting for the cell block at Great Meadow Prison; heating, plumbing and lighting for the Buffalo Normal School. The above items of work are cited from the total of approximately 125 separate items of work for which regular plans and specifications were prepared during the year.

In addition to the above, investigations have been made in connection with the development of new institutions and trouble experienced with apparatus of various kinds at existing institutions involving questions of sewage disposal and water supply, water softening apparatus, fire protection, rewiring of buildings, consolidation of plants and similar matters.

Most of these investigations have necessitated trips to the institutions in question and often a survey of the site. These investigations are required as preliminary study upon which to base the future work of the office.

OFFICE WORK.

The work of this office has been greatly handicapped because of insufficient appropriations and accommodations to carry on the same, the volume of work having increased greatly as shown by the appended statements. Additional office space has been acquired since the occupation of the Education Building, when the Education Department vacated a large room on the fifth floor, which is now being used as a drafting room, but it has been necessary to include some deficiency items in the Supply Bill in order that the work of the office may be carried on in a manner necessary for the proper conduct of its business. The lack of available funds for office maintenance purposes, in the past, has made it impossible to conduct the office in such manner as I feel should be done to properly transact the large and important business of the State.

Under the new order of arrangements, I wish to call attention to the fact that I am producing approximately $33\frac{1}{3}$ per cent. more work than under the old method of conducting the drafting room.

POLICY.

My endeavor is to make the determining factor in the consideration of all buildings, their completion within stated appropriations, their structural safety, and a careful utilization of space combined with the exterior effect, in keeping with the character of the building required.

To conform with the law, it is necessary that all of the work done by this office meet with the approval of the Boards and Commissions, such as the Trustees of Public Buildings, the Hospital Commission, and the many Boards of Managers and Boards of Trustees of the different State Institutions, the Prison Commission, etc. Therefore much delay is necessarily caused in obtaining the approval of the different parties interested. To incorporate the changes desired by the parties approving the plans necessitates delay, and I feel that it should be understood that any delays which may hereafter occur, may be charged to the proper source.

It has been my policy, since assuming this office, to confine all architectural work of the State to this department, and I feel justified in saying that it is purely a business proposition that my department should do all the architectural work for the State. The cost of producing drawings by this office, based on per dollar, including sanitary and mechanical engineering, surveys, grouping, tentative sketches, rejected designs, completed plans and specifications and working drawings, is less than 2 per cent. as against the established rate of 6 per cent. charged by outside architects, which latter charges do not include engineering fees, traveling expenses, clerk of the works, etc. I also feel justified in contending that, because of the years of practical experience in State work had by the men at the heads of the several departments of my office, the force now employed by this office is thoroughly competent to carry on the architectural work of every nature applicable to the building of State institutions.

It may be contended in cases such as the designing of a monumental building, where in order to obtain the best architectural effect it would be advisable to call for a competition, but in such cases it should not be assumed that this office was incapable of designing the proposed building, and the fairest means that could be employed would be to submit the designs of the proposed building made by this office to a competent committee of expert architects to decide whether or not the work should be accepted.

While the superintendents with whom I have occasion to confer on work contemplated at their respective institutions, in my opinion, are pre-eminently qualified to discuss the character of the necessary buildings for which appropriations have been made by the Legislature, I invariably find that their zeal to obtain the most advanced theories in exterior effect, has influenced this office to the extent that in a few cases the bids have exceeded the appropriation. I have arranged that, hereafter, no tentative work will be proceeded with which will possibly exceed the appropriation.

A detailed statement of all work done during the fiscal year will be found in Appendices "A," "B" and "C," attached hereto.

Respectfully submitted,

HERMAN W. HOEFER,

State Architect.

STATE OF NEW YORK

No. 43.

IN ASSEMBLY

MARCH 10, 1913.

FORTIETH AND FORTY-FIRST ANNUAL REPORTS

OF

Le Couteulx St. Mary's Institution for the Improved Instruction of Deaf-Mutes.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT.

To the Honorable the Legislature of the State of New York:

The Board of Trustees of Le Couteulx St. Mary's Institution for the Improved Instruction of Deaf-Mutes, presents herewith its fortieth and forty-first annual reports.

From the reports of the Principal and Treasurer, it will be seen that the work of our schools is progressing along satisfactory lines and keeping abreast of the most approved methods prevailing throughout the country.

The sudden death of Sister M. Dosethius was a loss our Institution could ill afford, but the spur of necessity seems to have driven all of our teaching force to an extra effort to fill the gap made by her demise.

In each recurring report we must insist that justice to the unfortunate Deaf-Mutes of our State, demands and requires that the State should provide for compulsory education, including suitable industrial training for all the deaf-mutes of the State. This proposition stands to-day unanswerable and unassailed.

Plans are being perfected for a new boiler house which has become an absolute necessity, and we are looking ahead to the acquisition of a proper building and equipment for a trade and industrial school.

Respectfully yours,

GEO. A. LEWIS.

PRINCIPAL'S REPORT.

To the Board of Trustees:

I respectfully submit for your consideration a report of the Le Couteulx St. Mary's Institution for the two fiscal years ending September 30, 1912.

The following is a tabulated record of the pupils of the Institution from October 1, 1910, to September 30, 1912:

Number of pupils present October 1, 1910.....	172
New pupils admitted during the year ending September 30, 1911	20
Total enrolled during the year.....	192
Number of pupils dismissed or withdrawn.....	26
Number present September 30, 1911.....	166
New pupils admitted during the year ending September 30, 1912	19
Total enrolled during the year.....	185
Number of pupils dismissed or withdrawn.....	29
Number present September 30, 1912.....	156
Supported as follows:
By the State of New York, 1910-1911.....	166
By parents or guardians.....	26
Total cared for.....	192
By the State of New York, 1911-1912.....	159
By parents or guardians.....	26
Total cared for.....	185

The thought uppermost in my mind at this time must necessarily be of the great loss we have sustained during the past year in the death of Sister M. Dosethius Dwyer, assistant principal. She died, as you know, on May 16, 1912, after an illness of only four days. What her life and her work meant to this institution, is well known to you, the members of this Board. Her thirty-six years of service as teacher, spread her name as an educator of the deaf far beyond the school with which she was identified and which she did so much to up-build. To the deaf and the teachers of the deaf throughout the country, Sister Dosethius' name was familiar. Hers was one of those dynamic, energetic personalities which never seems to tire or think of rest or recreation where there is work waiting at hand. We may think perhaps that had she been less self-sacrificing her span of years might have been lengthened; but we cannot believe that a longer and less laborious life would have, in the end, resulted in greater good to her dear deaf, for whom she lived and in whose service she died; for it can be truly said of her that in a comparatively "brief space" she "hath fulfilled a long time."

Her obituary printed in our school paper "The Le Couteulx Leader" is appended to this report. Though her loss is keenly felt, we must bow to the will of the God of Goodness, Who, we hope has given her a full measure of reward for her many years of work in behalf of His little ones.

Among the pupils we must record, too, one death, that of Christian Schroth, a boy of fifteen, who died at his home in this city, following an operation for appendicitis.

The general health of our pupils has been very good; the only infirmity cases were a few of the childhood diseases, none of which became epidemic.

The past two years have witnessed a somewhat marked change in the methods employed in our school. Unusual efforts have been put forth by the teachers in general to promote "lip-reading," and to this effect a teacher of "speech" has been engaged to specialize along this line. In order to accomplish results, more attention has been given to individual work, necessitating two additional teachers to the regular staff.

I am pleased to report that two of our teachers attended the Conference of Teachers of the Deaf which assembled in New York City the summer of 1912. Two others were present at the Ninth Summer Meeting of the "American Association to promote the Teaching of Speech to the Deaf," held at Providence, R. I. The last-mentioned teachers afterwards took the Course of Study at the "Monro Summer School," Boston, Mass. I am gratified at the eagerness of our teachers to perfect their professional equipment.

In order to interest our boys and girls in athletic exercises, we have engaged the services of a teacher of physical culture. A demonstration of the work done along this line, was held in the public convention hall of the city during "The Children's Welfare Exhibit."

To our Printing Department we have added a special teacher in job printing. Only advanced boys and those specially adapted, are allowed to take up this branch of the work as it calls for a high development of the mental faculties, which is not to be found in the deaf of immature age.

I appreciate the cordial co-operation which the Board of Trustees tendered me during the past two years, and trust God will cement the kindly feelings engendered to further His own good work.

Respectfully submitted,

SISTER MARY ANNE BURKE,

Principal.

REPORT OF ATTENDING PHYSICIAN.

To the Board of Trustees:

I have the honor to present the medical report of Le Couteulx St. Mary's Institution for the past two years, from October 1, 1910, to October 1, 1912.

The general health of the pupils during that period has been exceedingly good. Ordinary colds, tonsilitis, bronchitis, la grippe, digestive and bowel disorders, occasioned by atmospheric conditions, were somewhat prevalent at certain seasons of the year. Three cases of rather severe pneumonia were attendant without a fatality.

We have had the following contagious diseases: fourteen cases of mumps, seven of whooping cough, six of chicken pox and one of measles, which were quarantined until recovered. We have also had the usual number of minor surgical cases and slight injuries, as well as a fractured arm.

No death has occurred in the institution, although one boy, while on a visit home, died, following an operation for acute appendicitis.

Very respectfully yours,

THOMAS F. DWYER, M. D.

APPENDIX.

A SIX YEARS' COURSE.

A six years' course of study endorsed by Dr. A. C. Hill, Inspector for the Deaf Schools for the New York State Educational Department, has been adopted by Le Conteulx St. Mary's Institution. The course covers the pupil's first six years in school, fitting him for entrance to the advanced classes of the institution.

The grades are distinguished by the first six letters of the alphabet; Grade A means a class doing first-year work; Grade B, second-year work; and so on of the others.

CLASS A.

1. The knowledge of all elements with the possible exception of ng, nk, dzh, and ch, including ability to read them from the lips or chart, to enunciate them and to blend them into words.

2. Master of a vocabulary of about 200 words, including ability to take them from the lips, speak, and write them and associate them with the objects and actions for which they stand; also to use them in simple sentences, and in answer to the questions, who, what, where.

3. At least one primer read and three short selections committed to memory.

4. Ability to write and use numbers up to ten.

5. A degree of sense training involving color, form and size.

CLASS B.

1. All the elements mastered.

2. Ability to use the vocabulary of the previous year and 150 additional words, bringing the vocabulary up to 350 words.

3. Three books of primer grade read in daily exercises and four selections memorized. Ability to make oral and written sentences based upon the reading.

4. Number work continued to 20.

5. Some knowledge of natural objects.

CLASS C.

1. The use of lip-reading and speech in all classes; good enunciation.
2. Vocabulary increased to 500 words.
3. Three primers or first readers read in daily exercises. Five selections memorized and recited. The use of verbs in present, past and future.
4. A number work to 30. A good knowledge of the combinations in addition.
5. A knowledge of directions and the location of things in the schoolroom. A knowledge of the physical features of the country about the school.

CLASS D.

1. Lip-reading and speech in general use.
2. Vocabulary increased to 700 words.
3. Three readers of the first grade. Six selections memorized. Ability to tell what has been read in answers to questions.
4. Number work to 50. Addition and subtraction. Ability to add columns of figures rapidly and correctly, to solve simple problems. A knowledge of simple fractions.
5. Some knowledge of the globe, the people and products of various lands. Comparison of objects as to size, qualities, etc.

CLASS E.

Lower Division First Grade Department Syllabus.

1. Improvement in lip-reading, speech and modulation of the voice; attention to phrasing and emphasis.
2. Three second readers; six selections memorized. The reproduction of matter read.
3. Knowledge of continents and oceans, of climate, plants and animals. Familiarity with the globe.
4. Numbers to 100; rapid addition, multiplication; a knowledge of weights and measures; a knowledge of simple fractions.
5. Six simple historical stories.

CLASS F.

1. Lip-reading and speech improved; voices better modulated; phrasing and emphasis carefully regarded. Questioning in class oral, and in ordinary tones; answers in speech or writing.

2. Three books of the second reader grade read and contents known by pupils so that they can answer questions regarding them. Reproduction of knowledge in oral and written English. Ability to use verbs in compound tenses.

Numbers to 1,000. Combinations in addition and multiplication; ability to perform the fundamental operations accurately with small numbers; use of simple fractions; ability to analyze simple problems and do the work mentally.

4. General knowledge of continents, oceans, large rivers, lakes and cities.

5. Ten historical stories.

CLOSING EXERCISES 1911.

The closing exercises of the institution took place on the evening of June 13th. A large and appreciative audience filled the hall. Rt. Rev. Charles H. Colton was present and conferred the medals and diplomas.

The following program was very creditably rendered:

FOURTH BIENNIAL REUNION.

During the entire week of August 3-10 the Fourth Biennial Reunion of Le Couteulx St. Mary's Alumni Association was in progress at the Buffalo School for the Deaf. There were present about two hundred and fifty members, many of whom were from other places than Buffalo. Liberally interspersed with business, were various forms of amusements — outings, athletic sports and a banquet — and needless to say that all enjoyed themselves to the full.

At the election of officers the following were unanimously chosen for the new term: Joseph B. Spahn, president; Jennie Lamm, first vice-president; Margaret O'Neil, second vice-president; Philip J. Maue, recording secretary; Patrick Norton, corresponding secretary; Philip Stafflinger, financial secretary; William A. Briel, treasurer.

The visitors included Mr. Jesse Waterman, National Secretary of the Knights de l'Epee. During his stay Mr. Waterman enrolled about twenty-five members into this fast-growing society, so that the Buffalo branch has now upward of forty members. If the enthusiasm which prevailed at the reunion maintains, it will not be long until the local branch boasts of one hundred strong upon its roster. The aim and object of the Knights of de l'Epee are mutual benefit and protection, perpetuating and strengthening the Faith within its members and to enkindle and keep alive a spirit of fraternity.

On the occasion of one of the outings of the Alumni, an amusing incident occurred which is worth the telling. One of the Buffalo councilmen who is ever enthusiastic upon the question of small parks, and delights to enlarge thereon at every opportunity, happened to be present with other officials at one of the landing places of the outing party. Seeing the large assemblage, the suggestion was made that the Councilman address the party on his pet subject. Alert to the proposition the Councilman mounted a table and grew eloquent of his hobby. Pausing in his eloquence, he asked of his supposed hearers, "Do you get me?" "Not quite," answered one of his companions, "this happens to be a party of deaf people." The other officials and members of the Alumni thoroughly enjoyed the joke, even if the discomfited speaker did not.

OBITUARY.

The following obituary notice of Sister Mary Dosethius Dwyer, Assistant Principal of Le Couteulx St. Mary's Institution, is from the pen of Miss Katherine Conway, editor of the Boston Republic:

A CATHOLIC NUN WHO RIVALLED DR. S. G. HOWE.

Dr. Samuel G. Howe, of Boston, was in his day a man of great achievements. He fought in the war for the independence of Greece. On his return to Boston he devoted himself to the education of the blind, and was the founder of the Perkins Institute for these afflicted members of the human family. It would take long to tell his services in this place, in which for many years, he and his famous wife, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, made their home. But one day came a poor girl who was not only blind, but deaf and dumb. Dr. Howe pierced the triple veil that shrouded her intelligence, and the case of Laura Bridgman became famous.

Later, came the case of Helen Keller, who surpassed Laura Bridgman in her achievements, once the primal difficulties were overcome. She and her tutor, Miss Mary Sullivan,—for Miss Keller made the full course at Radcliffe—were frequently pictured together in the press. Miss Keller's opportunities for advanced education were naturally wider than Miss Bridgman's. The former's case attracted more attention, and she was the recipient of not a few legacies. She even wrote a book, detailing the awakening of her intelligence.

Almost contemporary with Helen Keller was Clarence J. Selby, a case perhaps not so widely discussed, but just as difficult in its beginnings and surprising in its results. Clarence was eight years of age when he was placed in Le Couteulx St. Mary's Institution, conducted by the Sisters of St. Joseph, at Buffalo, N. Y.

These Religious specialized on the teaching of the deaf, though conducting other educational work, as boarding schools, parish schools, etc., as well. Many years ago, in her early religious life, Reverend Mother Mary Anne, who has long held the office of General Superior of the Sisters in the diocese of Buffalo, by the suffrages of her Sisters, studied under the best masters in Philadelphia, and then returned to manage the work for the deaf in the city of her home. She had a positive genius for it, and soon became known far outside Catholic circles; for she never lost an opportunity of gaining new light at the general conferences of educators of the deaf, and kept her great institution in the forefront of progress.

Among the religious whom she chose to help her in this difficult work, and whom she hoped would continue it after her, was one who early in her religious life showed a special aptitude for it. All educators of the deaf in this country knew the bright-faced, earnest Sister Dosethius, who, still in the full vigor of her usefulness was, a few weeks ago, suddenly taken by death from the place which she filled so well.

When Reverend Mother Mary Anne was obliged to transfer her residence to Mount St. Joseph's Convent and Academy, she placed Sister Dosethius at the head of the Boys' Department of Le Cou-teulx St. Mary's Institution.

Besides her general good management of the classes, Sister Dosethius took for her own especial care young Clarence Selby. Never was mother more devoted to her child than was this earnest religious to the little boy to whom the world of sight and sound was forever closed. How she awakened his soul to God, to the intellectual world, to the beauties of nature, he himself has told, for he also wrote a very interesting book, in which he relates the story of his development through the agency of the wonderful little nun who was more than mother to him. Her untimely death called forth many tributes of admiration from great specialists and from public personages in general; but none of these compare in significance with that from the happy and useful man whom she began to teach as the tiny, helpless Clarence Selby.

The present writer well remembers the little Clarence in the first stages of his training. If Sister Dosethius had only his education to show for her life's work, it would still have been much; but her activity went far beyond. There is a close tie between the Le Cou-teulx Institution of Buffalo, N. Y., and the School for the Deaf at Randolph, Mass. The latter is in charge of the Sisters of St. Joseph of the Archdiocese of Boston. Some of these made a part of their preparation at Le Cou-teulx Institution and to these the memory of Sister Dosethius is precious.

She always attended the Catholic Educational Conventions, and was beneficently active in the Deaf-Mute section. How happy she must be to see the importance which it has attained.

But her personal life as a religious was, if it were possible to draw a line between them, more interesting than her professional life. She was an ideal nun, and she gave of her happiness in God's service to every one who came into association with her.

It is not easy to picture the sense of loss following her prematurely-ended earthly life. She had spent about two-thirds of her years in religion.

Her name should stand side by side with that of Dr. Howe and the few other great teachers of what once had been accounted an unteachable class. It is enough for her that it is written in the Book of Life.

Sacred to the Memory of Sister Mary Dosethius Dwyer.

A TRIBUTE.

This gracious and sincere tribute gives its own heart expression, and needs no further comment.

Beloved Sister, truest friend and spiritual guide,
I oft recall the hours when sitting by thy side,
So earnestly thou wouldst take me by the hand
And point the way into that better land;
Didst urge me for to tread the path that thou hast trod —
The path that leads to Heaven — and to God.
Words cannot tell how bitterly I feel thy loss;
It is so hard to bow my head and kiss the cross.
Ready to help in every hour of need,
Thy life work proved that thou wert a saint, indeed.
But one thing only soothes my aching heart;
'Tis this — when next we meet we never more shall part.
Thy pure, bright soul I know awaits me there;
And I shall see thee in that land so fair.
Each deed of kindness done on earth will there be shown,
A brilliant jewel in thy golden crown;
Far from all earthly sorrow, pain and care —
Happy I'll dwell with thee forever there.

— Clarence J. Selby, a former blind-deaf pupil to whom, after years of patient untiring labor, she imparted all the knowledge he possessed, both spiritual and material.

LAWS AND BLANK FORMS RELATING TO THE AD- MISSION OF PUPILS.

Chapter 325, Laws of 1863.

As amended by chapter 213, entitled "An act relative to the care and education of deaf-mutes."

Passed, April 29, 1875.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Whenever a deaf-mute child, under the age of twelve years shall become a charge for its maintenance on any of the towns or counties of this State, or shall be liable to become such charge, it shall be the duty of the overseer of the poor of the town, or of the supervisors of said county, to place such child in the New York Institution for the Deaf and the Dumb, or the Institution for the Improved Instruction of Deaf-Mutes, or in the Le Couteulx St. Mary's Institution for the Improved Instruction of Deaf-Mutes in the City of Buffalo, or in the Central New York Institution for Deaf-Mutes in the city of Rome, or in any Institution in the State for the education of deaf-mutes.

§ 2. Any parent, guardian or friend of a deaf-mute child within this State, over the age of six years, and under the age of twelve years, may make application to the overseers of the poor of any town, or to any supervisor of the county where such child may be, showing by satisfactory affidavit or other proof, that the health, morals or comfort of such child may be endangered, or not properly cared for, and thereupon it shall be the duty of such overseer or supervisor to place such child in the New York Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, or the Institution for the Improved Instruction of Deaf-Mutes, or in the Le Couteulx St. Mary's Institution for the Improved Instruction of Deaf-Mutes in the City of Buffalo, or in the Central New York Institution for Deaf-Mutes in the City of Rome, or in any institution in the State for the education of the deaf-mutes.

§ 3. The children in said institution, in pursuance of the foregoing section, shall be maintained therein at the expense of the county from whence they came, provided that such expense shall not exceed three hundred dollars per year, until they attain the age of twelve years, unless the directors of the institution to which a child has been sent shall find that such child is not a proper subject to remain in such institution.

§ 4. The expenses of the board, tuition and clothing for such deaf-mute children, placed as aforesaid in said institution not exceeding the amount of three hundred dollars per year, above allowed shall be raised, and collected as other expenses of the county from which such children shall be received and the bills therefor, properly authenticated by the principal, or one of the officers of the institution, shall be paid to said institution by said county and its county treasurer or chamberlain, as the case may be, is hereby directed to pay the same on presentation, so that the amount thereof may be borne by the proper county.

§ 5. This act shall take effect immediately.

EXTRACT from chapter 555, Laws of 1864, Title I, sections 9 and 10, as amended by chapter 213, entitled "An act to provide for the care and education of deaf-mutes."

Passed April 29, 1875.

Section 6. Every person resident in the State, between twelve and twenty-five years of age, whose parent or parents, or, if an orphan, whose nearest friend shall have been a resident in this State for three* years preceeding, and who may make application for that purpose, shall be received, if deaf and dumb, into one of the following-named institutions, viz.: The New York Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, the New York Institution for the Improved Instruction of Deaf-Mutes, The Le Couteulx St. Mary's Institution for the Improved Instruction of Deaf-Mutes in the City of Buffalo, or in the Central New York Institution for Deaf-Mutes in the City of Rome, or in any institution of this State for the education of deaf-mutes, provided that his or her application be approved by the superintendent of public instruction. The pupils so sent to either of the institutions aforesaid shall be provided with board, lodging and tuition, and the directors of said institution shall receive for each pupil so provided for the sum of †three hundred dollars per annum, in quarterly payments, to be paid by the treasurer of the State on the warrant of the comptroller, to the treasurer of said institution. on his presenting a bill showing the actual time and number of such pupils attending the institution, and which bill shall be signed by the president and the secretary of the institution and be verified by their oaths. The regular term of instruction of pupils shall be five years, but the superintendent of public instruction may, in his discretion, extend the term of any pupil for a period not exceeding three years. The pupils provided for in this and the preceding section of this title shall be designated as State pupils, and the existing provisions of law applicable to State pupils now in said institutions shall apply to pupils herein provided for.

EXTRACT from chapter 615, Laws of 1886, entitled "An act to amend section 9 of Title 1, of chapter 555, of the Laws of 1864."

Passed June 10, 1886.

Section 9. All deaf and dumb persons residents of this State and upwards of twelve years of age, who shall have been resident in this State for three* years immediately preceding the application, or if a minor, whose parent or parents, or, if an orphan, whose nearest friend shall have been a resident in this State for three years immediately preceding the application, shall be eligible to appointment as state pupil in one of the deaf and dumb institutions of this State authorized by law to receive such pupils; and all blind persons of suitable age and similar qualifications shall be eligible to appointment to the institutions for the blind in the city of New York or in the village of Batavia, as follows: All such as are residents of the counties of New York, Kings, Queens, Suffolk and Richmond shall be sent to the Institution for the Blind in the city of New York; those who reside in other counties of the State shall be sent to the Institution for the Blind in the village of Batavia. All such appointments with the exception of those to the Institution for the Blind in the village of Batavia, shall be made by the superintendent of public instruction, upon application, and in those cases in which, in his opinion, the parent or guardians of the applicants are able to bear a portion of the expense, he may impose conditions whereby some proportionate share of the expense of education and clothing such pupils shall be paid by their parents, guardians or friends in such manner and at such time as the superintendent shall designate, which conditions he may modify, from time to time, if he shall deem it expedient to do so.

§ 3. This act shall take effect immediately.

Chapter 670.

AN ACT relative to the care and education of deaf-mutes.

Passed May 13, 1872, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Sections nine and ten of title one of an act entitled "An act to revise and consolidate the general acts relating to the public instruction, passed May second, eighteen hundred and sixty-four, are hereby amended so that the same shall extend and apply to the Le Couteulx St. Mary's Institution for the Improved Instruction of Deaf-Mutes in the city of Buffalo, in the like manner and with the like effect as if said institution had originally been named in the said sections respectively.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

Chapter 36.

AN ACT to further amend an act, entitled "An act to provide for the care and education of indigent deaf-mutes under the age of twelve years."

(Chapter 325 of the Laws of 1863, passed April 29, 1863.)

Approved by the Governor, February 18, 1892. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section two of chapter three hundred and twenty-five of the laws of eighteen hundred and sixty-three, as heretofore amended, is hereby further amended so as to read as follows:

§ 2. Any parent, guardian or friend of a deaf-mute child within this State over the age of five years and under the age of twelve years, may make application to the overseer of the poor of any town or to any such supervisor of the county where such child may be, showing by satisfactory affidavit or other proof that the health, morals and comfort of such child may be endangered or not properly cared for, and thereupon it shall be the duty of such overseer or supervisor to place such child in the New York Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, or in the Institution for the Improved Instruction of Deaf-Mutes, or in the Le Cou-teulx St. Mary's Institution for the Improved Instruction of Deaf-Mutes in the City of Buffalo, or in the Central New York Institution for Deaf-Mutes in the City of Rome, or in the Albany Home School for the Oral Instruction of the Deaf at Albany, or in any institution in the State for the education of deaf-mutes, as to which the board of State charities shall have made and filed with the superintendent of public instruction a certificate to the effect that said institution has been duly authorized and is prepared for the reception and instruction of such pupils.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

CHAPTER 223, LAWS OF 1903.

AN ACT to amend the consolidated school law, relating to deaf and dumb and blind institutions.

Became a law, April 24, 1903, with the approval of the Governor. Passed by a two-thirds vote.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section forty-three of article fourteen of title fifteen of chapter five hundred fifty-six of the laws of eighteen hundred ninety-four, entitled "An act to revise, amend and consolidate the general acts relating to public instruction," is hereby amended by adding thereto a new section to be known as section forty-three-a, and to read as follows:

§ 43-a. The supervisors of any county in this State from which county State pupils may be hereafter appointed to any institution for the instruction of the deaf and dumb, whose parents or guardians are unable to furnish them with suitable clothing, are hereby authorized and required to raise in each year for this purpose for each such pupil from said county, the sum of thirty dollars.

§ 2. This act shall take effect immediately.

REPORT.

To the Honorable the Legislature of the State of New York:

The Commissioners of the State Reservation at Niagara have the honor to submit herewith their annual report for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1912, as required by law.

PRINCIPAL EVENTS OF THE YEAR.

The principal events in the record of the history of the State Reservation at Niagara for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1912, were the resignation of the Superintendent William E. Harries and the appointment of Harry K. Eckert to succeed him as Superintendent, and the appointment of Leonard G. Dallas to the office of Police Superintendent; the formation of the ice bridge across the Niagara river which attracted thousands of sightseers, and which lasted for several weeks; the deplorable accident which followed the sudden and unexpected breaking up of the ice bridge and which resulted in the death of three persons; the passing of a bill by the State Legislature (afterwards vetoed by the Governor) for an appropriation to be used for illuminating the Falls at night; the extension of the provisions of the Burton Act to March 4, 1913; the message of the President of the United States presented to Congress in December, 1911, transmitting the report of the committee of engineers acting under the direction of the War Department as to the diversions of water and as to the wearing away of the rock foundation under the Horseshoe Fall, and the report of the Niagara Falls Committee of Architects and others regarding the scenic aspect of the Falls and the shores of the Niagara river; the going into effect of the treaty between Great Britain and Canada which provides for a restriction of the use of the Falls for power purposes; the plans made and in operation for the dredging and improving of Loop Pond.

THE RESIGNATION OF WILLIAM E. HARRIES.

On April 6, 1912, William E. Harries, who was appointed in 1910 to succeed Edward H. Perry as superintendent and secretary, presented to the Commissioners his resignation from these offices. His resignation was accepted with resolutions of regret and of appreciation of the service he had rendered.

APPOINTMENT OF NEW SUPERINTENDENT AND POLICE SUPERINTENDENT.

Harry K. Eckert, then Police Superintendent, was appointed to the position of acting superintendent on April, 1912, immediately upon the resignation of Superintendent Harries. After passing successfully the required competitive examination of the State Civil Service Commission Mr. Eckert was appointed at the August, 1912, meeting of the Commissioners to the position of Superintendent and was also elected Secretary.

Leonard G. Dallas of St. Regis Falls, New York, was appointed Police Superintendent to fill the vacancy caused by the appointment of Harry K. Eckert as Superintendent.

THE ICE BRIDGE TRAGEDY.

The winter of 1911-12 was one of the most severe in the history of the Reservation at Niagara. The mountain of ice that was formed reached a height of one hundred feet or more, and many old residents claimed that it was larger than it had ever been before.

Early in January a heavy gale broke up the ice in Lake Erie and many tons were swept down the river and over the Falls, forming one of the most remarkable ice bridges ever known, extending across the gorge from the American to the Canadian sides. The spectacle of the Cataract and of the shores of the river in their winter dress brought many thousands of visitors to the Falls and many venturesome persons walked out on the ice bridge. It was estimated that nearly four thousand persons visited the Reservation on one Sunday in January in order to enjoy the wonderful scenic beauty of Niagara in winter, one of its chief assets.

Without warning at noon on February 4th this remarkable ice bridge which winter had thrown across the gorge from shore to shore broke and floated down the river carrying with it a man and woman, and a boy. They were afterwards identified as Mr.

and Mrs. Eldredge Stanton of Toronto and a lad of seventeen years, Burrell Hecock of Cleveland. Several other persons were on the bridge at the time but they were able to reach the shore in safety after thrilling experiences. This sudden breaking up of the massive ice bridge was a complete surprise, as it had been considered perfectly safe while the cold weather lasted. In some places this immense ice jam was a quarter of a mile in width. If the accident had occurred an hour later there would undoubtedly have been much greater loss of life, for already the afternoon crowd of sightseers was beginning in Prospect Park. Heroic attempts were made to save the unfortunate victims, but in vain, and those on shore had the heartrending experience of watching them as they were carried over into the rapids without being able to rescue them. Mr. Stanton might have saved himself if he had been willing to leave his wife, and it is certain the boy, Burrell Hecock, lost his life because of his brave and heroic efforts to rescue his companions. The city of Toronto proposes to erect a monument at Niagara Falls, Ontario, in commemoration of his heroism. This terrible tragedy, one of the most serious in the history of the Reservation, led the Commissioners to adopt regulations excluding sightseers from the ice bridges in future.

A DRY NIAGARA.

For the second time in the present decade the phenomenon of a dry Niagara was experienced at the American Falls during the latter part of April last. A similar event had occurred in February, 1909. The large quantity of floe ice which had been moving down the river for a week clogged above the head of Goat Island, forming a dam, which caused the water to flow to the Canadian side and over the Horseshoe Falls. This left the channel on the American side between the north side of Goat Island and the mainland entirely dry, with the exception of a stream scarcely a foot wide making its way slowly over the American shore.

WATERMAINS ALONG THE RIVERWAY.

The Board of Water Commissioners of the city of Niagara Falls requested permission from the Niagara Reservation Commissioners to lay a water main along the riverway for fire purposes only, and to install four hydrants. This request was granted on condition that the work be done to the satisfaction of the State Commissioners and that the riverway be restored to its former condition immediately on completion of the work, and provided the Commissioners of Public Lands agreed to the arrangement. It was found, upon application to Attorney General Carmody, that neither the Reservation Commissioners nor the Public Lands Commissioners were authorized to grant this permit, but that the matter would have to come before the State Legislature. A bill was therefore presented to the Legislature and passed in March, 1912. This work was successfully completed and was approved by the Commissioners of the State Reservation.

FEAT OF CAPTAIN CLAUSS LARSEN.

In the Report of the Commissioners for 1912 the spectacular feat of Captain Claus Larsen in navigating the Whirlpool Rapids in a motor boat was mentioned. His first trip was made in September, 1910, and a second one on October 21, 1911. The latter feat was accomplished in his fifteen foot motor boat Niagara, with a fourteen horsepower gasoline engine, and with about seven hundred pounds of sand ballast. Capt. Larsen covered the six miles from the cataract to Lewiston in twenty-five minutes, making the trip through the stormy water without the slightest injury. He considered this second trip as much more difficult and exciting than the former one, as the water was much higher and rougher than usual, and there was more wind.

IMPROVING LOOP POND.

An appropriation of six thousand dollars was granted by the 1912 State Legislature for dredging and beautifying Loop Pond. At a meeting of the Commissioners held on August 8, 1912, a resolution was passed giving President Dow authority to secure the services of George E. Kessler, landscape architect, to carry on these improvements.

Commissioner Cary was later appointed to act with Mr. Dow as a committee in charge of the work.

Actual work was commenced on July 8, 1912. The pond was pumped dry and a system of hydraulic dredges and wheelbarrows was used and accomplished satisfactory results, the material removed being used to widen the outer road and build an island in the pond. This work was all well under way at the end of the fiscal year, and contemplates a planted slope on either side of the outer drive, the planting of the artificial island, and setting a portion of the pond to an aquatic garden. The extreme upper end of the park will be planted as a screen, so cutting off as much as possible the objectionable view of the shore up the river. The roadway, which is the extension of First street at the upper end of the green bounded by Buffalo avenue and the upper Riverway, has been regraded and remade, and the walk bordering that roadway has been rebuilt with an elaborate scheme of planting for the green and extending up the west slope of the upper Riverway and is well under way.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT.

The report of the superintendent which appears as part of this report describes in detail the work accomplished at the Reservation during the fiscal year in connection with the extensive repairs and improvements on the roads, for which an appropriation of $10,000 was made by the Legislature; repairs and improvements at the administration building and the public comfort stations and elevators; grading and seeding ground on the riverway and islands and the planting of more than ten thousand trees and shrubs; the work of dredging and improvement of Loop Pond, for which $6,000 was appropriated by the Legislature, and full details of general maintenance work at the Reservation.

EXTENSION OF PROVISIONS OF BURTON ACT TO MARCH 1, 1913.

On February 28, 1912, the United States Senate voted to extend the provisions of the Burton Act, adopted on June 29, 1906, which limits diversion to 15,600 cubic feet per second, from March 1, 1912, to January 1, 1914. The House of Representatives, however, failed to pass this measure, and after consideration and conference between the committees of the two houses, an agreement was reached on March 27, 1912, by which the provisions of the Burton Act were extended to March 4, 1913. Considerable effort has been made on the part of Senator Burton and others interested in the welfare of Niagara to have the provisions of this act extended to coincide with the time covered by the terms of the treaty, but without success.

CANADIAN-AMERICAN WATERWAY TREATY.

The treaty between the United States and Great Britain signed on the 11th day of January, 1909, by the British Ambassador, the Rt. Hon. James Bryce, and by the Secretary of State of the United States, the Hon. Elihu Root, on behalf of their respective governments, was ratified by Great Britain on March 31, 1910, and by the President of the United States under approval of the Senate on April 1, 1910, and was proclaimed by President Taft on May 13, 1910, as follows:

“Now, THEREFORE, be it known that I, WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT, President of the United States of America, have caused the said treaty and the said understanding, as forming a part thereof, to be made public, to the end that the same and every article and clause thereof may be observed and fulfilled with good faith by the United States and the citizens thereof.

“In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done at the city of Washington this thirteenth day of May in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and ten, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and thirty-fourth.

WM. H. TAFT.”

By the President.

P. C. KNOX,

Secretary of State.

The full text of this treaty, which is entitled “A Treaty Between the United States and Great Britain for the Settlement of International Differences between the United States and Great Britain,” was given in the annual report of the Niagara Commission for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1909, but that portion of the treaty contained in article V, referring particularly to the question of the diversion of water from Niagara Falls for power purposes may properly be quoted here:

“The High Contracting Parties agree that it is expedient to limit the diversion of waters from the Niagara river so that the level of Lake Erie and the flow of the stream shall not be appreciably affected. It is the desire of both parties to accomplish this object with the least possible injury to investments which have already been made in the construction of power plants on the United States side of the river and on the Canadian side of the river under licenses authorized by the Dominion of Canada and the Province of Ontario.

“So long as this treaty shall remain in force, no diversion of the waters of the Niagara river above the Falls from the natural course and stream thereof shall be permitted except for the purposes and to the extent hereinafter provided.

“The United States may authorize and permit the diversion within the State of New York of the waters of said river above the Falls of Niagara, for power purposes, not exceeding in the aggregate a daily diversion at the rate of twenty thousand cubic feet of water per second.

“The United Kingdom, by the Dominion of Canada, or the Province of Ontario, may authorize and permit the diversion within the Province of Ontario of the waters of said river above the Falls of Niagara, for power purposes, not exceeding in the aggregate a daily diversion at the rate of thirty-six thousand cubic feet of water per second.

“The prohibitions of this article shall not apply to the diversion of water for sanitary or domestic purposes, or for the service of canals for the purposes of navigation.”

This treaty remains in force for five years from the day of ratification, May 5, 1910, and thereafter until terminated, as set forth in article XIV as follows

“The present treaty shall be ratified by the President of the United States of America, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate thereof, and by His Britannic Majesty. The ratifications shall be exchanged at Washington as soon as possible and the treaty shall take effect on the date of the exchange of its ratifications. It shall remain in force for five years, dating from the day of exchange of ratifications, and thereafter until terminated by twelve months' written notice given by either High Contracting Party to the other.”

The members of the International Joint Commission appointed under the terms of the treaty are as follows:

United States:

James A. Tawney (Chairman)
Frank S. Streeter
George Turner
L. White Busbey, Secretary

Canada:

Th. Chase Casgrain (Chairman)
Henry A. Powell
Charles A. Magrath
Lawrence J. Burpee, Secretary.

The organization meeting of the commission, under article XII of the treaty, was held at Washington on January 10, 1912, and rules of procedure were adopted and published on February 2, 1912. Regular sessions of the Commission are to be held every six months — at Washington on the first Tuesday of April and at Ottawa on the first Tuesday of October, and special meetings at such times and places in the United States and Dominion of Canada as the Chairmen of the two sections may determine.

REPORT OF THE NIAGARA FALLS COMMITTEE.

Under date of December 7, 1911, President Taft transmitted to Congress the report of Mr. F. D. Millet, chairman of the Niagara Falls Committee, to the Secretary of War, giving a resume of the work of the committee from April 5, 1909, to October 2, 1911. This committee was appointed by Mr. Taft, then Secretary of War, under the direction of President Roosevelt, in January, 1907, to investigate conditions at Niagara and advise as to what changes, if any, could be made on the American side of the canyon below the Falls, which would remedy some of the damage which had been done to the shores of the Niagara river since the establishment of the power houses.

Mr. Millet's report of October 2, 1911, is appended, but the photographs to which it refers are omitted from the present report.

AMERICAN RAPIDS FROM PROSPECT PARK.

THE NIAGARA FALLS COMMITTEE,
WASHINGTON, October 2, 1911.

The Honorable the Secretary of War:

Sir.—I have the honor to submit herewith the annual report of the Niagara Falls Committee.

Yours, respectfully,

F. D. MILLET, Chairman.

The Honorable the Secretary of War, Washington, D. C.:

SIR: 1. Complying with the instructions of your letter of September 11, 1911, to Mr. F. D. Millet, chairman, the Niagara Falls Committee has the honor to submit the following report of its operations since its previous report of April 5, 1909, together with a résumé of all its operations to date.

2. This committee was originally appointed and its duties prescribed in the opinion of the Hon. W. H. Taft, then Secretary of War, dated January 18, 1907. The following extract from that opinion specifically bears upon the appointment and duties of the committee:

As the object of the act is to preserve the scenic beauty of Niagara Falls, I conceive it to be within my power to impose conditions upon the granting of these permits, compliance with which will remedy the unsightly appearance that is given to the American side of the canyon just below the Falls on the American side where the tunnel of the Niagara Falls Power Company discharges and where the works of the Hydraulic Company are placed.

The representative of the American Civic Association has properly described the effect upon the sightseer of the view toward the side of the canyon to be that of looking into the back yard of a house negligently kept. For the purpose of aiding me in determining what ought to be done to remove this eyesore, including the appearance of the buildings at the top, I shall appoint a committee consisting of Charles F. McKim, Frank D. Millet, and F. L. Olmsted to advise me what changes at an expense not out of proportion to the extent of the investment can be made which will put the side of the canyon at this point from bottom to top in natural harmony with the Falls and the other surroundings and will conceal as far as possible the raw commercial aspect that now offends the eye. This consideration has been kept in view in the construction of works on the Canadian side and in the building of the Niagara Falls Power Company above the Falls. There is no reason why similar care should not be enforced here.

3. The committee named above was afterwards increased by the detail of Captains John Stephen Sewell and Charles W. Kutz, Corps of Engineers, United States Army, as additional members by an order of the Secretary of War, dated March 20, 1907.

4. The original personnel of the committee has been altered by the death of Mr. C. F. McKim on September 14, 1909, and by the relief of Captain Kutz, who on August 10, 1908, was replaced by Major Charles Keller, Corps of Engineers, United States Army. Captain (afterwards Major) Sewell has, since his appointment as member of the committee, resigned his commission as an officer of the army, but still continues his membership in the committee.

5. Shortly after taking up its duties the committee was instructed in an interview with the Secretary of War that it was also authorized to consider "scenic and artistic conditions in a general way while preserving the essence of the definition of its duties as set forth in the Secretary of War's opinion of January 18, 1907."

6. Reports setting forth fully the nature of the objectionable features on the American side of the canyon at Niagara Falls and the possible remedies therefor, as well as the progress made in improving the conditions, were rendered on September 20, 1907, April 13, 1908, and April 5, 1909. The last two are printed in full in House Document No. 431, Sixty-first Congress, second session, and the other is on file in the War Department. In these reports is recorded all progress made up to the period covered in the present report.

7. Since the date of the last report (April 5, 1909) the committee has held three meetings, one at Washington, D. C., on March 10, 1910, for the purpose of conferring upon certain matters brought before the committee by the president and secretary of the American Civic Association, and the others at Niagara Falls on August 22, 1910, and on June 22, 1911, both of the latter meetings being for the purpose of inspecting the improvements and changes undertaken at the suggestion of the committee.

8. Under the instructions of the Secretary of War the committee has been limited to demanding the improvement of objectionable conditions only in the case of the power companies to whom permits for the diversion of water or for the transmission of electrical energy from Canada into the United States were, under the terms of the act of June 29, 1906, issued by the Secretary of War, and control has been limited to the extent specifically provided in each permit. Beyond this the committee has been without power, so that many evidently objectionable features and practices remain to be remedied by the local authorities or through the force of a more enlightened public sentiment.

9. Specifically, under the terms of permits issued by the Secretary of War, the committee has been able to secure the following beneficial changes: The design of the power house No. 3 of the Niagara Falls Power and Manufacturing Company (now the Hydraulic Power Company) has been altered and the power house has been built under plans and with materials which serve to keep it in harmony with the site and the natural surroundings, while in no wise detracting from its usefulness. The penstocks leading downward from the brink of the cliff to this power house have been covered by a screen or curtain wall of rubble masonry built of stone broken from the cliff in the building operations. This wall, therefore, harmonizes in color and texture with the cliff itself. The dumping of waste and refuse from the cliff of the milling district has been discontinued, many unsightly structures have been removed, and much rubbish cleared away. The slopes of the banks between the highway bridge and power house No. 3 have also been cleared of the accumulated dumpings of years, and the planting of this bank and part of the slope below power house No.

3 has been very successful. Of the fifteen streams of tail water discharging upon the bank of the milling district, six have been discontinued altogether and by the close of the present season four more will have disappeared. The large photographs herewith, marked "A" and "B," show the improvement effected in the milling district to the north of the highway bridge between June, 1907, and July, 1911, and in particular show satisfactory changes in the number and volume of the tail-water streams. These photographs have been furnished through the kindness of the Hydraulic Power Company of Niagara Falls (formerly the Niagara Falls Hydraulic Power and Manufacturing Company), as also the remaining photos herewith. Comparison will show the gratifying nature of the changes as follows:

Photo "C" shows the talus north of power house No. 3 after the bank had been cleared of rubbish, and "D" shows the slope as it is now.

Photos "E" and "F" serve to show original and present conditions between power house No. 2 and the highway bridge.

Photos "G" and "H" show original and existing conditions at the brink of the cliff and the great improvement which has been effected at this point.

Photo "I" gives a closer and better view of the plantations at the edge of the cliff. "J" is a view of the edge of the cliff back of the plant of the Cliff Paper Company, where the newly planted vines and shrubs have attained a luxuriant growth, and "K" shows similar success to the north of gate house No. 3 and near the plant of the Aluminum Company of America.

10. It is plain that existing conditions in and near the milling district are greatly improved. These changes have been made partly at the expense of the Niagara Falls Power Company, which co-operated by planting its portal lot just north of the highway bridge, and, in much the larger part, at the cost of the Hydraulic Power Company of Niagara Falls, which owns the power plants to the north of the bridge. The committee desires to express here its appreciation of the public spirit and liberality shown by these companies.

11. The following quotation from a letter of the Hydraulic Power Company to the committee is a statement of what this company has accomplished and of its plans for the future and gives some details not previously mentioned:

We beg to present the attached photos and call your attention to a series of photos marked "A," taken June, 1907, and an accompanying series marked "B," taken July, 1911, which, among other things, show the overflows over the bank and the outflow from the old power developments, which we have numbered from 1 to 13.

We would say that by the end of this season No. 1, No. 3, No. 4, No. 5, No. 5½, No. 6, No. 7, No. 8, No. 12, and No. 13 will all be eliminated. No. 2 is the outlet of our ice run from Station No. 3, and will be used to some extent during the winter months. No. 9, No. 10, and No. 11 are the outflows from the Pettebone-Cataract Paper Company and the Cataract City Milling Company, over which we have no control, but are using all the diplomatic effort we can to improve the conditions, and hope to be able to have No. 11 partially or all eliminated.

We have changed both the large flour mills from hydraulic power to electrical power, and have also purchased the land on which the ruins are located, between the two above mills, and are now tearing them down, the photos already showing a great improvement. This will eliminate objectionable conditions at No. 3, No. 4, No. 5, No. 5½, and we are planning to build a rough rubble wall between the two large mills and plant shrubbery in order to hide all structures between these two mills.

We have also purchased the city waterworks, and this plant is about to be discontinued, which will eliminate No. 12, and it is our plan to tear out the old wooden facing about the outflow and replace it with a rubble wall.

We are further planning to increase the number of shrubs back of both of the large mills, which will improve the present conditions at these places.

No. 13, which was the city sewer ou let north of our station No. 3, has been eliminated by being built into a tunnel.

We believe you will note a great improvement in appearances southerly from our station No. 2, especially back of the plants at the top of the hill, and in the increase in shrubbery on the bank.

The vertical strip in which the shrubbery does not show as luxuriant as in other places is due to the breaking away from the bank itself of some large boulders during the past winter, which slid down the talus slope, carrying everything in their path before them, which has necessitated planting this section.

Also on the talus slope at the north end of our station No. 3 the planting is beginning to show pleasing effect, and in a few years more we believe will practically cover the entire area in this section.

The concrete showing in the high bank wall of station No. 3, in the "B" series, is now being covered with rubble, the scaffolding for its place being clearly seen, and at the date of this letter is definitely in advance of the conditions shown in the photograph.

The concrete base of the power station No. 3 will undoubtedly be covered by the rubble wall already approved by your commission, and before the end of this season, which will make this part of the structure blend with the other parts.

The whole effect of station No. 3, including the station itself, the high bank wall, and the gate house at the top of the hill, we believe will be pleasing to your commission, as we have used every effort to make this structure as pleasing as possible, and its construction to the elevator will undoubtedly greatly improve the whole appearance.

We believe we can be justly proud of this structure, not only in its general scenic effect, but in the fact that it represents by far the highest efficiency use of water at Niagara Falls, not only in point of actual head available, but in the engineering accomplishments.

12. Under the terms of the permit issued to the Niagara Falls, Lockport and Ontario Power Company, for the transmission of electrical energy into the United States from Canada, this company was required to restore the natural growth on the side of the gorge where power is now brought into the United States. Recent visits by the members of the committee show that plantings made by this company are fairly prosperous and that the naked scar at the United States terminal of this power crossing is in a fair way to be covered with vegetation.

13. The only other permit carrying a restrictive clause in the interest of the preservation and protection of scenic conditions is that of the Niagara Falls Electrical Transmission Company, which is, under the terms of its permit, forbidden to build another bridge at or near the falls and is further required to secure the antecedent approval of the War Department for any power crossing it may propose to build. Up to the present, this company has built neither bridge nor power crossing. A bill introduced into Congress, presumably in its interest (S. 1727, 61st Cong.), was the subject of adverse report by the secretary of the committee on the ground that the bridge, therein proposed to be built about 500 feet north of the existing highway bridge, would be decidedly objectionable in its effect upon scenic conditions, and was moreover unnecessary, except for the purpose of such a power crossing as was forbidden by the above restrictive clause in the permit of the Niagara Falls Electrical Transmission Company.

14. Further than to supervise the construction of power house No. 3 of the Hydraulic Power Company, the cleaning and planting of the sides of the gorge in the milling district, and the plantings made on the east side of the power crossing of the Niagara Falls, Lockport and Ontario Power Company, the committee has been able to do practically nothing to remedy the deplorable conditions existing elsewhere on the American side of the canyon north of Niagara Falls. Apparently the situation is beyond national control, except through the creation of the national reservation recommended in House Document No. 431, Sixty-first Congress, second session. In the absence of such reservation, or of similar effective action by the State of New York, vandalism will continue unchecked. The most recent instance of the kind is the installation by the Gorge Railway Company of a stone crusher at the site of an ancient slide or slip about a half mile north of the power crossing of the Niagara, Lockport and Ontario Power Company. Close examination shows no trace of extensive destruction of vegetation, but the small amount remaining, or which has grown up since the slide or slip which caused the original scar, has been considerably damaged by the company's operations. A number of trees and shrubs have been killed and others have been barked and injured. Some of the trees and stumps are still seen in place near the stone crusher. The damage done by the operations of the company is shown, in part, by photographs Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4, herewith, as follows:

No. 1. Rocks being dug from the bank just above stone crusher.

No. 2. Rocks collected for crusher, looking down steep bank to crusher plant.

No. 3. Looking up from crusher toward No. 2.

No. 4. View of the stone-crushing plant, taken from the Canadian side of the gorge.

15. At the Whirlpool Rapids recently the scenery has been needlessly damaged and much vegetation destroyed in erecting on private land an ugly staircase, a fence, and other structures, as shown in photographs No. 5 and No. 6. Such damage will continue so long as private selfishness and cupidity remain unrestrained.

For the committee:

Respectfully submitted,

F. D. MILLET,
Chairman.

As a result of the criticisms and recommendations made by this Committee, a movement was inaugurated at Niagara in which the power companies co-operated with a view to bringing about a change in the surroundings of the Falls outside of the Reservation. To this end the power companies have removed or altered many of the unsightly structures or have replaced them by buildings of architectural beauty which will add to rather than detract from the beauty of the country, and have planted trees and shrubs in large quantities where heretofore the shores have been despoiled of their natural beauties. Under the auspices of the Committee a rubble stone cliff 200 feet high and 400 feet long has been constructed on the American side just below the Falls. This cliff is made of the same rock that forms the natural sides of the gorge and serves to cover and conceal the pipes used by the power companies at this point.

CANADIAN RAPIDS FROM VERANDA, THREE SISTERS COMFORT STATION.

APPROPRIATIONS NEEDED.

In order to carry on the work at the Reservation during the coming year, the Committee respectfully requests that the following appropriations be granted by the Legislature:

For salaries and maintenance.....	$50,400 00
For roads and walks.....	5,000 00
For bronze doors at elevator.....	2,500 00
For new public comfort station at Goat Island....	13,500 00
House for winter use at elevator entrance.....	2,500 00
For the labor center, etc.....	10,000 00
For lining of tunnel, elevator.....	10,000 00
Total.	$93,900 00

BIBLIOGRAPHY OF NIAGARA FALLS.

The Commissioners have felt that it would be interesting to publish, and have appended to this report a bibliography of the literature of Niagara Falls, so far as it could be prepared without great elaboration of effort. The work has been done by Mr. Daniel C. Haskell, of the New York Public Library, and will, we believe, be found accurate and fairly comprehensive.

We the undersigned Commissioners appointed by the Commissioners of the State Reservation at Niagara to audit the accounts of C. H. Atwood, Treasurer for the Commissioners for the fiscal year 1911-1912, do hereby certify that same have been duly audited and found correct.

THOMAS P. KINGSFORD, Commissioner,
 EUGENE CAREY, Commissioner,
Auditing Committee.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT.

To the Commissioners of the State Reservation at Niagara:

Gentlemen.—I have the honor to submit herewith the report of the work accomplished during the first six and one-half months (October 1st to April 16th), of the fiscal year ending September 30, 1912, under the administration of William E. Harries, Superintendent.

The winter just passed has been the severest in several years. From January until well into March extreme cold weather and high winds prevailed, building up a great ice mountain and doing much damage to the trees in the vicinity of the cataract. The labor needed to keep the paths and roads open and to care for the lower station of the elevator has been relatively large, the payrolls for labor in January and February this year amounting to $486.61 more than in 1911.

During November and December the installation of the electric heaters and the all year around water supply in the comfort stations was completed. A new stretch of road was begun near the elevator. A portion of the Horseshoe Layby was repaved. Curbing was put in at the laybys at the Cave of the Winds and the elevator. Six new catchbasins were built in low parts of the road at the Horseshoe. Several hundred old tree stumps were dynamited and a large number of dead trees felled and removed from the forest. Before the snow came a dressing of cinders was spread on the paths on Goat Island and a board walk built out across the Three Sister Islands. The gravel pit has received several thousand yards of fill this winter. The trees in the park have been pruned.

The iron work in the elevator has been painted this spring with a special black paint.

The work accomplished during the last five and one-half months (April 16th to September 30th inclusive), is as follows:

ROADS AND PATHS.

The work of narrowing the continuation of Falls street and the building of a new road in the park, from Falls street to the elevator entrance, has been completed. This work was begun in the fall of 1911. All the roads in the park have been resurfaced or repaired. The roads on Goat Island, with the exception of the Centre road, have been resurfaced or repaired. The Centre road has been plowed and the old gravel road bed removed and a new macadam road built. The gravel removed has been used in building the path from the entrance to Goat Island to the Cave of the Winds. All the paths on the Reservation have been repaired.

New curbing of Medina sand stone has been laid at the Falls street entrance to the park, and the road and crosswalks raised. A new layby has been built at the foot of Falls street, for the use of the Reservation carriage service; this was also curbed with Medina sandstone. A lime stone curb has been laid at the junction of the new road and the Rapids drive, near the elevator entrance.

All the paths and roads in the park and on the riverway have been edged.

The work of narrowing First street is well under way. Permission has been received from the city engineer to make any changes in the curb line, at the corner of First street and Buffalo avenue that we may see fit. The sod removed from the verges of the road has been used on the verges of the Rapids drive.

The work of widening the road near the elevator is progressing rapidly. The roadway will be widened nine feet and Medina sandstone curbing laid.

New concrete walks have been laid in front of the Davis Museum and Mrs. Davy's store on the Riverway, between the old walk and the curb. The space between the sidewalk and the curb on the Riverway, between Niagara street and the Colosseum, has been filled with gravel and cinders and a path built.

The paths near the shelter building at the entrance to Goat Island were in poor condition most of the time, owing to insufficient drainage. A new tile drain has been built at this point.

Owing to the frequent washouts, caused by the heavy rains during the months of August and September, a great amount of labor has been expended on the roads and paths.

A special spiral wire has been used the past summer to wire the path edges with very good results. Calcium chloride has been used as a dust layer with fair success.

The verges of the following roads have been filled in, graded and seeded: The continuation of Falls street, from Riverway to Rapids drive, and the new road, from the continuation of Falls street to the Rapids drive.

ELEVATOR.

The screens in the toilets (upper station) have been moved into the corridor, and two fans have been installed, one in each toilet, for ventilating purposes. The emergency lighting system has been completed, and tungsten lamps have been installed throughout the waiting room and tunnel. The work of installing the ventilating system has been completed, and although in service but a very short period of time, appears to be doing good work. This work has been accepted by the State Architect.

The curbing at the upper entrance has been raised thirteen inches and the ground in the vicinity graded to conform to it; this does away with the frequent overflow whenever there is a heavy rain storm.

Racks have been built in the check room of the upper station, and a new house has been built to cover battery rack of ventilating system.

Thirty large rocks, threatening to fall, were removed from the face of the cliff in May.

ADMINISTRATION BUILDING.

The roof was in very bad condition and leaked in several places, and has been repaired.

The old plumbing has been removed from the men's toilet, and a new tankless, oil regulated valve system installed. The old bowls removed were placed in the women's toilet to replace broken ones. A screen has been placed at the entrance to the men's toilet and the old swinging doors removed.

The waiting room, mother's room, and corridor walls, have been replastered, wherever needed, and given two coats of paint, and the wood work given two coats of the best varnish. The door frames and doors outside were given two coats of varnish and the windows and frames given two coats of paint and all the glass re-puttied. The furniture throughout the waiting room and corridor has been given a coat of varnish. New bubblers have been placed on the drinking taps in the corridor.

GREEN ISLAND.

The slopes each side of the roadway were given a dressing of top soil and seeded, and a very good catch of grass obtained. The patrol station has been painted both inside and outside.

PARK AND RIVERWAY.

The park surface has been thoroughly cleaned and the bare spots given a dressing of top soil and seeded. One hundred and fifty loads of soil were used in the park in grading operations during the month of May.

Several trees were removed near the foot of Falls street to give a better view of the rapids.

The old sewer formerly used for the disposal of waste papers, etc., has been repaired and is now in daily use.

The shrubbery along the river bank in the park and along the Riverway has been thinned out and pruned and a fine view of the rapids can now be had from any point in the park or on the driveway, and the policing of same is much more efficient than formerly. The low hanging branches of the trees on upper Riverway and Willow Island have been removed and a fine view of the rapids from the roadway is the result.

GOAT ISLAND.

The ground around the Three Sisters comfort station has been graded and seeded, and paths laid out and built. An opening was made by removing some trees in front of the building, and a fine view of the Canadian rapids is the result.

Ten thousand trees and six hundred shrubs have been set out since the first of May. The old and useless structures that were in the old gravel pit have been removed and the pit is being filled in.

The ground around the layby at the spring has been graded and seeded and a good catch of grass obtained. The bank at the upper end of the new Terrapin trail was washing out rapidly with every rain storm. A retaining wall of field stone and cement has been built at this point.

The old gravel pit near the spring has been graded and is now in condition to receive the barn and proposed labor centre. A new driveway is under course of construction, extending from the road near the spring to the intended site of the labor centre. The sand removed in the grading operations has been dried and stored away for use on the paths the coming winter.

LOOP POND.

The work of dredging the Loop pond is progressing very rapidly and the work should be finished by the first day of November, 1912. The material is being removed with wheelbarrows and a system of hydraulic dredging. An island is being built in the pond, and this affords a very convenient way of disposing of a large portion of the material, and the island will make a very attractive addition to the pond. The outer drive has been widened twenty-five feet to permit of planting on either side of the roadway.

GENERAL MAINTAINANCE WORK.

On Friday, April 26th, the water was very low in the American rapids, caused by an ice jam above Goat Island. Advantage was taken of this fact and an old scow that had lodged on the rocks, near the head of Luna Island was dynamited and the first high water carried it over the American fall. Several unsightly bolts which had been used during the construction of the present Goat Island bridge were also removed.

The railings on the Terrapin Point bridge were badly broken by the ice the past winter; these have been repaired.

The arches of the shelter building at the entrance to Goat Island were in bad condition, and have been repaired.

A new pipe fence has been built on the Riverway to protect the mouth of the raceway, opposite the eastern end of Main street, and a pipe fence has been built in the rear of the International theater. The pipe fences throughout the reservation have been given a coat of green graphite paint.

In grading operations, 562 cubic yards of top soil and 1,118 cubic yards of subsoil have been used on the reservation since April 16th.

A new sprinkling outfit with 2½-inch hose connection, which will cover a space 80 feet in diameter, wetting the ground to a depth of six inches in 20 minutes, has been purchased and is giving excellent service.

Four bubbling drinking fountains were purchased, three of which have been installed in the following places: One in Prospect Park, near the Administration Building, one near the Three Sisters Islands Comfort Station and one near the Horseshoe Fall, the remaining one to be installed at Prospect Point.

MISCELLANEOUS.

On the 10th day of July, 1912, the city of Niagara Falls passed an ordinance prohibiting business soliciting, to take effect on the morning of July 11th. On the morning of July 11th the city police arrested a solicitor in the employ of the Davis Museum on the Riverway for soliciting on the sidewalk in front of the Museum. Police Justice Piper ruled that the city of Niagara Falls has no jurisdiction on the Riverway, and discharged the prisoner.

On Sunday, July 28th, about 2 p. m. one of the Niagara Falls Transfer Co.'s park automobiles, driven by Thomas Sexton, ran over a man named George Smith, of New York city. Smith was taken to the Sisters Hospital, and died at 3 p. m. the same day. Several eye-witnesses of the accident made affidavit that the driver of the automobile was blameless.

During the fiscal year ending September 30th, 1912, there have been five known attempts at suicide. Two bodies were picked up below the falls and identified and one was rescued before passing over the fall. Two persons contemplating suicide were arrested by the police and turned over to friends.

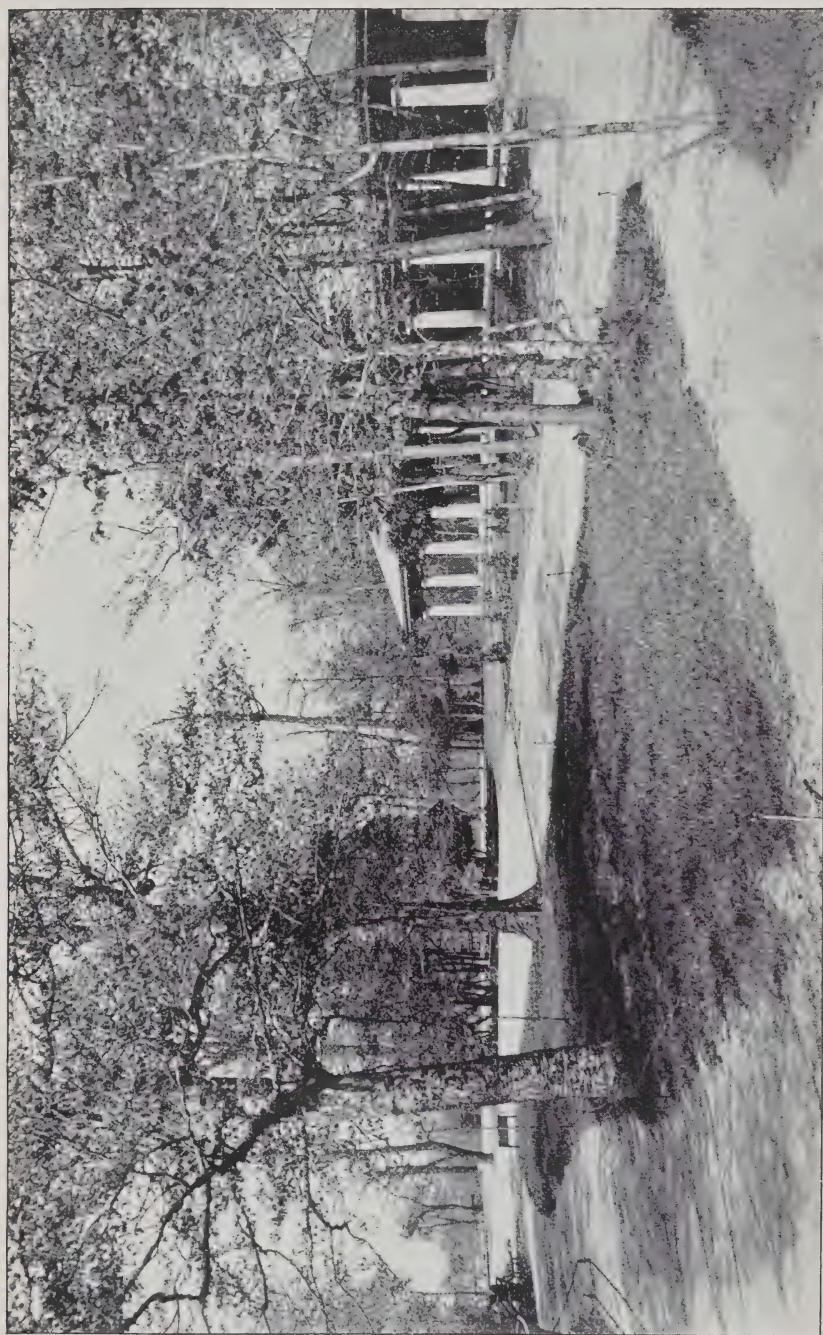

Three persons lost their lives in the ice bridge catastrophe on February 4th and one person by an automobile accident.

Seventeen arrests were made by reservation officers and a total of $154 in fines and four suspended sentences were imposed.

Respectfully submitted,

HARRY K. ECKERT,

Superintendent.

No. 45.

IN ASSEMBLY

MARCH 13, 1913.

Second Annual Report of the Trustees of the State Institute for the Study of Malignant Disease, for the Year Ending October 1, 1912.

To the Legislature of the State of New York:

Pursuant to chapter 128 of the Laws of 1911, the formal acceptance of title for the State by the Attorney-General, of the property at the corner of High and Oak streets, was consummated on March 7, 1912. The trustees approved of plans for the hospital building and for the remodeling of the existing building into a service building and advertised for bids. The contract for the hospital building was let on April 25, 1912, to the Eastern Concrete Steel Co., and for the service building on August 1st, to the same company. Contract for the heating and ventilating was let on September 17th to the Republic Engineering & Constructing Co.

The expectations of the trustees as to the completion of the work have not been gratified. The congestion in the building trades in Buffalo and difficulty in securing some of the materials for the building have protracted the period of construction. We are hopeful that the hospital building proper will be completed and ready for occupancy not later than the first of July. The service building is practically complete, the new heating plant installed and heat is now supplied to the hospital building, and the interior finish is being rapidly pushed.

For the coming year the trustees require the same amount for maintenance as for the past year, i. e., $60,000. For completing the equipment of the hospital building and supplying the following necessary parts of the undertaking not previously provided for, viz., window and door screens, awnings, kitchen equipment, operating and sterilizing rooms, mattress sterilizer, glass structure in connecting corridor, refrigeration machinery and ice boxes, X-ray equipment, dumb waiter, retaining wall, telephones, fence and gates, electric stoves, hot water heater, metal boxes with thermostats for radiators, the minimum sum total of $25,275 will be required.

As explained by the director in his report, the erection of the hospital building and the valuable fields opened for research by the possibility of utilizing fowls and fish for experimentation, including breeding experiments, have made it necessary that the institute should possess, as other properly equipped institutions of this sort already do, a tract of land in the county to be utilized as an experiment station and breeding farm. Realizing the importance of this adjunct to the institute, a piece of property ideally suited to the purpose has been found near the town of Springville and purchased by the following gentlemen: Thomas F. Cooke, Wm. H. Gratwick, Charles Cary, Harry Yates, F. C. Gratwick, Roswell Park, Frank B. Baird, Robert W. Pomeroy, H. R. Gaylord, Dudley M. Irwin. Title to the property has been taken preparatory to transferring it to the State, on the passage of a bill introduced at the request of the board of trustees, providing for such transfer and an appropriation of $20,000 for the equipment of the same.

The trustees feel that this is an extremely important step for the institute and congratulate themselves upon the generous gift of a tract of land so admirably suited for the purpose. They urge upon the Legislature the necessity of passing this bill at the present session.

In view of the fact that the site upon which the hospital is built, as well as the tract of land at Springville, are both gifts to the institute, the trustees felt that it was desirable that they should be empowered in the future to receive gifts and bequests, and a bill to accomplish this purpose has been introduced in the recent session of the Legislature.

The trustees therefore submit the following items as absolutely necessary for the proper conduct of the institute during the ensuing year:

For maintenance and equipment.....	$60,000 00
For construction and equipment.....	25,275 00

All of which is respectfully submitted.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR OF THE STATE IN-STITUTE FOR THE STUDY OF MALIGNANT DISEASE
TO THE TRUSTEES, FOR THE YEAR 1911-12.

The energies of the laboratory during the past year have been centered upon the joint investigation between this institute and the United States Bureau of Fisheries into goiter and cancer in fish. During the summer of 1911 further experiments to determine the transmissibility of this disease to mammals were undertaken and by spring we were in possession of evidence which shows clearly that this is possible. From the successful conclusion of these experiments we are now in a position where we feel we are justified in publishing a monograph covering our work to this point. This is now in course of preparation and since the return of Mr. Marsh to the laboratory on November 6th, has been energetically prosecuted with the prospect that it will be ready for distribution in the spring.

At the meeting of the Association of Pathologists and Bacteriologists in Philadelphia in April, 1912, the director was able to report on the principal findings of this investigation under the title "Hyperplasia and carcinoma of the thyroid in the Salmonidae;" experimental and field observations since 1907; and before the American Association for Cancer Research, also in Philadelphia in April, under the title "Further experiments with thyroid tumor in salmonoids," on the action of mercury and iodine on goiter and cancer in fish. One of the most significant findings of this investigation has been the fact that certain metals, notably mercury and arsenic, have a pronounced curative effect upon cancer of the thyroid in fish when introduced continuously in the water even at a very low concentration. The determination of these facts in 1910 and 1911 led to the inauguration of experiments in the laboratory to attempt to combine certain metals with certain coloring matters for the purpose of finding an active compound for the treatment of cancer in animals. This laboratory has been engaged off and on in systematic testing of certain chemical compounds for this purpose. In the report of the laboratory for 1908 we published notes on the use of upward of 250 chemical bodies which had been systematically tested out by Dr. Clowes, including about a hundred halogen derivatives of aromatic compounds known to possess a highly destructive effect upon bacteria. Dr. Clowes had been more or less steadily employed for three years on these experiments and had determined that certain of the chemicals, those of the tetra-brom-kresol group had a distinct effect in checking the growth of mouse carcinoma, when injected about the tumors. The injection of these compounds was accompanied however with great pain and irritation. For the time being further experiments of this sort were interrupted until the probable outlook of this field was again stimulated by the results obtained with mercury and arsenic in cancer of the thyroid gland in fish. In December, 1911, Professor von Wassermann, of Berlin, reported to the Berlin Medical Society successful results in the treatment of mouse cancer by the intravenous injection of the metal selenium in combination with the coloring matter eosin. These results coupled with our own success in treating fish cancer with mercury and arsenic led us to believe that the action of selenium would not prove to be a specific action but that probably a large number of the metals would give similar results and our expectations in this direction were realized by the publication of Neuberg and Caspari a few months later, showing that practically all of the metals in organic compound when injected intravenously in animal cancer give more or less definite curative results. The ingenuity of Wassermann in developing a technique by which animals as small as mice may receive intravenous injections has opened a new field for therapeutic experimentation. This field we are energetically prosecuting, and in particular, Dr. Clowes is again testing by this method several of the compounds which gave results by local injection in 1907. It is needless to point out that the cure of animal cancer both in fish and in mammals by the use of metals, opens a field in which the experimental treatment of human beings is possible. We are looking forward to the early completion of our hospital building in this connection.

At the meeting of the Association for Cancer Research in Philadelphia in April, Dr. Clowes presented the following papers: "Further observations on complement deviation in cancer cases," and "Comparative study of blood reactions in cancer and other pathological conditions." Dr. Burton T. Simpson returned to work at the laboratory in June after nine months spent in special research at the University of Freiburg with Professor Aschoff, during which time he carried out an investigation into the histology of tumors and prepared for publication a paper on the "Growth Centers of Benign Blastomata." During the time required for the completion of the hospital, Dr. F. C. Busch, who will take up the clinical work of the institute, is carrying out special research for the institute in Berlin.

In our last report we called attention to the interference with our investigation into cancer of the thyroid in fish by the detail of Mr. M. C. Marsh of the Bureau of Fisheries, to work in the Pribilof Islands in Alaska. The chances of Mr. Marsh's return to this work became so remote that the director in June tendered to Mr. Marsh the position of biologist upon the staff of the institute and at the August meeting submitted the appointment for the approval of the trustees. In consummation of this arrangement Mr. Marsh returned to the United States in September and after arranging his affairs with the Bureau of Fisheries has resigned and definitely entered upon his duties with us on November first.

The field of work opened to us through the demonstration of the transmissibility of goiter in fish to warm-blooded animals by means of the drinking water is a subject of such great significance both scientifically and economically, that your director felt that arrangements should be made for experimentation on a larger scale than was possible with the limited quarters available on our present site. The advent of the new hospital building has made it impossible for us to retain animals under conditions sufficiently humane on the grounds of the institute. Recognizing the great value of fish for this line of experimentation and the prohibitive expense of maintaining any quantity in running water in the city, aside from the fact that during the summer the water of Lake Erie rises to a temperature which makes this impossible, the director proposed to Dr. Carey and Dr. Mark that search should be made for a plot of land in the neighborhood of Buffalo with sufficient spring water supply for the maintenance of a considerable number of fish and of sufficient area to permit the erection of buildings, runways and yards for the care of small animals and fowls. One of the most promising fields for investigation is the transmissible tumors in chickens. This work cannot be undertaken without an equipment equivalent to a chicken farm. Furthermore, the problems of heredity have become so important in the study of malignant disease that this institute can no longer neglect this subject. We could, therefore, properly combine the breeding and maintenance of animals and experimental work with fish, if a plot of land of some acres, with ample spring water could be obtained.

Dr. Cary and your director for some months at occasional intervals investigated possible sites and finally located at Springville, N. Y., a farm of thirty-one acres immediately adjacent to the village, which is practically ideal for the purpose desired. The property extends from the main street of the village, that is from the main road which is an extension of the main street of the village running east and west, and is within a quarter of a mile from the village. It is several times deeper than wide and running across the length of the property is a brook which rises in part from sources without the property, but immediately adjacent to it, with about half its volume supplied by fifteen separate springs on the property. There is a fall of some seventy feet from one end of the property to the other, creating ideal conditions for the use of this water by gravity. The southern portion of the plot is rolling and well drained, ideally suited to the care of fowls and other small animals. Learning through a local physician, Dr. Brooks, of Springville, that this piece of property so well suited to our purposes could be purchased for a moderate sum, a number of gentlemen, friends of the laboratory, were asked to subscribe for its purchase, with the result that the amount was subscribed and final payment was consummated on October 23d. The title of the property now stands in the names of Charles Cary and Harvey R. Gaylord, joint tenants. It is suggested to the trustees that this property be deeded to the State by a special act of Legislature, and that an appropriation of $20,000 for the erection of the buildings and the improvement of the property be asked for, the whole to create a suburban animal farm and experiment station for breeding purposes, as a part of the institute.

In this connection I might point out that the better equipped research institutions, like the Rockefeller Institute in New York, have found it necessary to have farms of the character here described. Properly equipped this suburban station will permit us to undertake very vital breeding experiments to determine the relation of susceptibility to malignant disease and heredity.

It has long been suspected that if cancer is an infectious disease, its mode of transmission would prove to be by some round-about route, and we have in our previous reports pointed out the necessity for considering the possibility of an intermediary host. There is an ever increasing number of obscure diseases which are found to be distributed through the medium of insects or other carriers. For some years past Professor Borrel of the Pasteur Institute has pointed out that cancer in rats and mice were occasionally found to contain certain parasitic worms, usually small round worms, and he has advanced the hypothesis that these worms were the carrier of a virus which was the actual cause of the cancerous disease. The successful work of Dr. Peyton Rous, of the Rockefeller Institute, in separating a virus from three distinct types of cancer in chickens has now positively established the existence of such a virus for these types of cancer. With these facts in mind, the importance of the address given on the seventh of January before the Medical Society of the city of Copenhagen by Professor Johannes Fibiger, on the production of cancer of the stomach in rats by feeding them certain small round worms of the American cockroach, will be easily appreciated. Fibiger found that the wild rats from a certain locality in Copenhagen frequently had these worms in their stomachs. An examination of 61 rats from this locality showed that 40 had the worms in their stomachs, that 9 of these had well developed cancer of the stomach with the worms embedded in the cancer and that 9 others had what he believed to be the beginning stages of the disease which produced the cancer. He thereupon collected cockroaches from this district and fed them to laboratory rats with their food. He used 57 laboratory rats, in 54 of which he found the worms in the stomach. Seven of the rats which died had true cancer and 29 of them had the beginning of the disease with the worms embedded in the tissue. There are other types of cancer which are associated with other types of worms, particularly the disease known as "Bilharzia disease" in Egypt, in which the embryos of a worm are deposited in the bladder of the individuals affected and there produce cancer. The significance of Fibiger's work is that he actually experimentally produced cancer in animals by feeding them the bodies of cockroaches containing worms, which, in the light of the demonstration of a virus for chicken cancer, we are inclined to believe, with Borrel, will prove to be the carrier of some such virus in the case of the rats. It is easy to understand how important is this discovery of Fibiger's and what a hopeful and colossal field for research it immediately opens. The distribution of cancer in certain localities may now be studied in a new light. The significance of so-called "cancer houses" and so-called "cage infections" of animals takes on a new light, and the possibilities of limiting the spread of certain kinds of cancer and of beginning a rational attack upon the distribution of the disease become greatly improved.

During 1912, beginning with the first month of the year, we have experimented extensively with colloidal metals, and particularly tested out colloidal preparations of silver, gold, platinum, mercury, copper, selenium and arsenic, both experimentally on animals with implanted cancer and on human beings. We have seen some temporary improvement in human beings and evidences of therapeutic action in inoculated animals. In the light of the experience we have had with carcinoma in fish and results obtained with various compounds and salts of reducible metals, we are hopeful that a suitable metallo-therapy will ultimately be developed. Our experience with colloidal metals does not as yet indicate that they are sufficiently specific or active in effect more than temporary improvement, but the innumerable possibilities of chemo-therapy make it seem probable that their investigation might prove fruitful and we are continuing the same. There have been special references to the use of colloidal copper in cancer.

The original experiments with this metal in colloidal form were made by J. Gaube de Gers, of Paris, who reported them before the Société Médicale de Practiciens, of Paris, late in 1911. In France a series of cases was treated by intravenous injections of colloidal copper. The consensus of opinion of the French investigators appears to have been, as early as the spring of 1912, that the outlook for the cure of cancer by copper was not good, the improvement of cases noted being only temporary. We were led to a similar conclusion as the result of a trial of the metal on several cases in the summer of 1912.

Progress upon the hospital has reached a point where preparations for special equipment will be required. Necessary items not yet provided for amount to $25,275, as follows: Window and door screens, awnings, kitchen equipment, laundry equipment, operating and sterilizing rooms, mattress sterilizer, glass structure in connecting corridor, refrigeration machinery and ice boxes, X-ray equipment, dumb-waiter, retaining wall, telephones, fence and gates, electric stoves, hot water heater, metal boxes with thermostats for radiators.

The staff of the laboratory remains unchanged except by the addition of Mr. Marsh.

SPECIAL REPORT ON THE EFFICIENCY OF THE TOP-LOPPING LAW.

March 10, 1913.

Conservation Commission, Albany, N. Y.:

GENTLEMEN.—I submit herewith the results of an investigation into the value of the so-called “top-logging” law as a means of reducing the forest fire danger.

This provision of the fire law was drafted by a committee appointed at a conference, called after the disastrous fires of 1908, to secure a more effective law. It was suggested by the lumbermen and but little objection was made in regard to its enforcement until last year. When the new forest law was passed at the last session of the Legislature, its application was limited to the so-called “fire towns,” and the provision providing a penalty for failure to lop tops was stricken out.

At that time there seemed to be a question as to the effectiveness of this method as a means of reducing the forest fire danger. On account of the heavy snow cover, field examination was impossible then, but in order to secure definite facts for your consideration, last fall, before the winter began, I investigated this matter and report as follows:

During the week of September 30th, three hearings were held at Watertown, Saranac Lake and Glens Falls by the Superintendent of Forests to determine what the feeling was in regard to the top-logging law in its present standing.

The results were quite unsatisfactory because of the difference of opinion expressed. The objections to the law were:

1. That the soil burned much deeper in the case of a fire running through lopped tops as against unlopped tops where the fire occurred one to three years after the cutting.

2. That fires could be fought easier in unlopped tops than lopped tops.

3. That a fire would burn faster in lopped tops than in unlopped tops, and therefore burn over a greater area in the same length of time.

4. That unlopped tops decay and consequently disappear sooner than lopped ones.

5. That unlopped tops cast more shade on the ground.

6. That lopped tops do not cause moister soil conditions.

7. That lopped tops seriously interfere with the reproduction on a cut-over area.

8. That the operator should be reimbursed for his increased outlay if tops are to be lopped.

9. The cost of lopping is too great.

10. That the law was unconstitutional, inasmuch as it caused a private individual to spend money for something that accomplished no public benefit.

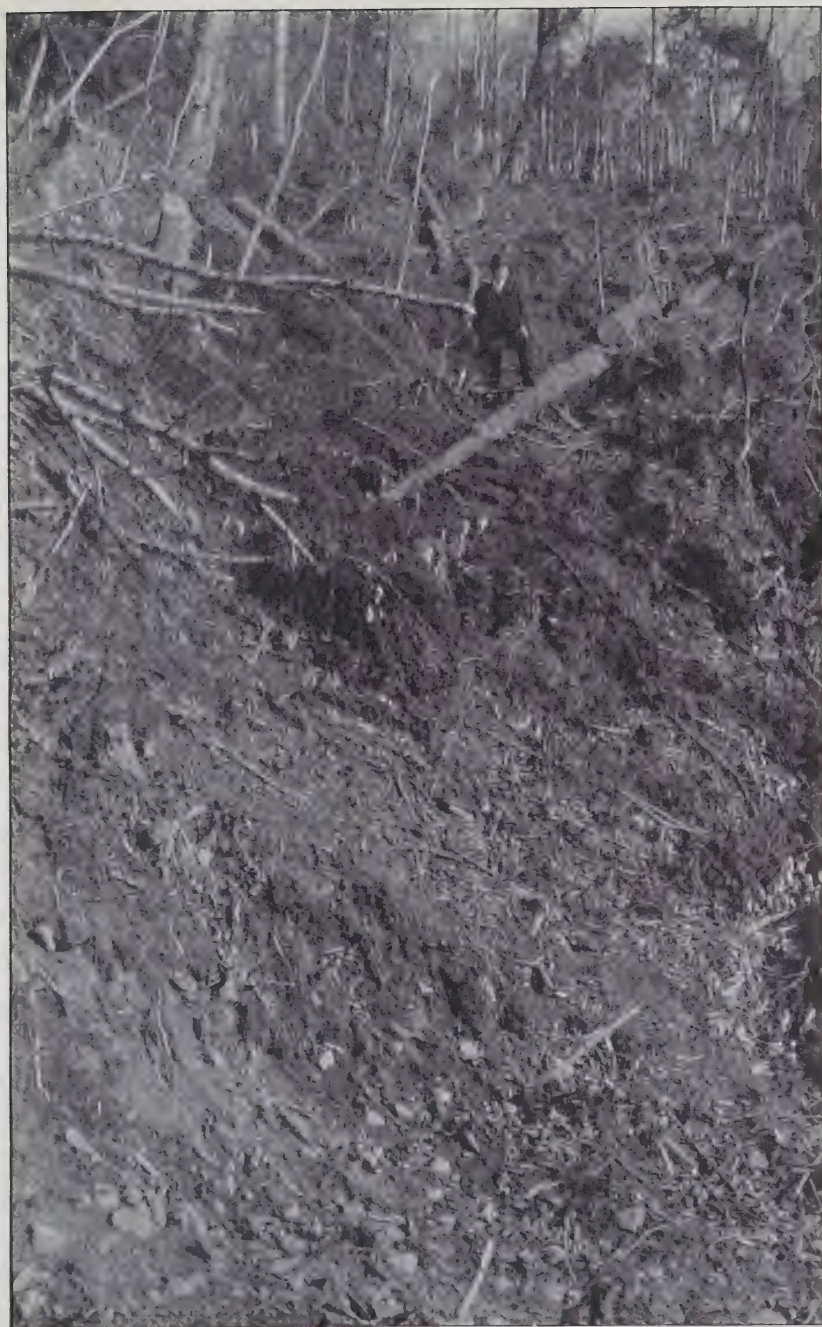

11. That the tops could be lopped to a given diameter limit, say three inches, and produce the same result at a decreased cost.

The opinions brought out were so conflicting and the idea was so emphasized that the law had not been in effect long enough to reach a final conclusion, and that more complete information should be secured by field excursions, that Forester Gaylord, together with various fire rangers, lumbermen and others, spent nearly ten days examining carefully into the various conditions of lopped and unlopped tops and the fire danger.

The tracts visited were as follows: The Taggart Paper Company's, the Brandreth Preserve, Ne-ha-sa-ne Park, the Whitney Preserve, the lands of P. X. Blake near Joe Indian pond, and the Santa Clara Lumber Company's holdings. Nearly all conditions and ages of lopped and unlopped tops were also inspected.

The points raised will be discussed in the order above stated.

Objection 1. That the soil burned much deeper in the case of a fire running through lopped tops as against unlopped tops where the fire occurred one to three years after the cutting. In the case of the fire at Sperry pond on the Whitney tract, it was shown most decidedly that fires which occur in the early spring do no more damage in lopped than in unlopped tops, and in this case the fire occurred only a year after the cutting. Piles of lopped branches were found which were only partially burned and there would be a great mass of the fine twigs and leaves left wholly untouched at the bottom of these piles, showing that at this time of the year these piles are in a very damp condition and even when the surface is sufficiently dry to burn, there will be enough moisture, either as water, snow or ice, to prevent a complete burning of the piles and keep the fire from burning into the soil at all. In the case of the fire at Sperry pond, it was found that the unlopped tops were very badly charred and burned to nearly the same extent as the lopped branches which were on the ground.

Objection 2. That fires could be fought easier in unlopped tops than lopped tops. The only evidence secured of actual experience was that fire lines could be made quicker in lopped top areas and, therefore, fires could be fought easier.

Objection 3. That a fire would burn faster in lopped tops than in unlopped tops, and therefore burn over a greater area in the same length of time. It seems to be the opinion among those who have fought fires under these two conditions, that, if there is any difference, the fire burns slower in the lopped tops, as here the material lies close to the ground and in a much moister condition and there are not the chances of helping the fire along by the draft which is always created by a forest fire. The blaze is much lower and is less likely to cause a crown fire.

Objection 4. That unlopped tops decay and consequently disappear sooner than lopped ones. The opinion of practically every one, except a very few, was that lopped tops will decay and disappear sooner than unlopped tops. Decay is induced by fungus growth which demands both air and moisture to carry on this work in the most rapid way. The combination of air and moisture is best at the surface of the ground; this fact being well brought out by the decay of posts and poles which have remained in the ground for some little time. These always show the greatest amount of rot where they enter the ground. In the case of old buildings, the part which shows the greatest signs of decay is always that closest to the ground. In the case of old lumbering operations where large tops were left unlopped, the branches on the under side of the top have rotted away as they came in contact with the soil until the main stem of the top has become flat upon the ground, but even now all the branches on the upper side of this stem are still in an excellent condition for burning.

The thoroughness with which the top-logging has been done has to a large extent affected the rapidity of decay. On operations where care has been taken to get this brush on the ground, the latter condition has been the better.

As near as could be determined from our inspections, we reached the conclusion that the average top as now lopped would decay and have practically disappeared as a fire danger in approximately seven years, while it would take the same top fifteen years to decay and disappear if unlopped.

The rate of decay will depend upon local conditions. It will be greater where the underbrush is dense and on the north and east slopes. It will be slower where there is less shade and more sun and also when the tops are rich in pitch.

Objection 5. That unlopped tops cast more shade on the ground. It is self-evident that where tops are lopped the effect of the whole of every branch is felt in casting shade, while in the case of an unlopped top there are at least half of the branches which cast a very much foreshortened shadow, due to the fact that they are upright instead of lying flat on the ground. Therefore, the aggregate amount of shade from an unlopped top could not possibly be as great as that from the same branches lopped and lying on the ground.

Objection 6. That lopped tops do not cause moister soil conditions. The moisture conditions are very much bettered by lopping because:

First.—As has just been brought out, they benefit through the casting of the maximum of shade.

Second.—The branches scattered around on the ground serve as a great hindrance to evaporation and also to air currents coming in contact with the soil, thereby greatly decreasing evaporation.

Third.—The extreme moisture conditions of the spring are retained for a much longer period, thus shortening the dry fire season. Snow and ice will also last much longer under lopped tops.

Objection 7. That lopped tops seriously interfere with the reproduction on a cut-over area. It was ascertained that whether the tops are lopped or not, about ninety per cent. of the branches which are cut from the trees are cut from the saw logs or pulp-wood, which leaves the forest as merchantable material, and these limbs are necessarily more or less piled and form the conditions which tend to prevent reproduction. The addition of ten per cent. or less of the material, which is a result of the lopping, cannot decrease the amount of reproduction more than ten per cent. In the case of Ne-ha-sa-ne park, where the tops were lopped, was noted one of the finest examples of spruce reproduction to be found in the Adirondacks.

Numerous examples were found which show that lopping does not kill all of the seedlings which have started, and furthermore, that not only are they able to grow up through the debris, but new ones are able to start.

Objection 8. That the operator should be reimbursed for his increased outlay if tops are to be lopped. The basic principle of this law is that lumbering increases fire danger and that the person who operates is responsible for the change. It has been necessary to enact laws in many lines that limit various business enterprises or direct how they are to be conducted. In none of these cases does the State itself pay for the increased burden imposed upon the parties affected. The land owner derives better fire protection and the laws operate in his favor in case an adjacent owner is lumbering, as well as against him when he himself cuts.

Objection 9. The cost of lopping is too great. The cost as given by lumbermen varies from fifteen to fifty cents per cord. The first figure is probably more nearly correct, as it has been the custom since the law went into effect to pay jobbers an additional five cents per market or fifteen cents per cord to lop tops and several jobbers have been heard to say that they could make a little money at this figure. The lopping of tops on the Webb Preserve about twelve years ago cost approximately eight cents and the job was perfectly done. The cost of lopping varies from ten to twenty-five cents per cord on different operations, but the average is probably not over fifteen cents.

The larger the average trees cut, the less it would cost per market to lop the tops. In lopping tops some lumbermen claim that they take material out which otherwise would be wasted; thus there is a slight reduction of costs from this source. When the tops are lopped it would be somewhat easier to clear the skid gutters and therefore cheaper than when unlopped.

The question of cost is of great importance. Industries can be forced out of business, or the operations be made unprofitable, by imposing too heavy or unnecessary restrictions. The purpose of the framers of this law, and the practical results, all depend upon the single idea of hastening the decay of the slash left in lumbering. This is accomplished by getting the tops and branches so near the ground that they will decay in the shortest possible time. After a careful study of this matter, we feel that if the limbs and branches were all cut off, or severed as far up the tree or out each limb to a point where the diameter of the main trunk or the limb was not more than three inches, the purposes would be accomplished and the cost would be reduced below what has been stated as the minimum price.

Objection 10. That the law was unconstitutional inasmuch as it caused a private individual to spend money for something that accomplished no public benefit. This question of course rests entirely on the fact of increased fire protection through the lopping of tops and the foregoing facts are presented for your consideration in this connection. A large number of prosecutions have been conducted and recovery secured, but this question has not been passed on by the courts.

Objection 11. That the tops could be lopped to a given diameter limit, say three inches, and produce the same result at a decreased cost. This is, for instance, lopping the branches from that part of the main trunk or limb over three inches in diameter, or in the case of cleaning out roads, no small trees under three inches on the stump would be lopped.

There is no doubt that if the law should be modified by such a diameter limit, the ultimate results would be the same as though the whole top were lopped. The larger branches from the lower part of the tree will oftentimes be of a diameter as large or larger than the small pieces of unlopped tops which would be left and should be lopped. They are largely made up of heartwood, which would decay much more slowly than the top of the tree, below three inches, which would be practically all sapwood. When the larger limbs had disappeared, the top would also have disappeared, while at the present time the small part of the top disappears much more quickly than the larger limbs, which have been lopped from the merchantable material.

It would be wise to give the Commission some discretion in the enforcement of the law. In cases of small detached woodlots, it might not in all cases be necessary to require lopping and in other cases it might be wise to permit some latitude as to time of lopping. If the law were modified on this point, we believe that the cause of a large part of the objection to the present law would be removed.

After giving this matter thorough investigation and careful consideration, we have reached the following conclusions:

First. That the top lopping law does very materially increase the fire protection, because the period of danger after lumbering is greatly shortened. It is admitted that if a fire does occur within two or three years after lumbering, the damage will be fully as great, and in some cases worse, when lopped, but this danger exists for a far shorter period.

Second. That the thoroughness with which the lopping is done, has much to do with the future results. If the operator appreciates that proper lopping induces decay and endeavors to get the brush as close to the ground as possible, excellent results will be obtained.

Third. That a limitation may be made beyond which it is not necessary to lop. We believe that if any tree, limb or top has its branches cut off from any part which is over three inches in diameter, the material will be sufficiently near to the ground to induce decay and that lopping below this size is an unnecessary waste of time and money.

Fourth. That on account of bark peeling operations which must be done within a limited time, this Commission should be given power to grant a reasonable extension of time in order that the operators may accomplish their work at the minimum expense. This will not increase the fire danger, because green tops are not inflammable.

Fifth. That section 90 of chapter 444 of the Laws of 1912 should be amended to read as follows:

§ 90. Limbs and branches to be cut off [lopped]. Every person who shall, within any of the towns enumerated in section ninety-seven of this chapter except as hereinafter provided, fell [cut] or cause to be [cut] felled or permit to be [cut] felled any evergreen trees for sale or other purposes shall cut off [or lop] or cause to be cut off [or lopped] from the said trees and the limbs thereof, at the time of felling the said trees or at a time to be fixed by the commission as hereinafter provided, all the limbs or branches thereof up to a point where the trunk or branch has a longest diameter which does not exceed three inches, unless the said tree be [cut] felled for sale and use with the branches thereon or for use with the branches thereon. If the commission shall by resolution determine that no danger to neighboring or other forests will arise if the limbs or branches of trees growing on particular lands to be described in said resolution are not cut off at the time of felling the said trees, the limbs and branches thereof need not be cut off at that time but in that case the same shall be cut off as above required at the time fixed by the commission and such time shall be fixed in said resolution. If the commission shall by resolution determine that no danger to neighboring or other forests will arise if the limbs and branches of trees growing on particular lands to be described in said resolution are not cut off if said trees are felled, then this section shall not apply to the person who shall fell said trees or who shall cause them to be felled or permit them to be felled. Any person violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall, upon conviction, be liable to a fine of not more than twenty-five dollars or to imprisonment for not more than thirty days or to both such fine and imprisonment for each offense and in addition shall be liable to a penalty of two dollars for each and every tree felled and from which he shall fail or neglect to cut off or cause to be cut off the limbs and branches as required by this section.

Respectfully submitted,

New York State Library

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR 1912

To the Regents of the University and the Commissioner of Education of the State of New York:

I have the honor to submit the following report on the work of the New York State Library for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1912. This report also includes that of the Division of Educational Extension, and summarizes the work of the Library School, the full report of which is published separately as Library School Bulletin 32.

This is the second report since the library was destroyed by fire on March 29, 1911. The first was entirely taken up with the definitive account of the fire and the problems and operations which arose directly out of it. It included a statement of losses and salvage, a description of the earliest imperative steps in reorganization, the first necessary records, routines, catalogs, classification etc. which were agreed upon, and an account of how and where the library carried on its work during the six months immediately following its destruction. To this was added a carefully considered statement of the proposed scope of the new library and of the extraordinary appropriations made by the Legislature preliminary to buying new books.

There has been purposely reserved for this second report all account of the unusual acquisitions of books through purchase, gift and exchange, with the many detailed executive matters constantly calling for consideration and decision as these were procured, cared for and made ready for use in the new building, which all through this year draws nearer and nearer to completion and occupancy. Obviously, therefore, in many matters relating to new work of reconstruction this present report deals with the events of eighteen months.

No reading rooms were open during any part of the year covered by the following report nor was it possible to render any save an incidental service to the public. The traveling libraries and the books for the blind were loaned in much the usual way, though under many hindrances due to conditions in unsuitable temporary quarters. As books were bought they were perforce stored (awaiting the repeatedly postponed readiness of the new building) in the five temporary quarters occupied by the Library staff and, as these were filled, in other buildings until, just before moving into its permanent new home, the Library was stored in twelve different buildings in various parts of Albany, while many dealers and other libraries were holding other books until safe storage room should be available. Work in the scattered temporary quarters was of course done at great sacrifice of efficiency. Not only was the staff working in five different buildings, none of which was designed or equipped for library work, but the very lifting, carrying and moving about of books and furniture involved an enormous waste of time and labor. Happily all this is past and for a month the entire Library staff and most of its books have been under one roof and the rest will shortly follow.

So far as the following pages treat of the State Library proper as distinct from the Library School and the Division of Educational Extension, they are a story of Forming a Library on a scale and with a rapidity alike unprecedented. Neither experience nor formal treatise exists to serve as guide. There are manuals in abundance upon the choice of books, didactic, instructive, some of them delightful, but all of them subjective and abstract, or, when concrete, having usually in mind a small collection of books for family or individual use. More pertinent and pretentious still have been such books as Wheatley's How to Form a Library, with a number of others similarly entitled which are described in its introduction, most of which assume a collection of only moderate size, carefully balanced in all subjects.

The testimony of these witnesses is unanimous on this — that Forming a Library is a difficult task.

Richard of Bury, the bookloving Bishop of Durham, who died in 1345, and who owned the then largest library in England, has told (in Philobiblon) of the incredible expense he was at (in both pains and money) to form his famous collection, notwithstanding he was the recognized ecclesiastical favorite and library agent for Edward III and that he made full and vigorous use of the authority which his dignity and favor with the king procured him.

Another royal favorite, exercising to the full his patron's influence, interest and prerogative, is Gabriel Naudé, successively librarian to Richelieu and Mazarin, who furnishes a conspicuous and historic instance of the relatively quick collecting of a library large for the seventeenth century, respectable even today, when the rarity and distinction of its books are noted. In his tract Advis pour dresser une bibliothèque, 1627, one of the most famous of bibliographical essays, Naudé enlarges on the value of accurate catalogs and specially mentions two ways of forming a library, one to buy collections en bloc and another to hunt at bookshops and stalls. In practice, however, Naudé's singular method was to buy books by gross weight or by the yard or cord, not stopping to examine the separate volumes. Before its regrettable dispersal, Naudé's library numbered 40,000 volumes, to form which through purchase, by gifts from other powers to the powerful cardinal and in ways even more insistent and forcible, all Europe was ransacked during a dozen years.

A notable modern attempt to buy what then seemed a rather considerable collection (12,500 volumes) carefully chosen with due regard to balance as well as to the merit of individual titles, was that of Mr Edward Edwards, when in 1851 he founded the Manchester Free Library with such a purchase. Some counsel on the matter doubtless gleaned from his Manchester experience is later set down in his Memoirs of Libraries—counsel with which we hasten to agree. He says "No task is more likely to strip a man of self-conceit than that of having to frame and to carry out in detail a plan for the formation of a large library." He then proceeds to discuss whether the best results are likeliest to flow from vesting all authority in such a work in one man or in a committee.

In the United States and in very recent years there are two examples of rapid library building—one a public collection, the John Crerar Library in Chicago, which has in seventeen years brought together 300,000 carefully chosen books in a field exactly delimited, the other a private collection, that of Henry E. Huntington, who, if press accounts may be trusted, has within still fewer years, by purchase en bloc of such collections as those of E. Dwight Church, Beverly Chew and the Duke of Devonshire, accumulated a library destined to vie with that of Robert Hoe, lately dispersed at auction and then known as the choicest private collection ever made in this country.

The truth of the matter is that the business of forming a public library is wholly dependent upon and, on broad lines, largely determined in advance by the character and functions of the library which it is proposed to form. Even when these, however, are exactly known or fixed upon, but a small part of the problem has been solved. To recognize or determine the character and function of a library, while it gives general definiteness and direction to the business, yet touches only its larger phases, leaving still to be considered all the perplexities incident to the choice of individual titles and the relative stress to be placed upon many subordinate subjects. Even then, it is no more than the selection of the books which has been settled. There still remain their purchase (fraught with its fascinations, romance, incident and fiscal responsibility) and their organization for effective use, a matter which will go far more slowly than the selection and purchase of the same number of books. And back of all the foregoing factors in library forming, conditioning all of them, stands the matter of ways and means. Happily in forming the New York State Library, it has been possible to determine upon the program with reasonable assurance that it need not be modified or restricted for lack of funds, an assurance which initial appropriations of about $600,000 amply confirm.

NEW BUILDING

The State Education Building, which is the home of the New York State Library, is located on Washington avenue, facing the Capitol. It has a length of 590 feet, and the entire building has a depth of about 125 feet. Back of this, 160 feet, extends the stack wing, from a point a little east of the center of the main parallelogram, thus giving the building an extreme depth of 285 feet. In designing the front, the architect secured a striking and very beautiful architectural effect without sacrificing too much light, with a monster colonnade of thirty-six columns, said to rank in dimension and effect with the most notable similar architectural efforts.

The library quarters in the Education Building occupy over five acres of floor space. The first floor of the building is used chiefly for the general offices of the Education Department. On the same floor are the chief administrative workrooms of the Library, that is, the quarters of the order, catalog, manuscripts and shelf sections. The entire wing, comprising seven stack stories, the principal reading room and large marginal rooms for administration, is utilized by the Library.

From the main entrance the public reading rooms are reached by a staircase 25 feet wide, leading directly into the central rotunda, the most striking feature of the building. It is cruciform, like an Italian church. Both the nave and the transept, as they may aptly be termed, are vaulted and at the crossing are crowned with a dome which runs up through three stories. The center of this rotunda forms the architectural center of the building, and from there access is had to the five principal reading rooms, or better stated, perhaps, a group of five special libraries — law, medicine, periodicals, legislative reference and public documents, and to the principal reference room. The latter seems likely to rank as one of the handsomest and most satisfactory reading rooms in the country. One hundred twenty-five by 107 feet and 55 feet high, extending through the second and third floors, it is an adaptation of the reading room of the Bibliothèque Nationale in Paris. The ceiling is composed of eleven domes, supported on slender, ornamental columns, the domes being done in decorated tile, while the side walls are in artificial limestone. Light is obtained on three sides, north, east and west, with the west light modified by the main portion of the building and the Cathedral of All Saints. The Director's offices and the public catalog room are on either side of the entrance to the general reading room.

A study of the plans shows that natural light for book storage has been frankly ignored, being everywhere throughout the building kept for readers and staff, while for book shelves and stack rooms reliance is upon artificial light. Thus, on the second floor, between the law and public documents reading rooms, and between the medical and periodical rooms, the space commonly used for a great central corridor from end to end of the building, has been converted into three-story bookstacks, with a total capacity of 300,000 volumes. The main stack, designed to accommodate about 2,000,000 volumes, is directly under the principal reading room floor and is reached by a battery of five automatic electric elevators running from the reading room to the lowest stack level. Five of the stack floors are the full size of the reading room. At the east and west sides of the two upper stack floors are workrooms 165 feet long by 25 broad. The subordinate reading rooms, except that for periodicals, are divided into alcoves by floor cases, thus giving to each room a considerable book capacity independent of the adjacent stack. The walls of the periodical room are formed by 1800 metal sliding boxes of size convenient to hold the various journals. The lower and heavier of these boxes are on ball bearings.

“BEHIND THE COLONNADE”
Front of building

On the third floor are the Division of Educational Extension (corresponding to the library commission in other states), the library for the blind and the Library School. A special steel stack in room 335 offers accommodations for the 100,000 volumes used for traveling libraries, and another special stack in room 329 is built to the dimensions of the large books in raised type for blind readers.

The Library School is amply accommodated on the same floor by a suite of six rooms (two lecture rooms, the principal study room, a typewriter room, a reading room and an office for the vice director). The study room (148 by 27 feet) is fitted with 71 desks for students, enough to accommodate both regular and summer schools at the same time, with wall shelving sufficient for 10,000 volumes.

The basement contains the bindery, packing and unpacking rooms, janitor's quarters, rooms for storage (including a large safety vault) and the auditorium, which has a seating capacity of about 900.

The architects were Palmer, Hornbostel & Jones, of New York. A separate pamphlet giving a general description of the Education Building is available for free distribution. No better reproduction of the plans of the different floors exists than the small figures in the Library Journal, November 1913.

STATE LIBRARY

ORDER SECTION

Growth of the Library. The number of volumes in the Library October 1, 1912, including much material not yet handled and excluding the duplicate collection, is estimated at 250,000. It is impossible to give accurate figures. Outside of the record of gifts noted below, the only guide is the accession book, which is no guide whatever to the collections in government documents and law, since the law library has been only partly accessioned, the documents not at all. The general collection also has on hand many unaccessioned purchases, including between 100 and 150 cases of material, which for lack of space have not yet been opened. Adopting the count of accessioned books at the close of the fiscal year September 30, 1912, the growth of the Library during 1911-12, is as follows:

	TOTAL VOLUMES ACCESSIONED		VOLUMES ACCESSIONED IN 1912
	SEPT. 30, 1911	SEPT. 30, 1912
General library.....	21 124	62 343	41 219

Traveling libraries.....	7 500	44 375	36 875
Total.....	29 663	109 036	79 373

The following table shows the number of bound and accessioned volumes received in the general library from different sources from March 29, 1911 through September 30, 1912:

Purchases. During the 18 months ending September 30, 1912, the following funds have been available for buying books:

Balance of current book appropriations in the regular State Library budget for 1910-11, left available April 1, 1911.....	$17 156 68

In spending so much money in the face of needs so great, the temptation naturally is to be led into high prices, ill-considered purchases and hasty buying. It is confidently believed that all these pitfalls have been avoided. This does not mean that no one can today buy any of the books bought for the State Library in the past 18 months at a price lower than it has paid. But it does mean that our book-buying has been carefully planned in advance. The subjects to be incorporated in the new State Library have been definitely determined; and this program has been rigidly adhered to, even to the point of rejecting books offered as gifts to the Library, refusing to consider books in subjects not within our field offered at very low prices, and in some cases even throwing out of the Library books which were saved from the fire but which no longer come within its scope. A library may be made notable as well by the books it rejects as by those it includes in its collections. It is the purpose of the State Library to give renown to its collections in any field which it enters, but to be very careful what these fields are.

It is believed that all purchases have been at right prices. Our letter files are full of offers rejected, of negotiations looking toward better prices, of opportunities lost because prices seemed too high. It is believed, too, that advantage has been taken of the exceptional conditions under which the Library has been built up anew. Purchases of unusual extent and amount have secured correspondingly unusual opportunities. Special discounts have been secured for all exceptional purchases. Many thousands of volumes have been bought at public auction, where the fact that there is always a close underbidder carries the assurance of a right price.

The purchase of special collections is a characteristic of our buying made possible by the amount of money at our disposal and made specially desirable by the fact that the chance of duplication was at a minimum. The most important of these collections are herewith noted and others are described under Law library and Medical library. The numbers given are of course approximate.

The Adolf Growoll collection of books and manuscripts relating to book selling, advertising, trade and national bibliography. 1000 titles

This collection was made by Mr Growoll during the years of his connection with the Publishers' Weekly and is particularly rich in limited editions and presentation copies of out-of-the-way books and in such pamphlet material as is usually preserved only by an ardent collector in a very special field.

The William Beer collection of bibliography, including a large number of books on the history of printing, and literary and library history. 2300 volumes

The library of Pierre Émile Levasseur, the French economist and author of The American Workman and Primary Instruction in the United States. 15,000 volumes and pamphlets

Specially strong in works relating to labor and the laboring classes, population, colonies and commercial geography.

The General N. R. Curtis collection on capital punishment, including only material in English. 300 titles

General Curtis, while a member of the New York Legislature, was responsible more than any other one man for the capital punishment legislation now on the statute books of the State. The collection has been considerably supplemented by extensive purchases of additional material on the subject.

The William Beer collection of atlases, maps and charts; specially rich in material on Spanish North America. 300 atlases, 2967 maps and charts

The Edward Eggleston collection on American colonial history and the American Indian, 2500 volumes, being part of the larger historical library of 5300 volumes collected by Mr Eggleston, which was bought by the State Library

Aside from the 2500 volumes noted above, which were the cream of the collection, the library included many books on general history, a number of partial and complete sets of early American periodicals, and many volumes, curious and sometimes rare, relating to the European, particularly to the English, origin of social customs which obtained in the American colonies in early days. These books had been collected by Mr Eggleston on his trips abroad and he seems to have been a constant buyer from secondhand catalogs of European dealers.

A collection of pamphlets on the American Revolution, the nucleus of which is the collection brought together many years ago in England by a gentleman named Vernon

This collection afterwards passed into the hands of Mr George Brinley. At his death it numbered 120 items handsomely bound in 20 volumes, and at the sale of his library was bought by a Philadelphia collector who added to it many pamphlets of the greatest rarity. At the time of its purchase by the State Library it contained 252 items, to which there have since been added about 50 pamphlets. The 300 items now comprising the collection all bear eighteenth century dates, ranging from 1765 to 1790. The majority are English imprints and relate directly and exclusively to the events leading up to the American Revolution, the views held by the English people of that war and statements of the results of the war as they appeared to Britishers after it was over. A large number of the pamphlets seem to be lacking in the leading libraries of this country which specialize in such material.

The nearly total destruction of the Library furnished occasion for some unusual and interesting collective purchases of reference material or of books on subjects to which the Library is to pay particular regard. Practically every obtainable title was bought or ordered which is found in Kroeger's Guide to Reference Books, Selected National Bibliographies (Library School Bulletin 26), A. L. A. Index to General Literature and its supplements in the Annual Literary Index, List of Books in the Reading Room of the John Crerar Library, Cataloguers Reference Books (Bibliography Bulletin 36), Larned's Literature of American History and other lesser lists. Quotations were asked on sets of 500 English and American periodicals, chiefly those indexed in Poole and other indexes, and about 350 complete sets were bought, being practically all at that time in the market. A large purchase of American genealogies was made early in 1912, when about 2000 titles were procured, being almost all such items in stock with the principal dealers in that field. Similar large purchases are noted on following pages under Law library and Medical library.

Auctions. Since the fire the Library has paid much closer attention than before to purchase at auction sales. Except in a few cases this business has been handled through agents resident in the auction centers here and abroad. The results have fully justified the policy of auction buying. Money has been saved and much material acquired which was not readily available in the market. Most of the purchases have been Americana, including valuable files of early American newspapers. Experience indicates that a public library can expect very little from the more spectacular sales like the Hoe sale, which attract private collectors prepared to go to any length to obtain the rarities, which raises prices on all items. As a striking illustration of this, our agent offered us for $175.35, books on which the Library had been an underbidder at the Hoe sale, in which the same books, in no better condition for our purposes, brought $583. Hundreds of books sold at this sale for far more than they can be bought for in Europe with little delay and in good library condition.

Gifts. The building-up process has been materially aided by gifts from all sources, particularly from individuals and other libraries. In the report for the year ending September 30, 1911, a list was printed of the most extensive donors during the first six months after the fire. It very imperfectly expresses our obligations. The length of the list of donors made it impossible to print it in full. A selection could be made only on the basis of the number of volumes given. As such a basis, disregarding as it must both the intrinsic and the money value of the gift, is obviously faulty, it has seemed best to omit the list entirely in this report, as the only way of avoiding an apparent discrimination which does not exist in fact. It should be noted, however, that some of the donors this year would have appeared in the honor roll of those who offered first assistance, except for the accident of delay in opening and handling their shipments. Many of the libraries furnishing material on exchange account have sent in quantities so far beyond our immediate opportunity to make return that the spirit of the offer is almost indistinguishable from the spirit behind a gift.

Since the fire the Library has received by gift and on exchange account:

Bound volumes.....	61 794
Pamphlets	113 811
Maps, charts, photographs, manuscripts etc.....	4 027
Miscellaneous items, including blanks, forms, notes and samples	37 496
Total	217 128

To these should be added the uncounted contents of 170 cases of books, and 60 bundles and boxes of manuscripts.

Among the more noteworthy gifts have been a set of the publications of the British Museum, procured through Chancellor Whitelaw Reid; a nearly complete file of the Congressional set of United States documents from the 14th Congress, consisting of about 6000 volumes presented by the United States government through the Superintendent of Documents; a practically complete set of the Publishers' Weekly, from the library of Frederick Leypoldt, presented by Mrs Leypoldt; long files of New York and other newspapers from the New York Society Library; files of Glens Falls newspapers covering the period between 1859 and 1909, together with the New York World and the Albany Atlas and Argus of the Civil War period, presented by Mr H. McKie Wing as a memorial to his father, Judge Halsey R. Wing, who collected them; and a gift of Shaker literature which is particularly interesting. The suggestion that the various families of Shakers unite to build up in the New York State Library a strong Shaker collection came from J. P. McLean of Franklin, Ohio. The careful overhauling of the libraries in the various Shaker settlements, done almost entirely by Eldress Catharine Allen, to whose interest we owe the excellent result, brought to the Library a collection numbering at present: 73 bound volumes, 421 pamphlets, 56 broadsides and 133 manuscripts, printed by or directly relating to the Shakers.

Another gift which is specially deserving of mention is that of the Statutes of the Realm, published from original records and authentic manuscripts, printed by order of Parliament, containing the statutes from Henry III to the end of the reign of Anne, preceded by a complete series of the Charters of the Forest from 1 Henry I to 29 Edward I, with appendixes of facsimiles of ancient charters and records, London 1810-28, 11 volumes, folio.

These volumes were secured for the Library through the interest and influence of the late Whitelaw Reid, then Chancellor of The University of the State of New York and Ambassador at the Court of St James. The set is bound in red morocco, handsomely tooled. On the outside of the cover of each volume is the British coat of arms, followed by the words "Presented to the New York State Library at Albany by His Britannic Majesty's Government."

Duplicate exchange. The State Library's experience in exchanging duplicates with other libraries was a noteworthy revelation of the value of a regularly organized duplicate exchange system. For this reason is included here a statement of what was done and what was found.

Soon after the fire, sister libraries and learned institutions began to offer very practical assistance, largely in the form of sets of their own publications to replace those destroyed in the fire, but sometimes the suggestion was made that among their miscellaneous duplicates might be found other material of value.

A preliminary examination and listing of our own duplicate collection revealed extensive holdings of New York State documents and reports, considerable holdings of reports of other states and cities, and many incomplete files of important periodicals and society publications. It was then decided to take advantage of offers of other libraries and to complete as far as possible these broken sets, incidentally acquiring by exchange or purchase such valuable miscellaneous material in our special fields as might be available.

In connection with a visit to Chicago to examine a collection for sale, a canvass was made of the chief libraries of that city. The very hearty cooperation on the part of the John Crerar Library, the Chicago Public Library, the Newberry Library, the University of Chicago Library and the Ryerson Public Library of Grand Rapids, and the number and importance of the books thus obtained, resulted in the determination to continue the work in other directions. A library canvass of Boston and vicinity proved even more productive, in returns from the Boston Public Library, Harvard University, the New England Historic and Genealogical Society, the Massachusetts State Library, Essex Institute, American Antiquarian Society, Providence Public Library, Rhode Island State Library, and others.

A visit to Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Annapolis, Richmond and Princeton was the last undertaken and was equally successful. The Library of Congress and the various departmental libraries of the United States government, the Enoch Pratt Free Library, Johns Hopkins University Library, Peabody Institute, Free Library of Philadelphia, University of Pennsylvania, College of Physicians and Surgeons, American Philosophical Society, Franklin Institute, United States Naval Academy, Virginia State Library, Maryland State Library, Maryland Historical Society, Princeton University, and others gave very practical help. To all of these and to many other libraries thanks are due.

The results of such a canvass can not be measured in volumes received, nor even in the fine quality of sympathy everywhere shown, but the way is pointed out for a new and little developed field of library cooperation. The plan opens up a method of acquiring certain classes of books not obtainable through the organized book trade. It shows the possibility of obtaining rare and out-of-print books at one-half to one-third the trade and auction prices. The field of documents, national, state and city, is specially important to a state library. They are not carried in the trade to any extent and where carried are sold only at prohibitive prices. Only a systematized nation-wide exchange service between the state, city and reference libraries, and a personal canvass of government departments and bureaus will result in even approximately complete files. Documents are generally exchanged on a basis of volume for volume, although no close balance sheet is necessary or desirable.

On exchange account come usually periodicals, directories, pamphlets, society publications, and the more common miscellaneous books.

Rare and out-of-print books, maps, atlases and engravings present some difficulty. When exchanged, the principle of the priced exchange generally rules. Each library lists such books at a fair auction or secondhand price and liberal time is allotted for payment in kind. Cash purchase presents greater variation in valuation. Many libraries expect to get the same secondhand or auction price, some libraries make a standing offer of duplicates at one-half their cost, but the tendency is toward a standard interlibrary cash price which shall approximate the buying price of the large secondhand dealer. This buying price is about one-third of his selling price. If such a standard price can become general, a very rich field of material will be available to libraries. The common method of disposing of library books by auction (generally) to private collectors will be largely superseded. This is a consummation devoutly to be desired. Fair interlibrary prices and an equitable basis of exchange are details which may easily be settled. The important point sharply emphasized by exchange relations on a large scale with dozens of libraries, great and small, is that the personal visit and examination is immensely more successful and satisfactory than examining printed or written lists of duplicates on cards or sheets. Many libraries have thousands of duplicates which have never been listed at all.

Duplicate collection. Most of our large duplicate collection was fortunately housed out of reach of the fire. The sorting, checking and listing of this material was the first step taken after the salvage work and required several months. It is impossible to estimate even approximately the number of volumes now in the Library, which came from this source, since no statistics were kept. The material consisted mainly of law, public documents (particularly New York State) and periodicals. The number of miscellaneous volumes, "separates," which came from the duplicate collection is indicated roughly in the table on page 12. They were, as is evident, much in the minority. There is already the nucleus of a new duplicate collection, made up of the remains of the old, with the addition of much which has been received through gift or through the purchase of collections. There is no immediate prospect of getting the new collection into shape for use; at present the bulk of it is packed and stored. It is intended, however, to make it available at the first possible moment, to the libraries to which we are indebted.

Exchange list. The exchange list has proved, of all the records destroyed, the most difficult to replace. With one exception, every clue except memory to the names on the mailing list was lost, this one exception consisting of addressed envelopes which had been sent to the mailing room for a regular shipment of New York State Museum bulletins and were beyond reach of the fire. The greater number of our American exchanges came to notice through the receipt of their publications. As fast as new names were discovered circulars were sent out requesting a statement of publications which they wished to receive in future. Almost no attempt has yet been made to restore foreign exchanges to the list. Through the kindness of the Smithsonian Institution a record has been furnished of all institutions to which they have forwarded our publications in the past, but it has seemed advisable to proceed with the work slowly, questioning more closely than before the value in any given case of the exchange to both parties. The investigation necessitated by this decision has up to this time been impossible from pressure of other work. The comparison between the number of names on the list on September 30, 1909, and on September 30, 1912, will show how defective the mailing list still remains, including now but 1112 institutions (of which all but 94 are in the United States) as against 2398 in 1909.

Serials and annuals. Under the term "serials" are included all annuals, biennials etc. received regularly through purchase, the term "annuals" being thus limited to annuals and less frequent publications received by gift or exchange. Neither serials list nor annuals list has been fully restored since the fire. Many titles have been purposely removed, failing to come within our special field. Only a very few new titles have been added. On the serials list there are now 3309 titles, as against an estimated 3500 in 1909 (the latest year before the fire of which there is record). Of these 3309, 618 are documents, and of the remainder, 1491 are purchases and 1200 gifts or exchanges. On the annuals list there are about 8200 titles, of which about 5000 are educational. In 1909 there were on this list 14,963 titles.

Binding. After the fire, a new contract was entered into with the firm which for some years has done the Library's binding, to meet the altered conditions. The scale of prices was so revised as to make a general 10 per cent increase, to allow the firm to pay for rent, heat, light and power, which had previously been supplied by the Library. Temporary quarters were found promptly, so that the work of binding went on without delay. The output of the 18 months just ended has been above the average, the chief items being the salvaged books, all of which required rebinding, and periodical sets which reached the Library unbound. No call numbers have been gilded during this period.

The following comparative table indicates briefly the character of the binding since the fire. The figures for 1909, taken from the annual report of that year, are used for the comparison because 1909 is the last year previous to the fire for which statistics are available.

MATERIAL	NUMBER OF VOLUMES		COST
	1909	1912	1909	1912
Half morocco.....	1 686	2 619	$1 881 87	$3 070 24
Buckram.....		5 271		5 020 57
Cloth.....	3 153	3 246	1 505 28	1 704 48
Half duck.....	2 006	1 801	2 129 43	1 793 ..
Half American russia.....	712		583 53
Total.....	7 557	12 937	$6 100 11	$11 588 29

The increase in the average cost per volume from 80 cents in 1909 to 89 cents in 1912 is due to the 10 per cent increase in price already noted, and to the larger percentage of expensive binding. Cloth, the cheapest style in the schedule, in 1909 represented 42 per cent of the total number of volumes bound, and in 1912, only 25 per cent. The policy regarding cloth-bound books remained practically the same, so that the difference is due entirely to the abnormal number of periodicals and reference books bound during the latter period.

The average cost per volume would have been greater but for the substitution of buckram for leather, which was begun during the year 1910. It has superseded entirely the American russia formerly used for law books. Its use was, previous to the fire, practically confined to law books and to periodicals which required a heavier binding than cloth, but which were too little used or of too little importance to justify leather. The material adopted was the regular "legal buckram," manufactured by the Bancroft Company and at that time in use by the United States government. The great drawback, which prevented our using it as widely as might have been wished, was its light color, which caused it to soil easily. After the fire experiments were made with the Bancroft colored buckram, which was available in dark blue, green and brown, and being found satisfactory the use of buckram was extended to most periodicals and to many of the more bulky books. The buckram books have muslin-lined spring backs, cloth joints and covers laced on. It seems sure that money has been saved by the change from morocco and that, too, for a binding the wearing qualities of which are much greater. Neither assertion can, however, be proved at present, as the experiment has been altogether too brief and has been made under abnormal conditions.

The total spent on binding during 1912 is $13,226.74, being $1638.45 in addition to the total of $11,588.29 given in the table above, for rebacking, resewing, extra work, work for other divisions of the Department, etc. and for the binding of books in embossed type for the library for the blind. The total spent for binding since the fire is $18,618.21. During these 18 months there have been bound 659 volumes of books for the blind, at a total cost of $738.02.

CATALOG SECTION

Cataloging staff. From the foregoing pages a slight idea can be had of the magnitude of the work of reconstruction which has been under way for 18 months. Before the books in these new collections can be as thoroughly available as the contents of the old Library, they must all be classified, cataloged, marked for the shelves, and thousands of volumes bound. These processes are the work of years. To catalog and classify books properly requires at a safe estimate ten times as many people as it requires to buy the same books. This means that the State Library must be in arrears with its cataloging and classification for years. This in turn cripples the efficiency of its public service. The condition can be remedied to a certain extent by additional help, but probably no number of new assistants that the Legislature will be willing to give to the Library will be sufficient to avert these heavy arrears of work. The Library should have at least twenty-five more assistants than before the fire, and even with this number can make but relatively slow progress in the organization of its new collections.

The cataloging staff, which is practically the same in number as before the fire, can do only about the same amount of work as then; that is, can put into the catalog as finished work only the equivalent of the ordinary current additions, diminished by the large amount of work which must be done in the way of temporary cataloging to make quickly available the large number of books acquired in rebuilding the Library. Of the 62,343 books accessioned up to September 30, 1912, only 18,292 have been finally and fully cataloged.

Public catalog. The new public catalog for the use of readers will be placed in a special room adjoining the general reading room. There are provided about 2000 catalog trays on three sides of the room.

Cataloging rules. The new catalog is planned as a dictionary catalog. As far as possible the Library of Congress printed cards are used. The Library of Congress form of personal name entries is almost universally adopted and the catalog rules issued by the American Library Association and the British Association are generally followed. The prominent exception to this plan is in the case of government documents of the English speaking countries, where the inverted form used by the Superintendent of Documents for the United States publications, is preferred, and similar forms are used for state and municipal publications and for British and colonial documents.

The Library of Congress subject headings are also taken as the basis of the subject part of the catalog, but in this case a wider latitude of variation is allowed to adapt them to the special needs of the State Library. The presumption is, however, that the Library of Congress heading will be followed unless there seems to be good reason for change. This part of the work is in special charge of Miss Katharine Dame, who has had ten years' experience in the catalog department of the Cornell University Library.

While the general plan of the public catalog is outlined in the previous report, the practical realization of it finds that now and probably for several years to come temporary cataloging overshadows the permanent, and in order to make available to the reference staff and to the readers using the Library the material which has been accumulated, as soon as possible after it is received, most of the new books are roughly classed to three or four figures of the classification and a simple temporary author card is made. This can be done very quickly and the books are sent to the shelves and arranged alphabetically by authors under their broad classification and the cards are filed in the public catalog.

As the cataloging staff is now organized it is intended to make this temporary cataloging the first work; that is, new books as fast as received from the order section are thus treated and sent directly to the shelves. The books classed in history, 930-990, are kept out for fuller and final treatment, and when there is a lull in the general stream of new books this fuller work is taken in hand.

Printed cards. The first Library of Congress cards ordered for the public catalog after the fire were received June 10, 1911, and from that date to September 30, 1912, there were received 17,606 sets at an average cost of about 7 cents.

Serial catalog. The serial catalog on the large sheets, 9 by 11½ inches, as described in the 1911 report, is proving very satisfactory, giving ample room to record in regular sequence each volume or the incomplete parts of back volumes which the Library possesses, and to make plain the changes of title, the extent of different series, and the indexes, supplements etc. which may have been issued. Inasmuch as many sets of minor periodicals must be incomplete for years to come, this full information immediately available is specially important.

Newspaper catalog. An official catalog of newspapers is kept on these same sheets, and for the eighteenth century American newspapers the same full entries are made, each number of the paper being entered in order by volume, serial number and date, with notes of all extras, supplements etc. and a record of all mutilations and imperfections. This enables the Library to tell quickly whether it is advisable to buy such lots as occur in auction sales or are offered for purchase.

Temporary lists. Special temporary lists are kept of certain classes of books which lend themselves readily to such treatment. On the regular form of the annuals cards there is kept a list of directories and another of almanacs acquired since the fire, giving in each case a short title, sufficient to identify the series, and the years which the Library now has. There is also on 20 by 25cm sheets a record of nearly 2000 incomplete sets of periodicals which have not yet reached the stage of being fully cataloged in the serial catalog described above.

Alphabetizing. The usual Cutter rules for alphabetizing are generally followed, with some slight modifications. A more important variation is made in the case of place names and their subdivisions, where a scheme is being tried of arranging all the material in one alphabet with no attempt at a grouped arrangement except as this may result from the natural form of the heading. It is uncertain whether this will prove satisfactory, but as it is largely a question of rearrangement of the cards without altering the heading, the Library will test the scheme and decide whether it is more satisfactory than the ordinary methods.

Classification. The Decimal classification is followed, with some variations of interpretation and the use of some new numbers. The most important changes are noted below.

Biography is scattered by subject through the whole scheme. Whenever possible, .092 is used as a subdivision of the class number, and in other cases books are grouped by special book number under Z, or for authors having special author numbers, under B.

Genealogy of a local nature; that is, of special state, town, etc. and lists of births, marriages or deaths are classed with local history, as are all local church histories. This is done to bring more nearly into one place the material relating to a special locality.

Medical periodicals and societies, both general and special, are classed in 610.5 and 610.6, making a single alphabet for each of these groups.

Metallurgy is transferred from 669 to 622.9, to bring it into connection with the related subject of mining.

Law subjects. Law subjects which also have a very strong general interest are in a few cases now placed in the general collection.

All books on copyright are classed in the general library. While many, perhaps most, of these books treat of the legal aspect of copyright, the phases of the subject which relate to literary history, to library work, to authors' practice and procedure appear to outweigh the legal side of the question and it seems better to keep all books on any phases of the subject together.

In a similar way the collection of books acquired on capital punishment has a legal interest but the works are more frequently used from a humanitarian and sociological side and as a special collection are more useful in one place and that the general library.

The material on national and state constitutions is necessarily divided, the texts of constitutions, the journals and debates of constitutional conventions being placed in the law library, while those books which are more distinctively constitutional history are included in the general collection.

Although the entire collection of civil trials is kept in the law library, yet the accounts of ecclesiastical trials before church tribunals and of military trials before courts martial are classified with the general library as being more pertinent to religious and military history than to law.

Shelflists. There were 15,926 volumes entered in the new card shelflist during the year, making a total of 18,292 volumes shelf-listed since the fire.

Special collections shelved in the various reading rooms and offices suggested by their names are indicated by a distinctive shelf mark as listed below. Each of these collections, except directories and periodicals, has a duplicate shelflist on cards.

CARD BIBLIOGRAPHIES

Salvaged cards and new bibliographies. The material salvaged from the old public, author catalog consisted of the contents of from 100 to 125 trays, the cards from which are being incorporated in the new universal catalog if they are not duplicates of the Library of Congress or other cards already in this catalog, or if they contain additional information and to that extent increase the usefulness of this very valuable bibliographic tool. About half of the cards saved are thus incorporated.

Of the classed subject catalog about 140 trays were saved, nearly a third from the class 900 (History, Travel and Biography), while 300 (Sociology), 600 (Useful arts) and 800 (Literature) were also largely represented. These have been placed in trays on the west side of the public catalog room, with the exception of 929 (Genealogy) and 974-979 (American local history) kept in the history alcove and 010-029 (Bibliography and Library economy) kept in the Library School room. All the earlier part of this section was lost, and the series of cards begins with 016 (Special subject bibliography).

The collection of bibliographies made during 22 years by students in the Library School, together with a number of small bibliographies prepared at various times, and the cards issued by the Department of Agriculture, were nearly all recovered from the fire in fair condition and now occupy 152 trays on the north side of the public catalog room. To these there will be added each year new bibliographies as they are prepared. In 1911 and 1912 the collection was increased by the following seven Library School graduation bibliographies:

- Adams, Leta E. Dictionary catalog of pictures for schools and small libraries; pt 1, Italian paintings
 Fordice, Frances. Women in trades, professions, industries and labor legislation; a selected list Janvrin, Charles E. Literature relating to the blind

1912

- Allen, Amy. Select bibliography of comparative mythology
 Hill, Grace. Select bibliography of American drama and the stage
 Holmes, Florence I. Bibliography of institutions for children in the United States
 Hooker, David A. Select list of military and naval fiction Universal catalog. The different series of printed cards received by the Library are nearly all waiting till opportunity is given for their arrangement. The press of other more important work necessitates this. The Library is trying to get the Library of Congress cards and the other series belonging in the Universal catalog filed as soon as possible. Immediately after the fire the Library of Congress began to send cards to replace the depository catalog and before September 1, 1912 the entire collection had been received in 1111 packages containing about 450,000 cards, to which must be added the current cards, that is, the 25,419 cards received March 29–September 30, 1911, and the 42,372 received October 1, 1911–September 30, 1912, making about 517,800 Library of Congress cards in the Universal catalog. There have also been received from the John Crerar Library about 70,000 cards and the salvage of the old author catalog will increase the total 125,000 to 150,000 more, making in all nearly 750,000 cards. Cards occupying 780 trays have been alphabeted and are in process of final arrangement.

Concilium Bibliographicum cards. Of the extensive collection of cards received from the Concilium Bibliographicum, which numbered in the last printed report before the fire about 218,500 cards, only a few scattered sections were saved. They were located above the author and subject catalogs in the old reading room and suffered most severely from the fire. The number saved is relatively so small and so broken in series as to make them of little use. The series will be replaced as far as possible. Of the current issues there have been received since the fire about 56,188 cards. These are received in Decimal classification order and as a special bibliography of Anatomy, Physiology and Zoology are probably best retained in this arrangement. Nothing has been done with these as yet and they are in the boxes as received.

A. L. A. periodical cards. The complete collection of A. L. A. periodical cards which the Library had before the fire was housed on the sixth floor over the central work room and with all the material on that floor was completely destroyed. Since March 29, 1911, we have received the current packages no. 268–289, amounting to 4508 titles, 22,540 cards. These are also laid away in the original packages as received. Probably one set will be finally placed in the Universal catalog and the other cards used as an alphabetic subject index, or the cards of such sets as are on the shelves of the Library may be incorporated in the public catalog. The final disposition has not been decided as other work more important must first be done.

Netherlands cards. There have been received from the Royal Library at the Hague, 4785 of these cards. They include both books and periodical articles, and practically make a national bibliography and Poole's index in card form of Dutch periodicals. They are received like the Concilium Bibliographicum series in Decimal classification order and as their use seems to be much more valuable from the subject side, this arrangement will be retained.

SHELF SECTION

The shelf section as such has little to report for the 18 months ending September 30, 1912. During the greater part of the period the two assistants were working at the Catholic Union, sorting periodicals, etc. though part of their time was spent in arranging cataloged books at the Guild House, for the general library collection, the Library School and library for the blind. Books as fast as cataloged were transported in baskets from 162 State street, reference books being shelved in the Library School room and all others in the basement. Before midsummer, even these quarters were crowded, and books were shelved in double rows.

Besides superintending the arrangement at the Guild House, the time of the head of this section was taken up as follows: in superintending the storage of boxed shipments of books, in various store-houses; in drawing up plans for office shelving, special furniture and other equipment for the new building; in collating newspaper volumes; in making guides for the universal and public card catalogs; in watching the interior finish and furnishing of the Education Building, principally for the Library, and partly for the Education Department, supplying schedules for telephone and pushbutton wiring, window shades, locker equipment, etc.

On May 12th the head of the section went to Lake George and in three days packed for shipment to Albany the library of the late Edward Eggleston, consisting of 5300 volumes.

Moving into the Education Building began, for the Library, on August 19, 1912. The entire contents of the Catholic Union came in through a window in room 5, except a small portion which was taken in at Swan street to room 144. The furniture and properties of the Library School and other sections having rooms on the third floor, were hoisted in through a window in room 318, there being no elevator service at that time. All the quarters formerly occupied by the Library, except the Guild House and the storage places, were vacated by September 1st. In all this moving there was but one accident that might have been serious, and that was the fall of two steel filing cases containing the public card catalog, from the third floor level to the street. The cases were wrecked, but the catalog escaped serious injury.

The cataloged books from the Guild House were moved late in September to room 15 in the basement, where they remained until after October 1st.

REFERENCE SECTION

During the period covered by this report the reference section as a working section was unorganized. Its members were engaged at first in salvage work among the ruins of the old Library. Later they were drafted into various sections, but most of them, as a division of the order section, were engaged in receiving, sorting and listing the mass of material comprising the old duplicate collection of the Library, and the large shipments acquired by gift and exchange. The reference librarian spent some time in examining available material in the larger libraries of Greater Boston, Philadelphia, Washington, Chicago and other cities. Descriptions of these various activities are found elsewhere in this report.

MANUSCRIPTS SECTION

Translation of Dutch records. The work of translation of Dutch records, upon which Mr van Laer and his assistant are engaged, was interrupted by the fire, and until November 1, 1911, all of Mr van Laer's time was required in manuscript restoration. From that date, however, the translation of the Dutch records has progressed with reasonable rapidity, greatly hampered on all sides by the lack of an organized reference library for consultation. Four volumes have been transcribed and translated. The translation, however, is not in final form but must be verified, corrected and smoothed out by the exhaustive study of reference books which are not yet available in quantity for use of the editor. Mr van Laer had finished the translation of the first volume, which, with the original, was the only one of the 22 volumes of Dutch records that perished in the fire. There was saved, however, a manuscript translation of the same volume by O'Callaghan, imperfect and unsatisfactory, yet from this, with the editor's recollection of his own recent translation, it seems likely that there can be restored a tolerable translation of this initial volume. Because of the lack of reference books for consultation and because of the intimate connection which exists in subject matter among the first four volumes of the records, it is not planned to print any of these volumes until they are all ready for publication. While many of the volumes were so damaged by fire as to make the work of transcription and translation exceedingly difficult and very slow, yet it is thought that not much important text will be lost. The result, after a term of years, when the work is finished, should be a thoroughly creditable and nearly complete translation of these memorials of the earliest organized government in the State.

Manuscript restoration. Eight or ten people have been continuously engaged in manuscript restoration during most of the year. It seems likely that about three-fourths of such manuscripts as can be mended or are worth mending have been repaired. Some of this work has been done, in the case of very precious and important documents, by the Emery Record Preserving Company of Taunton, Mass., but the greater part has been done by our own employees, originally instructed by William Berwick of the Library of Congress. As this work approaches completion and the most damaged manuscripts are taken up, many of those saved are found to be beyond repair or so unimportant as to be not worth the cost of restoration. After the actual repairing has been done there still remain many months of work in copying certain manuscripts so fragile and faint that they can never be handled again by students; the indexing of the contents of tens of thousands of manuscripts, especially those containing the names of individuals; the development of a new classification for such manuscripts as remain; the preparation of typewritten lists or calendars of manuscripts that are to be bound together; and finally the careful work of sorting and binding according to a systematic plan such manuscripts as lend themselves to this treatment. In working with these manuscripts it has been hard in many cases to decide whether the document in hand merited the expensive treatment necessary to preserve it. In cases of doubt, however, it has been felt that we were working with unique material, that the demands of the student of history are so varied and his approach to the materials of history is from so many different angles that it was best to be on the safe side and interpret liberally our own best judgment as to which documents were worth treatment and permanent preservation.

Additions. The total additions to the manuscripts section from March 29, 1911, though September 30, 1912, were 4705 separate pieces and 69 unsorted bundles and boxes; of these, 751 pieces and 9 unsorted bundles were bought, 22 pieces were given and 3932 pieces and 60 unsorted bundles and boxes were transferred from other departments of the State government. A list of these additions is given in Appendix 3.

The Wendell papers, received from Mrs E. W. Crosby of Albany, form the most important gift of the year. They comprise 11 deeds and leases relating to land in or near Albany, 1696-1771, and a license to Evert Wendell to practise law, 1717.

The above figures relate wholly to new material, acquired by the Library since the fire, and are entirely distinct and apart from the manuscripts saved from the fire and since mended, sorted and restored to such condition that they may be freely consulted. Some day it may be possible to count these—it has been impracticable to do so since the fire—but there are of course many thousands of them as particularly described in the Director's report for 1911, pages 16-31.

MEDICAL LIBRARY

The destruction of the medical library by the Capitol fire was complete. There was no salvage beyond a few badly damaged volumes of periodicals, in no case amounting to complete sets. At the time of the fire the medical library comprised about 20,000 volumes and 12,500 pamphlets, and it also received about 650 serials, that is periodicals, transactions of medical societies or reports of hospitals, schools, or boards of health. In considering the question of restoring the library, two alternatives presented themselves, namely, either at the earliest opportunity to buy outright complete sets of all medical serials claiming a place in the collection, or to acquire by purchase, exchange or gift everything of this kind that could be procured, without regard to completeness, and from these acquisitions to attempt the formation of complete sets, the gaps of which should be filled later in the same way. In rebuilding the law library the former method was adopted without question. There were two reasons for adopting the latter method with the medical library:

1 Every medical library reports that it is used by its patrons as a depository for their old books and periodicals. There seem to be few large personal medical libraries. A physician seldom has a considerable office library. The profession depends chiefly upon public collections. This is less true with lawyers, who are not in the habit of using public libraries to relieve them of their surplus accumulations of reports, statutes, digests etc., because these books which record the precedents upon which legal science and interpretation rest, have an even and continuing value, while it is only the very newest books, and specially the latest journals, which are of interest to the active medical practitioner.

2 Shortly after the fire, and because of it, the New York Academy of Medicine offered to the State Library the duplicates accumulated in its storerooms since the San Francisco earthquake, a total of over 16,000 volumes, for $3500, certainly a price merely nominal. From a very careful listing and examination of these books, combined with the fact that two or three other considerable similar collections had been given to the State Library, and the certainty that thousands of other numbers and volumes of medical periodicals could be had with little effort, it seemed worth while to undertake to rebuild the medical library piecemeal, as it were.

Experience has made it evident that this method has been economical in money but wasteful in time. Some of the money saved has been spent in labor, though it seems clear that the total of money and labor expended has been less than the cost of buying the same library that we now have, on the market at current rates, but there are undoubtedly many more numbers and volumes missing from our present collection than would have been the case had the completest sets possible been purchased from dealers at once.

In the New York Academy of Medicine purchase there were 16,413 volumes (not numbers or pieces). The library of the late Willis Goss Macdonald, received by gift from Mr Sylvester Macdonald of Cobleskill, New York, numbered 1800 volumes, and a gift from Albert Vander Veer about 1900 volumes. These, with dozens of lesser gifts from physicians and other libraries, formed a total of 25,000 to 30,000 volumes which have been sorted, collated, checked, rebound when necessary, and prepared to form a part of the new medical library. The amount of labor in all this will be appreciated only by those who have done such work. It is not yet finished and will not be for many months. The binding of those volumes collated as complete is also in arrears though progressing rapidly.

The library was, on September 30, 1912, receiving currently 286 medical periodicals, of which 67 were in German and 33 in French; the proceedings or reports of more than 200 medical societies; and the reports and bulletins of 52 boards of health: a total of 541 current medical serials.

The medical library was the only section of the State Library which had a reading room and offered any formal public service between the fire and the occupation of the new building. At the instance and expense of the physicians of Albany, a small room in the house occupied by the State Board of Charities, 92 Washington avenue, was secured and fitted up. This room was open during regular hours for consultation and borrowing of the current journals.

LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE SECTION

Reestablishment. In the rebuilding of its special "vertical file" collection of pamphlets, clippings, reference lists, selected state and city bills, laws and ordinances on legislative topics, this section has done a bit of reconstruction very different from that of the general library. This work was little, if at all, one of replacement, since most of the material is not to be had again in separate form, even if any catalog of it remained. The new work was rather to form a new working collection of fresh material on current questions, putting in desirable earlier material as it should come to hand, expanding the field gradually when possible and wise, and relying greatly on card references to material in other parts of the Library as it took shape. Arrangements were made with the order section to turn over to the legislative reference section for examination any available duplicates likely to be of use to it, of which, because of the generous gifts received since the fire, there has naturally been an unusual number. As a result a very good reference collection, closely classified, has already been made on current questions, and a promising beginning in gathering useful material of earlier date. It is estimated that 20,000 items (pamphlets, documents, clippings, extracts from periodicals, etc.) have been prepared for the files, a working collection of about 500 books brought together, and perhaps 1500 card references made to books and articles in other parts of the Library.

This section has, during the early heavy book-buying, undertaken to recommend books on current political and social subjects for the general library.

Annual index to legislation. For over twenty years the State Library has prepared an annual summary and index of the laws of all states. This is the only index of the kind issued in this country, and has come to be a thoroughly standard publication in great request and much relied upon not only by libraries, law schools and college departments of political science, but by lawyers and business houses. The manuscript for the years 1909-10, nearly ready for the printer, was destroyed in the fire. It has not been possible with but two expert statute indexers on the Library staff and without the necessary books, to do this work over again.

The loss of the 1909 and 1910 cards was in some ways harder to repair than the destruction of the cumulated index 1892-1908, which existed in annual instalments in the printed bulletins, while the current cards which were burned bore not only the digests of laws indexed, but also all revisions of classification numbers, headings, cross-references and the other framework of the annual index. Replacement of these requires a careful examination of the whole classification, heading by heading, with such help as can be gained from the latest printed indexes. We were, however, able to obtain from Mr John B. Kaiser (formerly of our staff but then at the Texas State Library) an annotated classification containing notes of most of the changes up to 1910. The work of rebuilding the complete framework is necessarily slow, but when that is once accomplished progress can be much more rapid.

The long session of the New York Legislature in 1911, as well as the lack of session laws, prevented our indexers from getting much start on the general work until the summer of 1912, but then very considerable progress was made in the indexing of 1911 legislation.

This leaves a gap of two years and one which can not be bridged without additional expert assistance. A recommendation will be included in the library budget for 1913-14 looking toward the temporary employment of a competent statute indexer to do this work. Now that our law and legislative reference libraries have been restored, the books necessary to do the work are again available.

Government documents. In the reorganization of the Library following the fire, the collection of government documents, federal, state and municipal, was transferred from the law library where it had always before been attached, to the legislative reference section.

It was thought well to map out a definite program for the collection of such material, briefly as follows: The Library will try to get all federal documents; the collected edition of congressional documents; the departmental editions of the same documents and all others not included in the congressional set.

As the largest state library it must collect all printed documents of all other states, a program which is continued currently by exchange relations through which there is sent to and received from every other state as complete representation of all current documents as it is possible to arrange.

In municipal documents, however, the obligation is less and the field too vast to be attempted without considerable limitations. The Library will try to collect the printed documents of all cities, villages and counties in New York State. For other states, documents issued by cities with more than 25,000 population will be collected whether they appear in collected or departmental form, and in many of the larger cities, perhaps in all that issue a collected edition, the documents will be sought in both forms. This population limit, based upon the latest census figures, will have the effect of enlarging with each census the number of cities for which the Library will collect documents. It may, indeed, in rare cases of decrease of population, leave us with a collection of documents from a city which the latest population figures would omit from our list. It will not be necessary, however, to follow this program slavishly but the Library will conform to it as closely as common sense and our needs shall suggest.

Documents routine. All documents received by the Library from other states in current shipments from other libraries on exchange account, from dealers through purchase, or from other departments of our own State government, will be received by the order section and there counted, entered on the printed receipt record, acknowledged to the donor, marked with the source and date of receipt and sent to the legislative reference section. Only such relatively few items as have been begged for particular use in the legislative reference section will be received in any other way than through the order section.

In the legislative reference section the routine will vary somewhat for federal, state and municipal documents. In the case of federal documents the congressional set will be divided into two parts, those that are serials and those that are complete volumes or documents in themselves. The serials will be grouped into sets and entered upon checklist cards like the samples below. Those that are not serials will be shelved chronologically at the end of the congressional set and the United States serial number will later be marked on the back of each volume.

Following this division and recording, the volumes are plated and stamped with the name of the Library and the section.

Those serials which have been separated from the congressional set and all departmental documents that are permanently shelved in the legislative reference section have shelf marks assigned conforming to the classification scheme in the third edition of the Checklist of United States Public Documents.

State and city documents. The routine with state and city documents is the same as with federal until the volumes have been sorted, recorded, plated and stamped. For their shelf arrangement there is no special classification system. They are arranged on the shelves alphabetically by countries, states, counties and cities in four separate alphabets and under each political subdivision are arranged alphabetically by departments.

The law library, the medical library and the general reading room may at any time transfer from the documents collection in the legislative reference section any set or series to its own shelves, in which case the volumes are classified according to the Decimal classification and fully cataloged by author and subject. The original checklist record, however, still remains in the legislative reference section and succeeding volumes of the same set or series are received there, entered on the checklist and passed on to that section of the Library to which the full set has been transferred.

Through the prompt generosity of the United States Superintendent of Documents, supplemented by unusual opportunities for exchange with correspondent libraries, a set of federal congressional documents (the serial set) has been made up which at this writing lacks only the following volumes of being complete from the fifteenth Congress. The Library will be glad to receive any of these missing volumes from any source:

Similarly from many sources, chiefly through the courteous offers of other state libraries, a considerable, though far from complete, collection of journals and collected documents has been brought together from each of the following states: California,

Colorado (journals only), Connecticut, Delaware (journals only), Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, Montana (journals only), Nebraska, Nevada (journals only), New Hampshire, New Jersey, Oregon (journals only), Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, Wisconsin.

The Library is of course desirous of learning of such material from states not represented on the above list. We shall also welcome any chances to add to its present holdings from all states. A list of our holdings from any state will be forwarded to any library which may have material available that seems likely to supplement our present collections.

Distribution of New York State documents. For many years the State Library has in an informal and at times rather an unsystematic way distributed State publications to libraries and other educational institutions throughout the world, usually in exchange for similar publications. There are numerous scattered statutory provisions relating to such service. Custom and precedent have given form to other parts of this work. The whole matter is one of magnitude and considerable importance. The distribution of such State documents as are of real use and interest to other institutions should be generous without being wasteful, should be systematic and should be handled by the State Library according to law. Other states have arranged this matter by special legislation. The various statutory provisions touching it in New York State should be collected and should serve as the basis for a statute which will secure an economical, sensible, systematic service in this matter. The State Library now distributes most of the State documents that are sent to libraries and other educational and learned institutions. A law should provide that all distribution to such institutions should be centered at the State Library, leaving distribution to individuals in the hands of the members of the Legislature, through their document rooms, or to the several departments of the State government. It ought not to be possible, as it now is, for a library or an individual citizen to secure six or more copies of the same document from as many sources without any of the distributors being aware of the duplication.

The present extent of this work of document distribution is shown by the fact that the State Library now regularly sends New York documents to 699 institutions in the United States, to 325 registered libraries in New York State and to 94 foreign institutions. This list, which has been wholly reconstructed since our similar records were destroyed by fire, is steadily growing and is not yet nearly so large as two years ago. To these 1118 institutions are sent such of the publications of the Education Department as they request and as seem appropriate, session laws, the Senate and Assembly documents and journals, the reports of the Court of Appeals and Appellate Division and many special documents, the distribution of which is assigned to the State Library by special act (like the Messages of the Governors), or of which the State Library requests a quota for distribution and exchange.

Branch of State Library in Capitol. Plans for remodeling the burned part of the third floor of the Capitol provide a considerable library room to be used chiefly by the Senate and Assembly. This room should be ready within the course of the next year. The Assembly library was destroyed in the fire and no worthy collection has yet been secured to replace it. Neither Senate nor Assembly has ever maintained a permanent, competent staff of librarians. If the State is to maintain a considerable collection in the Capitol for the quick use of the Legislature, it seems logical to assume that it should be managed by a staff not subject to the changes incident to political vicissitudes, and that it should be in as competent hands as can be secured. The State Library has for years maintained a legislative reference department. In the new building this department is prepared to be more effective than ever. The State Library is prepared to delegate members of its staff to take charge of the legislative library in the Capitol and to render the same service to members of the Legislature in their own rooms that has for years been rendered to them by the State Library while it was in the Capitol. This is a sort of service which has never been given by those who have been in charge of the Senate and Assembly libraries. The State maintains a great State Library with a competent, permanent staff. It seems only good administration to utilize this staff to manage all State library enterprises in Albany.

LAW LIBRARY

Scope. The fire effected no change in the scope and work of the law library, with the one important exception that the collections of legislative journals and national, state and local documents, formerly shelved in and in charge of the law library, have been transferred to the legislative reference section. It had for some time before the fire been recognized that the comprehensive character of these collections and the peculiar difficulties involved in keeping them to date made it impossible for the regular law library staff to handle this material in an adequate and satisfactory way, and the building of the new library quarters gave opportunity for the desired separation.

The work of the law library, therefore, has been mainly to restore and strengthen the old law collections. It is worth while, however, in this connection to point out that advantage is being taken of the situation to exercise more discrimination than was sometimes shown in the old library in making a more exact and logical division of borderline material between the law library and other parts of the State Library, a matter demanding both careful and continuous attention. In many cases a satisfactory solution of the questions involved can be reached only by active cooperation of the different parts of the State Library which might by any chance be interested in the material. The matter can not safely be left to be passed upon by any one part of the Library, proceeding under general rules of distribution. Some examples in point are noted in the paragraph Law subjects on p. 26.

Special collections. While no attempt will be made in this report to describe in detail the various collections in the new law library, or to make any close comparison between them and the corresponding collections in the old library, it is deemed worth while to make the following brief comment on certain material.

Court reports. Most of the regular sets of American court reports were secured in original editions. The comparatively few reprints in the library were in almost every case gifts and not purchases. While the policy of insisting upon original editions, whenever they could be secured, was thought a foolish one by some law book dealers, the library undoubtedly pursued the right course in this respect. A casual comparison of what reprints are in the library with original editions of other reports is sufficient to demonstrate the marked inferiority of the former. The collection of American court reports in the new library numbers 7297 volumes and is practically complete. It is believed that only three volumes (two of which were published only in parts, and for this reason are extremely rare) are needed to make the collection as complete as formerly.

The collection of Canadian court reports and legal periodicals is understood to be absolutely complete.

The collections of English, Irish and Scotch court reports lack only a few out-of-the-way issues that are seldom referred to.

It will require a very careful checking of these collections to discover gaps. Notwithstanding the practical unimportance of these missing volumes, the intention is to secure them as soon as possible.

Steps have already been taken to restore the very strong collections of British colonial court reports which were in the old library, and gratifying progress has already been made. At this date, however, it is impossible to state definitely how far this material can be secured. By reason of the small number of copies printed of some of these reports and the destruction of large stocks of some of them, it is exceedingly doubtful whether parts of the old collections can ever be secured, and it is feared that many gaps may exist indefinitely.

Statutes. Negotiations for the acquisition of a very large and unusual collection of American statute law have been in progress for some time, but are not yet consummated.

Very good working collections of English, Irish and Scotch statutes were purchased in connection with the court reports, and there is no particular pressure at this time to add greatly to these collections.

The present collection of statute law of the Dominion of Canada and its several provinces is perhaps even more complete than in the old library. It is already an unusual collection for any library to possess.

All systematic efforts to secure collections of the statute law of British colonial possessions outside the Dominion of Canada have been postponed, awaiting the time when the general library can restore to approximate completeness its old exchange list. Soon after this list is prepared, it is proposed to ascertain from the various British colonies what statute law material each is in a position to supply on exchange account. It is believed that enough material can be secured in this way to make it unwise to start to purchase it until all efforts to secure it by exchange have been exhausted.

Bar association reports. The present collection of bar association reports is much more complete than the old. Its nucleus consists of the well-known collection (with the exception of a few items taken out by the Harvard Law School Library) of Francis Rawle, Esq., of Philadelphia, which he spent years in accumulating. Extensive as it is, there are nevertheless gaps, and constant care is taken to perfect it.

Constitutional conventions. A large purchase of journals, debates and proceedings of American constitutional conventions, augmented by a somewhat unusual amount of such material coming by gift and by a few fortunate purchases of rare individual items, resulted in giving the new library at the very outset a collection perhaps even stronger than the very notable collection in the old library.

Among the rarer items in the collection may be mentioned the following:

Alabama. Smith's history and debates of the convention of 1861

Arkansas. Journal and ordinances of the convention of 1861

Iowa. Journals of the 1844 and 1846 conventions

Kansas. Proceedings and debates of the convention of 1859

New Jersey. Journal and ordinances of the convention of January 1776

New York. Journal of the convention of 1788

————— Debates and proceedings of the convention of 1788

Pennsylvania. Minutes of the convention of 1787

Virginia. Register of the proceedings and debates of the convention of 1850-51

Periodicals. The weakest collection in the law library is that of legal periodicals. This weakness is felt probably to an unusual degree because the collection of legal periodicals in the old library was a most notable one, probably not surpassed in completeness by the collection in any other library. Complete sets of legal periodicals rarely come upon the market and it is very greatly feared that this particular collection will long continue weak. Up to this time the policy of buying only complete sets has been strictly adhered to but present offerings of such sets are so slight that it will probably be necessary for the library to buy incomplete sets, as stray volumes come upon the market from time to time, hoping that eventually these purchases of fragmentary material will result in securing at least respectable sets of many legal periodicals, even though to some extent incomplete.

Textbooks. Experience has demonstrated that it is necessary for the law library to have as exhaustive a collection as possible of American textbooks. Counsel arguing cases before the courts of this State, in their effort to make the fullest possible presentation of their cases, are often justified in referring to all discussions known to them of the questions involved in the litigations, whether in good, bad or indifferent textbooks, and in order to trace the development of legal doctrines or to ascertain what the law was at some period in the past, it is often necessary for them to refer to the older treatises as well as to those recently published. It is the duty of the State Library to make available to the judges of our courts all the authorities thus cited in the briefs of counsel, and it is obvious that such of these authorities as are referred to by the judges in their published opinions should be found here. The accuracy of the official series of court reports in this State is much enhanced by the fact that the official State reporters verify these citations and the quotations from them in this library. Furthermore, it is the desire of this library to cooperate with all reputable textbook writers and editors by furnishing them not only a convenient place to work but also by making available to them whatever material they may feel that they need to produce the best results. For the above reasons, among others, it would be impracticable, and indeed, unwise, for the State Library to attempt to exercise, except in a most limited way, any censorship over this class of material.

On the other hand, a very conservative policy will be followed in the purchase of textbooks published in other countries. For the present at least, an attempt will be made to select these with much care and discrimination.

Records and briefs. Before the fire the State Library had none of the records and briefs in the Supreme Court of the United States, save a very few isolated cases. Shortly after the fire it was fortunate enough to secure what purports to be a complete collection (1727 volumes) of the records and briefs in this court from the October 1874 term, the purchase being coupled with an arrangement by which this collection will be kept continually to date. It is believed that this is the last collection of this material of any size likely to come upon the market and it is already recognized as one of the notable collections of the Library.

The most serious loss which the law library suffered in the fire was the complete destruction of the collections of records and briefs in the New York Court of Appeals from the organization of this court in 1847, in the old General Terms and succeeding Appellate Divisions of the Supreme Court from about 1872, and a fragmentary collection of miscellaneous records and briefs in inferior Appellate Courts from about 1890. These collections were used constantly, and their importance was becoming more and more appreciated. At present the law library has available only the records and briefs in the Court of Appeals and Appellate Divisions of the Supreme Court, in cases argued since the fire. This material is now being bound on a different plan than formerly. The old system was to take each shipment of records and briefs as it reached the library and bind the papers alphabetically according to the titles by which the cases are customarily cited. This system required at least one index card for each case. No checking was involved, so that gaps were discovered only by accident. The new system arranges the records and briefs in the same order as the cases to which they relate appear in the printed official reports of decisions, the binder's title giving the necessary reference to the official reports. Under this plan, the checking of the records and briefs is obviously an inevitable and necessary element, and as a result the library has found that it fails to get from the clerks of the different State courts a substantial number of papers in the Appellate Divisions and now and then a paper in the Court of Appeals. As a result, however, of constant correspondence with clerks of courts and attorneys a very large and most gratifying proportion of these missing papers has been secured since the new system was put in force, and this correspondence is being systematized by the use of printed form letters, report blanks, etc. Furthermore the new method renders it entirely unnecessary to make index cards; this, in itself, is almost enough saving in work to justify the change. Experience since the fire has demonstrated conclusively that the new method is a very great improvement over the old.

The Library has, but at present in a nonusable form:

1 An insignificant and almost negligible number of records and briefs in scattering cases in the Court of Appeals. Some are unbound and some bound, but all are in such shape that they will not be available for library purposes until arranged, bound or rebound, and indexed.

2 A very large collection of unbound records and briefs in the Appellate Divisions, which, before the fire, were duplicates of material on the library shelves. The collection consists of material turned over to the library from time to time by the Supreme Court reporter, and being stored outside the library quarters was not destroyed in the fire. It is impossible to state definitely the extent of this material, but probably there are many gaps and it will restore to the library a collection only approximating in completeness that which was lost. Before any of it is available for library purposes an immense amount of work is needed in sorting, arranging, indexing and binding. Considerable thought has already been given to the best way to prosecute this work, and it is the intention to commence as soon as practicable.

The library realizes fully the importance of these collections and intends to use every effort to restore them as far as possible to their former completeness. The only reason why more energetic efforts have not already been made is that there are as yet no library facilities for handling the material if secured.

Session laws. The work of editing the session laws of 1912 was carried on in substantially the same way as in previous years.¹ The most important change was in the manner of publishing names changed under section 34 of the executive law. Prior to 1912 the practice was to print verbatim the certificates of county clerks, giving the names changed in their respective counties. This method involved much repetition (the formal parts of the clerks' certificates being repeated for each county), and also made it necessary to run a long alphabetic list of names under the heading "Names changed by court," in the index. In 1912 the information in the certificates of county clerks was arranged in a tabular statement, resulting in considerable saving of space and doing away with the necessity of indexing this information, as the tabular statement, being alphabetic, indexed itself. Certain improvements were also introduced in the index, among the more important being:

- 1 The doing away with considerable repetition of the same matter under different headings, by the introduction of appropriate cross-references

- 2 Simplifying the indexing of local legislation

- 3 Indexing in a simpler but more logical and systematic way the large number of appropriation items appearing not only in the annual appropriation and supply bills, but also in many other laws.

Careful attention is being given to the introduction of improvements in the session law volumes, but it is not intended to make any changes until experience has demonstrated that they are worth making as a permanent proposition; in other words, we are trying to avoid all experimenting with new features of doubtful value.

Gifts. The law library is greatly indebted to many other libraries and to many individuals throughout the entire country for gifts of very substantial value. Care has been taken to acknowledge the receipt of material coming in this way, in many cases by personal letters expressing the library's appreciation. A record of these gifts is in the library files.

¹See the Annual Report of the Director of the State Library for 1909, p. 37-39, and the Report of the Education Department for 1910, p. 244-45.

Catalog. One of the first matters given consideration after the fire was the kind of catalog to be used in the new library. It was decided to follow the dictionary plan, and the work of cataloging on this basis commenced as soon as books began to be received. The subject headings are based, as far as practicable, on the tentative list of headings and cross-references issued by the Law Library of Congress in 1911, and the Library of Congress cards are used in all cases where obtainable. While the work of cataloging has been prosecuted as energetically as possible, it will be in arrears for a long time.

Classification. There is no standard classification for law libraries. Mainly because of the comparatively small number of volumes in such collections and because most of the material naturally falls into certain rather simple groupings, the need of such highly developed and more or less scientific classifications as are imperatively demanded for at least large general libraries has not yet been felt. The result is that up to the present time each law library has worked out its own problems very largely in its own way.

So far as this library is concerned, there has always been an effort to make the classification as simple as possible. It contains little of any scientific element, but long experience has gone far to prove that in view of the actual conditions here, it is the best for us.

OUTLINE OF LAW CLASSIFICATION

The following tentative outline shows merely the grouping of the books on the shelves. At present no class numbers or shelf marks are used.

1 Court reports, including digests, tables of cases and citation books, grouped as follows:

a American; alphabeted by states

(1) The West Publishing Company system

b English, Irish and Scotch; in one collection, alphabeted by method of citation

c Canadian; first the Dominion, followed by the provinces in alphabetic order

d British colonies and possessions other than Canada

This collection is at present small and the final arrangement has not yet been worked out. It will probably be substantially the same as the grouping of the British colonies and possessions in the Colonial list.

e Series (generally annotated)

(1) Selected cases on all topics

(2) Selected cases on certain topics

- 2 Collections of records and briefs in the following courts:
 - a United States Supreme Court
 - b New York Court of Appeals
 - c New York Supreme Court, Appellate Divisions
 - d Inferior New York appellate courts

3 Statute law

This falls into the same groups as are given above under 1, for the court reports, except that for this country, simply for the sake of convenience, the latest compilation or revision and succeeding session laws for each state are shelved together as a separate collection.

- 4 City charters and ordinances, alphabeted by cities
- 5 Journals, debates, addresses etc. of constitutional conventions, including the constitutions proposed by them
- 6 Legal periodicals, alphabeted by title
- 7 Publications of legal societies
- 8 Trials
- 9 General collection

The bulk of this collection consists of textbooks, cyclopedias, dictionaries and, in general, works not falling definitely into 1 to 8 above. As the great majority of the books are textbooks, this collection is in most libraries called simply the "Textbook collection." We have adopted the broader term "General collection," because we shall probably always shelve here certain books which can not with entire accuracy be called textbooks. Books which do not fall clearly into one of the preceding classes are arranged in this collection alphabetically by author or editor or, in rare cases, by title, no subject classification being attempted. It is expected that from time to time certain books will be taken out and a separate classification established. For example, there is at present no separate collection of legal biography or of international law. These books now simply form a part of the "General collection." One separation of this character has already been made and a collection created, which, for lack of a better name, is called "The literature of the law," given below as Class 10. The present selection of books for this collection is very tentative.

10 "The literature of the law"

Really a part of class 9, but made into a separate collection as noted above.

The term was used by the Hon. John V. L. Pruyn in naming the collection which by the provisions of his wife's will passed into the possession of the State Library in May 1910 (see the Report of the Education Department for 1910, pages 241-42), and perhaps was originated by him. In Mr Pruyn's words, the collection consisted "chiefly of books closely connected with the profession, such as legal history and biography, special treatises, important trials, journals of travel, essays on legal subjects and other works written by distinguished lawyers and the like." The collection was completely destroyed in the fire, but the Library intends to restore it as far as practicable. While its scope may be somewhat modified, the phrase "the literature of the law" is a happy one to designate such a collection of rare, scholarly and interesting law books as (to use the words of the Commissioner of Education in the report referred to above) "a lawyer deeply read and interested in the history of his profession, who had money to spend, time to wait for many of the titles, and . . . expert help in buying" would naturally desire to bring together. In part, the purpose of this collection will be to afford recreation to the scholarly lawyer.

BOOK SELECTION SECTION

Scope. The work of the book selection section is to know and evaluate books, especially those likely to be useful to public libraries in New York State. This is accomplished through personal reading and examination of all current books which seem to challenge it, by securing opinions on them from other members of the staff and from persons not connected with the State Library and by systematically examining publishers' announcements, bulletins of other libraries, the Publishers' Weekly, A. L. A. Booklist, Book Review Digest and the best book reviews.

The section serves the State Library and the libraries and citizens of the State, in book selection, in the following ways:

1 By compiling and publishing annually the Best Books bulletin, a selected and annotated list of 250 of the books of each year, designed to aid the public libraries of the State in book selection. The work on this bulletin involves:

a The weekly checking and mounting on standard catalog cards of promising entries from the Publishers' Weekly.

b Examining these Publishers' Weekly mounted slips at the end of the calendar year and rejecting all titles found worthless or inappropriate to recommend to small libraries. The rejected slips are, of course, kept and added to the file of book notes described below, for information as to books that are for any reason unsuitable is often quite as useful as favorable comment.

c Sending to the publishers for all books not yet seen, which are apparently suitable for the purpose.

d Reading or examining several thousand books in connection with the book reviews.

e Sending tentative lists on the various subjects to specialists and librarians for their votes and judgment on the books of the year best suited to the small library.

f The writing of 250 special annotations.

2 By passing as promptly as possible on books which have been purchased by the 400 registered libraries in the State, which share in the allotment of public money and which submit lists of purchases to the State Library for approval.

3 By calling attention, in the quarterly issues of New York Libraries, to recent books worth buying.

4 By furnishing titles or lists of the best books on any subject in reply to requests by mail.

5 By selecting each year several new fixed groups of traveling libraries for the use of the Educational Extension Division, writing notes for the finding lists and serving this Division in other ways.

6 By sending each month to the A. L. A. Booklist opinions on new books, to be used in the preparation of that bulletin, the substance of these notes being used later in the year in the work on Best Books.

7 By carrying on the course in selection of books, in the State Library School.

8 By examining subscription books, either single volumes or sets. Such books are not to be had through the trade and the usual sources of information regarding them are lacking. The book selection section keeps on file publishers' circulars, correspondence and notes of careful personal examination of all such books as come to its notice or its shelves. This information is freely available in any part of the State, from which requests are received relating to this class of books so much exploited by traveling book agents.

Book notes and Index to book reviews. The section maintains the following bibliographic apparatus for use in its own work and for consultation by any other section of the State Library:

1 A permanent card file of book notes, which includes original notes on books written by members of the section and prepared in compact form for quick reference, trustworthy printed notes from bibliographies or library bulletins or any notes which can be secured from readers whose judgment is valued. These notes now number about 50,000, a collection entirely built up since the fire. In this file are now included all titles and notes in the A. L. A. Catalog, 1904; A. L. A. Booklist, v.1-date; Baker's History in Fiction, 2v.; New York State Library's Best Books, 1897-1911; Book Review Digest, 1905, 1908-10; Kroege's Guide to the Study and Use of Reference Books, and Supplement; the Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh's Monthly Bulletins, 1911 and five months of 1912; Pratt Institute Free Library's List of Technical Books, 1908-11; miscellaneous Publishers' Weekly notes; bibliographies from Massachusetts Agricultural College; and two New York State traveling library finding lists. About 400 printed card annotations of English and American history by W. Dawson Johnston and P. P. Wells have been added, as well as other useful material from scattered sources. This material is valuable in book estimating and preparation of lists and is for the use of the State Library, Division of Educational Extension, the public and school libraries of the State and individual inquirers.

2 An index to eleven current book reviews kept on small cards in an alphabetic file in order to secure criticism of the new books at the earliest moment. These periodicals are the Academy, Athenaeum, Atlantic Monthly, Bookman, Dial, Dublin Review, Life, Nation, Outlook (English), Saturday Review and Spectator.

LIBRARY FOR THE BLIND

Growth. On September 30, 1912, the library for the blind consisted of 2318 volumes, printed in five different types as follows:

TYPES	LITERATURE	MUSIC
New York point.....	1 006	535
American Braille.....	380
Line letter.....	251
Moon.....	122
English Braille.....	24
Total	1 783	535

Publications. The eight titles printed in New York point in 1912 by the library, are listed below with prices at which surplus copies are sold to other libraries:

AUTHOR	TITLE	PRICE
Burnett.....	The secret garden. 2v. (Gift of Miss Nina Rhoades).....	$7
Crothers.....	Among friends. 2v.....	5
Deland.....	Awakening of Helena Richie. 3v.....	9
.....	The Iron Woman. 4v.....	14
Greenslet.....	Thomas Bailey Aldrich. 2v.....	6
Harrison.....	Queed. 4v.....	13
Stevenson, R. L.....	Selections. 2v.....	6
	Malone cook book.....	3

The Legislature now appropriates $2000 yearly for printing and buying books for the blind. Most of this sum is used to pay for the plates, printing and binding of eight or ten new titles annually. The work is done by the American Printing House at Louisville and the plates, which belong to the New York State Library, are stored there and used to print future sale copies if called for. The Library pays for a first edition of 15 copies, two of which it circulates; the others are sold at less than half the first cost and from the sales, which are credited to its account with the American Printing House, it is possible to print several extra titles each year. It is our opinion, after some years of experience, that we could not hope to sell very many of these books at much higher prices than we set upon them.

Miss Nina Rhoades, as has been her custom, provided for the printing of one of the new publications, Mrs Burnett's "The Secret Garden," as noted above.

Gifts in embossed types. The Xavier Free Publication Society for the Blind continued its generous gifts to the library, and 17 volumes were sent during the year. Mr William Wade of Oakmont, Pa. ordered copies made of many of the English Braille books which had been lost in the fire, and Miss Marie Kurtz, one of the readers of the library, copied by hand and sent to the library several pieces of music. The following serials in embossed type were regularly received, eight of them being gifts:

New York point

Catholic Transcript for the Blind, monthly. (Gift)
 Christian Record, monthly (two copies). (Gift)
 Lux Vera, bi-weekly
 Matilda Ziegler Magazine for the Blind, monthly. (Gift)
 Milwaukee Weekly Review (six copies). (Three copies gifts)

American Braille

Church Items, monthly except August. (Gift)
 Matilda Ziegler Magazine for the Blind, monthly. (Gift)

English Braille

Hora Jucunda, monthly. (Gift)
 Progress, monthly. (Gift)

Moon

Moon Magazine for the Blind, monthly

Circulation. The magazines had a circulation of 1647 for the year. The circulation of books, music and magazines in each of the five types was as follows: New York point, 4414; American Braille, 513; Line letter, 39; Moon, 211; English Braille, 140; a total of 5317 for the year. The library was moved the last of August 1912 to the large room designed for its use on the third floor of the new Education Building, and the first books and magazines were sent out from there September 4, 1912.

LIBRARY SCHOOL

The 26th annual report for the school year 1911-12, which appears as supplement 4 in the definitive clothbound edition of the State Library report and in which a detailed account of the work of the school will be found, records an attendance of 43 students, 32 juniors and 11 seniors. Instruction was also given to 6 members of the Library staff. Several other staff members would have taken school work had the staff and school not been scattered in different parts of the city. Staff members are encouraged to take work in the Library School, as it increases their efficiency. The degree of bachelor of library science was conferred on 6 graduates, and the degree of master of library science on 1. More than 90 positions of various kinds were filled during the year and the total number is now over 2000. There were no radical changes in the course of study. The rapidity with which a working collection of books was reestablished and comfortable temporary quarters and equipment provided in the Guild House of All Saints' Cathedral, made it possible to maintain a high standard in the school work, with relatively little difficulty.

Service to the State. Since The University of the State of New York began to train librarians, in 1889, in the State Library School, the example has been followed by Illinois and Wisconsin, each of which now maintains a permanent school attached to its state university, while in Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota and New Jersey, as well as in New York, a summer library school of six weeks has been maintained for some years at state expense, especially to provide a modicum of training for those library workers who have been prevented from spending one or two years in professional preparation.

The New York State Library School renders direct service to the State in the following ways:

1 By providing properly qualified help for the State Library.

For years about one-third of the staff has been recruited from the students in the Library School. The State Library could never have done the volume or grade of work which it has accomplished in the past twenty-five years but for this ever present body of carefully chosen and thoroughly trained people, although State Library salaries have uniformly been too low compared with salaries in public libraries throughout New York State and the country to permit us to use Library School students as often or to keep them as long as we should have liked, as against more lucrative professional opportunities elsewhere.

The services of the students are often available without pay for work which furnishes admirable practice experience for them, in service in the reading rooms, in the preparation of reference lists, in making up study club programs and selecting traveling libraries, in cataloging libraries in different parts of the State; and in many other ways the State Library has profited greatly by the presence of an earnest student body educated for library work.

2 By providing trained librarians for the 500 registered libraries in New York State.

There are over 500 free public libraries registered as component educational institutions of The University of the State of New York. There are nearly 1000 high schools in the University, more and more of which are each year giving extra attention to their libraries. There are over 100 colleges, some of them with small and indifferently administered libraries, and all needing trained people as much as in the other departments of instruction. The State Library is charged and deeply concerned with maintaining the highest efficiency of all of these libraries. The best way to do this is to train competent librarians to administer them. The State may as properly train its librarians for its tax-supported libraries as teachers for its schools. The State Library School is thus a normal school for educating librarians, which for twenty-five years has been maintained at the State Library. In this time over 300 of its students have been employed in public libraries, over 100 in college libraries, and about 25 in high school libraries in New York State. No educational enterprise of even remotely comparable influence in its field has ever been conducted by the State of New York at so relatively insignificant a cost. The Albany Library School, as it is known throughout the country, has in its own work represented the pioneer ideas and ideals and enjoyed the same sort of reputation once held by the Oswego Normal School. The appropriation for support of the Library School has never been more than $6400 a year, and the school has always returned to the State treasury in tuition fees more than half of its appropriations; last year indeed these fees were $3600.

3 By training clerks in indexing, cataloging, filing systems, alphabetizing etc. for service in other State departments.

Any member of the State Library staff may take work in the Library School and dozens of clerks thus instructed have been transferred to other State offices and institutions in Albany and in other parts of the State.

4 By attracting to New York State some of the strongest men and women now in library work.

The reputation of the school is national, indeed international. This has had the effect of attracting applications for admission from nearly every state in the Union, and this without affecting its ability to take care of all properly qualified applicants from New York State, who are allowed substantial deduction in tuition fees. These students from other states in many cases remain in New York State for permanent work. Among such at the present time are the librarians of the public libraries in New York City and Rochester, the assistant librarian of the Brooklyn Public Library, and many others on the staff of important college and public libraries in different parts of the State.

EDUCATIONAL EXTENSION DIVISION

PREPARED BY W. R. EASTMAN, CHIEF OF THE DIVISION

Charters, registry and transfers. During the year 37 library charters were granted. Twelve of these were provisional for five years and 24 absolute charters were given to libraries previously acting under provisional charters. The gain of chartered libraries for the year was 13.

Four library charters were amended, 2 to provide for changes in the manner of choosing trustees, 1 to increase the number of trustees and 1 to increase the powers of the library corporation so as "to carry on kindred agencies of civic uplift." In three instances the acceptance of a library gift conditioned on the annual payment of a liberal sum for the maintenance of the library was approved and recorded. Two transfers of library property were approved.

Eleven libraries and 2 branches were registered as maintaining a proper standard. The branches were not on the former roll and should therefore be added to the gain of chartered libraries, making a total increase of 15 libraries and the total enrolment 504.

The tables which follow contain the names of libraries chartered and registered, with details of charter amendment, transfers of property and approval of conditional gifts.

Expenditures. The expenditures for the year, aside from salaries and expenses of administration, were for 370 allotments to 361 free libraries and for their benefit $33,025.85, an average of $91.48 to each library. This includes the payment of $1663 on 20 applications due the previous year, and shows an increase of $3059.86 above the payments of that year. But the funds, though larger than before by $3000, were not sufficient to pay all approved applications. No less than 25 such applications covering the allotment of $2151 were carried over for payment in the following year.

Books and binding for traveling libraries cost $6332.72.

Field work. The field work of the division was carried on mainly by the inspector and two library organizers. With so small a force the work was necessarily interrupted during the year by demands for special service which could not be postponed, such as editing the quarterly bulletin, preparations for 28 library institute and round table meetings and complete revision of a buying list of books for small libraries. While there are 504 libraries entitled to visitation, the number of visits was but 300. Most of these were paid to libraries in operation or to communities considering the establishment of libraries. Considerable attention was also given to visiting the borrowers of traveling libraries and to the promotion of a demand for traveling libraries by presenting the matter at farmers institute meetings and other gatherings of a like character. The library institute and round table gatherings afforded, as before, the best of opportunities for meeting the librarians of the State. Of 28 of these meetings held the past year there were only 6 at which this division or the State Library was not represented, and 3 of these 6 were conducted by persons formerly connected with the State Library. Fourteen institute meetings were prolonged to the second day and had a distinctly instructional character. The attendance was unusually large. Adding together the reports of 28 meetings, there were 401 libraries represented by 935 persons, showing a most gratifying response to our invitations.

The reports of the library organizers show that detailed work of arrangement and cataloging was done by them with 29 libraries.

The edition of the quarterly bulletin, New York Libraries, has been increased to 3700.

Traveling libraries. The total number of volumes in the traveling library collection September 30, 1912, was 49,897. Of these, 40,709 volumes were out at the time of the fire and 9188 were bought since. Of the total collection, 44,375 volumes have been accessioned, leaving still unaccessioned and uncataloged 5522 volumes, which were reported out at the time of the fire and have not been returned.

Fixed groups. There are 5706 volumes in fixed groups, the remainder composing the more flexible open shelf collection. Seventy-seven sets of 25 volumes each are for children. The finding lists for these have been reprinted and these groups are in constant demand. Of the adult groups, lists have as yet been reprinted for only four. Some of the older groups have been broken up and thrown into the open shelf collection and more will be broken up as soon as new libraries are prepared. As the temporary headquarters were so cramped, no new fixed groups were added during the year.

Foreign books. There are in the collection 483 books for foreigners in Italian, Polish, German, French and Hungarian. The greatest demand has been for the Italian and Polish books and next to these for the German. A great need is felt for a reliable Italian bibliography as there is a great call for simple Italian works.

Applications. Books were sent in response to 757 applications, as shown in the following table:

TO WHOM LENT	NUMBER OF LIBRARIES LENT	NUMBER OF VOLUMES SENT

Study clubs. As usual, the largest number of libraries was taken by study clubs. During the year 35 new clubs were registered and the total of those reporting approved courses of study is 353.

In constructive work, bibliographies on seven different subjects of study were prepared to replace those lost and one program was made by the senior class of the Library School in cooperation with this section. No attempt was made to keep a record of programs lent and lists submitted, though this is an important feature of the work of the section.

Groups of taxpayers. There was a steady increase in the demand from this class of borrowers. In 1909-10, the last year of which there is a full record, 2929 volumes were sent to 28 groups. The reduction in fee has seemed to serve its purpose in increasing the demands from places without libraries.

Public schools. The same increase in interest was shown in the rural schools, as in 1909-10, 8413 volumes sent to 77 schools, against 3822 sent to 33 schools last year.

Special loans. These were loans of books out of town, which would ordinarily have been sent from the State Library. There were numerous loans to individuals in the city, but of these no record was kept.

Library progress. Returns for the past year were received from 538 libraries, which reported directly to this division. These may be divided according to their relations to the University as follows:

State Library.....	1
Incorporated or admitted libraries.....	304
Libraries registered only.....	154
Libraries of other University institutions, such as colleges and professional schools.....	23
Libraries of State institutions not in the University.....	13
Libraries not connected with the University.....	43
Total.....	538

A comparison of this statement with those of former years shows that the high school and academy libraries, which would number almost 900 more, have been omitted. About 300 libraries of this class are free for public as well as school use and all of them would be important in a complete summary of the library resources of the State, but their reports are made to another division and can not well be included here.

The reporting libraries contained 8,747,928 volumes, about equally divided between the libraries free for circulation and those whose books are kept for reference or used by a limited class such as the students of a college. The free circulating libraries were 464 in number and the other classes including the large reference libraries, were but 74. It should be added that all the libraries did not report and that the whole number of libraries in the State free for public circulation and apart from the schools was at least 500.

The total circulation was 21,417,143 for the year, of which number 20,309,176 volumes were lent by the free libraries. This indicates an increase of 186,431 for the year, in spite of the fact that, by the omission of the high school libraries, the number of reports was reduced from 661 to 464. The average daily circulation for the State was 55,641. In the year the free circulation was 2228 for each 1000 of the population.

A table is here given containing a summary of the volumes and circulation of all the libraries in the State, as reported yearly from 1893 to date. The returns from high school libraries were included until 1911. Being properly under the supervision of the School Libraries Division, these are now omitted from the statistics of public libraries.

A second table gives a like summary of the number, volumes and circulation of the free circulating libraries of the State, which have reported during the past 20 years. This also includes, down to 1911, such school libraries as furnished books for public use, but does not include libraries of this class for 1912.

Books and circulation of city libraries. Out of a total population of 9,113,614 in the State of New York, 6,727,015 or 74 per cent live in cities and 4,766,883 or 52 per cent in the city of New York. The books in free libraries are 4,421,901 and of these 3,283,731 or 74 per cent are in cities and 1,953,588 or 44 per cent are in New York City. The free circulation in cities was 17,678,413 or 87 per cent of that of the State, an increase for the year of 646,583. The free circulation in New York City, outside the school libraries, was 13,540,279, an increase for the year of 596,822 and equal to 66 per cent of the total for the State.

The following table shows percentage of population, books in free circulating libraries, circulation and taxation therefor in cities and elsewhere, comparing the year 1912 with 1911.

The following table shows the population of each city, the volumes in free libraries, their circulation and the library tax for the year. Out of 49 cities in the State, there are three, Cortland, Lackawanna and Watervliet, in which there is no circulating library free for public use. Cortland, however, has a good subscription library. In Newburgh as in Oneida free library privileges are provided by the school library system and in the latter case the amount of the library tax was not reported. In Geneva, Hudson, Ithaca and Jamestown the libraries are supported by endowments or private gifts, so that there is no public tax for the purpose. In a few other cities where the amount of the tax is small it represents in each case only a part of the cost of maintaining the library.

Another table shows library statistics for 27 villages of more than 5000 population. Five of them have no free circulating library, though one of the five, Matteawan, has a good subscription library. There are nine of the number which show no payment of a library tax. In three of these there are free libraries maintained by private gifts. In one other village of this class the free library is a part of the school system and the library tax is not separately reported.

Statistics of tax support. The reports show that 334 out of 464 free lending libraries were supported or materially aided by public tax. As compared with 299 such libraries in 1911, this shows an important gain of 35 libraries. The amounts paid to individual libraries vary from $3.25 up to $40,000.

The free library tax for the State amounted to $1,631,432.75; of which $1,545,944.76 was paid by 41 cities, and of this amount

$1,202,786.31 was paid by the city of New York alone. The total increase of tax for the year was $41,314.49 and it is specially gratifying to know that $16,863.18, or more than two-fifths of this increase, was obtained outside the cities, making a tax payment of $85,487.99 for 171 towns and villages, an average of $500 for each.

Library buildings. Eleven library buildings have been completed or rebuilt, newly fitted up and occupied within the year ending September 30, 1912, as follows:

PUBLICATIONS AND PRINTING

As shown by appendix 2, 31 books, bulletins, handbooks and circulars and 25 traveling library lists have been issued since the fire. Two hundred and eighty-five blanks and forms (not including stationery) have also been printed.

For convenience in reference the different numbers of the several series of State Library bulletins (Bibliography, Legislation, Library School) are bound consecutively as supplements to the annual report of the Director of the State Library, the annuals issued in the various series in each year being bound with the annual report of the corresponding year, that is, Best Books of 1912 and the Library School report for 1912 are bound with the Director's report for 1912, though issued in 1913. For this reason the bulletins supplementing the report do not correspond to those issued during the year as listed in appendix 2.

INDEXES

A good index is as important a part of a State publication as of any other book. The indexes to the Education Department publications are prepared by an expert indexer on the State Library staff and are believed to be good ones. The amount of this work that is quietly done each year is apt to be overlooked, and it seems proper to mention here that 33 indexes, many of them to the technical publications of the State Museum, were prepared last year. These indexes totaled 239 pages, the index to the annual report of the Education Department alone covering 47 pages. The excellence of the Education Department indexes has attracted requests for similar work from other directions, and the State Library regularly prepares indexes to the printed volumes of the Governor's papers and, at the request of the State printer, the indexes to the collected edition of 60 or 80 annual volumes of the Senate and Assembly documents.

STAFF

Until September 1912 the work of the reconstruction of the Library was done in widely scattered temporary quarters. At one time our book purchases were stored in twelve different places in Albany, while many dealers and individuals were holding other books for us until we should have safe storage room available. Work in these temporary quarters was of course done at great sacrifice of efficiency. Not only was the staff separated, but the quarters occupied were in no cases designed for library work and were often directly inimical to health and eyesight. The very lifting, carrying and moving about of books and furniture involved an enormous waste of time and labor. Several long and severe illnesses are directly traceable to the bad conditions under which it was necessary to work. All of this, however, is past, and for a month the entire Library staff and most of the collections have been installed in the Education Building.

The work of this trying period of reorganization could not have been so effective but for the faithful and zealous service of every member of the staff of the three library divisions. Probably never again will it become necessary to call upon the members of the staff for such heavy, unusual and often distinctly unpleasant work as they have done in the past year. Indeed it has seldom been necessary to call upon them for this work—it has been volunteered and performed in due course as part of the day's work, and always with admirable spirit.

The permanent staff of the State Library, Division of Educational Extension and Library School numbers 105 persons (all engaged in actual library work) exclusive of orderlies, elevator men, cleaners, porters etc., who are attached to the Administration Division of the Education Department. Besides this regular staff there have been 8 temporary persons engaged since November 1911 in the mending and repairing of manuscripts, and 15 employees in the Library bindery.

During the 18 months ending September 30, 1912, and for which the present report speaks, there were 24 resignations from the permanent staff of the Library and 25 appointments. Six young women, about the usual number, were married; 6 took positions in other departments of the State service; 2 were transferred to other divisions of the Education Department and 1 was dismissed for unsatisfactory service. Four other members of the staff were called at better salaries to important library positions in other cities, namely, Mr Galen W. Hill, librarian, Millicent Library, Fairhaven, Mass.; Mr Jesse Cunningham, assistant to director, St Louis Public Library; Miss Helen Coffin, legislative reference librarian, Connecticut State Library, Hartford; Mr Carl P. P. Vitz, second vice librarian, Cleveland Public Library.

The losses by transfer, while it is possible to construe them as definite tribute to the efficiency of people trained in the Library, are nevertheless larger than could have been wished, larger, indeed, than would seem to be necessary if the rules of the Civil Service Commission could be modified to require a longer time after transfer before increase of salary. Many State departments, when they must find an assistant, seem to prefer to take one from the staff of the Education Department by transfer rather than to do as the Education Department itself does and take one from the regular eligible lists provided for use in such cases. When to this tendency is added the fact that salaries in minor positions are conceded to be lower in the Education Department than in any other, and promotion slower, it puts us at a disadvantage in securing and retaining efficient workers.

Despite these conditions working strongly against continuity of service, the Library has been fortunate in holding many members of its staff for a considerable term of years. The transfers are for the most part in the lower grades of clerical service. Many of the younger members of the staff, starting with no strong vocational purpose or ambitions, once enrolled with the Library staff have become sufficiently interested in the Library and its work to qualify more effectively for its service through instruction in the Library School or through outside study of law, stenography, typewriting etc., and to prove their usefulness through an increasingly expert and responsible service which frequently has run to 15 or 20 years. • In the higher grades of service among those who have come to the Library through college and the Library School, there are always some, despite constant calls upon our staff from other libraries in all parts of the country, who can count from 20 to 25 years of service for this Library.

Of those who have left the Library during the period reviewed by this report special mention should be made of Miss Charlotte S. Fearey, Miss Agnes E. Flinn, Miss Charlotte Van Peyma and Miss Eily M. Knights with service records of 19, 19, 9 and 10 years respectively.

Stephen B. Griswold. This is a fitting place to record the death of Stephen Benham Griswold, from 1868 to 1904 librarian of the State Law Library, who passed away on May 4, 1912, at the home of his son in Yonkers, New York, at the age of 76.

Early educated in the law and for some years engaged in its practice, he brought to the State Library with his legal training, a temperament ideally adapted to the life work he found there to do. The State Law Library that was burned owed that completeness which made it one of the first in the country to his vigilance, industry, profound knowledge of legal bibliography and rare discrimination in the selection and purchase of law books, which marked his devoted service to it throughout thirty-six years — a service longer than that of any other single person since its establishment ninety-five years ago.

No acquaintance with Mr Griswold's professional work and qualities could fail early to note the rare personal traits of sympathy, modesty and good fellowship which during a long generation endeared him equally to professional associates, family and friends.

Respectfully submitted

BUYING LIST OF BOOKS FOR SMALL LIBRARIES

ZAIDEE BROWN

NEW EDITION REVISED BY CAROLINE WEBSTER

PREFACE

This list has been prepared for small village libraries in New York State, especially those that have only a little money to spend for books. Expensive books and expensive editions have therefore been omitted. It is believed that all the editions recommended, however, are fairly satisfactory. In many cases, the better edition and its price are given after the cheaper one.

In buying, it is suggested that about one-third of the money be spent for nonfiction, one-third for fiction and one-third for juvenile books (including both fiction and other works). Of course the proportion may be altered to suit circumstances. It is recommended that whenever possible books be bought in the special library binding.

The prices given are the regular list prices, and libraries usually get at least one-third discount, except in the case of net books, when it is usually 10 per cent. The total cost of the following books should be from one-fourth to one-third less than the total of prices as given. Often it is profitable to buy of dealers in second-hand books and remainders of editions. Responsible dealers will guarantee books to be in good condition.

As the following list is intended merely as an aid in buying, regular cataloging rules have not been followed. It should therefore not be used as a guide for the form of the author's name. When there is a choice, the best known form of the author's name or a well-known pseudonym is used.

In this edition there is no change from the character of the first list. The same general arrangement is retained and in most cases the same subject headings used. Every class is thoroughly revised and while there is a slight increase in the number of titles in sociology, science, useful arts and amusements, it results in a net increase of but 78 titles in the entire list. The fewest changes are in the list of children's books. One or two good inexpensive editions of standard books are added and some of the strikingly good stories of the past two years included. In a small library it is not important to buy the very latest child's story. To buy the best must be the aim of a library in the purchase of its children's books.

CLASSIFICATION

The Decimal classification numbers have been added. Except in travel and history, only three figures have been given, for in a small library it is not well to subdivide classes too much. Where two class numbers are given, the first is advised unless in a particular library books of the same sort have already been given the second. The object of classification is, of course, to bring like books together. When new numbers are given, they should correspond with those used previously; that is, a library using B for biography must continue to do so (unless all biography numbers are changed) when new biographies are added even though the A. L. A. Booklist or this list numbers it 921. The classification of children's books differs slightly from the classification used in the adult collection. It has been based largely upon the numbering used in Miss Kennedy's Suggestive list of children's books, the use of which list is advised in making a fuller selection of children's books. It will also be found most valuable in its descriptive notes on the books here listed.

MAGAZINES

The list of magazines included is that indexed in the Reader's guide abridged (H. W. Wilson Co., Minneapolis $4). There are, of course, more magazines in this list than a library with a book fund of $200 should subscribe for; but we recommend that a selection be made from this list and advise spending one-fifth of such an income on magazines and binding. In order to have State aid in the purchase of magazines they must be bound. The importance of magazines in a small library can not be too strongly emphasized. They do more to bring patrons to the library and to keep the library abreast of the times than any one other thing, and if a magazine index is purchased, which is strongly advised, the bound numbers are useful for reference.

In selecting magazines the library should consider the needs of the entire community and should see that as far as possible all tastes are considered. No matter how good they may be do not subscribe for three or four magazines which cover the same field while other fields are neglected.

In buying magazines it is well to purchase from one agent and have all subscriptions expire at the same time, preferably the first of January. In placing orders preference should of course be given to the local dealer if his prices are as low as those of the magazine agency. It is advisable to submit a list of desired magazines to an agency as well as to the local dealer before the order is placed. Following is a list of responsible dealers:

J. W. Grumiaux	Le Roy, N. Y.
J. M. Hanson	Lexington, Ky.
Henry Malkan	18 Broadway, New York City
W. H. Moore	Brockport, N. Y.
G. E. Stechert & Co.	151-55 W. 25th st., New York City
A. C. McClurg & Co.	Chicago, Ill.

EDITIONS

The Wisconsin Library Commission in the introduction to its Suggestive list of popular books for a small library says: "A very small library should have an unusual proportion of books by the old authors, commonly called 'standard.' As there are many editions of the best of such works, and as most of the cheap editions are very poor, book committees should be very careful in selecting the editions as well as in selecting the titles. To order simply Arabian nights in a cheap edition may bring a copy that is so poorly made as to be almost valueless or a full translation that is thoroughly objectionable."

In making this list an effort has been made to select the most satisfactory of the inexpensive editions of the standard authors. In the case of libraries having more means it will sometimes be found better to buy more expensive editions. In buying the copyrighted books of the list there is usually no choice.

In buying books in science, political and social economy and the useful arts, book committees should always buy the latest editions. In this particular we can not emphasize too strongly the advice which has been quoted for several years in the Prefatory note to the Best books list from the Journal of New Jersey Libraries, October 1903: "Do not buy subscription books; avoid books issued in parts; ask advice before purchasing expensive reprints.

"Finest Orations, Noblest Essays, Royal Flim Flams, Huge Anthologies and the like all come to the secondhand man. Get them of him, if you must. In a small library they are generally almost useless. In subscription books, cases like this are not uncommon. Maspero wrote several large and learned volumes, in French, on Egypt and Chaldea. They were translated and published in three or four volumes in England, costing libraries in this country about $5 each. An American publisher reprints them in 12 small volumes with a few additional colored cuts, on heavier paper and in larger type and offers them through agents for $84 — and libraries buy them!

"Do not buy sets or complete editions of authors. Buy the volumes you need and as you need them. A complete set always includes several volumes you do not need. Specify the edition you wish of standard books when you can, unless you find a bookseller able and willing to select them wisely for you."

OTHER AIDS TO BOOK SELECTION

The State Library will give further help at any time in selecting books, by giving lists of the best books on a certain subject, or by looking over lists of books that a library expects to buy. On request, it will mention other books of the same sort that are preferable to those on the list submitted, if such are known.

In so short a list as this many books must be omitted that are fully as desirable as those included. The compilers of this list grant that to be most useful any catalog of book titles should be annotated. In the present case, however, the selection has been rigid, the number of titles purposely so small as to prove no embarrassment to even the smallest library, and it is believed that the very inclusion in a classified list like this is sufficient annotation for the present purpose. Those wishing longer lists or descriptive notes on books in this list, should consult the following:

Special lists appearing from time to time in New York Libraries; such as the lists on travel and agriculture in the number for October 1909 and attractive editions of children's books in the July 1912 number.

BOOKS FOR ADULTS; ARRANGED BY SUBJECT

This part of the list has been made rather long, in proportion to the others, to allow choice to suit local conditions, and also that the list may serve as an aid in buying for some time. Even a very small library should buy some books from each group, but those chosen will vary to suit different places.

The list includes more books on the subjects that experience has shown to be popular, such as books on animals and travel; and fewer books on the subjects for which there is less demand, such as history. That is, the choice is based on probable popularity, rather than on the absolute value of the books. The list is made for a small village library whose work is mainly circulating books for general reading.

Additional books on the different subjects will be found in the list of children's books. Many books are equally interesting to children and adults.

The A. L. A. catalog and Supplement and the annual Best books will furnish additional titles in any subject desired.

This list is arranged under the following headings, in the order named:

Reference books	Housekeeping and cooking
Conduct, mental hygiene, etc.	Sewing and fancy work
Religion	Home decoration
Social conditions, citizenship, law etc.	Domestic architecture and building
Education (including home training of children)	Carpentry and handicraft
Etiquet	Art
Holidays	Music
Writing and speaking English	Games and amusements
Science, miscellaneous	Literature
Geology	Essays and miscellaneous prose
Botany	Poetry
Animals	Plays
Insects	Travel and description
Birds	Biography, collective
Industries, inventions, electricity	Biography, individual
Medicine, hygiene, sanitation and gymnastics	Indians
Agriculture	History (except American)
Gardening	American history
	Fiction

Reference books

For fuller list consult New York Libraries October 1907 and July 1908.

- 031 Appleton's new practical cyclopedia. 6v. Appleton, buckram $9.75; half morocco $12.60

Sufficiently comprehensive and workmanlike to be recommended to small libraries or grammar schools unable to buy a more elaborate cyclopedia. The articles are up to date, short and nontechnical; the illustrations, maps and indexes useful; the cross references adequate. If a library can afford it, The new international cyclopedia, 20v. Dodd, subscription $5 a volume, is advised. It can be purchased of secondhand dealers for much less.

- 912 Bartholomew, J. G. Literary and historical atlas of America. (Everyman's lib.) Dutton 35c

- 912 ——— Literary and historical atlas of Europe.
(Everyman's lib.) Dutton 35c

- 374 Ringwalt, R. C. Briefs on public questions.
Longmans $1.20

- 912 Rand, McNally & Co. New imperial atlas of the world. $2.50

The same firm publishes a much larger atlas, 2 v. $20, but the less expensive one will answer at first.

- 603 Scientific American cyclopedia of receipts, notes and queries. Munn $5

- 328 U. S. Congressional directory. Latest edition.

To be obtained through United States senator or congressman.

- 317 U. S. Department of Commerce and Labor. Statistical abstract of the U. S. Latest edition.

Apply to the Department of Commerce and Labor, Washington, D. C. or to your congressman.

- 912 U. S. Geological Survey.

A good topographic map of your section, and of those near you can be had for 5c each from Director, U. S. Geological Survey, Washington. Stamps will not be taken in payment.

- 423 Webster, Noah. Webster's new international dictionary of the English language. Rev. ed. 1909.

History (except American)

The list on history is very brief, and those wishing additional titles should consult the A. L. A. Catalog (part 1, pages 265-72 and pages 335-66) and the Supplement, 1904-11 (pages 181-84 and pages 226-44). There is usually little demand for history for general reading in proportion to the demands for other books. In time, a library should own the best standard histories; but these may be added by degrees, and the titles are available in other lists, such as the A. L. A. Catalog.

PERIODICALS RECOMMENDED FOR THE SMALLEST LIBRARIES¹

American Magazine. (Monthly) N. Y. 1905-1912. v.60-75. $1.50

Indexed in Poole, Library Index, Readers' Guide and Readers' Guide Abridged.

Continuation of Leslie's Magazine. Pays especial attention to political reform movements, sociological matters and biography but also contains good short stories and at least one serial of merit. Generally considered by librarians to be one of the best of the cheaper magazines.

Atlantic Monthly. Boston. 1857-1912. v.1-110. $4

Indexed in Poole, Abridged Poole, Library Index, Readers' Guide and Readers' Guide Abridged.

Probably the most uniformly excellent from a literary standpoint of any American magazine. Unusually good fiction and poetry, excellent literary criticism, and one of the few American magazines which deliberately encourages the general essay. Much attention given also to political, sociological, economic and philosophical subjects treated in a scholarly but semipopular manner. Excellent paper and typography but no illustrations and few advertisements. Of limited circulation but useful in almost any library for reference purposes and usually read by at least the more thoughtful people in any community.

¹The titles in this list have been selected by Miss Caroline Webster and Mr Asa Wynkoop of the New York State Library, from a longer list compiled by Mr Frank K. Walter of the New York State Library School, who is also responsible for the annotations. Mr Walter's full list has been printed and is for sale by the American Library Association.

Century Illustrated Monthly Magazine. N. Y. 1881-1912. v.23-84. $4

Continuation of Scribner's Monthly.

Indexed in Poole, Abridged Poole, Library Index, Readers' Guide, and Readers' Guide Abridged.

A thoroughly high-grade general magazine. History, art and travel receive much attention while the fiction is almost always of high grade and interesting. The illustrations are particularly good. Wood-cuts, engraved half-tones, and color plates are features. The fiction makes it popular for reading room use or circulation and the nonfiction is generally of decided reference value. It should be noted that volume 1 of the Century (new ser.) succeeds volume 22 of Scribner's Monthly and is consequently listed in Poole and elsewhere as volume 23 of the entire series.

Chautauquan. (Monthly) Chautauqua, N. Y. 1880-1912. v.1-69. $2

Indexed in Poole, Abridged Poole, Library Index, Readers' Guide and Readers' Guide Abridged.

The official organ of the Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle. Lists of required reading with questions and review outlines and suggested programs for local circles are regular features. Includes most subjects treated in general magazines with the exception of fiction. The intentionally simple treatment of topics makes it particularly useful to readers of but little formal education.

Current Literature. (Monthly) N. Y. 1888-1912. v.1-53. $3

Indexed in Readers' Guide and Readers' Guide Abridged.

The subtitle, "a review of the times," indicates the general character of the magazine. Includes as general divisions, Review of the world, Persons in the foreground, Finance and industry, Science and discovery, Religion and ethics, Music and drama, Literature and art, Recent poetry, Recent fiction and the critics. Frequent condensed or summarized articles from recent books or periodicals. Extended criticism, with frequent quotations from recent drama. In plan and scope resembles both the Literary Digest and Review of Reviews. Good half-tone illustrations.

Educational Review. (Monthly) N. Y. 1891-1912. v.1-44. $3

Indexed in Poole, Abridged Poole, Library Index, Readers' Guide and Readers' Guide Abridged. There is also an Analytical Index to volumes 1-25 (1891-Mar. 1903). $3

"On the whole the best educational journal now published but deals only with methods of teaching in high schools and colleges and offers little or nothing to the grade teacher. The contributors are for the most part recognized authorities on their respective subjects. Treatment of subjects generally aims to be scholarly and not technical, but both subject and treatment are beyond the average teacher in the small city and town." Jones

Everybody's Magazine. (Monthly) N. Y. 1899-1912. v.1-28. $1.50

Indexed in Abridged Poole, Library Index and Readers' Guide (since Jan.1909).

Ranks with the American and McClure's as one of the better cheap magazines and like them devotes much space to movements for social and political reform.

Harper's Monthly Magazine. N. Y. 1850-1912. v.1-124. $4

Indexed in Poole, Abridged Poole, Library Index, Readers' Guide and Readers' Guide Abridged.

Ranks with the Century and Scribner's as an excellent general magazine, and has about the same general scope, dealing more with travel and popular science and rather less with history, biography and general literary criticism than the Century. The short stories are good and the serials usually appear later in book form. The illustrations are very good. The color plates have improved greatly in the past few years. Complete bound sets of Harper's are common and cheap but a full set is seldom necessary and requires at least an Abridged Poole's Index to make its contents accessible.

Independent. (Weekly) N. Y. 1848-1912. v.1-73. $3

Originally a religious weekly but now a weekly magazine with a distinctly ethical tendency but nonsectarian bias. Current events and important world movements are discussed in signed articles by prominent men and women. Both sides of important questions are usually represented. Literature and the drama receive considerable attention and there are numerous unsigned book reviews of varying length. The scope has been widened to include nearly all important social activities, and the reference value, particularly of the last ten or twelve volumes, is high. The editorials are candid and fairly impartial.

Ladies' Home Journal. (Monthly) Philadelphia 1883-1912. v.1-29. $1.50

Indexed in Readers' Guide, Library Index and Readers' Guide Abridged.

The most widely read and widely imitated of any woman's magazine and always popular for reading room use. Serials and short stories are of undoubted moral tone but of varying literary merit, and frequent articles on biography and current social movements. Much addicted to reform articles of all kinds from hints on etiquette for young girls to reform of educational institutions from primary school to college. All phases of domestic economy are treated, from cooking and fashions to plans of moderate priced houses. Distinctly popular in appeal and sometimes so obvious in its advice as to irritate people of broad training and culture, but on the whole it exerts a very wholesome influence.

McClure's Magazine. (Monthly) N. Y. 1893-1912. v.1-38(?). $1.50

Indexed in Poole, Abridged Poole, Library Index, Readers' Guide and Readers' Guide Abridged.

Considered by many the best of the cheaper magazines for library use. Similar in scope and general character to the American magazine and Everybody's. Biography and history have been prominent, especially in the earlier volumes. In later years the magazine has become more aggressive in reform movements, but while often partisan it is seldom hysterical or morbid. Its articles on political and social affairs are often useful in reference work. The fiction maintains a high average of interest as well as of literary merit. "A first-class second-class magazine."

National Geographic Magazine. (Monthly) Washington 1888-1912. v.1-23. $2.50

Indexed in Poole, Library Index, Readers' Guide Abridged, and Readers' Guide (since Jan.1909).

Published by the National Geographic Society and sent free to members. Deals with manners and customs of different people, travel and description, natural resources and commercial activities in a broad sense. Reliable and scientific, interesting and non-technical. Numerous half-tone illustrations from photographs. A great aid in teaching geography and commercial geography and of interest to general readers.

North American Review. (Monthly) N. Y. 1815-1912. v.1-196. $4

Indexed in Poole, Abridged Poole, Library Index, Readers' Guide and Readers' Guide Abridged. Semi-monthly from September1906-August1907 (v.183-186).

An admirable review of topics of current importance by recognized authorities, political and social matters receiving the most prominence. The occasional book reviews are excellent. The whole set is in constant use by debaters and students of economics and sociology. In recent years it has been under the same general editorship as Harper's Weekly and reflects something of the same general editorial policy.

Outlook. (Weekly) N. Y. 1893-1912. v.48-101. $3

Indexed in Poole, Abridged Poole, Library Index, Readers' Guide Abridged.

One of the best known weeklies dealing with current events. Still maintains a distinctly religious tone though it is practically free from sectarian or theological bias. The regular numbers are chiefly devoted to discussions of social and political matters with one or two literary articles; the monthly "magazine numbers" contain more illustrations, fiction, and more matter of a general literary character. The book reviews are generally fair but rather colorless, especially the briefer ones. The editorials are always worthy of attention but within the last four or five years have become known as the expression of the personalities of the leading editors rather than impartial discussions. Shares with the Independent the distinction of being one of the most timely reference aids on current questions.

Review of Reviews. American. (Monthly) 1890-1912. v.I-46. $3

Indexed in Poole, Abridged Poole, Library Index, Readers' Guide and Readers' Guide Abridged.

Original and condensed or digested articles on current movements. Particular attention to politics and sociology, but literature, drama and art also included. The "Progress of the world" section is a good summary of events of the month, American and foreign. The "Cartoons of the month" make it popular in reading rooms. Articles are too brief for students but useful for information, too recent to be present in more formal articles or books.

St Nicholas. N. Y. 1873-1912. v.I-39. $3

Indexed in Readers' Guide, Library Index and Readers' Guide Abridged.

A popular, well-illustrated magazine for young people. Short stories, serials, articles on history, biography, travel and nature study. Special pages for small children. The articles are almost without exception well written, wholesome and interesting. Back volumes are well worth getting. There is a general index ($4) to v. I-27.

Scientific American. (Weekly) N. Y. Series 1.

1845-1859. v.I-12; Series 2. 1859-1912. v.I-107.

Indexed in Engineering Index, Library Index, Readers' Guide and Readers' Guide Abridged.

"The purpose of this journal is to record accurately, simply and interestingly, the world's progress in scientific knowledge and industrial achievement." Includes also articles on anthropology and archeology. Brief descriptions, with some illustrations, of "recently patented inventions" and reviews of new scientific books. As a scientific newspaper it is much read by men and older boys.

Scribner's Magazine. (Monthly) N. Y. 1887-1912.

Indexed in Poole, Abridged Poole, Library Index, Readers' Guide and Readers' Guide Abridged.

Somewhat smaller and cheaper than the Century and Harper's Magazine with which it ranks in quality, general scope and illustrations. Many of the articles, particularly on art and general literature, are of permanent reference value. Should not be confused with Scribner's Monthly, the predecessor of the Century.

Survey. (Weekly) N. Y. 1897-1912. v.I-28. $2

Formerly the Charities Review and Charities and the Commons.

Indexed in Poole, Readers' Guide and Readers' Guide Abridged.

"A journal of constructive philanthropy" dealing with all movements, public and private, which aim at social improvement. Earnest but not partisan, optimistic but practical, inclined to favor labor as against capital, especially in recent volumes, but generally fair in its presentations. Much used by high school debaters and extensively read particularly in cities and the large towns.

World's Work. (Monthly) N. Y. 1900-1912. v.I-
24. $3

Indexed in Poole, Abridged Poole, Library Index, Readers' Guide and Readers' Guide Abridged.

Made up of comments and papers on current events and current movements. "The march of events" is composed of brief well-written editorials on persons and occurrences of present prominence. The general articles are fresh and interesting and touch on the moral and intellectual welfare of the country as well as on its material prosperity. Excellent half-tone portraits and other illustrations. Covers, without duplicating or imitating, much the same general ground as the Review of Reviews.

A SELECTION FROM THE BEST BOOKS OF 1912 WITH NOTES

PREFATORY NOTE

To the Librarian:

This is an annotated list of 250 books published in 1912 and recommended to the small public libraries of the State. To aid librarians who desire help in making a first selection of a smaller number of books from the 250 here listed, about 100 have been marked with a *. These are merely suggested for first purchase, as it is of course impossible for any book board to determine what large group of books is absolutely the best, still less could it make a selection which would fit the needs of every small library in the State. The librarian may find that a number of the unmarked books, many of which are of the highest merit, meet much better the demands of her community. Some excellent publications of the year have been reluctantly omitted from the list, either because their cost is greater than most small libraries can afford, or because their subject matter is highly specialized and limited in interest to the very few; or sometimes a good book has not been included because an equally satisfactory or better treatment of the subject has previously been recommended, and its space has been utilized to include a book which deals with a fresh subject or supersedes an older treatment.

The discontinuance of the publication of the annual Tentative list of best books necessitated a new plan of obtaining outside opinions on the books of the year. Tentative lists on various subjects were therefore prepared and sent to specialists and librarians for votes, almost all of whom cordially responded. The book board wishes to express its gratitude for the prompt and valuable cooperation it received from many busy people whom it would wish to mention by name if space permitted.

We can not too strongly emphasize the advice which we have for several years quoted in full from the Journal of New Jersey libraries, October 1903: Do not buy subscription books; avoid books issued in parts; ask advice before purchasing expensive reprints.

Finest Orations, Noblest Essays, Royal Flim Flams, Huge Anthologies, and the like all come to the secondhand man. Get them of him, if you must. In a small library they are generally almost useless. In subscription books, cases like this are not uncommon. Maspero wrote several large and learned volumes, in French, on Egypt and Chaldea. They were translated and published in three or four volumes in England, costing libraries in this country about $5 each. An American publisher reprints them in 12 small volumes with a few additional colored cuts, on heavier paper and in larger type and offers them through agents for $84 — and libraries buy them!

Do not buy "sets" or complete editions of authors. Buy the volumes you need and as you need them. A complete set always includes several volumes you do not need. Specify the edition you wish of standard books when you can, unless you find a bookseller able and willing to select them wisely for you.

While this list has been prepared with special reference to smaller public libraries it will also be of much service to schools. Not all the books listed, however, are recommended for school use. There are some books in fiction which have not enough positive value either as literature or as a spur to historical study to justify their purchase for a school, yet which serve a legitimate purpose in the public library by providing wholesome entertainment for a very different class of readers. All titles under the heading "Children's books" are recommended for those school libraries which undertake to provide wholesome entertainment as well as useful information.

In accordance with the precedent of former years only the more popular type of book dealing with technical subjects has been recommended here. Libraries in need of more advanced technical literature will find the annual list prepared by the applied science department of Pratt Institute Free Library, Brooklyn, entitled Technical books of 1912, sent free on application, a most valuable aid.

This list has been prepared under the general direction of Mary E. Eastwood of the State Library staff.

REFERENCE BOOKS

- 016 A. L. A. catalog, 1904-1911. Class list: 3000 titles for a popular library; edited by E. L. Bascom.
A. L. A. Pub. Board $1.50
- 12-16399 Covers the period from the A. L. A. catalog of 1904 through 1911. Each title has full imprint, brief descriptive note, decimal classification number and suggested subject headings. Special lists of children's books (372 titles), of books in the A. L. A. catalog of 1904 now (1912) out of print, and of books in that catalog since issued in new editions. Separate subject and author indexes.
- 028.5 Olcott, F. J. The children's reading.
Houghton $1.25 n
- 12-27440 A trustworthy guide for parents and librarians, by an expert on juvenile literature. Discusses tersely and readably the influences of good and bad books, children's tastes, and the literature best suited to different ages. Contains list of 100 good stories to tell and an extended purchase list with directions for buying.
- 8-36693 Course of study for normal school pupils on literature for children (Modern Amer. lib. economy, Elm Tree Press, paper $1 025) by J. S. Harrold, Corinne Bacon and J. C. Dana, gives twelve lessons on children's literature and the tastes of children in reading including carefully made "tests" and lists of books. Rather expensive but useful both to teachers and librarians.
Olcott, Lit. Digest, 45:1078; Outlook, 102:864.
- 029.6 Orcutt, W. D. The writer's desk book. Stokes 60c n
- 12-20803 Excellent, compact reference work giving information on punctuation, capitalization, spelling, division of words, indentation, spacing, italics, abbreviations, accents, numerals, faulty diction, letter writing, postal regulations and miscellaneous matters.
- 12-25112 This is admirably supplemented by Eleanor Banks's Correct business and legal forms; a reference manual for stenographers, secretaries and reporters (Putnam $1.25 n 808.6), which deals more fully with many of these subjects, with all kinds of business correspondence and adds sections on court documents, legal papers, wills and other forms. Both books are indexed.
Orcutt, Independent, 73:1260.
- 203 Schaff-Herzog encyclopedia. New Schaff-Herzog encyclopedia of religious knowledge; ed. by S. M. Jackson. 12 v. v. 12.
Funk $5 ea.
- 8-20152 Concludes this important work begun in 1908. Based on the third German edition of Realencyklopädie für protestantische theologie und kirche, articles from which have been revised and condensed with new material added. Involves a wide range of subjects, theological, ecclesiastical, historical, biographical, practical, covering more territory than any recent work of wide scope. Written from the Protestant and liberal viewpoint and of value to American and English students. Useful bibliographies.
Am. Jour. Theol. 16:495; Nation, 94:545.
- 770 Jones, B. E. ed. Cassell's cyclopaedia of photography.
Cassell $3.75 n
- 12-1233 Excellent reference work on photographic practice, the result of the cooperation of many experts. Aims to include every accepted photographic term and to survey the whole province of photography, gives particular attention to needs of working-photographer, amateur and professional. Contains biographies of men not now living who have claims to distinction in this field. Profusely illustrated by 4 color, 19 monochrome plates and many cuts in text.

822.33 Onions, C. T. A Shakespeare glossary. Oxford Univ. 85c n

W12-65 The best Shakspeare glossary of moderate compass on the market. Nation, 94:422.

Compiled in the light of researches made for the great Oxford English dictionary of which the author has been an editor for fifteen years. Gives exact references and illustrative examples. Ath. 1912, 1:139; N. Y. Times, 17:74, Feb. 11, '12.

PHILOSOPHY, ETHICS, CHILD PROBLEMS

110 Bergson, H. L. An introduction to metaphysics; tr. by T. E. Hulme. Putnam 75c n

12-26704 A lucid exposition of the starting point of M. Bergson's metaphysics — that from intuition one can pass to analysis, but not from analysis to intuition — and, incidentally, of what he means by intuition. Ath. 1913, 1:304.

Authorized translation, revised by the author with additional material, of the essay first published in France, 1903.

Independent, 73:1259; N. Y. Times, 17:665, Nov. 17, '12.

136.7 * McKeever, W. A. Farm boys and girls. (Rural sci. ser.) Macmillan $1.50 n

12-5544 Practical discussion and suggestions on education, mental and spiritual, home and family life, reading, religion, social and business training, etc. Bibliographies and interesting illustrations. Annals Am. Acad. 44:173; Dial, 53:360.

136.77 Puffer, J. A. The boy and his gang. Houghton $1 n
12-6234 Suggestive, interesting and constructive study of the gang instinct, predatory impulse, wanderlust etc. in boys of adolescent age. By an experienced worker among boys. 7 illustrations. Am. Jour. Sociol. 18:272; Dial, 52:360.

172.1 Baldwin, S. E. The relations of education to citizenship. (Yale lectures on the responsibility of citizenship) Yale Univ. Press $1.15 n

12-23901 Six lectures by the governor of Connecticut (1912) outlining the part which colleges should take in preparing students for citizenship and the responsibilities of the college graduate as voter and private citizen, office-holder, creator of public opinion and upholder of Christian ideals.

Annals Am. Acad. 47:289; Ath. 1912, 2:757; N. Y. Times, 17:667, Nov. 17, '12.

176.5 * Addams, Jane. A new conscience and an ancient evil. Macmillan $1 n

12-8827 In its presentation of facts connected with the system of commercialized vice, no more convincing, sane, startling yet optimistic volume is likely to reach the public than this. Athenaeum, 1912, 1:592.

Appeared in part in McClure's Magazine.

Am. Jour. Sociol. 18:271; Nation, 94:594; No. American R. 195:358.

RELIGION

- 230 Dinsmore, C. A. The new light on the old truth.
Houghton $1.25 n
- 12-23955 Seven addresses by the pastor of the First Congregational Church of Waterbury, Conn., on the modifications of doctrine resulting from modern criticism. Made to a group of business and professional men originally, they have a directness and practicality which will appeal to readers caring little for most religious works.
- 12-1401 S. D. McConnell's Christianity (Longmans $1.20 n) contains an incisive statement of some changes in belief wrought by the new theology with critical but hopeful discussions of the condition of the church and personal Christianity today. Chapters 5 to 10 embody almost entirely author's earlier book, Evolution of immortality, which presented his theory of conditional immortality.
Dinsmore, Independent, 74:153.
- 232 * Grenfell, Sir W. T. The adventure of life. (William Belden Noble lectures, 1911) Houghton $1.25 n
- 12-6247 Four stimulating addresses dealing vigorously and pungently with Christianity as an adventure worth testing for its value to the individual and society.
Dial, 52:325; N. Y. Times, 17:158, Mar. 24, '12; Outlook, 100:158 and 101:43.
- 232.9 * Gilbert, G. H. Jesus. Macmillan $1.50 n
- 12-21978 Admirable popular study of Jesus and the gospels generally in accord with the results of modern Biblical scholarship. First, sources are discussed and their historic contribution estimated, followed by illuminating treatments of the "historical" and "legendary" Jesus.
Am. Jour. Theol. 17:130, Bib. World, n. s. 41: 68; Nation, 96:418.
- 237.2 Brown, W. A. The Christian hope. (Studies in theology) Scribner 75c n
- 12-18496 Tells in clear and simple language the story of the rise, history, and the present state of the Christian hope of immortality. Author is (1912) professor of systematic theology in Union Theological Seminary.
A little masterpiece, making superfluous for the present any other vindication of the claims of immortality.
Prof. George Herbert Palmer.
Bibliography.
Bib. World, n. s. 40:357; Independent, 72:1116; Outlook, 101:273.
- 261 * Rauschenbusch, Walter. Christianizing the social order. Macmillan $1.50 n
- 12-26399 Brilliant, searching and constructive sequel to author's Christianity and the social crisis. Fearlessly attacks capitalism and points out that it is the work of Christianity through a form of Christian socialism "to regenerate morally the controlling forces of economic life."
- 12-13475 R. F. Cutting's The church and society (Amer. social progress ser. Macmillan $1.25 n) shows how the church can be and is being a force in social uplift, illustrating by specific examples of what some churches are doing. Discusses the church's relation to the public school, police, public health, children, and formation of public opinion.

- 13-1088 In Charles Stelzle's American social and religious conditions (Revell $1 n), the problems of city and country life, women and children in industry, the immigrant, negro, Indian, Spanish-American, new frontier, etc. are presented in detail with the facts both tabulated and diagrammed and a reckoning of both religious and social factors. Concludes with definite, constructive suggestions to the church.
Rauschenbusch, Bib. World, n. s. 41:137; Dial, 54:128; Rev. of Rev. 47:121.
Cutting, Annals Am. Acad. 45:277; Outlook, 101:555; Survey, 28:634; 29:88.
Stelzle, N. Y. Times, 18:4, Jan. 5, '13; Outlook, 103:93.
- 261 Wilson, W. H. The evolution of the country community; a study in religious sociology.
Pilgrim Press $1.25 n
- 13-1085 Scholarly, practical study of the natural changes through which rural American communities have passed, and of the social service which it is the duty of the country church to render for the entire well-being of its locality. Selected bibliography.
- 12-24693 More popular and superficial is G. W. Fiske's The challenge of the country (Ass'n Press 75c 630). In handbook form it is a study of country life opportunity, and analysis of the various phases of American rural problems, presenting the fundamentals of rural social service and progress.
- 12-7900 Country life, published as the March 1912 number of the Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science (pap. $1), contains 28 valuable and suggestive papers by recognized authorities on social and industrial phases of the rural problem.
Fiske, Jour. Pol. Econ. 21:279.

SOCIOLOGY

- 321.4 * Munro, W. B. ed. The initiative, referendum and recall. (National municipal league ser.)
Appleton $1.50 n
- 12-15182 Collection of fifteen papers by Theodore Roosevelt, Woodrow Wilson, A. Lawrence Lowell, George H. Haynes and other authorities, explaining the methods and development of direct legislation, and presenting the good and bad features of its operation in various places throughout the country.
- 12-22027 Initiative, referendum and recall published as the September 1912 number of the Annals of the American Academy of Political and Social Science (pap. $1) has a precisely similar scope being a collection of 18 papers, duplicating Munro in two cases only.
- 12-863 Documents on the state-wide initiative, referendum and recall compiled by C. A. Beard and B. E. Shultz (Macmillan $2 n) includes all the state constitutional amendments on the subject in force August 1911, those now (1912) pending adoption, several of the most significant statutes elaborating constitutional provisions, some illustrative papers showing system in ordinary municipalities and commission-governed cities and 6 important judicial decisions. Contains also a valuable historical and descriptive introduction.
- 12-15186 D. F. Wilcox's Government by all the people (Macmillan $1.50 n) is an ardent defense of direct legislation by a strong partisan. Based on the "conception that government is a public cooperation, not a private industry" and confined to theory. Decidedly biased but interesting.
Munro, Annals Am. Acad. 44:178; Dial, 53:246; N. Y. Times, 17:390, June 30, '12; Pol. Sci. Q. 27:554; Spec. 109:303, Aug. 31, '12; Survey, 28:686.

Beard, Annals Am. Acad. 41:317; Nation, 94:192; Spec. 109:303, Aug. 31, '12.

Wilcox, Dial, 53:246; N. Y. Times, 17:444, Aug. 11, '12; Spec. 109:30, Aug. 31, '12.

- 321.8 Weyl, W. E. The new democracy. Macmillan $2 n
12-2074

An analysis of past and present political and economic conditions and tendencies in the United States which point, the author thinks, to the development of a new "social democracy" through universal education, government ownership and regulation. Brilliant and stimulating though neither novel nor unprejudiced.

Am. Jour. Sociol. 18:262; Annals, Am. Acad. 44:199; Dial, 52:396; Lit. Digest, 44:828; Nation, 94:412; Survey, 28:634.

- 324.3 Goodwin, G. D. Anti-suffrage; ten good reasons.

Duffield 50c n

- 12-10644 Defines the position of antisuffragists in America by stating briefly and clearly their reasons for opposing the unrestricted franchise for women.

- 12-1074 Of Dr Kaethe Schirmacher's The modern woman's rights movement; an historical survey, translated from the second German edition by C. C. Eckhardt (Macmillan $1.50 n), the Nation, 94:369, says: A veritable cyclopedia of information, carefully gathered from authoritative sources regarding the status and progress of the woman's rights movement throughout the world. Dr Schirmacher writes as an advocate, and is at times pretty caustic in her treatment of conservatives and opponents.

Goodwin, N. Y. Times, 17:296, May 12, '12; Rev. of Rev. 45:766.

Schirmacher, Am. Pol. Sci. R. 6:455; Annals Am. Acad. 44:15; Ath. 1912, 1:190; Survey, 28:275.

- 325.73 * Roberts, Peter. The new immigration.

Macmillan $1.60

- 12-21945 A vivid, readable and appreciative portrayal of the immigrant from southeastern Europe, his quality, industrial efficiency, social life, and relation to the native born American. Based on authoritative reports, wide personal observations, and experiences of other social workers, and presented largely by means of anecdote and incident.

Nation, 96:287; N. Y. Times, 17:573, Oct. 13, '12; Outlook, 102:596; Survey, 29:206.

- 327.73 Kawakami, K. K. American-Japanese relations.

Revell $2 n

- 12-35359 A Japanese journalist's interpretation and defense of Japan's foreign policies in regard to Manchuria, Korea, and the immigration question, written with the avowed purpose of dispelling the growing misunderstanding by the American people.

Annals Am. Acad. 44:166; Dial, 53:239; Nation, 95:566; N. Y. Times, 17:95, Feb. 25, '12; Outlook, 101:316.

- 329 Stanwood, Edward. History of the presidency from 1897 to 1909. Houghton $1.75 n

- 12-23681 Continuation, on the same plan, of author's History of the presidency published 1898, Houghton $2.50 (see A. L. A. catalog, 1904). It covers in a compact and impartial manner, the presidential campaigns of 1900, 1904 and 1908 and the important political events of the period. Concludes with a chapter on "The evolution of the presidency."

- 331.1 * Beman, L. T. comp. Selected articles on the compulsory arbitration of industrial disputes. (Debaters' handbk ser.) H. W. Wilson $1 n
- 12-1499 Contains briefs for debate; bibliography (28p.); articles (general, affirmative and negative), quoted in whole or in part, from recent periodicals, books, pamphlets and government publications.
- 331.8 Washington, B. T. The man farthest down. Doubleday $1.50 n
- 12-22002 Describes author's seven weeks' investigation of Europe's lowest laboring classes, and contrasts the more favorable conditions under which the negro lives and works in America. Ath. 1913, 1:124; Dial, 53:387; Nation, 95:336; Survey, 29:480.
- 335 Cross, I. B. The essentials of socialism. Macmillan $1 n
- 12-5830 Planned as a handbook for the reader or a textbook for the classroom, this admirably dispassionate, clear and concise little volume endeavors to tell precisely what socialism is and to give fairly the arguments for and against its characteristic doctrines. Excellent bibliographies.
- 12-16985 John Spargo's Applied socialism (Huebsch $1.50 n) consists of lectures delivered at the Rand School of Social Science, 1908-9, which present with warm enthusiasm an interpretation of the principles of socialism in their application to the state, property, personal liberty, the family, religious freedom, etc.
- 12-6101 Socialism and character by V. D. Scudder (Houghton $1.50 n) is written in attractive literary style enriched by apt quotations. It is replete with stimulating and suggestive ideas; and while it can not appeal to the class-conscious revolutionary political socialist, it will undoubtedly supply the needs for just such a discussion as Christian socialists and others have long felt.
- I. B. Cross* in Dial, 53:190.
Cross, Annals Am. Acad. 42:343; Nation, 94:411.
Spargo, Dial, 53:192; Jour. Pol. Econ. 20:967.
Scudder, Dial, 53:190; Jour. Pol. Econ. 20:646; Nation, 94:412.

- 12-26006 W. B. Munro's Government of American cities (Macmillan $2.25 n 352.073) is a treatise of the highest competence and value upon the powers and duties of the administrative organs of American municipal corporations.
American Historical Review, 18:435.

Authoritative both for the history and development of our city government and for the presentation of the considerations for and against proposed changes in it. Nation, 96:84. Author is (1912) professor of municipal government at Harvard.

12-27210

C. A. Beard's American city government (Century $2 n 352.073) is more popular and more superficial, supplying in convenient and readable form information on the newer experiments in municipal democracy with emphasis on the social and economic rather than political functions, which were treated in author's companion volume, American government and politics. Illustrations from photographs.

12-12163

Efficiency in city government 352.073 published by the American Academy of Political and Social Science at $1, also as the May 1912 number of the Annals, consists of papers by experts on the application of the principles of efficiency to the various departments of city government, on training and on bureaus of municipal research.

- 396 Tarbell, I. M. The business of being a woman. Macmillan $1.25 n 12-24007 Invigorating essays on the social and economic opportunity furnished woman by the home, and on the need that home activities be met in a professional spirit. Reprinted from the American Magazine.
12-24301 Why women are so (Holt $1.50 n) by M. R. Coolidge, formerly associate professor of sociology at Leland Stanford University, attempts to trace the development of the woman of 1800 into the woman of today. Its thesis, that "the characteristic behavior called feminine is an attitude of mind produced by coercive social habits of the past," is interestingly presented.
12-27808 Ellen Key's The woman movement, translated by M. B. Borthwick (Putnam $1.50 n) is an acute, significant study of the effect of the general emancipation of women upon the outer world, feminine psychology, status of daughters, spinsters, men and women at large and finally upon marriage and motherhood. Dial, 54:175.
12-12674 Woman and social progress by Scott and Nellie M. S. Macmillan $2 n
- 12-15677 Interpretation and discriminating appreciation of the development of Christian art — mainly Italian painting — from the fourth to the sixteenth century, with especial emphasis on its ideals. The pictures described (125) are reproduced from the "University prints" prepared by the Bureau of University Travel, of which author is president (1913).
N. Y. Times, 17:704, Dec. 1, '12; School Arts Mag. 12:268.
- 720.9 Lethaby, W. R. Architecture. (Home univ. lib. of modern knowledge) Holt 50c n
- 12-35691 Brief but surprisingly informing historical summary from Egyptian, Babylonian and Cretan origin to modern England, tracing clearly influence of the various architectural schools on its development. Index and short bibliography but scantily illustrated, a defect which is absent in H. H. Statham's Short critical history of architecture (Scribner $3.75 n) which covers practically the same field more fully and is well and abundantly illustrated from photographs, drawings and plans. Helpful chronological charts, glossary of terms and an index to both text and illustrations.
- 12-29420
- 6-10483 F. M. Simpson's History of architectural development (Architects' lib. 3v. Longmans $4 n ea.) is a standard work both scholarly and readable of value alike to architect and layman. Two volumes have been previously issued: v. 1, Ancient, early Christian and Byzantine, 1905; v. 2, Mediaeval, 1909. v. 3, The renaissance in Italy, France and England brings the history to the present time (1911) in these countries. Excellently illustrated and with an index in each volume.

Fairs and fetes. Estes $1.35 n
- 12-19378 Novel and varied suggestions for fairs and other money-making entertainments. The arrangement is by seasons. Eight illustrations give hints for costumes.
- 12-24596 The party book by Winnifred Fales and M. H. Northend (Little $2 n 793) is designed primarily for home entertainments, dinners, luncheons, receptions, special occasions. Provides useful information as to invitations, pretty and often elaborate table decorations and games, and receipts for unusual refreshments. Twenty illustrations from photographs.
Much of the material in these books has appeared in women's magazines.
- 791 Chubb, Percival & others. Festivals and plays in schools and elsewhere. Harper $2 n
- 12-18545 Papers by the members of the festival committee of the Ethical Culture School of New York discussing the general educational and stimulating value of festivals, pageants, plays etc., and the music, art, costuming, dancing and dramatization employed in the many performances directed by the authors. Forty-four illustrations from photographs.
- 12-18802 M. M. Needham's Folk festivals; their growth and how to give them (Huebsch $1.25 n) duplicates little of the above, except in pointing out the value of these celebrations. Written informally, with homely anecdotes, it traces their history in different countries; offers practical suggestions for choice of subjects and describes several festivals which the author has managed.
- 12-9418 C. D' A. Mackay's Patriotic plays and pageants for young people (Holt $1.35 n 812) includes two original pageants with full directions for staging and costuming and indoor or outdoor production. 917.94 * Muir, John. The Yosemite. Century $2.40 n

12-11005 Describes with poetic beauty of language and intimate knowledge of nature, the wonders of the "incomparable Yosemite," its storms, waterfalls, birds, trees, geological formation, and early history, introducing many personal experiences. For the use of tourists, it gives detailed accounts of excursions in the valley, with distances and prices. Three folding maps and 32 admirable illustrations from photographs.

The first part of Chase's Yosemite trails (Best Books 1911 p. 32) covers this same ground to some extent but is more of a personal narrative.

Muir, Bellman, 12:627; Dial, 52:429; Lit. Digest, 44:1165; Nation, 94:472; N. Y. Times, 17:253, Apr. 28, '12.

917.95 * Williams, J. H. The guardians of the Columbia; Mount Hood, Mount Adams and Mount St Helens.

Author, Tacoma, Wash. $1.50 n

12-20313 The slight but enthusiastic text describing the forests, geologic formation, Indian legends, etc. of these mountains of the Northwest is merely an accompaniment to the more than 200 excellent halftone reproductions of striking photographs of the mountains and their surroundings from all points of view. Eight in color are less satisfactory. Includes maps and information for tourists.

Nation, 95:411.

918 * Bryce, James. South America; observations and impressions. Macmillan $2.50 n

12-22020 Scholarly, just and optimistic; the result of four months' travel supplementing years of study. Describes the countries individually and discusses the problems of the continent as a whole, touching but slightly on political matters. Maps, bibliography.

Contains nothing that can be counted new or in the least unknown, but yet the writer's personality gives it a charm that nothing can impair. R. B. Cunningham Graham in Sat. R. 114:422.

12-24864 Caspar Whitney's The flowing road (Lippincott $3 n) tells of five separate overland and river expeditions into the densely wooded region lying between the Amazon and the middle course of the Orinoco and describes the country with freshness and spirit, giving enough detail to make the reader understand the conditions of travel. Nation, 96:10.

Small maps and 53 halftones.

12-8994 Algot Lange's In the Amazon jungle (Putnam $2.50 n 918.1) is a record of unusual and dangerous exploration in the rubber forests at the headwaters of the Amazon. Related simply but dramatically and conveying valuable information on the cannibal Mangeroma tribe. Two maps and many excellent halftones.

* Lincoln, J. C. The rise of Roscoe Paine.

Appleton $1.30 n

- 12-24824 Deals with a conflict of will between a rich man and the disheartened hero who lives in a Cape Cod village under an assumed name, the point at issue involving the interests of the settlement. Entertaining, with good local color and an interesting love story. Lit. Digest, 45:1020.

* Locke, W. J. The joyous adventures of Aristide Pujol. Lane $1.30 n

- 12-22809 Fantastic episodes ranging from selling corn cure to adopting a baby, in the life of a quick-witted, vivacious and kind-hearted Provençal, something of a vagabond and a good deal of a man. Reprinted from the American Magazine. Bookman, 36:307; Nation, 95:385; N. Y. Times, 17:598, Oct. 13, '12.

Lucas, E. V. London Lavender. Macmillan $1.35 n

- 12-21324 A delightful, piquant, irresponsible story with scarcely a vestige of plot, being a medley of character sketches, anecdotes, clever talk and humorous comment. Characters from Over Bemerton's, Listener's lure and Mr Ingleside reappear. Nation, 95:538; N. Y. Times, 17:595, Oct. 13, '12; Outlook (Eng.), 30:532; Outlook, 102:651; Spec. 109:377, Sept. 14, '12.

Macnaughtan, S. Peter and Jane; or, The missing heir. Dodd $1.25 n

- 11-14720 Pleasant, light reading — with likable characters — opening with scenes from English country life and closing with interesting, if improbable, adventures in Argentina. Ath. 1911, 2:386; N. Y. Times, 17:184, Mar. 31, '12; Spec. 107:1020, Dec. 9, '11; Outlook (Eng.), 28:514.

Newlin, Katharine. Penelope intrudes.

Cassel $1.25 n

- 12-40661 Fresh, simple story of a vivacious, generous-hearted American girl who visits a household of somewhat prejudiced English cousins. Author's interpretation of both the English and American temperament is sympathetic.

Nicholson, Meredith. A Hoosier chronicle.

Houghton $1.40 n

- 12-6222 Study of political and social life in Indiana with a love story involving the mystery of the heroine's parentage. Possibly too deliberate and serious to please the readers of author's previous stories. Atlantic, 109:679; Bookman, 35:313; Dial, 52:322; Nation, 94:288.

* Pryce, Richard. Christopher. Houghton $1.35 n

 Both are fully illustrated from photographs and the book for boys has working diagrams.
- 796 * Seton, E. T. The book of woodcraft and Indian lore. Doubleday $1.75 n 12-29572 This is the eleventh edition of the author's Birch-bark roll; designed to show how to live the outdoor life, giving the activities, laws, customs, and amusements of the Woodcraft Indians as developed in his camps for boys and setting forth his glorification of the Indian. Includes the author's share in the Boy scouts of America, The Boy Scouts' Official handbook, parts of his Foresters' manual and much new material. Many drawings by author. Nation, 96:63; N. Y. Times, 17:797, Dec. 29, '12; Outlook, 102:864.
- 797 * Claudy, C. H. Battle of base-ball. Century $1.50 n
 12-12145 Readable and reliable discussion of baseball strategy, with a chapter by Christy Mathewson on "How I became a big league pitcher." Written for boys but will be enjoyed by all lovers of the game. Forty-eight halftone photographs.
 N. Y. Times, 17:266, Apr. 28, '12.
- 797 * Davis, C. G. ed. Harper's boating book for boys. Harper $1.75 12-11682 Clear, interesting chapters by experts, giving instruction in swimming, making toy boats, and building and managing all kinds of real boats — canoes, sailboats, motorboats etc. Includes history of the Harvard-Yale boat races 1852-1912, and a dictionary of mechanical and electrical terms. Helpful illustrations and diagrams.

Lit. Digest, 45:586.

- 812 Stevenson, Augusta. Children's classics in dramatic form. Book 5. Houghton 60c n
- 10-4577 Three historical plays, on Nathan Hale, Joan of Arc and Benedict Arnold, and eight dramatizations of stories such as Dickens's Christmas carol and Scott's Ivanhoe. Designed for reading or acting by children of the seventh and eighth grades. They are longer and have larger casts than those in previous books of the series.
- 822 Shakespeare, William. The Ben Greet Shakespeare for young readers and amateur players. 6v. Doubleday 60c n ea
- 12-12660 Excellent practical versions of As you like it, Comedy of errors, Julius Caesar, Merchant of Venice, Midsummer night's dream, and The tempest, abridged and arranged for reading or acting by children or amateurs. Right-hand pages are devoted to the text, the left-hand to stage directions, diagrams of stage, sketches of costumes, etc. Each volume contains "a few general rules or customs of acting," colored frontispiece and end papers.
- 827 Swift, Jonathan. Gulliver's voyages to Lilliput and Brobdingnag; illus. by P. A. Staynes. Holt $2.25 n
- A13-1365 Admirable edition substantially bound and well printed on thick paper with good margins. Suitably expurgated for children and appropriately illustrated with eight colored plates and many line drawings in the text—some tinted with red.
- 888.6 Aesop. Aesop's fables; a new translation by V. S. V. Jones. Doubleday $1.50 n
- 12-29984 Thoroughly satisfactory edition as to text, type, paper and binding. Illustrated by Arthur Rackham with thirteen delightful, grotesque, colored plates and many black and white drawings. Ath. 1912, 2:496.
- 904 Baldwin, James. Fifty famous people. American Bk Co. 35c n
- 12-21617 Short stories for young children, simply and interestingly told, recounting episodes in the childhood of great men of all times and countries.
- 914.1 Williamson, Margaret. John and Betty's Scotch history visit. Lothrop $1.25
- 12-21159 The American brother and sister of the author's John and Betty's history visit (see Best Books 1910, p. 42) go to Scotland with English friends and their adventures and impressions of historic sites are described in an equally vivacious manner. Twenty-four illustrations from photographs.
- 12-21321 Donald in Scotland by E. B. McDonald and Julia Dalrymple (Little people everywhere, Little 60c) has the same aim though it covers less territory, is meant for somewhat younger children and is more nearly related to fiction. It tells of the visit of a boy from the lowlands to two children in the highlands and the latter's return visit. Nine photographic illustrations.

- 914.6 * McDonald, E. B. & Dalrymple, Julia. Josefa in Spain. (Little people everywhere) Little 60c
 12-21320 In this tale of Josefa, the gypsy child, finally adopted by a rich Spanish family, stories from history and descriptions of the most distinctive and picturesque aspects of national life are interestingly given. Nine illustrations from photographs.
- 915.2 * Perkins, L. F. The Japanese twins. Houghton $1 n
 12-25844 Tells very delightfully about the home life in Japan of Taro and Take aged five, and about many Japanese customs. Attractively illustrated by author's crayon sketches. Companion to author's Dutch twins.
 Independent, 73:1372; Lit. Digest, 45:1079.
- 917.8 * Schultz, J. W. With the Indians in the Rockies. Houghton $1.25 n 12-23115 Interesting account of hunting days in the 60's, telling how a boy of seventeen and his young Indian friend were cut off by snow and forced to shift for themselves for the winter. Six illustrations.

FAIRY AND FOLK TALES

- 398.2 * Baldwin, James. The sampo; illustrated by N. C. Wyeth. Scribner $2 n
 12-23922 An admirable adaptation for children of the Finnish folk epic, the Kalevala, noteworthy for style, interest, and attractiveness of printing and illustration. The adventures center about the wonder-smith who forged the sampo (mill-of-bounty) as part of the price to be paid for the Maid of Beauty.
 Nation, 95:436; N. Y. Times, 17:653, Nov. 10, '12.
- 398.2 Jatakas. Jataka tales; ed. by E. C. Babbitt. Century $1 n; School ed. 40c n 12-40653 Indian fables and animal stories, from one of the sacred books of the Buddhists, simply and acceptably retold for children. Silhouette illustrations.
 The school edition, reprinted from same plates with same illustrations, is very satisfactory for library usage. The binding is plainer but more secure, and the paper less stiff. Smaller in size through a reduction in the margins.
- 398.2 Macdonell, Anne. The Italian fairy book. Stokes $1.50
 W12-21 Excellent selection from Italian fairy and folk tales of thirty-seven stories, skilfully adapted by the author for English speaking children. A few have familiar motives.
 Acad. 80:759, Dec. 16, '11; Independent, 70:122; Sat. R. 112; sup. Dec. 9, '11, p. 5.
- 398.2 Rhead, L. J. Bold Robin Hood and his outlaw band. Harper $1.50 12-23204 Like Pyle's version, this follows the ballads, but unlike it, aims at historical accuracy which necessitates the inclusion of some cruel and unpleasant incidents. Similar to Pyle in manner, but different in arrangement; occasionally other versions are followed and some additions made. The illustrations, also by the author, are reminiscent of Pyle but not so uniformly attractive.

- 398.2 Wheeler, Post. Russian wonder tales. Century $2.50 n 12-24264 Twelve well-told fairy tales from Russian folklore, each with a charming illustration in color by the Russian artist, I. A.
 Bilibin.
 Outlook, 102:694.
- 398.2 Whitehorn, A. L. Wonder tales of old Japan; illus.
 by Shozan Obata. Stokes $1.25 n
 W12-39 Twenty-one Japanese folk tales which the author has enlarged without destroying the atmosphere. Children will find them novel and interesting. Animals figure largely, as do dragons and goblins.
 Good paper and print and 12 appropriate colored plates by a Japanese artist.

BIOGRAPHY FOR CHILDREN

- * Columbus. Moore, C. W. The story of Christopher Columbus. Houghton 75c n
 A12-1047 Excellent short biography combining all possible historical accuracy with vivid narrative style. Illustrations are largely from old prints.
 Cath. World, 96:115; N. Y. Times, 17:378, June 23, '12.
- Lang, Mrs L. B. (Mrs. Andrew Lang). The book of saints and heroes; ed. by Andrew Lang.
 Longmans $1.60 n
 12-24314 Simply but effectively related legends and stories of twenty-three Christian saints told somewhat after the manner of fairy tales and modifying the horrors of martyrdom and torture. Arranged in approximately chronological order, from Dorothea to Vincent de Paul. The 30 illustrations of which 12 are in color, are similar to those of the Lang fairy books.
 Ath. 1912, 2:497; Spec. 109:787, Nov. 16, '12.
- Raleigh. Buchan, John. Sir Walter Raleigh.
 Holt $2 n
 A13-1364 Spirited biography for boys, telling the story of Raleigh's life in eleven chapters, each written vividly in the first person by an imaginary friend or follower. Portrait, map on end papers and colored wash drawings.
 Outlook, 102:694; Rev. of Rev. 46:636; Spec. 107:800, Nov.
 11, '11.

CHILDREN'S STORIES

- Barbour, R. H. Crofton chums. Century $1.25 n 12-22560 Lively and entertaining school story portraying life in a homelike boarding house and the fun and athletics of very natura-boys. Unfortunately includes the too common caricature of a man teacher who improves under the boys' counsel.
- * Brown, Alice. The secret of the clan.
 Macmillan $1.25 n
 12-23927 Adventures of four merry girls who live with a delightful step-grandmother, call themselves "the tribe," and are as honorable, as full of charm, and occasionally as absurd as girls in their early teens can be. Style and characterization are excellent.
 A touch of grown-up melodrama slightly disfigures the story.

- * Dix, B. M. Betty-bide-at-home. Holt $1.25 n
- 12-21143 Interesting story of a daughter who sacrifices her college career to stay at home and help her mother. Several of the characters are somewhat overdrawn and a few of the situations forced, but the story is admirable in its attitude and lessons.
- * Gilchrist, B. B. Helen over the wall; the adventure with the fairy godmother. Penn $1.20 n
- 12-25385 Attractive, rather fanciful story for girls about twelve, unfortunately the first of a series. Helen, imaginative, lively and quick-tempered, goes reluctantly to spend a month with an invalid aunt, discovers a fairy godmother and an engaging family over-the-wall, and is surprised to find this her happiest summer.
- Holland, R. S. The knights of the Golden Spur. Century $1.25 n
- 12-22557 Tells with spirit and enjoyment how a little modern English boy, by means of a magic amulet, was enabled to go back in the centuries and have an adventure typical of the times with each of his favorite heroes — Sir Launcelot, Richard Coeur de Lion, Little John and others.
- Jacobs, C. E. "Emilia Elliott" pseud. The S. W. F. club. Jacobs $1 n
- 12-19326 Cheerful, pretty story of three sisters, daughters of a minister in the small town of Winton, Vermont. As they can not afford to go away for the summer, they organize a club for "seeing Winton first," and realize the pleasant possibilities of a vacation at home.
- Lucia, Rose. Peter and Polly in summer. Amer. Bk Co. 35c n
- 12-40658 Simple little stories for young children of the good times of a boy and girl on a farm. Attractively illustrated.
- * Masefield, John. Jim Davis. Stokes $1.25 n
- A13-480 Spirited, well-written story for boys, told by the hero, an English lad of twelve, who is kidnapped by smugglers on the Devonshire coast in the early nineteenth century and passes through dangerous adventures.
- Ath. 1911, 2:516; Outlook (Eng.) 30:220; Sat. R. 112:527.
- * Maynard, Colton. Elliott Gray, Jr., a chronicle of school life. Revell $1 n
- 12-5554 School story of a new and attractive type in which the theme is the "tone of the school." The young hero, whose father is a graduate of this New England school, has inherited its traditions and high standard of character and faces seriously his responsibilities to help maintain them, while remaining natural and fun-loving.
- * Sienkiewicz, Henryk. In desert and wilderness; tr. from the Polish by M. A. Drezmal. Little $1.25 n
- 12-3599 Thrilling story of the adventures in Africa of a resourceful Polish boy of fourteen and a delicate English girl of eight who have been kidnapped by treacherous natives. An astonishing amount of information about climate, fauna, flora, and tribes is conveyed and made much more than readable. Will fascinate boys and girls of twelve and over.

Tomlinson, E. T. The young minute-man of 1812.

Houghton $1.50

- 12-24201 The adventures founded upon fact of a boy of seventeen with the American troops on the lakes in 1814.

Young, Martha. When we were wee. (Every-child's ser.) Macmillan 40c n

- 12-21603 Simple, lifelike stories of the play times and original home-made toys of ten children who lived on their grandmother's Alabama plantation during "war times." Illustrated in part by contemporary portraits. An attractive volume in a mediocre series, with secure but ugly binding.

* Zwilmeyer, Dikken. Johnny Blossom, tr. by Emilie Poulsson. Pilgrim Press $1 n

- 12-22553 Remarkably natural interpretation of child life, relating with understanding and sympathy, the scrapes, repentances, and good times of a ten year old Norwegian boy. Will be appreciated also by grown-ups. The colored illustrations are very happy. Outlook, 102:693.

CHILDREN'S BOOKS NOTABLE ESPECIALLY FOR THEIR ILLUSTRATIONS

741 Moore, C. C. Twas the night before Christmas.

Houghton $1 n

- 12-28683 An attractive edition of this children's classic amusingly and effectively illustrated with 12 colored plates, ornamental initial letters, marginal sketches, cover design, picture end papers and title page by Jessie Wilcox Smith.

Robinson, W. H. Bill the minder. Holt $3.50 n

- A12-1693 Fairy tale or tales relating the adventures of the small boy, Bill, the minder of children, and his charges. Rather negligible as a story but worth getting, if the library can afford it, for the numerous and delightful illustrations by the author, especially the 16 colored plates, which depict with happy whimsicality and high artistic merit, delectable babies and odd creations both animal and human.

Ath. 1912, 2:498; Dial, 53:454; Sat. R. 114, sup. Dec. 7, '12, p. 10.

Smith, E. Boyd. The seashore book.

Houghton $1.50 n

- 12-22138 Companion volume to the Farm book, with story text; exists chiefly for the attractive full-page drawings in color and marginal black and white illustrations which picture rowing, clamming, a ship's building and launching, good times on the sand, etc. Independent, 73:1361.

741 Smith, Jessie Wilcox, illus. Dickens's children.

Scribner $1 n

- 12-22525 Ten sympathetic and appealing colored pictures of children from Dickens's stories. Short quotations from the text accompany them. Appeared in Scribner's Magazine. Bookman, 36:391.

- 741 Tailor and the crow (The); an old rhyme with new drawings by L. Leslie Brooke. Warne $1 n
- A13-1363 Six colored plates and some 30 drawings in black and white illustrate this nursery rhyme with great spirit and detail. Spec. 107:1016, Dec. 9, '11.
- Winter, Milo. Billy Popgun. Houghton $1.50 n
- 12-25536 A pretty though not notable fairy tale of a little boy's dream charmingly illustrated by the author with 8 colored plates and black and white chapter headings, full of life and fancy as they follow Billy's adventures with animals and fairies.

Albany, July 9, 1912

Hon. Andrew S. Draper

Commissioner of Education

DEAR SIR: I have the honor to present herewith and to recommend for publication, a third edition of the register or general catalog of the New York State Library School. The former editions were issued when the school was ten and fifteen years old. This year it will celebrate, at the dedication of the Education Building, its first quarter-centenary, at which occasion it is purposed to publish this new roster of its former students with their professional records.

Very truly yours

J. I. WYER, JR

PREFACE

This register continues the series which has appeared at irregular intervals since the opening of the school on January 5, 1887 under the name of the Columbia College School of Library Economy. Annual registers were issued in 1887 and 1888. The Library School Register, 1887-96, covering the first ten years of the school appeared in 1898 and the second register, covering 1887-1901, appeared in 1902. The present register covers the period from January 5, 1887 to December 31, 1911. Notices of positions obtained later than December 31, 1911 which came to the notice of the school while the compilation of the register was in progress have been included to make the record as nearly up to date as possible. These later positions are not included in any of the statistics on pages 103-4.

In nearly every case the information was received directly from the former students themselves and their desires in the description of positions held have been followed. In the few cases in which no later information was obtainable the entries of the old register were retained. Notices of any errors or omissions will be gratefully received.

The general plan of the 1887-1901 register has been followed but some important changes have been made. Membership in library associations and appointments to committee membership in such associations have been omitted to save space though elective offices are included whenever reported. Some material, primarily historic in character, has been omitted and will appear in modified form in a pamphlet, now in preparation, which will be devoted to the history of the first quarter-century of the school.

Manuscript records bringing the register to date are kept at the school, and all students are asked to help keep this record as complete and accurate as possible. A list of new positions for the fiscal year ending September 30th is published in each annual report. This list includes all changes of positions of which the school receives information in any way.

Current notes of changes of position are sent regularly to the Library Journal and Public Libraries.

A list of colleges from which students have received degrees has been prepared. Though primarily useful to the school itself, it may prove interesting and helpful to persons interested in the educational preparation of librarians, and it shows conclusively the representative character of the student body at all periods of the school's history.

Detailed accounts of the work of the school will be found in the annual reports of the school and in its annual circulars of information.

Most of the compilation and verification of the individual records has been done by Miss Edna M. Sanderson ('01) registrar of the school and Miss Lida C. Vasbinder ('11).

STUDENTS

Arranged by classes

Facts are given in the following order: (1) library school credentials and attendance; (2) residence before entrance; (3) college connection; (4) positions; (5) elective offices in national, state, local and New York State Library School Associations; (6) reported address at date of publication of this register.

If a student is registered as attending the school while filling a position, it signifies a leave of absence.

Columbia certificate. This certificate was granted by Columbia University to students who completed the course there before the school was transferred to the New York State Library in 1889.

First year certificate. This certificate shows that the holder has met all entrance requirements and has completed satisfactorily the work and examinations of junior year. As the completion of the work of the first year is implied in the degree, in recent years this certificate has not always been given to students receiving the degree B. L. S.

Diploma. This shows that the holder has met all entrance requirements, has received at least one year's instruction in residence at the school, has passed each examination of the two years' course with a standing of not less than 75 per cent and has submitted a satisfactory bibliography. It is also granted to holders of Columbia certificates who have passed all library examinations of the New York State Library School and have submitted the required graduation bibliography.

Honor credentials. Up to and including 1906, if three-fourths of all required work had been completed with an examination standing of 90 per cent or over, the credential was issued "with honor." Since 1906 no "honor" credentials have been issued.

B. L. S. Beginning with the class of 1902, all graduates of registered colleges who complete the two years' course receive the degree B. L. S. (bachelor of library science). It is also granted to holders of Columbia certificates, who have passed all library examinations of the New York State Library School, submitted the required graduation bibliography and have been engaged for ten years in successful library work, accepted as satisfactory by vote of the faculty. In classes of the New York State Library School before that of 1902 the degree was conferred only on graduates who won honors in three-fourths of the course, and who submitted diplomas or certificates from registered colleges or passed examinations covering at least two full years of general college work, three-fourths with honor.

M. L. S. The degree M. L. S. (master of library science) is conferred only on graduates of recognized fitness and character who, after having received the degree, bachelor of library science, have been successfully engaged not less than five years in professional library work and who present a satisfactory thesis, bibliography or catalog, and pass such further examinations as the faculty may prescribe.

PRELIMINARY EDUCATION OF STUDENTS

Even in the early years of the school when college graduation was much less common than at present and students were admitted to the school on entrance examination, a large proportion of those admitted were either college graduates or had completed one or more years of college work. This proportion steadily increased until almost all of the students had more or less college training.

March 1, 1902, the school was formally placed on a graduate basis by vote of the faculty and admission to regular standing limited to graduates of colleges registered by the Regents of the University of the State of New York and later by the State Education Department. This faculty ruling has been adopted by the Education Department and is incorporated in the Regents Revised Rules which define the scope and government of the school as a division of the State Education Department.

474 of the 640 students listed have bachelor's degrees from 115 different colleges and universities. 60 institutions, including the Universities of Berlin, Marburg, Heidelberg and Paris, Newnham College (Cambridge), Columbia University, University of Pennsylvania, Oxford University and the Collège de France are represented by students of one or more years' residence but who have not received degrees from these institutions. 47 institutions have granted either the master's or doctor's degree (or both) to 62 students. In other words, nearly 10 per cent of all matriculated students have graduate degrees. In all, 132 different colleges and universities (exclusive of technical or professional schools) are represented.

Smith College has sent the largest number of any single institution, being represented by 49 persons (including 7 students who took only partial courses); Wellesley comes second with 38 names (including 11 students with partial courses); Vassar, third in total number of representatives, 37 (including 5 students with partial courses), though in number of graduates (32), she is considerably in advance of Wellesley; Cornell with 31 (3 with partial courses and one graduate degree); Harvard with 28 (9 with partial courses and one graduate degree); Michigan with 18 (7 with partial courses); Nebraska with 17 (1 with a partial course); Mt Holyoke with 16 (3 with partial courses); Syracuse with 13 (1 with a partial course).

25 students have attended 16 professional schools other than the State Library School. 13 have attended 6 theological seminaries. 8 have attended 6 law schools and 6 have received degrees. The remaining 4 of the 25 students have the degree M. D., 1 from the Harvard Medical School, 2 from Rush Medical College and 1 from Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

In the lists which follow, the classes represented are indicated by abbreviated class numeral, while the numerals in parentheses indicate the number of the student in the list of matriculates on pages 11-95. E. g., "Radcliffe College '02 (305)" indicates that the class of 1902 (N. Y. S. L. S.) had one member (whose record is no. 305 in the list of students) from Radcliffe.

POSITIONS

During the period from January 5, 1887 to December 31, 1912, a total of 2131 positions held by students of the school is recorded. 825 of these were in New York State—by far the largest number filled in any one state. Next in order by number of positions held are Massachusetts with 215, Pennsylvania with 144, the District of Columbia with 110 and Illinois with 106. In all, 39 states are represented. 20 positions have been filled in 6 foreign countries. It is significant that several of the states not on the list are states in which library work has not yet excited much public interest or received adequate public support.

The positions held include libraries of all sizes and character. 40 of the 50 cities of the United States with a population of 100,000 or over are on the list. In 13 of them, former students are, or have been chief librarians. 24 of them are at present at the head of libraries in cities of from 25,000 to 100,000 population. On the other hand, as secretaries or field workers in 14 state library commissions and as organizers or librarians of very small libraries, the school, through its students, has influenced library work in its simplest forms. Students have served on the staff of nearly 50 colleges and universities and have been librarians of more than 30. Many special libraries, governmental and others are among the institutions represented. In its own particular field, that of instruction in library methods, the school numbers on its rolls, the heads, past and present, of 8 library schools and it is or has been represented on the faculty of 11 of the 12 regular schools.

640 students have matriculated. Of these 501 have been women and 139 men. 31 of these (25 women and 6 men) have died. Including as no longer in library work several cases in which the school has no information to the contrary, only 161 women (including 74 who have married) and 37 men of the 611 regular students still living who have attended the school, even for a short period, are not in library work at the date of this writing. Any professional school which, at the end of a quarter-century can show that 68 per cent of all the women and 73 per cent of all the men whom it has trained are still in the line of work for which they were trained must, to show such results, train for a profession which has many inherent attractions. Were the rather considerable number of both men and women who are allied to library work as library trustees, editors and occasional library workers or who, from illness or for family reasons, are only temporarily out of the work to be included, the percentage would be perceptibly increased.

SUMMER COURSE

Thirteen summer sessions have been held, beginning with July 1896 and ending with the session of June 1-July 13, 1910. The session of 1906 was omitted on account of the resignation of Mrs Fairchild, while the destruction of the State Library in 1911 and the delay in finishing the State Education Building prevented any summer courses in the summers of 1911 and 1912.

As the six weeks' summer course is intended to be of service only to actual library workers who, for good reasons, can not take a more extended course of training, and as there are practically no entrance requirements, the residences, positions and other professional information about summer students have not been included in the summaries and statistics of the main list. Three states, not on the list of those from which students in the regular course have come, (Alabama, Georgia and Virginia) have been represented in the summer school.

In all, there have been 301 different students in the summer courses. Ten of these have been in attendance at more than one session and 4 have afterward matriculated as students in the regular course. A list of the summer students with their addresses and positions at the time they attended the school is given below.

26th ANNUAL REPORT OF THE NEW YORK STATE LIBRARY SCHOOL

FROM SEPTEMBER 30, 1911 TO SEPTEMBER 30, 1912

WORK OF THE YEAR

The school year 1911-12 was begun with some apprehension on the part of the faculty. The temporary quarters in the Guild House were not definitely assigned to the school until nearly time for its opening and the furniture which was secured for the use of the students did not arrive until the morning of the first day of the school year. A considerable number of books had been obtained during the summer but many of those most needed were scattered throughout the city in the various places in which the State Library was temporarily located and only a few were on the shelves ready for use. The supply of light, both natural and artificial, was quite inadequate and, altogether, the chances for a very successful year would to the casual observer have seemed somewhat slender.

Only a short time was needed to change this aspect very materially. Temporary windows of clear glass and an adequate supply of gas were installed, books came in rapidly and the severely ecclesiastical Sunday-school room of the Guild House was soon transformed into a comfortable study room. The presence of the Educational Extension Division and the book selection section on the second floor and the presence of books and bookshelves from basement to top floor gave a library atmosphere that was in itself no inconsiderable aid to good work. Constant vigilance in the matter of obtaining necessary books and careful planning to make classroom problems fit the resources prevented the students from feeling any marked privation in the way of working material. The seniors had already showed their dependable qualities in one crisis and the entering class proved themselves no less adaptable. The very scarcity of material at the outset and the emergency methods necessary throughout the whole State Library gave an excellent opportunity for emphasizing the modifications in library methods necessitated by differences in physical conditions such as inconvenient buildings and by scanty resources, while the daily appearance of new books in the working collection and the greater facility in answering problems which the new accessions gave, made some appreciation of their relative importance easy.

The peculiar conditions imposed harder work on the faculty but resulted in little or no impairment of the general efficiency of the course as to either the quantity or quality of work required from the students. When all deserve credit it is hard to single out any for special mention but acknowledgment must be made of the services of the registrar in keeping in smooth working order a schedule difficult to arrange satisfactorily even under favorable circumstances and of the indefatigable zeal with which Miss Woodworth collected material of illustrative value and filled up gaps in the collection on library economy.

She was greatly aided in this by the very general and generous response on the part of many former students who sent from their personal collections and otherwise, much material in the way of library publications which would have been nearly unobtainable in any other way. As these gifts went directly to the order section of the State Library and not to the school, acknowledgment of individual donations will be made through the State Library.

The somewhat untoward environment was accepted by faculty and students alike as a problem for solution and the increased difficulties in the way of easy work were met as opportunities for more vigorous professional exercise. To the confidence arising from experience in well-established methods was added the freshness of discovery in applying these old methods to new conditions. The net result was one of the most pleasant, and, in various ways, one of the most constructive years in the recent history of the school.

Detailed comment on the work of the year follows.

FACULTY

James Ingersoll Wyer, Jr. M.L.S. (N.Y.) Director. Instructor in public documents, advanced reference work; lecturer on American libraries, 1906-

Frank Keller Walter M.A. (Haverford) B.L.S. (N.Y.) Vice Director. Instructor in elementary reference work, bookbinding, printing, expansive classification, elementary bibliography, in charge of library seminar, 1908-

Florence Woodworth B.L.S. (N.Y.) Director's assistant. In charge of Library School collections and practice work, 1889-

Walter Stanley Biscoe M.A. (Amherst) Instructor in subject bibliography, advanced classification, history of books and foreign libraries, 1887-

Ada Alice Jones (Wellesley) Secretary of the faculty, 1889-

William Reed Eastman M.A. (Yale) M.L.S. (N.Y.) Instructor in library administration, library buildings, 1895-

Martha Thorne Wheeler, Graduate (N.Y.) Instructor in selection of books, indexing, 1895-

Edna M. Sanderson B.A. (Wellesley) B.L.S. (N.Y.) Registrar, 1905-

Katharine Dame B.A. (Boston Univ.) Graduate of Pratt Institute Library School, Instructor in advanced cataloging, 1910-

Jean Hawkins B.M. (Smith) B.L.S. (N.Y.) Instructor in classification, subject headings, 1910-

Jennie Dorcas Fellows, Graduate (N.Y.) Instructor in elementary cataloging, accession and shelf work, 1911-

Chiefly on account of the increased work in cataloging caused by the destruction of the card catalog of the old State Library, Miss Ada Alice Jones, instructor in cataloging from 1888 to 1912, was unable to undertake her scheduled course in advanced cataloging. She has since definitely withdrawn from active instructional work, though she still remains secretary of the faculty. The exactness, clearness and well-organized detail of Miss Jones's instruction, the studied variety and typical character of the problems assigned the students, and the minute accuracy demanded in their solution have for years been among the best traditions of the school and have been the most potent single influence in firmly establishing its reputation as a training school for expert catalogers.

One new member, Miss Jennie Dorcas Fellows, was elected to faculty membership during the year.

The brief courses in loan and order work were conducted by Mr Carl P. P. Vitz, Director's assistant and head of the order section of the State Library, and the course in children's work was under the general charge of Miss Clara W. Hunt ('98), superintendent of children's work in the Brooklyn Public Library.

LECTURERS 1911-12

Twenty-eight lecturers, other than the regular faculty, gave sixty-eight lectures on various phases of library work not particularly emphasized in the regular courses or which from their importance merited additional presentation from different points of view. These lecturers were carefully selected both from their ability to present their subjects attractively and for the professional experience which gave authority to their statements.

ATTENDANCE

Forty-three students were enrolled during the year: 11 seniors and 32 juniors. Eighteen of these were residents of New York State, 3 came from Pennsylvania, 3 from Ohio, 2 each from California, Massachusetts, Michigan, Vermont and Washington, and 7 other states and Denmark and Norway had 1 representative each. Denmark appeared for the first time on the school roll, increasing to 9 the number of foreign countries from which students have come.

Thirty colleges were represented by bachelors' degrees. Smith led with 4, the University of California was second with 3 and was followed by Colgate, Cornell, Grinnell, Middlebury, Vassar, Wells, Wesleyan and Whitman with 2 each. Eight graduate degrees were on the list and several other students had done resident college or university work beyond the requirement for the bachelor's degree. Sixteen, or more than a third of the entire number enrolled, had been in regular library positions before entering the school and 2 were admitted to advanced standing on account of successful and extended library experience. Three were on leaves of absence and at the close of the year returned to the libraries from which they had come.

Staff instruction and special students. Six members of the staff of the New York State Library attended courses in the school. The subjects thus taken were accession work, bookbinding, cataloging, classification, government documents, printing, selection of books and shelf work.

Miss Mary McCann of the staff of the Pruyn Library (Albany, N.Y.) successfully completed the course in elementary reference.

CHANGES IN COURSES OF STUDY

Generally speaking, the changes in the curriculum were not extensive and were mostly in the direction of closer coordination of different subjects and of increased emphasis on the most recent methods in vogue in good libraries. The more important changes or points worthy of special emphasis in particular courses are noted below.

Administration. Mr Wyer and Miss Mary L. Davis again gave the lectures in the elementary course, covering practically the same ground as in 1910-11. Business correspondence was discussed and some practice in dictation given to more than half the class. This practice consisted in dictating actual answers to letters received in the regular correspondence of the school. It was interrupted only on account of changes among the staff stenographers which made its continuance impracticable for the time.

A list of the lecturers in the advanced administration course follows. (For specific subjects see pages 8-9.)

Cataloging. At the close of the year 1910-11, Miss Dame gave up most of her school work to assume charge of the subject headings of the new catalog of the State Library. Miss Jennie D. Fellows was selected to take the junior cataloging course formerly conducted by Miss Dame. The destruction of all the books previously used in the cataloging practice work as well as the change from a classed to a dictionary catalog in the State Library necessitated the formation of an entirely new outline of the course. This was accomplished very satisfactorily through the tireless industry of Miss Fellows and her intimate knowledge of the details of the course in previous years and its accomplishment was made easier by the generosity of the State Library in furnishing sufficient help for the multitudinous tasks necessary in collecting and arranging practice material and in correcting the problems. Much time previously consumed in copying notes from dictation was saved by the preparation of a very detailed set of stencils for the use of the students.

The plan for the advanced cataloging which was announced in the Circular of Information for 1910-11 could not be carried out on account of the illness of Miss Jones. Instead of the proposed elective courses divided between Miss Jones and Miss Dame, only one course, under the direction of Miss Dame, was given. This paid special attention to difficult subject headings, author entries and the cataloging of foreign books. In 1911-12, two courses will be offered. Their character is indicated in the following extract from the Circular of Information for 1912-13:

Cataloging. Elective. Lectures, class discussions and problems. A continuation of the work of the junior year but confined more particularly to the practices and problems of university and large reference libraries. Two coordinate courses of 100 hours each.

Seniors will be required to take one of these courses or, if they desire, may elect both.

a Advanced dictionary cataloging. Advanced problems in author entries and subject headings. Cataloging difficult books with special attention to foreign books and the use of catalogers' reference books. Miss Dame b Comparative study of catalog codes. Theory of the classed catalog with some practice in classed cataloging and a study of the distinctions between the dictionary and the classed catalog. Miss Fellows

Classification and subject headings. These courses, like that in cataloging, were completely reconstructed and the practice work based on entirely new lists of books. In subject headings, which was taught separately from classification, the new A. L. A. List of Subject Headings was used as a basis. A considerable number of books, new and old, have been collected to illustrate the different points brought out in both courses.

By the cooperation of Miss Hawkins, who was in charge of the subject headings, and Miss Fellows (in charge of cataloging) considerable repetition was avoided with a consequent saving of time in the number of recitation hours required.

Library and the community. This course, which is outlined in the annual Circular of Information, was elected in 1911-12 by three seniors. Two of the studies have been completed and by their quality fully justify the inclusion of this subject in the course. Three members of the class of 1913 have expressed their intention of electing it instead of a bibliography.

The studies are examined and criticized by the director and vice director who examine particularly the part relating directly to library activities and by the legislative reference librarian, who pays particular attention to the economic and sociological phases.

Subject bibliography. During the year a good working collection of subject bibliography, quite sufficient for any probable demands arising from class work was assembled. While this was being collected, the course as previously given by Mr Biscoe was continued without material change or abridgment through the kindness of several libraries in the matter of interlibrary loans. The school is particularly indebted to the Boston Public Library, the Brooklyn Public Library, Columbia University Library, Cornell University Library, the Forbes Library (Northampton, Mass.), and the Library of Congress for the temporary use of many important typical bibliographies.

Original bibliographies and community studies. Since the facilities for original bibliographic work in the New York State Library were practically limited to the consultation of entries in published catalogs and bibliographies and very little opportunity for verification through actual examination of books could be given, the seniors were excused from the required practice work in outside libraries and the month of March was devoted to bibliographic research chiefly in the Boston Public Library, the Cleveland Public Library, Columbia University Library, the Library of Congress and the New York Public Library.

Allen, Amy. Select bibliography of comparative mythology.

Hill, Grace. Select bibliography of American drama and the stage.

Holmes, Florence I. Bibliography of institutions for children in the United States.

Hooker, D. Ashley. Select list of military and naval fiction.

McKee, Alice D., joint compiler. Books on art and artists.

Published by the Ohio State Library, 1912.

The following "Library and community" studies were presented:

Potter, Mrs Elizabeth G. San Francisco.

Rosholt, Ruth. Minneapolis; a community study from the standpoint of the public library.

Annual library visit. The annual library visit was made April 2d-April 9th directly after the close of the month's practice work in libraries outside of Albany. The trip was slightly shortened since the actual practice which preceded it in many ways served the purpose of the more extended visit of previous years.

The visit included libraries of Springfield, Worcester, Boston and vicinity and Providence and the party was received with the cordial welcome which has come to be recognized as characteristic of the New England visits. The shorter schedule made it possible again to visit the libraries of Salem, after an interval of several years.

The most prominent social features of the trip were a luncheon at Clark University given by Dr Louis N. Wilson, a reception at the home of Mr and Mrs Robert K. Shaw, an informal reception at the Medford Public Library, and an informal reception given by Miss Mary P. Parsons ('13) and Mrs H. B. Howlett. Two other very pleasant features not on the schedule were a special opening of the Annmary Brown Memorial at Providence for the inspection of the students and a visit to the Salem Athenaeum and the Essex Institute of Salem under the guidance of Mr Gardner M. Jones.

A summary of the schedule follows:

April 2 Springfield City Library Association.

April 3 Worcester Free Public Library, Clark University Library, American Antiquarian Society Library, Worcester County Law Library.

April 4 Boston Public Library, Simmons College Library School, Boston Book Co., Massachusetts State Library.

April 5 Harvard University Library, Riverside Press.

April 6 Boston Athenaeum, Brookline Public Library.

- April 8 Providence Public Library, Providence Athenaeum, John Carter Brown Library, Brown University Library.
April 9 Medford Public Library, Salem Public Library.

Practice work. The experiment of discontinuing school exercises for a month (March) and sending the students to libraries outside of Albany for a month's practice work was first tried this year. Though the plan has been in successful operation for some time in several other schools, local conditions had prevented its earlier adoption in the New York State Library School.

The cordial interest of many of the best libraries of the country made it possible to provide a variety of practice suited to the needs and desires of all the students. The success of the experiment surpassed expectation. The students were unanimous in their expression of the benefit derived from being in regular work on regular schedule in good libraries, while more than the anticipated number of libraries reported that the presence of the students had been a real help in the work of the library.

The benefits received by the students were varied. Classroom instruction was subjected to the test of experience and the reasons for many more or less apparently doubtful dicta were made plain by actual trial; pleasant acquaintances among librarians were made and the professional outlook of the students was broadened by adverse criticism as well as by the favorable comment their work received. In several cases the fitness or the lack of fitness of the student for special kinds of work was demonstrated and a better basis laid for intelligent action in accepting positions. In the classroom work which followed the practice the broader viewpoint resulting from the practice and from the informal out-of-class discussions of comparative methods in which the students indulged was decidedly helpful to instructors and students.

A list of the libraries to whose courtesy in furnishing practice to students, the success of the plan is due follows:

Public libraries

Brooklyn Public Library, Brookline (Mass.) Public Library, Buffalo Public Library, Chicago Public Library, Public Library of the District of Columbia, New York Public Library, Carnegie Library (Pittsburgh), Queens Borough Public Library, Somerville (Mass.) Public Library, Springfield (Mass.) City Library Association, Utica Public Library, Wilmington (Del.) Institute Free Library, Worcester (Mass.) Free Public Library.

College and university libraries

Clark University, Colgate University, Columbia University, Smith College, Vassar College, Wellesley College.

The practice in the New York State Library will undoubtedly be even more valuable than before. With the increased space will come better accommodations for student workers and the reorganization of all the sections of the State Library will give a quantity and variety of practice that will directly benefit the State Library as well as the student and will preclude the necessity of stock problems. The large public reading-rooms will give quite enough opportunity for direct work with the public to all students whose training or experience has been sufficient to enable them to give satisfactory service.

Degrees. During the year the degree of master of library science (M.L.S.) was conferred on Joseph LeRoy Harrison, B.L.S. 1893, for 18 years librarian of the Providence (R.I.) Athenaeum and now librarian of the Forbes Library, Northampton, Mass.

The degree of bachelor of library science was conferred on the following six persons: Alice Doty McKee of the class of 1905; David Ashley Hooker of the class of 1908; and Amy Allen, Grace Hill, Florence Isabel Holmes and Ruth Rosholt of the class of 1912.

The total number of degrees conferred by the school to October 1, 1912 is: master of library science, 4; bachelor of library science, 157.

SUMMER SESSION

The delay in finishing the new State Education Building and the consequent uncertainty as to the date the school would be obliged to vacate its temporary home in the Guild House of the Cathedral of All Saints made it impossible to plan any summer session for 1912.

The number of applications received in spite of the announcement that no session would be held, showed that its value is appreciated and that in its distinct field, that of helping assistants do better work in their own libraries, it is doing valuable service to the State.

It is hoped that the session of 1913 may not only include the subjects which have proved valuable in general library work but that considerable attention may be paid to the special conditions to be found in the care and use of the school libraries of the State.

THE ALUMNI

During the past school year 100 positions (including reported promotions) filled by former students have come to the attention of the school. The total number (excluding a number of brief temporary positions) to October 1, 1912 is 2021. The number filled in New York State has increased to 764. The other 1257 are distributed through 36 other states and the District of Columbia. Two new positions have been filled in foreign countries, 1 in Denmark and 1 in Norway, bringing the total of foreign positions to 19.

The revised Register of the school is in press and as far as possible gives the complete professional record (in library work) of every one who has ever matriculated in the regular course. Circular letters were sent to all living students whose addresses could be learned, and in most cases the information asked was furnished promptly and fully. Some discrepancies in the statistics of past reports and a few errors of statement as to time and place of service have been corrected. Although restricted in scope, the Register is probably the nearest approach to a library Who's Who in print, and since the contemplated biographical handbook of the American Library Association has been definitely abandoned it will probably have no immediate competitor.

A list of the library positions filled from October 1, 1911 to October 1, 1912 which have been brought to the notice of the school follows:

New York State Library School Association. A meeting of the association was held in the grill room of the Chateau Laurier, Ottawa, June 30, 1912 during the conference of the American Library Association. Mr William M. Hepburn presided and the following officers for 1912-13 were elected:

President, Edwin Hatfield Anderson '92, assistant director, New York Public Library

1st vice president, Joseph LeRoy Harrison '93, librarian, Forbes Library, Northampton, Mass.

2d vice president, Julia M. Whittlesey '03, director, Western Reserve University Library School, Cleveland, O.

Secretary-treasurer, Bessie Sargeant Smith '97, superintendent of smaller branches, Cleveland Public Library

Member of advisory board, 1912-15, William Burt Gamble '12, chief, technology division, New York Public Library

Executive board, Isadore Gilbert Mudge '00, chairman, reference librarian, Columbia University Library, New York; Alice Arabella Blanchard '05, head of schools division, children's department, Seattle (Wash.) Public Library; Carl Hastings Milam '09, secretary Indiana Public Library Commission, Indianapolis.

The meeting was the largest and one of the most enthusiastic the association has ever held. Eighty-eight were at the dinner which preceded the business meeting. Several other former students, who were not at the dinner, were present at the conference.

The president, Mr Edwin H. Anderson, was appointed the official delegate of the association at the dedication of the new State Education Building, October 15th, 16th, 17th.

The association voted to present portraits of noted librarians to the school to be used for wall decorations.

The class of 1898 has given $28 to be used for such decorations or other material as the faculty may desire for the school's rooms. Part of this has been used for a handsome guest register which has been made for the school by Tiffany & Co. of New York. The class of 1901 is presenting several wall pictures of famous modern libraries, among them the Library of Congress, the New York Public Library and the Library of Columbia University. The class has given $100 for this purpose. One or two other classes are planning to make gifts to the school in connection with the reunion of former students which will be held on the evening of October 14th.

Alumni publications. The restoration of the alumni collection

(see page 26) has brought together a collection of books and articles on professional library topics by former students that is too extensive for adequate treatment in anything short of a separate bibliography. Many of these are necessarily local in purpose but many have attracted more than merely local attention.

The supplement (1904-11) to the A.L.A. Catalog of 1904 lists the following items on bibliography and library economy by former students: Arthur L. Bailey, Report of A.L.A. Committee on Book binding, Binding for Small Libraries, 1909; Bookbinding (A.L.A. Manual), 1911: Elva L. Bascom, ed. A.L.A. Booklist (Miss Bascom is also editor of the Supplement to the A.L.A. Catalog): Edna Dean Bullock, Management of Traveling Libraries, 1907; Selected Articles on Child Labor, 1911 (Debater's Hdbk. ser.): William R. Eastman, Library Building Plans, 1906: Marjary L. Gilson, Course of Study for Normal School Pupils on the Use of a Library, 1908: Arne Kildal, Selected List of Norwegian and Danish Books, 1908: Robert M. McCurdy and Edith M. Coulter, Bibliography of Articles Relating to Holidays (2d ed.), 1907: Isadore G. Mudge, Supplement (1909-10) to Kroeger's Guide to the Study and Use of Reference Books, 1911: Mrs Clara Mulliken Norton, Fanny E. Marquand and others, Modern Drama and Opera, 1911: Josephine A. Rathbone, Shelf Department (A.L.A. Manual), 1911: Harriet H. Stanley, 550 Children's Books, 1910: James I. Wyer, Jr, U.S. Government Documents, 1906; U.S. Government Documents in Small Libraries (3d ed.), 1910, and College and University Library (A.L.A. Manual) 1911: Asa Wynkoop ed. New York Libraries, 1907-12: and William F. Yust, Library Legislation (A.L.A. Manual) 1911.

Additional recent publications of importance like the A.L.A. List of Subject Headings (largely compiled and edited by Esther Crawford and Mary J. Briggs), Charles A. Flagg's Guide to Massachusetts Local History 1907 and the revision of the Decimal Classification (1911) under the direction of May Seymour, are not listed.

Outside the field of library science or only in part belonging to it is found a number of very creditable books which are in the collection or which, in default of an actual copy, belong in it. Among these the following may be mentioned as typical in their varied character:

Edna Adelaide Brown, Four Gordons, 1911: Charles A. Flagg, Descendants of Benjamin Rockwood, sr, of Grafton, Mass. 1905: Walter Cox Green, Dictionary of Etiquette, 1904: Joseph Le Roy Harrison (compiler), Cap and Gown, 1893; With Pipe and Book, 1897: Ono M. Imhoff, collaborator on Dr Charles McCarthy's The Wisconsin Idea, 1912: Katharine B. Judson, Montana "the Land of Shining Mountains," 1909; Myths and Legends of the Pacific Northwest, 1910; Myths and Legends of California, 1912: Arne Kildal, (translator) Speeches and New Letters of Henrik Ibsen, 1910: Isadore G. Mudge, (joint author) Thackeray Dictionary, 1910: Frances J. Olcott, The Children's Reading, 1912: Edmund L. Pearson, Old Librarian's Almanac, 1909; Library and the Librarian, 1910; Librarian at Play, 1911; Believing Years, 1911: Mary Wright Plummer, Roy and Ray in Mexico, 1907; Roy and Ray in Canada, 1908; Stories from the Chronicle of the Cid, 1910.

Other recent publications of former students are noted in the Library Journal of January 1911 (36:37-38) and January 1912 (37:38).

Necrology. Two former students died during the year: Miss Ellen Dodge Biscoe of the class of 1896 and Mrs Caroline Edith (Holcomb) Case of the class of 1900.

Miss Biscoe had had a varied library experience in many types of libraries, among others the New York State Library, the Wisconsin Historical Society Library, the Eau Claire (Wis.) Public Library, the Drexel Institute Library School and the Iowa State Normal School Library at Cedar Falls. She died January 12, 1912.

Mrs Case attended the school in 1898-99 and from 1899 to 1902 was assistant librarian of the Beardsley Library, Winsted, Conn. She married Frederick Chester Case, February 22, 1900. Mrs Case died in October 1911.

A full list of deceased former students will be found on pages 104-5 of the new Register of the New York State Library School, 1912. (L. S. Bulletin 31)

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Library meetings. The library section of the New York State Teachers Association held two sessions during the meeting of the Association in the State Capitol, November 27-29, 1911. Many of the students attended the library sessions. An extensive exhibit of material useful in school libraries was in charge of a committee which included Miss Elizabeth Barker '00 and Miss Mabel McKay '04. Most of the work of installing and returning exhibit material to the various libraries which had lent it and of acting as guides to the exhibit was done by students of the school under the direction of the committee.

A local library institute was held in the central branch of the Albany Y. M. C. A., May 7-8, 1912. Miss Wheeler conducted a session on book selection. The meeting was largely attended by the students.

The school closed three days earlier than the regularly scheduled date to permit any student who desired to do so to attend the meeting of the American Library Association at Ottawa, June 26-July 2, 1912. Three seniors and five juniors took advantage of the opportunity to be present at the conference.

At the A.L.A. The practical character of library school training is fully demonstrated by the number and character of the positions held by men and women trained in library schools. It is also reflected in the programs of state and national library meetings which, in constantly increasing numbers, bear the names of school-trained librarians selected, not on account of school connections, but because of their work as librarians.

From our own school alone the number represented on the program of the Ottawa meeting of the American Library Association is far from inconsiderable and may serve as a concrete example of this general trend. Those represented by papers or scheduled discussions at the various sessions were G. E. Wire '89; E. H. Anderson '92; Josephine A. Rathbone '93; Mary J. Briggs, Emma B. Hawks and A. G. S. Josephson '95; Ono M. Imhoff and J. I. Wyer, Jr '98; W. M. Hepburn '03; A. D. Dickinson '04; W. K. Jewett '05; F. K. Walter '06; Chalmers Hadley '07; C. H. Milam '09; and J. B. Kaiser '10.

On stated committees were Mary W. Plummer '88; E. H. Anderson '92; Caroline M. Underhill '89; A. L. Bailey and J. I. Wyer, Jr '98; C. H. Brown '01; N. L. Goodrich and Ethel F. McCollough '04.

Miss Plummer retired as second vice president of the association and E. H. Anderson was elected first vice president of the association for 1912-13. Josephine A. Rathbone, E. R. Perry ('03), and F. K. Walter were elected members of the council. Claribel R. Barnett '95 was reelected chairman of the agricultural libraries section and C. H. Milam became president of the League of Library Commissions.

New home of the State Library School. August 26th the books and other illustrative material as well as the records and other equipment of the school were removed to the suite reserved for it on the third floor front of the State Education Building. The furniture has been installed and the rooms will be ready for use before the beginning of the school year 1912-13. Over seventy desks for student use are provided. The desks are of special design with drawers for cards and slips of the regulation catalog size, two drawers for vertical filing and a drawer for general use. Individual bookcases, the design of Miss Woodworth and Mr Biscoe, are provided for each student. Provision is made for individual desk lights in case the general illumination of the room should prove unsatisfactory. Provision is also made in the main study room for the registrar and the clerks and assistants assigned to the Library School, for Miss Woodworth and a considerable number of State Library staff members under her immediate charge whose work is more or less connected with the library economy collections of the school and the library, and for faculty members who may desire desks for consultation with students and for other occasional use.

Adequate shelving for books needed in school work, for the State Library collection in general library economy and for library serials is provided, while there is an abundance of filing cases for pictures, administrative blanks and minor material.

The lecture rooms will be more than large enough for the school at present and will provide for considerable expansion in the future. All the rooms are well lighted throughout. An important advantage of the present location consists in the better accommodations which can be given to summer school students during the two or three weeks when both the regular school and the summer school are in session together.

A typewriting room adjoining the smaller lecture room will increase the opportunities for student practice on the typewriter in connection with the school work.

Equipment. Though a little time must yet elapse before even the present collection of the State Library can be made entirely available for use either by the public or the school, the beginning of the school year 1912-13 finds us with an equipment which is already of more than usual excellence. In reference work practically every important book listed in Kroeger's Guide to the Study and Use of Reference Books and its supplement and hundreds of others of reference value are shelved and ready for use in addition to a general collection of cataloged books which is larger than the entire collection of many libraries. Plans have been perfected by the State Library by which thousands of other volumes will be temporarily classified and cataloged and made ready for use with very little delay.

The collections of the law library and the important document collections of the legislative reference section will be usable through check-lists, general indexes and printed catalogs almost as soon as they are shelved.

The collection of national bibliographies now on hand includes practically every important work in anything like general use in even the largest libraries. There are in addition many rarer works, among them a number the State Library did not formerly possess.

Large numbers of subject bibliographies have been received and those which are lacking are mostly those which are of an extremely special character or are so old or rare as to be of only semioccasional use.

About 2300 volumes for class practice work in cataloging, classification, selection of books and other courses are in the library school collection.

The general bibliography and library economy collections of the State Library are shelved in the school study room. The library economy collection has already reached formidable dimensions, chiefly through the tireless industry and persistence of Miss Woodworth who has it in her direct charge.

It includes at present, among other things, the bibliographical collections of Mr William Beer and Mr Adolf Growell and a considerable number of valuable bibliographical works from the library of Mr Henry E. Legler. About 800 annuals and serials, including periodicals, reports, bulletins, and other library publications, are currently received and shelved in the Library School room. In addition to a large amount of material still unmounted, there are about 4000 sheets of mounted administrative blanks and forms arranged both by subjects and by libraries. More than 1600 pictures and plans of library buildings are mounted and filed. The beginning of a good collection of portraits of former students of the school and others associated with library work has been made. The alumni collection "which aims to cover all books, pamphlets, clippings etc. written by our students and biographical material relating to them" is already of good size and is steadily growing. Minor material in the shape of extracts, clippings and other matter of interest to librarians is classified and filed. All the material in these various lines is cataloged in a separate catalog for the use of the school. This catalog already contains over 12,000 entries and is growing as rapidly as the pressure of other work will permit.

Among other equipment of great use to the school though not in its separate collections are the index to book reviews and the file of book notes collected by the book selection section of the State Library; a considerable number of manuscript reading lists and bibliographies; the universal or "repertory" catalog containing the Library of Congress depository cards, the printed cards of the John Crerar Library and the library of Harvard University and entries for books in the New York State Library not covered by printed cards of other libraries; the Bibliographia bibliographica cards and the cards issued by the Royal Library of the Hague, which index Dutch publications.
